The Crystal

This week's picture at the Crystal, entitled

The Talisman, or Sheep's Foot

is one of the best of the series. It is descriptive of a poor young man who loves a lord's daughter. The fact being discovered and believing the case hopeless he endeavors to do away with himself. However, he meets with a fairy, who listens to his tale of woe and promises to help him. She takes up his case, and the manner in which he is looked after and his enemies put to flight is vividly depicted, and the daring lover finally takes his sweetheart against all opposition

MAGNIFICENT CEREMONY OF THE LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE OF THE CHURCH OF THE SACRED HEART

The Immutability of the Teachings of the Catholic Church Dealt With in an Eloquent Sermon by Rev. Father Roach---Large Assembly Witnessed the Ceremony ---Bishop O'Connor Officiated.

THE SECOND CATHOLIC CHURCH TO BE ERECTED

"The Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., laid this corner stone of this church in honour of God and the Sacred Heart of Jesus, on the 14th of June, 1908."

Peterborough has seldom witnessed such a grand Catholic demonstration as that which yesterday marked the laying of the corner stone of the Church of the Sacred Heart, the foundation of which has been completed. While lowering clouds in the early part of the day threatened to mar the occasion, the afternoon shone forth with a bright summer sun befitting the ceremony.

A large assemblage had gathered at the grounds before the procession of men of the congregation of St. Peter's arrived. They had assembled at St. Peter's school, and to the number of at least one thousand, marched by way of Hunter and Aylmer streets to the new church. It was an imposing sight this great body of men extending in double file for many blocks on Aylmer street, and was a beautiful compliment to His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. During the afternoon he expressed his pleasure and gratitude that the men of the congregation had manifested their sympathy with the erection of the new church by turning out in such splendid numbers. The assembled concourse was by no means entirely representative of Catholics, for there was a large percentage of persons of many other denominations.

The Ceremony

It is many decades since the people of this city assisted at the celebration of the laying of the corner stone of a Catholic church. In the history of Peterborough this is only the second occasion, and those who were present when St. Peter's Cathedral was in a similar state of construction, are now found among the receding generations, and many of them have passed to their reward.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor was assisted by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. Father Roach, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and Rev. Father Galvin. A number of the altar boys from the Cathedral were also present. The bishop was robed in full pontificals and carried the crossier. The clergy and altar boys wore the regular church vestments. The ceremony was a very impressive one and is prescribed for the laying of the corner stones of all Catholic churches. An awning had been erected near the stone and the service was conducted beneath it. The cathedral choir largely augmented, sang the psalms and responses in Latin and during the afternoon a composite choir of school children sang hymns in English, appropriate to the occasion. The singing was a special feature, the adult choir having been assisted in the practises by Rev. Father Galvin. An organ had been brought to the church and Miss M. Doherty, the Cathedral organist, played the accompaniments.

Corner Stone Laid

The corner stone was laid on the south east side of the main entrance and faces Romaine street. It is of dark green granite with its surfaces finely polished. A cross and the following inscription is carved on the front face, "Die XIV Junii A. D. MCMVIII Hunc lapidem primarium hujus ecclesiae honorem. Dei ea ss. cordis Jesu revmus. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., episcopus, Peterboroughensis posuit.

After the bishop had read a portion of the service with the choir responding, the Litany of the Saints was said. All those in the immediate vicinity joined in the prayer. While His Lordship continued with the regular prayers the stone was raised by the derrick which was employed and mortar placed beneath. It was slowly lowered, the bishop tracing with a new silver trowel, the sign of the cross on the outer faces. Each step of the ceremony was followed with much interest on the part of the people.

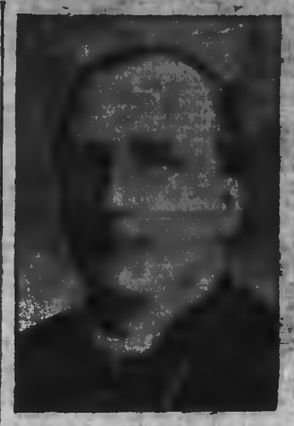
Beneath the stone is a jar containing coins in use, newspapers of the city and a script with the names of the local clergy, the present Pope, the King and Queen, Governor-General, Premier and various other data of current importance.

Mr. Richard Sheehy, who, with Mr. Wm. Langford, has the contract of the building of the church was present to assist in laying the stone. Mr. John E. Belcher, the diocesan architect, was also interested in the ceremony.

The Sermon

After the corner stone had been duly laid, Rev. Father Roach, President of St. Michael's College, Toronto, preached an eloquent sermon appropriate for the occasion. He was heard with undisturbed attention in spite of the afternoon's heat, his strong voice reaching practically everyone of the throng of four or five thousand people, who displayed a deep interest in the sermon. He is an eloquent speaker and in any eulogistic remarks were heard when he had finished.

He chose as his text the words,



RT. REV. R. A. O'CONNOR, D.D.,
Who laid the corner stone of the new church yesterday.

"For this was I born, for this came I into the world." In beginning he said, "This magnificent demonstration of to-day is another proof that our dear old church has not lost its hold upon the people, that it has taught the truth through the ages, and has handed it down as it was taught by the Divine Master."

The subject of truth was befitting the laying of the corner stone of the new church, for the Catholic church ha had and still holds that truth upon which Christ instituted it 2,000 years ago, and upon which it has continued to flourish through these ages. "Had it been founded on error or falsehood," the speaker said, "it would not be our proud heritage today. If it had not been handed down

VACATION

When We Were Young

Vacation meant to us a jolly good time with a pair of overalls or bloomers on—in our barefeet wading in the brooks or paddling along the lake shore — NOW, it means considerably more (to look back) but less if you could have looked forward when we were children.

We go to some fashionable pleasure resort or perhaps to a large metropolis — no matter where, we must prepare for the trip, everything must be spic and span—right up to the minute.

A New Suit—(light summer weight cool and airy), we have them, all styles all kinds, all prices.

Odd Trousers too, are here in the most exclusive range of patterns, best styles, and Odd Fancy Vests are needed for the outing. Our range is the finest in the land and prices the most reasonable.

In fact we have everything for the Summer Vacation man from his Shoes to his Cravat.

SAYS THAT MINISTERS ARE APPARENTLY AFRAID TO TALK OF HELL TO CONGREGATIONS

A strong reminder of the actual existence of hell was one of the features of yesterday's services at the Free Methodist Camp Meeting. Rev. J. C. Davidson, a very capable speaker, who does not shun stating his beliefs and by no means beats about the bush in expressing his thoughts, was one of the principal speakers yesterday. The services were well attended, showing a gradual increase in the attendance.

Mr. Davidson spoke in denunciating terms of the prevalent nice idea of no hell, an idea which is leading men away from Christ and relaxing the morals of the present generation. The speaker also scored the tendency of ministers now-a-days of speaking lightly of the price of eternal punishment. Salaries, he said, are quite an influence in this respect. Ministers who obtain large salaries, those ranging at $2,000 or over, he said, seem to be afraid of dealing with the subject properly. They seem to be afraid of offending their congregations and carefully overlook hell and intention God had in creating it.

The services will be continued this week.

TONGUE SEVERELY BITTEN IN FALL; THREE STITCHES WERE REQUIRED

Lillian, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. Andrew Seif, Lafayette avenue, met with a very painful accident while playing in front of her home on Saturday evening. She tripped and fell forward on the sidewalk, biting her tongue almost in two. It was a very nasty cut, the severed part hanging by a small portion of the flesh. The little one was taken to the Nichols Hospital, where three stitches were required to close the wound.

BADLY BITTEN BY HORSE WHILE PREPARING TO GO TO CHURCH

Bitten in the cheek and on the shoulder by a horse was the unfortunate and painful experience that befell Coradious Mellen, the fifteen-year-old son of Mrs. Wm. Mellen of the first line of Smith. The affair took place yesterday morning while the young lad was preparing to hitch up the horse in order to attend church. Going out into the field with the bridle, he made an attempt to catch the animal, which suddenly turned on him and bit him severely.

Dr. Greer was called and found that the injuries required several stitches. The horse was naturally of a quiet disposition and was never before known to become so wild.

Young Mellen is suffering great pain and is still confined to his bed at his home. He will likely recover unless blood-poisoning sets in.

Will Give An Address At The Pan-Anglican Congress

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt has received a letter from Rev. Canon Davidson from England, in which he stated that he had been honoured in being invited to be one of the chosen speakers at the great Pan-Anglican Congress. His address is to be on the subject, "Fellowship and Co-operation With Other Communions." In this address he intends to make reference to our happy relations here in Peterborough. This is to be on Thursday afternoon, June 18. It will be the first time this subject has come before the Church of England, and it will be discussed in the presence of Archbishops, Bishops and a multitude of clergy and laity from all parts of the globe. Canon Davidson says that interest is centering upon this section. Peterborough will feel honoured to have one of its foremost citizens so prominently taking a part in so important and influential a congress.

Young Ladies Upset From Bark Canoe—Too Wet For Church.

Minden, June 15.—(Special).—Two accidents occurred here last week by too much moving about in a canoe. One case was that of two young ladies who ventured into a bark canoe and were making progress up the big ditch towards Mr. Welch's blacksmith shop, when the canoe suddenly turned turtle and the ladies had to "frog it" to shore, rather too wet to go to church. The other accident happened when a gentleman was in the canoe and a careless movement caused it to dip water, in which the occupants had to remain till a landing could be made. Water is no respecter of nice clothes.

CHANCE FOR ENLIGHTENMENT.

It the organ of Mr. Bradburn wishes to publish details of the manner in which the colonization road money for the township of Galway was abused in the endeavour to benefit Mr. Bradburn in his recent election campaign, it can easily do so. It has only to interview Mr. Bradburn, Mr. Bennett, a government official, and the Galway gentleman who met him at the Simpson House, Kinmount on the occasion of his visit to that place early in May. The details of the conference at that time would make good reading. If the Review should not be satisfied with the evidence that would be furnished by such a report it can publish the details of the conference at Bobcaygeon of Mr. Bradburn with some to-be road overseers this year from Harvey. Although the opportunity was most favourable for publishing the report of that campaign meeting it has not yet appeared.

EXPENDITURE ON STREETS.

The average good citizen does not object to paying taxes, if he can see that the money is wisely spent to supply needed services in the interests of the public—if proper value is received—it the money is not wasted. For years and years the money of the ratepayers expended upon the streets has been largely wasted; not to say with any corrupt or improper intent, but with the very best intentions. It has been spent upon street construction and maintenance, without any approach to system and without any proper attention to the principles which underlie good road making. There is so injurious a lack of system still obtaining, there is so much disregard of the principles whose strict observance is essential to satisfactory and lasting work, that attention should be called to these conditions with a view of desseminating information upon the latter point so that ratepayers may have their attention called to the matter. The Examiner will begin the publication of a series of articles upon the underlying principles which should be applied in the construction of good streets. The articles will consist of a reproduction of the several branches of treatment of the subject contained in "The Manual of Roadmaking" to be found in the report of the Provincial Commissioner of Highways, dealing with every detail in regard to material, procedure, etc. Through a perusal of these articles ratepayers will be in a position to urge reform upon the aldermen concerned in the care of our streets and bring intelligent pressure to bear with a view of reform of methods and consequent reduction of the absolute, if unintentional, waste of the people's money, which results from improperly conducted street building and maintenance operations.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is reported that there was a large number of spoiled ballots in the elections in Toronto. What else could be expected under the spoils system?

Some Conservative journals are clamouring for civil service reform at Ottawa. They might try to persuade their friends in the House to advocate parliamentary reform.

Some dreaming optimists regard the large Conservative majority in the Legislature of Ontario as a mandate to Laurier to retire. Why not cite for the same purpose the result of the Quebec Provincial elections, in which the Liberals captured 60 seats, the Conservatives 12 and Independents 2.

Dr. Monteith still holds the portfolio of agriculture, and administers the department. This course is perfectly regular but Hon. John Dryden was hounded by his opponents because he continued to act as a minister of agriculture during the period between his defeat in South Ontario and his recovery of the seat.

PUBLIC EDUCATION REQUIRES TIME.

The Lindsay Free Press, in commenting on the defeat of the Liberal candidate in West Victoria, says sound political principles are not inculcated in a few weeks, nor can wrong impressions, the growth of months or years, be eradicated in the same time.

There is sound sense in the statement made, and proof of its soundness is found not only in the returns in West Victoria, but in the general result in the Province. The campaign against the Whitney Government did not really begin until after the last session of the late Legislature. The record made during that session afforded ample grounds for adverse criticism, but it was not possible in the few days before polling for all the facts to sink into the public mind to such an extent as to create a general desire for a change.

The lesson should not be lost on the Opposition. If the Liberals are to win in Ontario in 1912 the work of preparing for victory must be commenced in the first session of the new Assembly and be vigorously prosecuted from that date until polling day comes again.—Toronto Star.

LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE OF NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH YESTERDAY

all nations these self-same truths and precepts. He left no room for the play of fancy, or the promptings of imagination, or the dictates of private judgment. He would permit no human authority to add to His doctrines nor to diminish them. No man, the speaker said, was intended to have anything to do with it. He consulted no one as to how His word should be carried out. He did not ask Moses how many commandments He should make, nor what they should be. "Nor did he call Peter or His beloved John into consultation. At Cesarea Philippi He said 'Thou art Peter; and upon this rock I will build My church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.' He said He would build His church but human wisdom was not needed in instituting it. He did build it and you and I are witnesses that His promises have been fulfilled.

Is With His Church

Jesus had promised that he would be with His Church for all time. He had promised to send the Holy Ghost, the spirit of truth, and His Father had made the same promise. Thus it is fortified and enlightened the speaker asserted, by God Himself, by Jesus, Who founded it, and by the Holy Ghost, who enlightens it and protects it from error.

"If the Holy Ghost is with the Church, it cannot fail." It has not failed, the speaker continued. "If it has failed, or can fail, who will be by a Divine institution, it would have been like man-begotten things, subject to change.

Religion and Truth

In every branch of science men are to-day searching for truth. Religion alone is excepted. In the science of religion, Father Roach remarked, men may hold contradictory opinions but each may think that he has the truth. Continuing, the speaker emphasized the manner in which Christ gave the truth to the world. He did not trust it to men, nor even to angelic forces. He Himself became man and with human lips imparted it to mankind, during a life of suffering, which ended in His death from which He arose in glory, substantiating His divinity.

His Teaching

"Can truth be one thing to-day and another to-morrow? We have unfortunately in religion that contradiction. One man may hold one opinion, while another follows a different. Was it intended by our Divine Master that two interpretations of the same thing should both be true? Father Roach said that when Christ commanded His disciples to "teach all nations," they were to teach the truths of His faith and the precepts of His law. And they were to teach to blame? Would not Jesus Christ be to blame, the assertion of which would be a blasphemy? He promised He would be with it, and it has not failed, because God himself cannot fail. The spirit of truth was not given to us or leased to us conditionally or for a specified time. It was given, without limitation, forever."

The Church and Reformation

Father Roach, continuing, asked if the Church ever needed reformation. He referred to St. Paul's epistle to the Galations: "I wonder that you are so soon removed from him who called you to the grace of Christ; to another gospel, which is not another; only there are some that trouble you and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach a gospel to you beside that which we have preached to you, let him be anathema."

"Where will the man come from who can reform it, and what are his credentials?"

The Church, the speaker said, has been irreformable, because it is God's work. Men can find in it no place for their petty instruments of reform.

Remains Firm

Father Roach said that the Church has maintained itself for two thousand years. Governments, kingdoms and monarchies have held sway, only to lose their power, but the Church has remained immutable and strong. Its stability, he said, was due to the Divinity of God. In concluding, Father Roach dwelt on the tribunal which Christ left to care for His Church. The apostles were the first custodians of her doctrines, and were guided by the inspiration of the Holy Ghost, as Christ had promised. Their successors have received the same inspirations and have the same powers. Christ said, "Whatever thou shalt bind upon earth shall be bound also in heaven," etc., and these duties and powers, inspired by the Holy Spirit, have kept the Church immutable, unchanging, and unchangeable since its institution.

The Bishop's Remarks

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor addressed a few remarks to the gathering, expressing his cordial thanks to the people for the good will they had shown. He explained the necessity of the church, and was pleased that his people were ready to co-operate with him in its erection.

A collection was then taken up by men who had been appointed. Many donations were left on the corner stone. It was stated that about $1,300 altogether was received, which was considered a very generous offering.

The ceremony was concluded by His Lordship blessing the walls, and by the concluding prescribed prayers and hymns.

A FILTHY CONDITION

Many a man, otherwise scrupulously clean, is dandruff dirty. The small, persistent germs of dandruff working all day as well as night are constantly throwing off the small white dandruff scales which, falling on the shoulders of a coat, give it a filthy appearance which is repulsive to the friends of the victim.

Many men allow this condition to exist because they believe there is no cure for dandruff; they have tried various so-called cures with unsatisfactory results, and naturally condemn all.

The famous prescription called Parisian Sage is put up in America, but only by the Giroux Mfg. Co., of Buffalo, N.Y., and Fort Erie, Ont. It is for sale in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, who guarantees it to cure dandruff in two weeks, or money back.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed to do more; it will make short, thin hair grow long, lustrous and luxuriant; it will stop hair from falling out; it will cure all diseases of the scalp. Wm. Madill guarantees it — every bottle of it. The price is only 50 cents, and if you want to stop the filthy dandruff flakes from lodging on your coat and disgusting your friends, get a bottle at once.

FALLING OFF THE WATER WAGGON COST HIM $2

Young Man Who Was Drunk and Disorderly Paid That Amount This Morning.

A local young man who fell off the water-waggon on Saturday was made aware of the grievous nature of his mistake this morning at the Police Court when he appeared before City Clerk Armstrong. He pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk and was fined two dollars to be paid in ten days.

Easily Defeated Cooper at Belleville—Has Gone to St. Kitts.

Belleville, Ont., June 15.—(Special) In a three-hour walking contest held here on Saturday night between Jas. Harrison of Peterborough and J. Cooper of this city, the former was an easy victor, covering 18 miles in three hours and winning by two miles. This was at the rate of six miles an hour, which is considered good time. Harrison will enter a contest at St. Catharines next week. The track here is 13 laps to the mile. Wm Stuart was referee.

LOCAL BOYS DID WELL IN TORONTO

Got Three Thirds and a Fourth Prize Among Them.

The three Peterborough boys who took part in the C. A. A. U. Boys' Championship Meet in Toronto on Saturday, made a most creditable showing, getting three thirds and a fourth prize. There were entries from all over Ontario about 160 in all, and the local Y.M.C.A. representatives, considering that it was their first meet, gave a good account of themselves. Peter Wallace was third in a large field in the one mile run for boys of eighteen and under, which was won by Percy Selby of the West End Y.M.C.A. in 4.50 1-5. Harry Munro in the 100 yds. event for boys 17 and under was second in the first heat, and won the semi-final heat. In the last heat, however, he was set back a yard for a false start and the handicap was too much, fourth being the best position he could reach. There were 22 starters in the event.

Frank Halpany had two thirds to his credit in the 220 and 100 yards for boys 15 years and under. Archie Froude went up with the boys and looked after their wants while on and off the track.

ered 20 Years

t-a-tives" Cured in 2 Months

St. Raphaels, Ont.

For over twenty years I suffered from Chronic Constipation of the bowels, and I could get no medicine to cure me. I tried doctors and every known purgative, or laxative, medicine known but I was no better. Sometimes, if I did not take medicine, I would go four or five days, without any action of the bowels. During all this time I was weak and suffered from Indigestion constantly.

About a year ago a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives" as they had helped her. I began taking "Fruit-a-tives" and from the outset I began to feel better, and inside of a month the pains were almost gone and the Constipation relieved. In two months I was perfectly well again, no pains, no constipation, and my complexion had lost all that sallow appearance.

(Sgd) MARY A. McDONELL.

"Fruit-a-tives"—or Fruit Liver Tablets—are the only remedy known to science that actually cure Constipation. They do this by making the liver healthy and active—thus causing more bile to flow into the bowels. 152

"Fruit-a-tives"—or "Fruit Liver Tablets" are sold by dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50—or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

FORMER GOV-GENERAL DEAD.

Earl of Derby Passes Away In His 68th Year.

London, June 15.—Frederick Arthur Stanley, Earl of Derby, died here yesterday.

Frederick Arthur Stanley, 16th Earl of Derby, K.C., G.C.B., was born Jan. 15, 1841. He was the second son of the 14th Earl (the Rupert of Parliamentary debate), and succeeded his elder brother in 1893. Educated at Eton, he entered the army in 1858, and was returned as Conservative member for Preston in 1865. From 1868 to 1885 he represented North Lancashire and the Blackpool Division of that county from 1885 to 1886, when he was created Lord Stanley of Preston. In 1886 he was appointed Governor-General of Canada. During his Parliamentary term the deceased earl was successively Lord of the Admiralty, Financial Secretary of War, Secretary for the Treasury, Secretary of State for War and the Colonies, and Premier of the Board. Although not a man of brilliant ability he was regarded as a safe and cautious administrator and filled the various important offices he held with credit. He is succeeded by his son, Lord Stanley, who was A.D.C. in Canada during 1889-91.

COLLIDED WITH WARSHIP.

Steamer "Bengora Head" Does Much Damage at Portsmouth.

Portsmouth, June 15.—The British steamer Bengora Head ran amuck in Portsmouth harbor and narrowly escaped spitting herself upon the ram of the battleship Revenge.

She then collided with the battleship Vengeance, carrying away the torpedo booms and damaging some of the gun ports of this warship. Finally she grounded in the mud, but later was floated. There is a big hole in her bows above the waterline.

Commons Back to Business.

Ottawa, June 15.—The House of Commons will get down to business to-day, after a long struggle over estimates, which ended Friday night, when one-eighth of all expenditure was granted.

There will be another conference over the Aylesworth bill, when it is expected Sir Wilfrid Laurier will give Mr. Borden definite assurances the bill will be amended in a way to satisfy the Opposition. A dozen bills are to be taken up to-day, including Mr. Turriff's bill to amend the Railway Act by limiting the time for construction. W. F. Maclean's reciprocal demurrage bill, Claude Macdonell's bill to amend the Copyright Act, and Mr. Macdonell's bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act.

Car Strike Threatened.

Cincinnati, June 15.—Unruly crowds, indicating the beginning of a long-threatened strike of street car conductors and motormen, Saturday night gathered on Fountain square, and riot calls were turned in by the police.

It is said that officers of the Street Railway Employes' Union were informing passing street car men that a strike would be called. The police charged the crowds and made several arrests.

One hundred men were discharged recently for being members of the union, it is said, and the organizers of the union declare that unless the men are reinstated all the union men will strike.

Returns Stolen Money.

Washington, June 15.—Secretary Cortelyou has received in an envelope postmarked Jersey City a conscience contribution of $8,000, which has been turned into the conscience fund of the treasury.

In an unsigned letter the sender says that many years ago he and another man took a considerable sum of money belonging to the Government and that this $8,000 makes a total of $40,000 sent, which, he says, is fourfold the amount originally taken by himself. This sum, he says, has been returned to the treasury from time to time covering a period of several years.

Lineman Fatally Shocked.

Windsor, Ont., June 15.—J. Brown, a Bell Telephone lineman, was instantly killed and another lineman named Richard Sutherland had a narrow escape when a line they were repairing came in contact with a heavily charged wire on the Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Electric Railway. The telephone men were pulling up the slack in one of their wires when it crossed the railway line. Brown was on the ground and received the full effect of high voltage. The body was slightly burned. Sutherland was on the top of a neighboring pole, holding a wire in his hand, and was rendered unconscious. Only his pole belt saved him from falling to probable death.

Deceased was in the employ of the Bell Company for two years. He was about 23 years of age and belonged to Tillsonburg. He was married only six months ago, and his wife was coming here next week.

DEMAND WOMEN'S FRANCHISE.

Suffragettes Hold Monster Demonstration In London Streets.

London, June 15.—Marshaled in eight distinct columns on the Victoria embankment, a great army of from 12,000 to 15,000 women suffragists paraded the metropolis Saturday afternoon, and wound up with a meeting at Albert Hall, at which such well-known women as Dr. Anna Shaw, Lady Henry Somerset and Frances Balfour voiced the demand of women for an immediate extension of the franchise.

Suffrage societies in Austria, Australia, Canada, France, Russia and South Africa and the United States sent representatives to support the British women.

The great procession was swelled in Trafalgar square by several thousand barmaids, who had been demonstrating against the licensing bill.

All sorts of women whose conditions in life are as wide asunder as the poles, took part in the march and united in the common cause of women suffrage.

Sarah Grand, Beatrice Harraden, Elizabeth Robins, Lady Anstow, Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton and Gertrude Kingston were among the more notable women that marched at the head of the different sections. Dr. Anna Shaw and Miss Lucy J. Anthony, delegates from the United States, led the procession in carriages.

The foreign delegates were much fewer than had been expected. They included Frenchmen, Hungarians and Russians. Two delegates, struggling with a huge banner, represented the League of Self-Supporting Women of New York.

The most picturesque section of the procession was composed of the girl graduates in academic caps and gowns in the colors of all the universities. They carried banners on which were the names of the world's most famous women, and had a great reception everywhere.

A merry lot represented the office stenographers. They were subjected to much good-humored ridicule, but never lost step. When the crowd spotted a solitary male among the processionists somebody began to sing "Put Me Among the Girls." The bystanders sang the refrain in chorus vociferously. Even the suffragists smiled.

Mrs. Fawcett presided at Albert Hall, where there was a remarkable color scene. The hall was crowded and there was a profuse display of flowers. The first speaker, Lady Henry Somerset, provoked some hisses because she deprecated the tactics of the militant suffragettes.

A resolution demanding votes for all qualified women was carried by acclamation, with the utmost enthusiasm.

Throat Cut From Ear to Ear.

Vancouver, June 15.—A water front murder of most brutal type occurred early Saturday morning. The victim was an Irish fisherman, Pat O'Brien. His throat was cut from ear to ear. He had been dead probably ten hours when the police were notified. The dead man's Indian wife had her throat cut and gashed, and it will be almost a miracle if she recovers. A negro is suspected of the crime.

The killing followed a row in which liquor played a prominent part.

FORESTERS HEAR REV. MR. POGUE

Spoke to a Large Number of Them on Conversion and Brotherhood of Man—Saul of Tarsus the Subject.

THE MUSICAL SERVICE

Yesterday evening was the occasion of the visit to St. Paul's church of members of Courts Langton, Littlejohn and Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters. A large number of brethren were present and the church contained a large congregation. Rev. Robt. Pogue delivered an eloquent sermon appropriate to the occasion on "Brotherhood" and in his preliminary remarks spoke of the necessity of conversion in order that a man may live the Christian life.

He chose for his subject the story of Saul of Tarsus who, with fire thoughts in his mind before he left on that memorable journey to Damascus, was afterwards miraculously converted to an ardent follower of Jesus Christ and who when he was met by Ananias was called "brother." The speaker pointed out that in this story there were three noticeable things—God working in the conversion of Saul, the man himself and the brotherman, and in his sermon made these the chief foundations for his discourse.

The conversion of Saul, who was going to Damascus to work out dark threats against the Christian Church was a miraculous one because he was a most unlikely subject. He was a proud and haughty man and was one not given to much thought of God and the life hereafter. It was therefore supernatural that such a man should have been, with the swittness of a flash of lightning, changed from such an immoral condition to a devout disciple of Jesus Christ—it was a miracle of Divine Grace. God had first to reveal Jesus to him and the same must take place with every man if he would enter into the kingdom of Heaven.

Another important point, the speaker advanced was that it was hard for man to resist God. When Saul was suddenly arrested in his journey by the divine voice and found that his mission to Damascus was known he yielded to the Almighty and asked, "What wilt Thou have me do?" It shows the surrender of will of Saul, the greatest theologian of his day to the Divine power. Men have been made great by the stand they have taken in never saying "No" to God. The answer given was to go on to Damascus and do his work not as he had intended but as a disciple of Him.

The spirit which Ananias showed when he went up to Saul and called him "brother" is the proper one. He had known that Saul had persecuted Christian and that his hands were steeped in the blood of martyrs yet he called him brother. John Bunyan, one of the greatest minds of the past, was taken from a wretched and immoral condition to that of a follower of Christ, because men held out their palms and called him their brother. The speaker admired such organizations as the Foresters, because they foster a spirit of brotherhood and he hoped that a more brotherly spirit would be given us. Service among our fellowmen and for our fellowmen was the service required.

Included in the musical service of the evening was a solo which Miss Helen Davies contributed beautifully and a quintette splendidly sung, Mr. W. McIlroy taking the solo part.

The Foresters attended about 300 strong and were marshalled by Brs. Jas. Metherel and A. Brown. On returning to the hall, votes of thanks were passed to Rev. Mr. Pogue, the officers and choir of the church. Visitors from Court Zion, Otonabee, and Court Bridgenorth were also present.

Wait for it! Always the best! St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild and Ladies' Aid Excursion to Stony Lake, Tuesday, June 23rd. Special Train returning at 9.30 p.m. Tickets 75c.

MANY WANT TO BECOME PRINCIPAL

Of the King Edward School—Some Personal Applications on Saturday.

The members of the Board of Education are having a busy time interviewing prospective principals of the King Edward School. On Saturday there were several in the city looking after the situation, and it was reported that some of the School Board could scarcely get time to eat their meals. Who the new principal will be is merely speculation, but one of the visitors on Saturday was looked upon with favour by those who saw him.

HOUSE OF REFUGE BOOKS AUDITED

Estimates Taken From Which the Rate will be Struck.

On Friday last Reeve R. N. Scott, of Smith; Deputy Reeve Porter, of Otonabee, and Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, went out to the House of Refuge to audit the books of the past year. They also took estimates upon which to levy the rate for the coming year. A report along this line will be made at the meeting of the County Council, which begins to-morrow.

REV. MR. MANNING'S FAREWELL SERMON AT CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH

At the morning service at Charlotte street Methodist Church yesterday Rev. Mr. Manning stated that he would preach his farewell sermon as pastor of the church on the first Sunday of July. He also stated that the session of the Bay of Quinte Conference had appointed him pastor to the proposed new Methodist church about to be erected in the South End of the city, and that a meeting place would be decided upon during the next couple of weeks. The lot had been purchased, and it was the intention to erect first a Sunday school building, which could be used as a church and school during the erection of the church. He was not at present able to announce the amount of the subscriptions from both churches, as they had not been fully canvassed, but the public would know as soon as possible.

He had been pleased with the way the proposed new church had been received by the Charlotte street and George street churches. The Charlotte street congregation had contributed beyond his expectations, and during the next couple of weeks he would be able to know the amount that congregation would subscribe. At present he was glad to be able to say the committee were justified in commencing the building operations.

ODDFELLOWS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Splendid Sermon Preached by Rev. H. J. Keith Last Evening.

MEMBERS WERE GRATEFUL

The members of Court Chemong, Independent Order of Foresters, attended service at Knox Church last night when the pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith, preached a special sermon to them. Over a hundred members of the Court gathered at the S.O.E. hall on Hunter street and marched in a body to the church. A section of the edifice had been reserved for them, and most complete arrangements had been made. Bro. A. Allison, Senior Past Chief Ranger, acted as marshal for the parade and discharged his duties most efficiently. There was a large congregation, and Mr. Keith's sermon was of much excellence. His text was a portion of the 18th verse of the 4th chapter of II. Corinthians, "For the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal." Mr. Keith said the question to be considered was whether it were possible to be a true citizen of this world, and at the same time be sure of the citizenship of the world which was to come. We were citizens of two worlds. Could we be true citizens of both? There was one class of people who lived only for this world. Their selfishness was so great that their only desire was to obtain honour and pleasure in this world. They paid no attention to the life that was to come. There was another class who believed that to make sure of their citizenship in the world to come they could not partake in the life and activity of this world. They were like the monks of old, who withdrew from the world to pray and prepare for the life hereafter. Neither of the above classes had the right conception of life. It was possible, Mr. Keith said, to be a true citizen of both worlds. The man who knew the love of God, who had faith in Him as a personal God and loved his fellow man was a true citizen of both worlds. It was not possible to be a true citizen of this world and the one to come unless one had known the love of God and knew Christ as a personal Saviour.

Mr. Keith paid tribute to the Independent Order of Foresters and to the great work the Order was doing in alleviating distress, comforting the sorrowing, and teaching the gospel of love to one's fellowmen, loving each other because God loved us. He wished them success in their noble work.

The choir rendered a number of special selections in excellent style, adding greatly to the service.

On the return to their hall the Court passed votes of thanks to Rev. Mr. Keith, the elders and managers of Knox Church, and to Bro. Allison for his efficient services as marshal.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY AT MURRAY STREET

A Unique Service—Address on "The Three Coats."

Yesterday was Sunday School day at the Murray Street Baptist Church and in the morning a special children's service was held at which the church was crowded. A choir of little children provided the music and the service was conducted by Mr. Dunlop, the superintendent. Morning prayer was offered by Mr. E. Elcome, the Bible class teacher, and the pipe organ was played by Miss Bessie Elcome, a member of the school.

The sermon was preached by Rev. J. R. Webb, who chose three texts. The texts were announced by different boys from the school—Norman Wilson, Gordon Matthews and Vincent Eastwood. The subject was "Three Old Coats." The first was the coat given by Jacob to Joseph, which was made of many pieces. This speaks of a father's hope. The garment the father seeks to make for his child is the coat of character and is made of many pieces indeed.

The second coat spoken of was that made for the boy Samuel each year by his mother. The yearly gift speaks of a mother's undying love. The mother seeks to clothe her boy with nobility and the girl with purity.

The third coat was the seamless coat worn by our Saviour, and this being the garment of the High Priest speaks of the sacrifice of Christ, rendered willingly for the salvation of the lost. The seamlessness speaks of Christ's complete righteousness. The sermon was concluded by Miss Olive Yelland stepping out to the platform and reciting "Whittier's Crucifixion."

Great credit is due to Mr. F. W. Miller for the excellent singing of the children who were trained by him for the day. The boys who acted as ushers were W. Yelland, G. Martin, H. Matthews and W. Irvine.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT

But Find the Way to Digest What You Do Eat.

The first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, then the food digests readily and you begin to get the full benefit from what you eat.

Use Mi-o-na whenever you have sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion.

Wm. Madill gives with every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN RATES AND SERVICE TO THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST

The Passenger Department of the Grand Trunk Railway System have just made an important announcement that will be of great interest in connection with the movement of passengers from Eastern to Western Canada. While first-class fares are the same at the present time via the Grand Trunk Railway's Line to Chicago, and its connections beyond to points in the Canadian Northwest, the second-class fares for many years via Chicago have been higher than by the route north of Lake Superior. Commencing June 14th, the agents of the Grand Trunk in Ontario and Quebec, and connecting lines, will be able to issue second-class tickets from Eastern to Western Canada at the lowest current fares by any route. Naturally, a large proportion of the passenger traffic referred to is made up of settlers and others who prefer to use second-class tickets, the saving between the price of the first and second-class tickets being considerable, and the accommodation for passengers with second-class tickets having steadily improved.

As the Grand Trunk Railway have a double track to Chicago from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Woodstock, Ingersoll, London, and other stations in Quebec and Ontario, it is expected that many passengers will prefer to travel by way of Chicago. In addition to this advantage, the Grand Trunk will connect at Chicago, and offer the choice of seven lines between Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis; north of St. Paul and Minneapolis, a choice of three lines will be available. Many Canadians have friends and relatives residing at Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other large American cities passed through by the new routes, and doubtless the opportunity of a brief visit at the stations in such cities will be much appreciated by the patrons of the new route, and by their Canadian friends and relatives residing across the border.

All arrangements have been completed so that the baggage of passengers will be carried through the United States in bond without requiring any special attention on the part of passengers, and there will be no detention or inspection of such passengers at any point in the United States who hold through tickets to points in the Canadian Northwest.

While through cars will not at present be operated, it is believed that many passengers making so great a journey will much prefer the comfortable transfer at points like Chicago and St. Paul, into freshly ventilated, clean cars.

While through tickets will continue to be sold, when requested, via North Bay, the Grand Trunk people believe that the new route, with the advantages outlined above, will become so popular that it will command a very large share of the growing traffic from Eastern to Western Canada. Already the Grand Trunk and its connections enjoy a liberal share of the business from the Canadian Northwest to Eastern Canada by way of St. Paul and Chicago, and now that the tariffs have been adjusted to permit of passengers travelling in both directions at the lowest fares, a large development of the traffic via Chicago is certain to follow.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION GOING ON

Mr. M. Neary's Men Have Completed Two Sections of Streets.

The construction of sewers in the city is going merrily on. Mr. Martin Neary's gang have already finished the sewer on William street, and also that on Bethune street between Dublin and Edinburgh streets. The average depth is twelve feet and good time has been made.

DOMINION DAY EXCURSIONS

On account of Dominion Day, the Grand Trunk Railway System will issue return tickets at single fare between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Black Rock and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.; good going June 30th and July 1st, returning on or before July 2nd, 1908. Secure tickets from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent. 14d110

On Saturday evening following the injuries sustained by a fall from the top of the Hunter street bridge, Mr. David Hartley was taken to Nicholls Hospital in the Dan Spence ambulance, from his residence at 625 Aylmer street. Of his several injuries he complained (mostly of this foot, which had become twisted in the rungs of the ladder when he fell. "I couldn't do much walking now," he remarked as he was being carried from his house to the ambulance.

The Petes will have their regular line-up, with Clements on the heaving station, and the fans should see a great contest all the way. The Athletics have a chance to climb back into second place by beating the Johnstonites and say they are going to put up a great argument for the honours. The weak spots in the team are being filled up, and the team will go on the field with the determination to make good by slaughtering the Petes.

OWEN SOUND MAN TO BE CHIEF

It is Understood That the Fire, Water and Light Committee Will Recommend to That Effect.

The City Council will hold a special meeting to-night at nine o'clock, when the much talked of appointment of a fire chief will again be under discussion. It is understood that the Fire, Water and Light Committee will recommend the appointment of Chief Howard, of Owen Sound, who was formerly connected with the Berlin Fire Brigade. Three local applications for the position, it is said, have been sent in, including one from ex-Chief Rutherford, and there is likely to be an interesting session over the matter.

The Board of Works will meet before the council, which is the reason why such a late hour is set for the latter.

AUTO PARTY CAME TO GRIEF

Machine Struck a Stump and Delayed Party Five Hours.

A party of local trout fishers set out on an automobile trip last Thursday, and since then the report has leaked out that their way was strewn with many troubles, and, as to fish, they "got none." Their destination was Manvers, which is only an hour's run. They left the city at 8 o'clock and all went lovely until they arrived at a swamp not far from their destination. The auto was shipwrecked on a stump in the swamp, and it was 3.30 before it was started again. The mosquitoes were there with the 57 varieties and had a regular jubilee with the marooned autoists. Some of them have not yet recovered from the experience.

THE WHOLE FAMILY WAS WIPED OUT

Insane Mother's Awful Deed at Cadillac, Mich.

SHOOTS ENTIRE HOUSEHOLD

Only Remaining Child Is Dying In a Hospital — Afterwards Turned the Revolver on Herself—Was Formerly In an Asylum—Terrible Sight When Bodies Were Found—Despondency Was the Cause.

Cadillac, Mich., June 15.—Seven persons, all of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cooper, with the exception of one son, were murdered some time Saturday night, probably by the wife and mother, who has been insane.

Fred Cooper, a son, aged 17 years, is the only one of the family now alive, and he is dying at Mercy Hospital, unable to give any account of the tragedy.

In every instance the victims were killed with a bullet through the head. The dead are: Daniel Cooper, 48 years old; Mrs. Cooper, 45 years old; Harry, 14 years old; Inez, 11 years old; Samuel, 10 years old; Georgina, five years old, and Florence, one and a half years old.

When Mrs. Cooper's mother and other neighbors entered the home on Chapin street yesterday morning, about which there was no sign of life, bodies of the victims were scattered all about. Some were in their beds and others on the floor. Mrs. Cooper lay across the body of the baby on a bed with an emptied revolver beside her.

It is believed Mrs. Cooper committed the murders and then killed herself. She was once confined in an insane asylum, and for some time had been brooding over the fact that Cooper was out of work. A few days ago she is reported to have said she would end it all.

Celebrated In France.

London, June 15.—The tercentenary of the founding of Quebec was celebrated in Paris yesterday by French-Canadians. They assembled at Sorbonne. In the absence of the Minister of the Colonies, the deputy, Lierre Baudin, presided. M. Fabre represented Canada. Mayor Payette of Montreal and Jules Siegfried were present, and the latter said he expected much from commercial connection, which should give a great impetus to trade with the country where they had so many friends.

Mlle. Lapalme of the Opera Comique and Rudolphe Plamondon, both Canadians, contributed Canadian airs. Greetings were exchanged with the Mayor of Quebec.

Big Sentence For Motorist.

Seattle, Wash., June 15.—Guy C. Stratton, a prominent lumberman, who a jury convicted of manslaughter on the charge of having run over and killed 7-year-old Henrietta Johnson, while speeding his automobile, has been sentenced by Judge Frater, of the Supreme Court, to an intermediate term of from 1 to 20 years in the state penitentiary, and to pay a fine of $500.

This is the first conviction for manslaughter under the provision of the State Automobile Law. The defence gave notice of appeal.

Pickle Makers' Grievances.

Ottawa, June 15.—A deputation representing pickle manufacturing and allied interests waited on the Government Saturday and complained of the unfair competition to which they are subjected under the British preference.

They pointed out that pickles coming into Canada under the preferential tariff as being British products are generally made up of imported vegetables put up in bottles manufactured in Germany.

Jumped From Blazing Car.

New York, June 15.—One person was killed and 15 others injured in a wild struggle to escape from a runaway and blazing trolley car in East Orange, N.J. They leaped from the car while it was running along without control.

Roller Coaster Jumps Track.

Denver, Colo., June 15.—Four persons were killed at a suburban pleasure resort Saturday night, when a car on the roller coaster jumped the track, hurling its passengers to the ground below.

VERY PICTURESQUE ROUTE

Cheps Eight Hours Off Time Taken to Go to Winnipeg — Sucesss Crowns Massive Undertaking—First Train Left Toronto Last Night—New Line Has Cost Eleven Million —Difficult Piece of Road.

Toronto, June 15.—At 1 o'clock in the dark morning hours of Friday last there crawled out from the Union station, through the deserted railway yards, past North Parkdale, a strange train — an engine hauling a few freight cars, a caboose, a day coach, a sleeper, a dining car, and on the end an official business car. Nobody in particular saw the train go out or thought about it when it disappeared into the north. And it was gone two days. At three o'clock yesterday morning it crawled back again into the big, empty station. It was covered with white dust and drawn by a work-stained, sweating engine. As the releasing air-brakes whistled under the cars a handful of railway officials and newspapermen stumbled sleepily out on the platform and went home under the breaking dawn.

That was the return of the first Canadian Pacific train to travel through on the new Toronto to Sudbury line and back again. It signified the completion of the last 136 1-2 miles of the most difficult kind of railroad engineering work outside of mountain construction; the final link between Bala, on the Muskoka lakes, and Romford Junction, on the C.P.R. main line close to Sudbury, connecting Toronto direct with the latter station, providing a route 80 miles shorter than the North Bay route, and cutting in distance and connections eight hours from the time formerly required to reach main line points west of Sudbury. It signified, too, the completion of a task on which thousands of men have been toiling in the rocky wilderness of northern Ontario for three years; the completion of a road hewn through granite hills, carried over sink holes and bridged above mighty rivers. It stands for the accomplished end of an expenditure of time, patience, genius and lives, and eleven million dollars. At 12.01 o'clock, eastern time, yesterday morning the new line passed from the control of the construction department to that of the operating department of the C.P.R. and became part of the great system, and a direct line over C.P.R. rail from Toronto to Winnipeg. At 9.30 last night the first passenger train left Toronto for Winnipeg.

Theft of Rare Coins.

Cobourg, June 15.—Raymond and Ada Garfield are under arrest at Brighton for the theft of $5,000 worth of rare American coins. One coin, minted in George Washington's administration, is held for $350.

The Garfields got at John C. Lighthouse's collection of coins in February, while the man was ill in the hospital. They rented a room in the rear of his private secretary's residence.

More than one thousand coins were stolen and sold in Rochester and Buffalo for small sums. Some of the money has been recovered.

The police have been searching for the couple since March, and just located them on Saturday.

Arson is Suspected.

Dundas, June 15.—The five barns and stables of John J. Lyons, who lives on the stone road leading from Hamilton to Ancaster, Ancaster Township, were totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. All of the stock except one horse and cow was saved, but nearly everything else was lost. There are no facilities in the district for fighting fires.

This is the third fire within the past year in this district, and as all three have been of incendiary origin there is a feeling of unrest among the farmers and talk of appealing to the attorney-general's department for an investigation.

Canoe Ran Into Rapids.

Mattawa, June 15.—Last night a druggist named Colley, with a Mr. Taylor, jeweler, took two sisters named Perrier and a Miss Brown for a sail.

Both young men being inexperienced, they allowed the canoe to drift down near the Mattawa Rapids. The canoe struck a jam of logs. The two men, with one Miss Parrier and Miss Brown, clung to the logs, the oldest Perrier girl having jumped just before the jam was reached and was taken over the rapids and drowned.

Diver Plunged to Death.

New York, June 15.—While hundreds looked on and cheered him for what they believed was a part of his daring act, Joseph Jakobs, a professional diver, lost his life at Bergen Beach, when the rope which held his sliding seat on a descending wire broke and plunged him into Jamaica Bay, nearly 100 feet below.

Only the diver's wife and two children, who were watching the performance, knew that an accident had happened. Jakobs fell flat upon the water.

THE OLD AGE PENSION QUESTION

Bill in Imperial House to Be Pressed Forward.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES OPPOSE

Labor Party Also Propose Amendments—Mr. Asquith Takes Cheerful View of Situation—Education Controversy—King Edwards' Visit to Revel Excites No Enthusiasm — Affairs In India.

London, June 15.—Parliament is limp after the holidays. Mr. Asquith is the only occupant of the Treasury bench in good form. The Premiership is a novelty, and his enjoyment of it is evident. He takes a most cheerful view of every political issue, and is convinced that there could not be a happier, more contented family than the united Liberal party.

The pensions bill fails to excite enthusiasm in any quarter. The Labor party is proposing to riddle it with amendments, and the friendly societies are opposing it on the ground that it will discourage habits of thrift.

Mr. Asquith continues to present the case with plausibility, contending that the pensions must be relieved from the reproach of pauperism, asserting that the state aid contributors' plan can easily be ingrafted upon it and vaguely outlining a general scheme of poor law reform. There may be sufficient constructive ability at the front of the Government bench for the working of these reforms, but there is little evidence that the subject has been approached with the practical knowledge and scientific method which the German legislators have displayed. The badly-drawn bill will be carried to second reading early this week, and the committee stages pressed with all possible speed.

Mr. Asquith's changes for settling the education controversy by compromise are improving. The conference attended at Manchester by representatives of the various religious bodies, including Roman Catholics, has agreed upon a concordat which may be substituted for the Bishop of St. Asaph's scheme. Possibly a definite arrangement can be made before the close of the autumn session, and certainly the facility with which this round table session has been brought about by the militant Bishop of Manchester is a hopeful sign.

The Government has neither been helped nor damaged by the spectacular meeting of the sovereigns at Reval. It has been generally accepted as the King's own diplomatic stroke, and as he is trusted at home and abroad and never errs as a peacemaker there is no criticism. Yet the coldness with which the affair has been discussed in the British press is a warning that exchanges of royal hospitality and compliments must not be followed by projects for formal alliances.

The royal meeting is less important as an event of world politics than Viscount Morley's far-reaching schemes for Indian reforms, with an approach to native representations in councils. These are not accompanied by signs of a laxity in administration, for Viscount Morley has the courage required for drastic press laws, a suspension of the habeas corpus and the suppression of seditious movements. He is heartily supported by veterans of the Indian administration, who consider him the strongest and ablest secretary of recent times.

Jury Disagree In Murder Case.

Charlottetown, June 15.—The case of Alonzo Doherty, charged with the murder of Joseph D. McMillan at Miscouche, in his sweetheart's presence, the jury at 10.30 Saturday reported a disagreement.

Judge Fitzgerald sent the jury back, charging them strongly that the evidence had shown the prisoner was not insane.

The jury reported again at three o'clock Saturday afternoon that they could not agree and were then dismissed.

The new trial has been set down for to-day. It is said that the jury stood five for conviction and seven against.

Fatal Auto Accident.

Hamilton, June 15—Gladys Garrold, the 8-year-old daughter of William H. Garrold, 225 East Main street, died about midnight as the result of injuries she received from being run down by Thomas Crook's automobile Saturday afternoon. The accident happened near the corner of Ferguson avenue and King street. The little girl got off a westbound car and ran in front of the automobile, which knocked her down and fractured her skull. An inquest will be held.

To Break the Beef Trust.

London, June 15.—(C.A.P.)—Meat prices are revealing the spread of opinion in favor of removing the embargo on Canadian cattle.

W. Hawkins, the largest wholesaler in Smithfield, demands the removal of the restriction, while The News and other papers point out there is every reason for the abolition of the regulations which render it impossible for us to obtain supplies of living cattle from areas beyond the control of the beef trust.

Plot to Kill the Kaiser.

Vienna, June 15.—A Prague newspaper reports that a plot to take the life of the Kaiser was frustrated at Vienna during his recent jubilee visit to the Emperor Francis Joseph.

While he was driving to Schoenbrunn Castle two women were noticed to be attempting, as he approached, to take something from a bag they had with them. They were arrested, and the something found was a bomb.

Revolution In Cuba?

City of Mexico, June 15.—The Mexican Herald says,

News has reached this capital from an unimpeachable source to the effect that the business interests of Cuba have subscribed to a fund for the purpose of financing a revolution as soon as the United States makes good its promise and withdraws its soldiers

THE PETES BY TERRIFIC BATTING EASILY WON SATURDAY'S MIDLAND LEAGUE GAME FROM COBOURG

Landed on McKinnon for Grand Total of Nineteen Hits, While Clements held the Visitors Down to Five—Two Three-Baggers and Three Doubles in the Collection.

LAWSON DID FINE WORK

Manager Johnston's Peterboroughs materially strengthened their hold on the top rung in the Midland League ladder on Saturday afternoon by beating Cobourg 12—4 at Riverside Park amid one of the greatest fusillade of hits that has ever been heard in the pretty grounds across the river. The Peterboroughs did not field with their customary skill, but they hit like pile drivers and their batting enabled them to win by a large margin despite their mistakes in the field. The game was witnessed by some 500 fans and fanettes, and was a great contest for the spectators with something doing all the time especially in the line of base hits.

The finely trained management of the Cobourg team who have had phenomenally bad luck in importing pitchers decided to stick to the home brew article on Saturday, but found that lemons are lemons whether you get them at home or abroad. A husky young artist who rejoiced in the Highland name of Donald McKinnon was sent in and what the Petes didn't do to the afore mentioned Mr. McKinnon wasn't worth doing. They got to him for a total of nineteen safeties, the assortment including two triples and three two baggers, and had the Cobourg outfield leather-hunting all afternoon, while Manager Mulhall with anguish deeply engraved on his finely chiselled brow watched the game in moody silence from the bench. Nineteen hits in a league contest is sure clouting some and the slugging bee was a great success, thank you.

The ring leaders in the dastardly attack upon Mr. McKinnon were our three fellow townsmen Messrs. Murphy, Lawson and Burns. Our well known and agile left fielder leaned against the pill for four useful singles and our skilful first baseman helped himself to four of the same with a base on balls as a side dish. Two doubles and a single were Mr. Burns' selection and they all helped on the run getting. Both the heaving and the receiving end of our battery got a triple. Mr. Cheatham who third bases so pleasingly, had two singles, making a cowardly attempt to knock Mr. King's head off with one of them, while all the rest of the herd fattened their batting average with a hit each.

The efforts made by the visiting athletes with the willow looked rather mild along side of that bombardment. Clements was in fine form and only five hits were made off his delivery. With perfect support, Cobourg's score would have been cut in four. Floyd, Burge and Turpin were the only visitors to hit safely.

The Petes were off in their fielding Saturday, McDermott and Clements having an especially bad day, but the team more than made up for it in their slugging operations and the misplays were forgotten.

Cobourg had the crowd anxious in the first by scoring two runs on three errors and two hits. The Petes got back one in their half on a single and a double and took the lead in the second with three counters on an infield error, two singles and a double. Cobourg evened up again in the fourth, on three errors and Floyd's single. Peterborough went ahead again in the fifth on McDermott's single, Bentley's error and Lawson's beautiful single. Then in the lucky seventh there were five counters, on triples, by Edmunds and Clements, a double by Burns and singles by Lawson, Cheatham and Murphy. Thorne's single and Floyd's wild throw were responsible for another in the eighth.

Jack Roseveat, of Port Hope, umpired and gave every satisfaction. He is a treat along side of the apologies the league management has been providing in the past.

Burns, Murphy and Harcourt had the fielding honours, making some pretty catches in the outfield.

By Innings

The game by innings was as follows:—

First Inninga—Cobourg started off in a dangerous mood, and they were aided and abetted in their designs by some saffron-hued errors. McDermott started the trouble by falling down on an easy grounder from Wineberg. Then Clements made a frenzied heave to first and the Dutchman went right around to third. Bulger flew out to Burns and Bentley did the same, Wineberg counting. Floyd peeled off a pretty single and Turpin drove one over Thorne's head for two bases, Floyd reaching third on the play. King slashed one at Cheetham which the thirdbaseman let get away from him, and Floyd made port. With two of the foreign population on the sacks, however, McKinnon grounded to McDermott. Two runs.

Burns fouled out to Floyd. Murphy, however, was there with a pretty single to left and stole second. Then Maddock picked out a nice one and hit the Spalding in the direction of the C.P.R. bridge for two bases, on which Murphy scored easily. Thorne and McDermott both grounded to Wineberg, and the visitors were still one to the good. One run.

Second.—Burge led off with a single, but Harcourt fanned. Wineberg grounded to McDermott and Bulger was choked off on an easy grounder to Clements. No runs.

Peterborough counted three in their half. Bentley slipped up on Edmunds' grounder and the catcher was safe. Lawson laid down a beautiful bunt and beat it out easily. Cheetham advanced them a base with a sacrifice, and then Burns boosted one to the sawdust in left centre for two bases, scoring both base-runners. Murphy was there with a slashing single to left and Burns flashed over the home station. Maddock grounded to McKinnon. Three runs.

Third.—There was more trouble in the third. McDermott fumbled Bentley's grounder and Floyd followed with a corking single to centre which Thorne let bound past him, Bentley scoring and Floyd going to third. Turpin fanned and King flew out to Murphy. McKinnon hit to Clements who fumbled, and the pitcher was safe, while Floyd scored. Burge grounded to McDermott. Two runs.

Thorne was out on a bounder to Wineberg and Burge annexed McDermott's fly to centre. Edmunds planted a neat single to left, and McKinnon Hoagilanded Lawson. Cheatham flew out to Turpin. No runs.

Fourth.—Harcourt and Wineberg fanned. Bulger got one of Clements' slants in the arm, but Bentley popped up an easy one to the pitcher. No runs.

Clements fanned. Burns singled to left, but Murphy grounded to McKinnon, and Maddock flew out to Burge. No runs.

Fifth.—Floyd was safe on Clements' error. Turpin fanned, but King hit to Maddock, forcing Floyd at second. It came near being a double play, but his "umps" couldn't see it that way. McKinnon was hit by pitcher, but Burge died on a grounder to McDermott. No runs.

Thorne was out on a roller to King. McDermott singled between first and second. Bentley failed to hold Edmunds' grounder to short, and both men were advanced a base on a passed ball. Lawson smashed a beautiful liner over second and both sackwarmers scampered home. Cheetham was there with a single, but Lawson was forced at third on Clements' grounder to that station, who in turn was nipped at second, when Burns grounded to short. Two runs.

Sixth.—Harcourt grounded to Clements. Maddock took care of Wineberg's grounder to short and Lawson made a pretty pickup of Bulger's speedy grounder to first. No runs.

Murphy led off with his third single of the day, but was forced at second on Maddock's grounder. Thorne hit to McKinnon and a pretty double play followed, McKinnon to King to Turpin. No runs.

Seventh.—Bentley grounded to Maddock. Floyd hit one to the third spot and the shortstop let it get away from him. Turpin flew out to Murphy. King was safe on McDermott's fumble, but Burns absorbed McKinnon's fly to right. No runs.

It was a glorious innings for the Petes. McDermott grounded to McKinnon, but Edmunds smashed the Spalding into deep right centre for a lovely three-bagger, and Lawson scored him with a tingling single over second. Cheetham almost decapitated King with a vicious drive to second and the game was stopped while an examination of the ex-Guelphite's cranium revealed the fact that it was still there. When hostilities were resumed, Clements landed on the pill for a screaming three-bagger to left, sending Lawson and Cheetham home. Burns followed with a double to the same garden and Clements counted. Murphy laced one over second and Burns came all the way home. Murphy tried to make third on the throw but was nipped, and Maddock flew out to Burns. Five runs.

Eighth.—Burge singled to left. Harcourt, however, fanned. Wineberg popped up an easy one to first. Bulger struck out. No runs.

Thorne beat out a grounder to short by pretty running. McDermott laid down a perfect sacrifice on the first-base line, sending Thorne to second. He scored when Floyd flung the Spalding almost into the creek in an effort to stop him purloining third. Edmunds flew out to Burge. Lawson beat out a grounder to King, but Cheetham's fly was taken care of by Wineberg. One run.

Ninth.—Bentley was walked but was forced at second on Floyd's grounder to Clements. Turpin flew out to Burns, and King ended the game with a grounder to McDermott. No runs.

BILLY SHERRING IS GOING TO PAY SPECIAL ATTENTION TO SIMPSON

The Canadian Team Has Already Started Training—Are at it at 6.30 in the Morning—Great Time at Quebec.

LEFT THERE ON FRIDAY

On Board S. S. Tunisian, June 12.

The Canadian Olympic team left Montreal this morning at 9 o'clock and expect to reach Quebec at 7 o'clock to-night. The team started working this afternoon. Mr. Crocker gave the boys exercises and then Sherring took the Marathon runners in charge and gave them a warm time. Simpson is going good and is having every consideration shown him. They are certainly going to put him in the very best of condition. Sherring is going to pay special attention to him, so that if he does not "land" on the other side it won't be for want of care and training. The hours for training are 6.30 in the morning and 3.30 in the afternoon, so that the boys will not be idle.

We have had quite a deal of correspondence with the heads of different athletic organisations on the other side and have had many kind offers from different clubs to make use of their ground and training quarters as much as possible. Through the kindness of Rev. Dr. Laffan we will use the training rooms of the Regent street Polytechnic and use their grounds out at Shepherd's Bush, and we have been made honorary members of the club for our stay. I think that we shall stop at the First Avenue Hotel while in London, though our permanent address will be care of the High Commissioner of Canada.

A funny thing happened at Smith's Falls yesterday on our way down to Montreal. We stopped for lunch there and Fred was busy eating at the counter. The waitress asked him to pay for the amount already consumed, but Simpson paid no attention to her and went right on eating. The girl after repeatedly asking for the money finally summoned the proprietor who ordered her to collect from the Indian, who was still demolishing the sandwiches. Fred looked up for a moment, just long enough to wave his hand and say, "Go over there, some man will pay you." Your correspondent happened to be on hand and paid, or else I don't know what would have happened. Fred said he was just going to talk to her in the Indian language. R. B.

Quebec, June 12.—Arrived at this historic old spot at 7 o'clock and leave at 11 o'clock to-night. We were taken all through the town on a special car and had a great time.

UMPIRE ROBBED THE ATHLETICS

Local Team Lost Their Midland League Game on Saturday Afternoon.

The Athletics journeyed to Port Hope on Saturday and were defeated in a Midland League fixture by 10 runs to 2, mainly due to the work of the umpire, whom the Athletics claim robbed them from the start. Horton, of Port Hope, was the name of the official robber and the locals claim that his decisions, both on balls and strikes, were something awful, So bad was his work that the Athletics walked off the field altogether in the fourth and refused to go on with him as arbitrator. Finally a compromise was effected and Boney, of Port Hope, went on as base umpire, while Horton continued as umpire on balls and strikes.

Port Hope had a very much stronger team than the nine which met defeat here a week ago. Danny McGuire, of the St. Mary's, Toronto, was at second. Chandler, a London boy, short stop, and Jack O'Toole was back at third, so that the infield was very much strengthened. Wilson, the London twirler, was on the slab and pitched nice ball, while his support was gilt-edged. Quinlan was as reliable and effective as ever in the box for the Athletics and the team behind fielded well, but there was no use in trying to beat the umpire as well as Port Hope.

The teams were as follows:

Port Hope.	Athletics.
Anderson c	Rattray c
J. Wilson p	Quinlan p
W. Wilson 1b	Graham 1b
McGuire 2b	Healip 2b
Chandler ss	Shea ss
O'Toole 3b	Landry 3b
Rowden lf	Callaghan lf
Walters cf	Connors cf
McMahon rf	Filling rf

The Athletics drove down to the Lakefront town, getting home early Sunday morning.

QUAKERS LOST IN HAVELOCK

Played Nine Men Against Eleven—Return Match Next Friday Evening.

TWO GOALS WERE SCORED

With nine men to eleven the Quakers went up against Havelock on the latter's grounds on Saturday afternoon, and went down to defeat by the score of 2 goals to 0. The Quakers were so busy on Saturday that the regular team could not get away and some of those who did go had not kicked a ball before this season. They therefore made a very creditable showing by holding their opponents down to two goals. The defence had the greater part of the work to do, as there were only three forwards and they put up an admirable game.

Fitzgerald and Sullivan at back had never kicked a ball this year, while it was the first occasion that Lang and Ford Turner ever played out on the field in their lives. The latter, with Millburn, were on the forward line and put up an aggressive game, but were, of course, outnumbered by the six defence Havelock men. Fred Doherty, of Norwood, refereed satisfactorily.

The return game will likely be played here next Friday evening. The Quaker line-up was:

Goal—McFadden.
Backs—Fitzgerald, Sullivan.
Half back—Archibald, Scrimshaw, Hutchins.
Forwards—Millburn, Lang, Turner.
Referee—Fred Doherty.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—If "Information" would would study the marine world a shade or two more he would have learned that the "Mauritania" has never made a trip of 4 days, 15 minutes. He cuts it rather fine when he questions the time it would take to burn a ton of coal. If my learned friend could possibly arrange an interview, it would give me the greatest pleasure to count up the hairs on his head and give him the exact number and weight. The average consumption of coal of the "Greyhound" is 1,000 tons per day, or nearly 5,000 for the voyage.

Yours truly,
"OLD SALT."

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Mr. P G Towns, of Douro, walked into Peterborough, the other evening a distance of 10 miles in 89 minutes and made the trip both ways in 194 minutes. That's going some.

• • • •

The Guide says:—James Reynolds returned to town Saturday morning not feeling much worse after his long tramp. The report that reached here that he had collapsed three miles east of Newcastle was not correct. Upon reaching this point he felt in first-class condition and was travelling over four miles an hour, but realizing that he could not finish within the time he gave it up. He attributes his defeat to the illness on the journey to Toronto.

On the return trip Reynolds walked from Whitby to Oshawa, 4 miles in 40 minutes and this shows that he was feeling pretty fine.

Diamond Dustings

There was a fast game of ball on the West End baseball field on Saturday, between the North Stars and Victors, which resulted in the latter winning, the score being 10—0. The umpire was satisfactory to both sides and the line-up was as follows:

Victors—E. Murty, c; G. Hicks, p; Ahurn, 1b; F. Lynch, 2b; A. Horsefield, 3b; W. Foley, lf; F. Cane, ss; Rusaw, cf; Hardgrave, rf.

North Stars—Geary, c; A. White, p; A. Nelson, 1b; J. Heffernan, 2b; C. Teeny, ss; W. Easton, 3b; Halpin, lf; Sullivan, rf.

Referee—Herbert Callahan.

On Thursday evening at 6 o'clock the final game in the Junior Guild Baseball League will be played off between the Y.M.C.A. Chieftains and St. Andrew's teams. Riverside Park has been secured for the game.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Gallant Attempt at Rescue Ends In Failure.

Cornwall, Ont., June 15.—James Lilley, aged 13, and Albert Lilley, aged 12, first cousins, were drowned on Saturday in the St. Lawrence, near the foot of the Cornwall Canal. They went out fishing, and the current from the bywash at the lower locks caught their boat broadside and upset it about 100 feet from shore. The boys were natives of Elgin, England.

A young lad named Archambault swam out to their rescue, and might have saved the smaller boy had not James, who was clinging to the upturned boat, made an effort to reach him, and Archambault, fearing to be pulled under, turned back.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, June 15.—The market opened dull and irregular, with price changes unimportant. The trading element at once took the bear side on the proposition that a stampede of the Republican convention to Roosevelt was among the possibilities. Union Pacific led the decline, and a number of the leading rails fell off a point or so from Saturday's closing level, but later on when the shorts began to cover the market enjoyed a dull sort of a rally in which the earlier losses were practically made up. There was no snap, however, to the trading at any stage of the game, and about the most important feature of the market was the decline in the Erie stocks. These stocks failed to rally with the rest of the market and were under considerable pressure from abroad, where there continues to be unfavourable comment over the funding of interest charges.

We rather look for further bearish operations against these stocks, which will likely cause an irregular market for the next few days. The closing was dull but firm.

This week's picture at the Crystal, entitled

is one of the best of the series. It is descriptive of a poor young man who loves a lord's daughter. The fact being discovered and believing the case hopeless he endeavors to do away with himself. However, he meets with a fairy, who listens to his tale of woe and promises to help him. She takes up his case, and the manner in which he is looked after and his enemies put to flight is vividly depicted, and the daring lover finally takes his sweetheart against all opposition

THE TEARING UP OF THE STREETS

Board of Works Decides to Take Some Action in the Matter

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night prior to the special meeting of the council, at which a number of items of routine business were wiped off the slate.

Ald. Phelan expressed himself strongly in opposition to people tearing up our streets without the city's consent. He contended that it is about time the council understands its position in this regard. He noticed Monday morning that the Gas Company had opened up Simcoe street from the gas works to the city hall, without permission from the council. He thought it time such action was stopped, and asked the solicitor's advice as to the proper course for the city to pursue in such cases.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall answered that a city by-law prohibits the opening of any street without the permission of the council, but the Peterborough Light and Power Company claim to be privileged under the conditions of an old charter fifty years old. This would be a matter in which the courts must act if necessary.

On resolution it was decided that the Peterborough Light and Power Company be notified that no streets may be opened without the council's acquiescence, otherwise an injunction will be taken out by the city.

A QUESTION WITH ONLY ONE ANSWER

The problem which confronts the ladies of Peterborough and suburbs now that the sweet summer days have come is, where can I have my shirtwaists, suits, blouses, evening coats, fancy dresses, etc., made up in the latest and most up-to-date style, and the answer to this question is, go straight to "The New York Ladies' Tailoring," 658 George street. See for yourself the style, price and finish to their garments. Don't forget, it's your custom we want, not the price. Open evenings until eight o'clock. 'Phone 624. SOMETHING ABOUT THE NEW CHIEF

Mr. Howard Has Had Experience in London, Berlin and Owen Sound

W. A. Howard, the newly-appointed Chief of the Fire Brigade, has had many years' experience as a fire fighter. He started in London, Ont., as a call man and when the brigade was made a permanent one and call men done away with, he remained on the force, rising to the rank of captain. When it was purposed to reorganize the Berlin Fire Brigade into a paid organization, and a new chief was wanted, Mr. Howard applied for the position and was accepted. He remained in charge of the Berlin Brigade until about a year and a half ago, when Owen Sound decided to have a paid brigade, and as a good opening was offered there he left Berlin and took charge of the fire laddies of the northern town, remaining there until now. He will be here on Saturday to commence his duties as head of the brigade.

ALBERT NOWELL, ACTOR, MURDERED BY FOOTPADS · ONCE WORKED FOR GEORGE STREET CONFECTIONER

Born in Uxbridge He Was Well Known to Mr. Tisdall—Latter Surprised to Hear He Was On The Stage.

HOW HE WAS MURDERED

Recent despatches from New York tell of the tragic death of Albert Nowell, whose mother resides in Toronto. Young Nowell's native home was in Uxbridge, where he used to work for Mr. J. O. Tisdall, now a confectioner on George street, Peterborough. Mr. Tisdall kept a dry goods store there some twelve years ago, and he used to work for him. Some years ago the boy's father died and it is now about two years since the family moved from Uxbridge to Toronto. Albert was not a youth with any footlight inclination, although his brother belonged to a troupe which once played in the home town. Mr. Tisdall had not heard of the boy for many years, and probably would not have for many more had he not met such a death. The despatch referring to his murder says:—

Albert Crosby, actor, of Boston, son of Mrs. H. Nowell, 136 Morse street, Toronto, was murdered by footpads in New York, and the New York police sent two telegrams to Mrs. Nowell, but as she had not been in Morse street, neither message reached her.

Eventually, the Toronto Detective Department located Mrs. Nowell at 495 Broadview avenue, the residence of Mrs. Maud Nicoll, with whom she had been living for some time.

"Yes, he was my son, but his name was not Crosby," said the mother.

Mrs. Nowell, an elderly woman, was almost prostrate from grief. "The name should be Albert Nowell. He was 28 years old, and a fine, big fellow, with a good heart."

The tidings borne by the detectives were the first that had reached her of Albert for two years.

He had worked as a waiter at the King Edward Hotel for some months, and when the season opened became a waiter on an R. & O. steamer. His farewell to his mother was this, "Good-bye, mother; I'll be back on Sunday."

Sunday came, but no Albert. In fact, neither the mother nor any other member of the family knew of his whereabouts from that time until his death.

Was not an Actor

"He was never an actor, to my knowledge," said Mrs. Nowell. "He must have decided upon the stage after he left home the last time."

"I don't know that I ever saw a handsomer young man," said a Morse street neighbour, "and I certainly never knew a better-natured one. He was away from home a great deal. Indeed, he nearly always came and went very unexpectedly. He could not content himself with one place, but he was a nice fellow, and everybody liked him."

Besides the mother, two sons and two daughters survive. One son resides in New York City, a married daughter resides in Buffalo, and a son, William, and a daughter, Alice, have their home in Mexico. Mrs. Nowell was to join her Mexico children on Monday to keep house for them, owing to Mrs. Nicoll's approaching departure with friends for Europe.

Gone After Body

Wm. Nowell, employed in the express department of the Union Station, Toronto, left last night for New York, and will return with the body. Interment will take place at Uxbridge, where the Nowells lived prior to the death of Mr. Nowell, Sr., in the General Hospital.

There seems to be little doubt that Albert Nowell was the unfortunate man beaten to death. The description furnished by the authorities is that of Mrs. Nowell's son. A press despatch says:

While a dozen terrorized men and women looked on from the windows of surrounding houses in West 27th street, two daring highwaymen beat to death and robbed a man believed to be Albert Crosby, of Boston, an actor, who had been playing in the "Road to Yesterday." He was still breathing when witnesses of the tragedy ran up to him after the robbers had fled, but died in an hospital while the surgeons were preparing to trephine his shattered skull.

In a notebook found in the dead man's pocket was an entry reading, "In case of accident, notify my mother, Mrs. H. Nowell, 136 Morse street, Toronto, Canada."

Harrison Was Second At End Of First Night at St. Catharines

Stacey in the Lead and the Four Peterborough Men Follow—A Terrific Clip Was Set for First Three Hours—Harrison Going Strong

CHARLEY STEVENS IS FIFTH

Examiner Special

St. Catharines, June 16.—At the end of the first three hours' grind in the big twenty-four hour walking match which opened in the Phelps street roller rink here to-night, Stacey had travelled 19 miles, 8 laps, and was well in advance of Harrison the Peterborough walker, while Guerin, Spencely and Stevens, the other Peterborough men in the race were respectively third, fourth and fifth. The rest of the field outside of these five, seems to be outclassed, and the Peterborough walkers, if it were not for Stacey, would have things to themselves. Stacey showed a great burst of speed, but Harrison is going strong and well and is holding his own easily. There was a good crowd present to-night and excitement reigned supreme throughout the evening. The walkers go three hours every night until Saturday, when they are nine hours on the track. The score at 11 o'clock to-night was as follows:—

FIREMEN WENT ON STRIKE BUT WERE PERSUADED TO STAY ON; ALDERMEN'S HEATED DISCUSSION

For a while last night it looked as if the city would be without any fire protection at all for the next few days. When the council was adjourning after appointing W. A. Howard, of Owen Sound, chief of the brigade, the firemen present announced that they intended to quit at once, saying that they had agreed to continue in their duties until the committee reported. In the midst of the heated discussion among the members of the council, the fire alarm was sounded, but it was ascertained that it was merely a call to the firemen to hold a meeting to talk the matter over.

The special committee maintained that the action of the council did not affect the men, who were under contract to remain in office until June 30th. But the situation, nevertheless, was taken seriously by the aldermen when his worship pointed out that some of them would have to accompany him to the fire hall and remain there the night should the firemen refuse to hold themselves in readiness for a possible call. After a short consultation the mayor left the committee room and brought in Chief Rutherford with a view to reaching an amicable understanding.

The conference resulted in an arrival at the conclusion that the committee and the firemen had misunderstood each other at the recent meeting at the hall. The former claimed that the latter had agreed to remain on duty until June 30th, and if at such date nothing definite had been reached by the council they were to continue in office for this year, with the present chief, four men to be kept permanently in the hall, and an increase of $30 allowed each man. The men claimed, however, that they were to remain in office until the committee reported, and failing such report by June 30th, then the aforesaid conditions to come into force. Consequently the report relieved the men from duty. The committee assured the chief that the provision, "until the committee reported" applied to him only, the men still being in office till the end of this month. A short heart-to-heart talk was here entered into by the aldermen present, and Chief Rutherford, and the latter expressed himself of the opinion that should a fire occur the men would not allow any citizen to suffer if within their power to prevent it. Finally Chief Rutherford agreed to interview the men at the hall and try and persuade them to remain in office for the time being. In this he was successful, and until things are put on a definite footing citizens will be protected from fire as usual by the present brigade.

In the interview with Chief Rutherford, his faithful services of 40 years—28 as chief—were admitted by one and all. Ald. Neill claimed that while the men had been paid as well as, and in some cases more than, other volunteer brigades, he contended that Chief Rutherford had been underpaid. And he took figures of the sum total of the chief's salary the past forty years with a view to securing a substantial recompense to him for the splendid work done by him for the city.

Ald. Neill also admitted that it was the committee's intention to give first choice of office on the permanent staff, excepting that of the chief to the present firemen.

Chief Rutherford remarked that he was quite satisfied to resign his position.

A LESSON ON STREET MAKING.

As promised in yesterday's issue of the Examiner, we present on page 3 the first of a series of articles on the cardinal principles of road-making. These articles are reprinted from a manual appended to the Report of the Ontario Commissioner of Highways. Mr. A. W. Campbell, C. E., an authority on his specialty, with no superior on the continent. He has studied the subject, he has had practical experience, and what he lays down as principles, whose application is indispensable to good street-making, are sound and correct. Without their intelligent and faithful application, permanent city highways are an impossibility. Neglect of these principles is a false economy. Neglect may be a trifle cheaper in the beginning, but in the end it is simply another name for waste. Either the cost of maintenance is excessive, or the streets are bad streets. The subject of the article printed to-day is "Drainage," and in the mantal this is given the place of first importance, and properly so, as must be evident to anyone who uses his brains even a little. It is something shamefully neglected in Peterborough. No city, as has often been remarked, provides such splendid facilities for perfect surface drainage of streets as Peterborough. There is no excuse whatever for the neglect of drainage, which so universally obtains. Sound principles of road-making call for proper grading and draining as the first step in good street construction. The city authorities have put the cart before the horse, as on Charlotte street west, where the street was metalled, rolled and finished, and the grading and half drainage done afterwards. Gilmour street is under treatment now. An attempt at grading has been made. The street from Babb's Road west, was ploughed up and the gravel is being applied without a solid foundation having been formed by the use of the steam roll. As a result, in a month or two the street will be filled with depressions and holes. Then the gutters on the street side have not been cleaned out to provide for a free flow of water to a proper outlet. These things are contrary to the principles of good street-making, and can only result in defective work. Why is not this matter of drainage looked after? In front of Bell's grocery on Hunter street there is now a pool of water. Yet a hundred feet east, at the corner, is a sewer opening. But a glance shows that there is not a proper gutter to carry water to this opening. It would take only half an hour's work of one man to provide a free channel for the flow of water. This is a small matter; but it is a type of what prevails in many places on every street in the city. Read the article on "DRAINAGE" on page 3 of this issue. Why not have things done properly?

IMMIGRATION.

The opposition to the growth of Canada, as represented by a vigorous immigration policy is decreasing. The public are being schooled to the necessity of increasing our population. The policy of the Liberal Government is contributing to the importation of a better class of immigrants to Canada. While the volume of direct immigration to Canada shows a comparative decrease it has a compensation. Last year a million and a half immigrants poured into Canada and the United States. In effect a large number of the United States contingent found its way to Canada; that is the foreign immigrants in many cases purchased the farms of Western United States farmers, and the latter sought homes in the Northwest — to the number of 16,573 last year. Canada, it is pointed out, has received considerably fewer immigrants directly thus far during 1908 than in the corresponding months of 1907. This is not discouraging, in view of the fact that the falling-off has chiefly been in the less desirable classes. The Government requirement that $25 shall be the minimum cash possession for entrance has tended to keep out those who are not able to support themselves while seeking employment. The marked increase in the number of comparatively prosperous immigrants from the United States has been a highly encouraging feature of the year's record thus far. Total immigration for April was 29,755, as compared with 44051 for April of last year, a decrease of 32 per cent. For the first four months of this year immigration decreased 46 per cent. via ocean ports, but increased 6 1-2 per cent. from the United States. In all 16,573 Americans have settled in Western Canada this year.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Now is the season when people who can't swim are frantic to get possession of a canoe or a craft they don't know how to manage. Such persons, however, are useful to the coroner and newspaper reporters.

While King Edward, the Peacemaker, is trying to police Europe into pacific conditions, Great Britain is not be caught napping. The British military budget this year amounts to three hundred million dollars.

Chief Justice Mulock favours the formation of a society of Italians pledged against the carrying of weapons. A better way would be to enforce the law prohibiting the carrying by either foreigners or Canadians, of lethal weapons. One might as well propose a law pledging thieves against stealing.

The Hamilton Spectator says "the Grits will not get into power again in a thousand years, if the 'square deal' is kept up." Apropos of some constituencies, bank notes are not quite square; they are, however, rectangular and may be held to justify to their employment the application of a "square deal."

Lord Derby, who died on Sunday, was known to us in Canada as Lord Stanley, of Preston. He was Governor-General from 1888 to 1893. He was not a very brilliant governor, but was popular enough to have a good many scores of babies named after him—these are now young men from 15 to 19 bearing the baptismal name of Stanley.

THE SECRET BALLOT IS EASY

London, June 16.—There have been many complaints regarding the ballots in the provincial elections.

The paper used was very thin, and one could see the ballot mark on the opposite side without difficulty.

Instead of being a secret ballot, it was far from such, and the deputy returning officer could see how every man voted if he took the trouble to look.

It was a burlesque on a secret ballot and the complaints about it have been numberless.

"It is the worst I ever saw," said an irate elector last night. "The paper is so thin that it is absolutely impossible to prevent the deputy returning officer finding out how a man voted. The pencil had to be pressed very lightly on the paper or it would go through it. I understand that ballot paper should be so thick that no impression will be made on the other side of the ballot in order that secrecy may be preserved. It is an awful ballot, and I have heard a large number of voters complain."

A DESERVING INSTITUTION

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Six months ago, in December, a little Indian lad from the Chemong Reserve, Johnny McCue, who being afflicted with clubfeet was badly crippled, was sent to Toronto to the Sick Children's Hospital for treatment. He was put in the charity ward endowed by the school children of Ontario; his expenses there and back being provided by children of the neighbouring schools in Smith and Harvey Townships.

The boy comes home now with an almost miraculous change wrought in his feet, having been most kindly cared for and having been given excellent schooling during his half year there. For all this, the hospital has received practically nothing. We believe, therefore, that any persons of Peterborough County, who are desirous of learning of some worthy cause toward which they might dispense their charities, will be glad to hear of this case and to receive the name of Douglas Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer Sick Children's Hospital, College street, Toronto.

We hope that every encouragement may be given them in this good work and that they may have ample reason to feel recompensed not only by the consciousness of having ministered to some "of the least of these," or by the gratitude of those who have been helped, but also in those material gifts (which render such Christian charitable work possible.

METHODIST MINISTER.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS AT THE CRYSTAL

"Temperance" Points Out Advantages and Gives Invitation To All.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I should like to use the columns of your paper to draw the attention of the public to the series of Gospel Temperance meetings that have been held at the Crystal on Sunday evenings after the close of the regular church services. These meetings have been held uunder the combined auspices of the City Temperance League and the Royal Templars and from the commencement the attendance has been most gratifying. As the title suggests, the great evil of intemperance has been dealt with and the Gospel of Jesus Christ held up as the only hope of salvation from its curse, while an invitation has been extended to all to sign a pledge to abstain from the use of alcohol as a beverage.

Six meeting have been held, at each of which different ministers in the city have given an address, the chair being taken by a layman from a different church. One prominent feature of the programme has been the special music which has been supplied by the various choirs of the city. While all have been excellent it is difficult to notice any one in particular, and yet I feel that special mention might be made of the addresses delivered by the Rev. Mr. Manning and Rev. Mr. Webb, also of the beautiful music supplied at those meetings by the choirs of the churches those gentlemen represent.

I should like to call the attention of all who are interested in this cause to the fact that these meetings will be continued at least to the end of this month and any one who will come and help to make them a success will be heartily welcome. Trusting you will be able to find space in your paper for this, I remain,

Yours, for the sake of humanity,
TEMPERANCE.

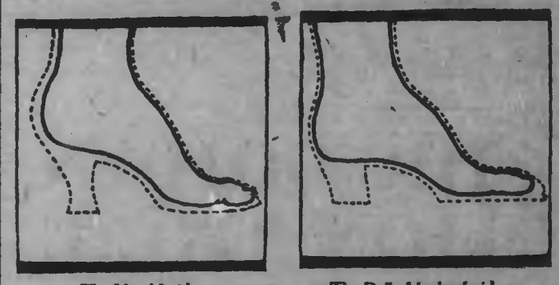
Barefoot Comfort

"One of the 14"



The Usual Inside — The Dolly Varden Inside

The claim that a shoe is as comfortable as a barefoot is a pretty strong claim, but we claim it for the Dolly Varden Shoe and our agent in your city is ready to prove our claim. By trying on a few pairs you can soon find out.

Why are they comfortable?

Because they are copies of perfect feminine feet which allow the feet to lie in their natural position.

Because of their Free Flat Tread.

Because of their newly devised, restful steel arch support which relieves the fatigue muscles of the arch and prevents crowding of the toes into the narrow front of the shoe, by holding the heel close to the back.

Because of their Dead Level Ball and Heel Balance.

Because of their Harmless High Heels—as comfortable as moccasins.

And because of their new "velvette kid" leather, which is as soft as cloth.

$4.00 to $5.00 in Canada or the States. Every pair Goodyear welted.

THE FOUNDATION PRINCIPLES OF PROPER STREET BUILDING

Efficient Drainage, Both Surface and Sub-surface, a Prime Essential---Must Be The First Consideration in Good Street Making---Permanency Impossible Without It.

Number One.

To the chairman and members of the Board of Works, the City Engineer, the Street Commissioner, the Street Inspector and the Aldermen generally—read, mark, learn and inwardly digest—and outwardly apply. The following, the first of a series of articles, is reprinted from the Twelfth Annual Report of Highway Improvement in Ontario, of Mr. A. W. Campbell, C.E., Deputy Minister of Public Works. Mr Campbell is one of the most capable road-building experts on the continent. He has made a study of the subject for years and is competent to speak with the voice of authority. To his equipment as an engineer, to his special experience and study, he adds a deep personal interest in the matter of good highways and streets. The manual he has prepared lays down general principles, to be adapted to the conditions prevailing in a town or city. These principles, which are so simple as to be obvious to any person of common sense, are so overtly and so persistently ignored and neglected in dealing with the streets of this city, that it would seem to be only necessary to call the attention to them of the street authorities, to have them put into practice. Then we should have, in vastly better streets, vastly better value for our money:

Essential Features of Construction

Every good street has two essential features:

a—The earth sub-soil is well drained, naturally or artificially, making a strong, unyielding foundation. Kept dry by drainage, it is acted upon to the least possible degree by frost.

b—The wearing surface is a smooth, hard and compact crust, which sheds water readily, and distributes the concentrated wheel load over a greater area of sub-soil.

The surface covering is generally a coating of gravel or broken stone, which should be put on the street in such a way that it will not, in wet weather, be churned up and mixed with the earth beneath. That is, it should form a distinct coating.

To accomplish this:

a—The gravel or broken stone should contain very little sand or clay—it should be clean.

b—the street should be well crowned or rounded in the centre, so as to shed the water to the open drains.

c—Ruts should not be allowed to form, as they prevent water from passing to the open drains.

d—The open drains should have a sufficient fall and free outlet, so that the water will not stand in them, but will be carried away immediately.

e—Tile under-drains should be laid wherever the open drains are not sufficient, and where the ground has a moist or wet or "springy" appearance, with a tendency to absorb the gravel and rut readily. By this means the foundation is made dry.

f—In the absence of tile under-drains, the open drains at the street-side should be deep enough to make a layer of dry soil under the road-bed.

DRAINAGE

GOOD drainage is the FIRST ESSENTIAL for all streets — earth streets, gravel streets, broken stone streets.

Street construction is largely A MATTER OF GOOD DRAINAGE. Do not WASTE gravel and broken stone by putting them on streets that are NOT properly drained. The natural soil over which the street passes must be kept strong enough to support traffic. DRY EARTH WILL DO THIS. Wet earth will not—for wet earth is mud, soft and yielding, whether on the surface or below it. Mud BELOW A BED OF GRAVEL is worse than mud on top of it. The reason streets are good, or better, in summer is that they are dry.

The only street that will not be improved by the most perfect system of drainage that can be given it is a street of pure sand. IN ALL other cases, EVERY DOLLAR put into DRAINAGE is WELL SPENT.

The deficient drainage on many streets consists only of open ditches on each side of the graded portion, with a depth of about eighteen inches. They are frequently carried through rises of ground, past natural water courses. Little attention is given to the regularity of the grade in the bottom, or to the amount of fall, as evidenced by the varying depths of stagnant water at wet seasons. The object of these drains was more to procure earth to raise the centre of the street above the water-line than to lower or carry away the water. Very often they have no outlets.

Drainage implies,—

a—That the street be crowned to shed water to open drains or gutters.

b—That the open drains have a constant fall to a GOOD OUTLET.

c—That water rising in the street below be carried away by deep or tile drains.

d—That the surface of the street be kept smooth, free from ruts and hollows, so that water will not remain on the surface. Gravel and broken stone are placed on an earth road for this purpose.

The method and extent of drainage must depend largely upon the character of the soil over which drainage passes; clay, loam, gravel, sand, swampy, springs, flat, undulating, are all terms suggesting conditions that modify the plan of drainage.

To secure good drainage, first determine the main watercourses crossing or adjacent to the streets, which can be used as outlets.

Grade the road and the open drains so that the water will flow readily to these outlets.

Place culverts and waterways as frequently as required to carry water across the street.

A drain without an outlet is useless or worse than useless. If there is not an outlet the water is held in elongated ponds by the street-side (which can be seen in every street of the city after a rain), to soak into and soften the travelled highway. This water is drawn up in the roadway, just as a sponge will absorb water and hold it in all its pores.

Rather than spend money year after year in a wasteful effort to maintain a street without drainage, it will be economy to provide proper outlets, even if it is necessary to carry the drain a considerable distance across private property.

Discharge water in small quantities into frequent outlets. Do not carry it long distances past natural outlets. It is the accumulation of water to a large volume that causes severe erosion and washouts.

The Drainage

A large proportion of the water falling in the form of rain and snow sinks into the ground, and, reaching a hard-pan, rock or other impervious stratum, gradually rises in the soil just as water rises in a pail into which it is poured. It is this water rising from below which is commonly neglected, and which causes streets to be so bad in the spring of the year.

Water expands about one eighth of its volume in freezing. This causes a saturated roadbed of a street to heave at times several inches. This heaving means that the street has been honeycombed by expanding ice. When the thaw comes, the porous, wet soil, is mud to the axles, with no supporting power. Tile drainage removes this sub-soil water, preventing the injurious effect of frost.

Sub-soil water frequently comes to the surface in the form of springs or water veins, which create mud holes. These are common in hills which have been graded, but in many cases appear in the level ground. These should be tapped by tile drains, running a drain diagonally across the street and into the heart of the spring.

Tile drains are permanent. They take the place of deep open drains at no cost for us to maintain. Their effect is most noticeable in spring, causing the streets to dry up quickly. In this way, and throughout the year, they save the gravel or stone covering, as there is less mud for it to sink into. A less depth of gravel or broken stone is required on streets that are tile-drained.

Lay the tile on an even grade with a constant fall to a good outlet; the fall being not less than three inches in one hundred feet.

A four inch or five inch tile will meet most conditions, but the size must depend on the length of the drain, fall, and amount of water to be carried away. The larger tile are less apt to become stopped through uneven laying.

A GOOD NAME

EVERY one desires to establish for himself a good name, but it takes time to win the confidence of your fellow men. Truth and perseverance are the alternate rungs on the ladder of success, and he who reaches the top must make no false step.

There are hundreds of cough medicines with all sorts of names, each claiming to be the best, but the test of time will prove whether or not they have established the right to be called the best.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has had thirty-five years of sale and use, and has cured coughs and colds under all conditions, in all countries and climates, and the verdict today is that it has no equal.

Careful selection of the drugs, intelligent and skillful compounding, the entire absence of opium, chloroform, or any other harmful ingredient, and the absolute purity of every article that goes into its composition, has built up and sustained its good name.

These are the things you should remember, and the next time you want a cough medicine, it is worth while to see that you get Chamberlain's and secure the virtues which a good name implies.

Every dealer who sells a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy guarantees it to give satisfaction or he will refund the money.

some one is responsible for the placing of these chairs on the stand, therefore we left the park, and gave a few of the numbers, which were on the programme, at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, after waiting for fifteen minutes, to see whether seating accommodation would come.

We would like to know why we cannot have the chairs, the same as other organizations. They are city property, and a great many of our Bandsmen are ratepayers, and for thirty-five or forty men, it may be just difficult to find more upright sober, and law-abiding citizens, and yet, seemingly, because it is the Salvation Army, and the idea that anything will be good enough, we are deprived of the common courtesy, and accommodation, which we are entitled to, and which others receive. We believe in British fair play, and shall we have it?

I regret the occurrence very much, but again state, that it is and was impossible to render the different parts, in difficult music, effectively, without proper seating, for the members of the Band, therefore we were compelled to withdraw from the park last evening.

Thanking the many friends who were coming to the festival, and also, you, Mr. Editor, for this valuable space, I beg to remain,

Yours truly,
J. M. GREENE,
Bandmaster.

WEDDING BELLS

MAHONEY—YOUNG

A very pretty wedding was solemnized this morning at seven o'clock in St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, when Miss Margaret Young, daughter of Mr. Samuel Young, of Ennismore, was united in marriage to Mr. James Mahoney, also of Ennismore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, and the wedding march was played by Miss Agnes Scollard. The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk trimmed with Valenciennes lace. She wore a white picture hat. The bridesmaid was Miss Lizzie Young, cousin of the bride, who was becomingly attired in a dress of white muslin. She also wore a white hat. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Jack Clancy.

A wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride's uncle, M. J. Gorman.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney left on a honeymoon trip to Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Mahoney travelled in a suit of navy blue with hat to match.

Why Were Seats Not Provided For Salvation Army Band?

Bandmaster Green States in Letter That They Were Promised—The Second Occurrence.

WAS IMPOSSIBLE TO PLAY

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the Salvation Army Band, and with your permission for a small space in your paper, I wish to explain why the concert was not given in Victoria Park last evening, as advertised.

When arrangements were made regarding our grant of $150.00 from the City Council, and the playing in the different parks for said grant, this year, it was particularly mentioned, that we should and would be supplied with proper seating and lighting, in whatever park we may be requested to play.

Last Tuesday we gave our first concert, and there were no chairs for the accommodation of the thirty-five Bandsmen, and to those who perhaps, do not just understand the position of a Band, in order to produce the proper effects in the different sections and combinations, I wish to say, that it is impossible to play effectively, difficult parts in the different numbers, where there is simply one seat around the band stand. Chairs or seats, in the centre of a stand are a necessity, for the different groupings.

When the concert of last evening was arranged, I was given to understand fully there would be no difficulty regarding the chairs, such as was the case last week, and that the same would not occur again, but when our band went to the park, there were no chairs. The previous week, we were compelled to ask the friends who had come to the concert, to let us have the seats which are distributed about the park for their accommodation, and they very kindly gave them to us, but, Sir, should this be repeated every time, when there are chairs for the Bandsmen's own use. Large numbers of people were coming into the park last evening, but I could not ask our Band to make the best of the situation, seeing it was the second occurrence, and that

THE MONEY MARKET IN NEW YORK

Politics Versus Crops—Exchanges Reduced to a Minimum.

Special Correspondence

New York, June 16.—Business on both the New York and Consolidated Stock Exchanges during the past week has been reduced almost to a minimum, and comparatively little interest has been taken in the movements of prices, even though some of these have been quite important. For the most part, the tendency of values has been downward and toward the close a sharp break occurred throughout the list, partly in response to the poor reception accorded the new issue of 4 per cent. bonds by the Union Pacific which in the local curb market declined considerably under the issue price of 95 1-2, whereas when the offering was first made they sold somewhat above 97. This incident, which is in marked contrast to recent bond flotations by other large railroad companies, all of which now command more or less substantial premiums over the original subscription prices, exerted a depressing influence, not only upon the stock of the Union Pacific Company, but also upon the market as a whole.

However, the close proximity to the Republican National Convention at Chicago likewise tended to unsettle the general share speculation, even though the Roosevelt stampede bugaboo has been pretty thoroughly eliminated and it is regarded practically as a foregone conclusion that SecretaryTaft will be nominated. Nevertheless, Wall Street from long experience, has come to learn that "there is many a slip 'twixt the cup and lip," and consequently until the choice of the convention has been made known and the platform of the Republican party published, it is not at all likely that the larger interests will take any definite stand in the stock market.

A CROWN OF GLORY

As Well as a Mark of Beauty is Luxurious Hair

It has been truly said that the crowning glory of our race is a luxuriant head of hair.

It used to be thought that this was one of the blessings which the gods bestowed capriciously, but it is only recently that scientists have discovered that its beauty is dependent upon the absence of a minute germ which flourishes in the hair follicles, where it destroys the life of the hair.

To restore this life and kill the germs which cause the mischief is the mission of Newbro's Herpicide.

Herpicide surely kills the germs and is the best hair dressing on the market.

It contains no grease or oil, neither will it stain or dye.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

Movement To Maintain The Progressiveness Of A. O. U. W.

Address by Grand Master Workman at a Special Meeting of the Society Last Night—A More Progressive Policy.

THE SOCIETY'S RATES

A special meeting of the Peterborough Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen was held at their hall on Simcoe street last night. After the lodge had concluded its business an informal open meeting was held, the feature of which was an address by Grand Master Workman of Toronto. There was a fair attendance, and the several speakers dealt with methods of increasing the membership of the society and of otherwise furthering its interests.

Bro. Workman began by briefly tracing its growth from the time when there were only twenty-seven members in Canada, until now there are forty thousand, and a lodge is found in almost every city and town in the Dominion. At the last meeting of the Grand Lodge an extra assessment of one dollar was made upon each member for the purpose of extending the Order. In the past the members themselves carried on the work of organization. During the past twenty-four years, however, conditions have changed. Men are busily engaged in their own affairs, and are unable to personally give as much attention to this work. Hence it was found necessary to obtain money to pay organizers to keep up the progressiveness of the A.O.U.W.

There was a feeling among the old members, Bro. Workman said, that the increased rate was unfair, and some laboured under the impression that they had even paid in more money than they expected to receive.

A Test Case

Five Peterborough members were taken as tests, and all their payments were listed. They were all old members, and Bro. Workman showed the following: Together these five members had paid in a total of $2,951. In a regular insurance policy they would have had to pay $8,476 for the same protection. And that offered by the A.O.U.W. was as good, he said, as any company. Thus these men had saved $5,525. Many of the older members did not realize this, and Bro. Workman said that they have even been unfriendly, instead of exercising their influence to help perpetuate the society.

In this district, $300,000 had been paid to widows and orphans of deceased members, and thereby an incalculable amount of good had been done. In Ontario $12,000,000 had been paid out in this manner. Bro. Workman then pointed out a half dozen reasons why the A.O.U.W., a fraternal society, is better than an insurance company. Every dollar of assessment received into the beneficiary fund is accounted for and made public in the society's paper, which is sent to members in all parts of the world. Over $13,000,000 had passed through the Grand Recorder's hands, and not yet had a single dollar been misappropriated, a record which, Bro. Workman said, was unparalleled.

Expenditure Less

By statistics from reports to the Government, he compared the A. O. U. W. with several prominent insurance companies and with various fraternal societies, and showed that the A.O.U.W. carries on its work at a cost very much below any of the others.

In concluding, Bro. Workman urged the members to take a more active interest in the work, and to endeavour to assist the society as much as possible. He mentioned plans that should be followed to secure success, and said he hoped to see Peterborough and this district up with the rest.

Bro. Turner, D.D.G.M., who presided, spoke a few words, as did Bro. Dumble, and Bro. Matthison of Havelock. They were staunch for the A.O.U.W., and affirmed that the rates were fairly raised and men should not try to cheat the society by endeavouring to pay a rate altogether below that which was necessary to keep the society strong and flourishing.

Cole Bros. Big Show Comes To Peterborough To-morrow

They Will Have a Troupe of Real Geisha Girls—Direct From Japan.

ARE JAPANESE BEAUTIES

Those who have attended one or more of the many recent expositions have seen what has purported to be Geisha girls, a product purely of Japan. However, in not one instance has the real Geisha girl been exhibited. As a rule they were Americanized Japanese women whose beauty and dances were entirely foreign to the real Geisha girl as she flourished in her own Oriental land.

Cole Brothers' World Famed Shows during its extended trip through foreign countries succeeded in obtaining permission from the Government of Japan to bring to this country a troop of real Geisha girls and they will be seen with this show during its visit to Peterborough tomorrow.

The standard of Japanese beauty differs materially from the old Greek standard which has persisted in Western civilization. Alice M. Mason in her "Japanese Women" says, the ideal Japanese female face must be long and narrow, the forehead high and narrow in the middle, but widening and lowering at the sides, conforming to the outlines of the beloved Fuji, the mountain that Japanese art loves to picture. The hair should be straight and glossy black and absolutely smooth. Japanese ladies who have any wave or ripple in their hair, as many of them do, are at as much pains to straighten it in the dressing as American ladies are to simulate natural curl when nature has denied them that charm. The eyes should be long and narrow, slanting upward at the outer corners, and the eyebrows should be delicate lines, high above the eye itself. The distinctly aquiline nose should be low at the bridge, the curve outward, beginning much lower down than the Caucasian face, and the eye socket should not be outlined at all, either by the brow, the cheek or by the nose."

Ice Cream Cones A New Confection Sold At Open Booth Near Driving Park

Down at the corner of Lock and Lansdowne streets a stranger has pitched his tent and opened up a refreshment booth of which the staple article is "Ice Cream Cones." The cone is itself a sort of confection and is shaped like those old time paper cones in which storekeepers used to put Epsom salts, pepper, etc., before the price of paper bags was low enough not to seriously interfere with the profits. It is brown in colour and nately contains the ice cream. The purchaser holds the cone in his hand and begins to eat the combination of course at the big end, slowly doing the disappear act until even the apex of the cone has been masticated.

The owner says that he introduced Ice Cream Cones. He has a little gasoline light and remains open for business until about ten o'clock. He says that he endeavoured to sell his confection on the streets, but the city wanted $30.00 for a license. Similarly he was unable to open a stand in Jackson Park, it being stated that merchants of the city must be protected. "The merchants of this city have the place by the legs," he said, "and it is impossible to do anything without their sanction." The cone man certainly did not appear to be favourably impressed with the opportunities to transient street peddlers.

He had another grievance. He wanted to buy gasoline and said he was overcharged for that. 'Why, I had to pay 35 cents a gallon for it up town and away back in Ottawa I only paid 30 cents. Down at the front towns on the lake I could get it for 20 cents."

The Ice Cream Cone man is still doing business and will be in his glory on Circus Day.

C.G.E. ANGLERS DISCOVERED NEST OF TURTLE EGGS AND ?

A party of six or seven of the C. G.E Anglers' Club spent the week end at their cottage near the mouth of the Otonabee. The Anglers had a decidedly new experience on this trip according to a report which has found its way to the city. Before the delightful spell of sweet Morpheus had yet been broken and while six of the band were still dreaming of wonderful deeds performed with rod and line on the neighbouring lake one of the anglers made a real find. Just which one of the Waltonites it was is not known. Probably it was the scullion enjoying a quiet stroll in the morning air. As he wandered aimlessly along the strand, thinking of home and the dear ones, his attention was suddenly attracted to a nest of turtle eggs. Well, just what happened has not been received in detail, but it was learned as a fact that the cottage saw two meals of turtle eggs. The nest contained 140 of the little ovules and at least 100 were used in the various dishes. It was said that there were turtle eggs scrambled, fried and boiled, served a la fricassee, a la Newburg, and a la C.G.E. Angler. The men are having a good joke over the turtle nest and the eggs. The recording Angler took down his diary and recorded the two meals of turtle eggs opposite June 14th, 1908.

WEDDING BELLS.

NORTHEY—MORRISON.

A very quiet home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Jas. Morrison, Caroline street, Wednesday evening last, when his only daughter, Miss Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Ottis Northey, only son of Mr. W. J. Northey of North Smith. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Sutherland Burns, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Lakefield. Miss Alice Hunter played the wedding march, Miss Girven accompanying on her violin. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a handsome dress of pale blue taffeta silk trimmed with all-over lace and velvet, with the traditional veil arranged with coronet of orange blossoms. She carried cream roses and wore as her only ornament an amethyst necklace, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaid was Miss Gertrude Northey, sister of the groom, who was gowned also in blue silk but of a darker shade than that of the bride. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Roland Morrison of North Bay, brother of the bride, was groomsman. During the evening Miss Ada Galvin sang very sweetly, Miss Hunter and Miss Girven accompanying her. The many beautiful gifts received by the bride manifest the high esteem and love in which the bride and groom are held by their many friends both at home and afar, as gifts from Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto plainly testified.

Mr. and Mrs. Northey will reside at Selwyn.—Lakefield News

OWEN SOUND MAN SELECTED AS CHIEF OF THE FIRE BRIGADE DUTIES COMMENCE ON SATURDAY

W. A. Howard's Appointment Was Passed Last Night by a Vote of 8-3—Firemen and Citizens Take Part in the Discussion

HIS SALARY WILL BE $1250

The appointment of W. A.. Howard, of Owen Sound, as chief of the local fire brigade, was decided upon by the council at a special meeting held last night and the new head of the fire forces will begin his duty on Saturday at a salary of $1,250. The appointment of the Owen Sound man was made upon the recommendation of the special committee appointed by the council to deal with the matter, and was adopted by a vote of eight to three, the only members of the council to vote against the report being Ald. Morgan, McIntyre and Elliott. The interest taken by the citizens in the matter was shown by the fact that the benches provided for the public were all filled, and they applauded the remarks of the speakers who argued against the report.

Chief Rutherford and most of the members of the brigade were present, and the chief and Mr. Jos. R. Metheral addressed the council, as did Messrs. Chas,. Murty and H. Carveth, while Ald. Morgan took occasion to protest against the report in no mild terms. A petition signed by 193 ratepayers was read, protesting against the appointment of an outsider.

Applications for the position of chief were read from Chief Rutherford and Messrs. John Gibbs and Jos. R. Metheral and received, after which the following report was read by Ald. Neill, who moved its adoption, seconded by Ald. Turner.

Your Special Committee appointed in regard to the Fire Department, beg leave to report as follows:

Enquiries were made from a number of municipalities bearing on the object for which this committee was appointed, and your committee is of opinion that with the combination hose and chemical wagon completed and ready for service, and an efficient brigade with a head with a thorough knowledge of appliances and methods, and a reasonable number of permanent men and call men, the city would have a department that would be well able to protect the property of the citizens, and that would result in a decrease in the rates of insurance. The secretary of the Underwriters' Association was consulted as to the rates, and gave assurance that with this plan carried out a reduction would be given.

After making full enquiries regarding those who made applications for the position your committee recommends:

1. That W. A. Howard be appointed Chief of the Fire Department at a salary of $1,250 a year, he to have full control of the personnel of the the brigade, his duties to begin on June 20th, 1908.

2. That the brigade consist of a chief, an assistant chief and six other permanent men and six call men.

Your committee is of opinion that this brigade would cost for salaries about $6,120 a year, and the cost of uniforms for the members of the brigade, which would be about $325 additional. The present cost of the brigade for salaries is $5,535 and with an increase of $50 a year the cost would be $6,385, and the difference we consider small in comparison with the advantages that would be secured.

Ald. McIntyre moved in amendment that clause 1 be struck out.

Ald. Morgan suggested that there were doubtless some people present who would like to be heard in the matter, and accordingly Chief Rutherford addressed the council. He disagreed with the report, he said, and was confident that the city could not be properly protected with any such force as recommended. It was impossible to do with less than eighteen or twenty men. The man recommended for the position of chief was protecting Owen Sound, a place of 6,000, with a similar force. How did he expect to protect a place nearly three times as big with the same number of men?

He wanted to say that if he or the brigade had been consulted or been fairly treated on the matter they would gladly have assisted the council by any means in their power. Their advice had not been asked, and it was evidently not thought to be of sufficient value. The whole business had been sprung in a high handed way, with meetings behind closed doors. Some of the young aldermen of four or five months' experience thought they knew more about fire matters than did the men who had been engaged in such work for twenty-five, thirty-five or forty years.

Nothing less than eighteen or twenty men would do, and the cost he was certain would be far above that estimated in the report. The increase would be a matter of $8,000. Brantford, a place almost similar in size to Peterborough, paid $17,850 per year for their brigade, and he was sure that Peterborough could not maintain a paid brigade for anything less than $15,000.

It was a back door business all round, he said, and the council were not going fairly before the people in the matter. The members of the brigade had fought the battle for many years and were willing to drop out, but they asked fair play at the hands of the council.

Mr. Chas. Murty, who followed, spoke along similar lines, objecting to the establishment of a paid brigade which, he said, the people did not want, and which he thought was not needed. He, as a ratepayer, strongly objected to the appointment of an outside man as chief, passing over local men who were as well or better qualified for the position.

Mr. Jos. R. Metheral asked why there was so much hurry in the matter. Only a few days ago the firemen had agreed to remain on as they were with Mr. Rutherford as chief until the end of the year, when he thought, not only as a fireman but as a ratepayer, the question should be submitted to the people who should decide the matter.

Mayor Rush remarked that it was unfortunate that Chief Rutherford had not applied sooner for the position.

The chief replied that when the council had advertised for a chief they had wanted one at $1,000, and now they were giving the position to a man at $1,250.

Mr. H. Carveth, speaking on behalf of the Trades and Labour Council, said that that body had threshed the matter out at two meetings and were unanimously opposed to the action of the council in deciding to establish a paid brigade.

Ald. Morgan spoke strongly against the report. He said that Ald. Neill had given the firemen the impression that they were to be kept on until the end of the year. He had sat at the meeting with his pleasant smile and had apparently agreed to that proposition, and now he was recommending the appointment of an outside man as chief. He had been very anxious to appoint a Brantford man as chief, now he wanted to shove an Owen Sound man through the council, and who knew but what he would be shortly trying to appoint a local man. Ald. Morgan wanted the brigade to remain as it was until the end of the season, and then submit the question to the people.

Ald. Neill explained that the Special Committee had taken a great deal of pains to secure a man for the position of chief, who they thought would be best suited for the position. They had consulted the underwriters in the matter and Mr. Howard had been recommended by them. As to the personnel of the brigade they had sought information along that line from those who were authorities upon such subjects, and they considered that the brigade as recommended would fill the bill.

Ald. Turner was of the same opinion. If it were possible to secure a local man who would fill the position to the best of satisfaction he would have supported him. The firemen, he said, had tried to hold up the people by issuing an ultimatum to the council to the effect that they would remain until the end of the year provided that they were given the $50 increase that they asked for, which, the speaker thought, had precipitated all the trouble.

Ald. McIntyre's amendment was then put and was defeated by a vote of eight to three, and the motion that the report be adopted was carried by the same majority and Mr. Howard's appointment was therefore settled.

There were present Mayor Rush, Ald. Tovey, Elliott, Morgan, Buller, Bradburn, Turner, Gillespie, McIntyre, Neill, Morrow and Phelan.

FISHING SEASON OPENED THIS MORNING

Many Went Down the River to Try Their New Baits.

The fishing season opened this morning at 12 o'clock but it is not probable that many of Walton's disciples threw the bait into the water at that hour. Five o'clock, however, found many of them in their faithful haunts with their steel rods and latest style of hook and bait—waiting for the nibble that never comes. All are looking for the biggest fish in the river and usually get none. But then the anticipation of the pleasure usually supersedes the reality. At any rate the subsequent few months will tell the tale.

A TREAT IN MINSTRELSY

Every class of theatrical offering appears to have its followers. Some crave Shakespeare and the classics, some the morbid problem play, others the farce, some tragedy, some comedy, but everyone, almost without exception, loves the Minstrel show. There appears to be some responsive chord, a sort of telepathic sympathy, between the Merry, Merry Minstrels and humanity difficult to understand, and still more difficult to describe. But that such a feeling exists is amply proven by the large houses that always greet a minstrel company of known reputation and worth. Richards & Pringle's Famous Company, the largest minstrel organization upon the road, undoubtedly the best, and by far the oldest, have been making people laugh for thirty years over a quarter of a century.

You of the younger generation ask your grandfather the first minstrel company he can remember, and he will probably tell you Richards & Pringle's.

This company's age and popularity is remarkable, yet easily explained. They have always endeavoured to give the best minstrel show on the road and have always treated the public fairly and honestly. The public in turn have learned to rely upon them, and have faith in their promises.

They will appear at Peterborough next Saturday, matinee and night.

COMPLIMENTARY TO OUR LOCAL MUSICAL TALENT

The Canadian Jewish Tribune of June 5th, has the following notice of a recent musical performance here: "Peterborough has had quite a treat lately. The Conservatory of Music on the 27th and 28th May gave a performance of "Esther," "The Beautiful Queen," a dramatic cantata for chorus and orchestra. The Jews in this "large" city as a rule do not make much of a public appearance but on this occasion Mr. Louis Mendel gave a very creditable display of his powers on the cell. The play, as many know chiefly deals with the Jews of that period, 500 B.C. Everything passed off well and our gentile friends of this city know a little more about ancient Jewish history than hitherto."

NO HONING - NO GRINDING

Steel is iron free from dirt, air or foreign substance fused with carbon. Carbon gives toughness, strength, keenness and life.

Thirty year's study of the razor situation has shown a way to add the highest per cent of carbon to a Carbo Magnetic razor blade through a secret process of ELECTRIC TEMPERING giving it a uniform diamond like hardness—something absolutely impossible with fire tempered razors, and they are Hamburg ground. But Test this UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED razor at home—or have your barber use it on you—for thirty days WITHOUT OBLIGATION TO PURCHASE.

KILLED LIKE VERMIN IN THE EAST

Terrible State of Affairs Shown to Exist in Macedonia.

MASSACRED BY WHOLESALE

People Slaughtered by Thousands—Dead Bodies Desecrated—Regime of Terror—Report Worst For Many Years—Powers May Agree to Enforce Some Reform—Germany Is Willing to Render Aid.

London, June 16.—In an interview yesterday on the Macedonian situation W. A. Moore, secretary of the Balkan Commission, said: "Though the diplomatic situation was never so hopeful, the actual situation in Macedonia was never so terrible. The English blue book published last week is the worst that has appeared since the massacres of 1903. There have been over 10,000 murders in the last four years. Christian or Mohammedan, every man's hand is against every one else. Men, women and children are slaughtered like vermin and their dead bodies treated with less respect. It is amazing that such a bloody chaos should be tolerated within the bounds of Europe for a day longer.

"The statement that Germany now agrees with the whole civilized world and urgently calls for a remedy, is most welcome. But what remedy does Germany propose, and how does she reconcile her insistence on the maintenance of the status quo with this undoubted urgency? Germany, the baron says, agrees that something urgent must be done, but this something to be successful must have the firm support of all the powers, but Germany does not intend to support it, therefore it will not have the support of all the powers.

"The really hopeful point is that Baron Speck von Sternburg does not finally commit his country to this transparently obstructionist attitude. Germany, he assures us, has an open mind for all reform proposals. That is a wise statement. Germany will do well not to identify her diplomatic position with opposition to the English proposals for reform in Macedonia. Sir Edward Grey, with the whole of the British people behind him, is very deeply committed on the question. The Russian people will insist that the Russian Government shall not fall behind another in befriending the southern Slavs. The liberal sympathies of France and Italy are well known, as are those of the United States. The question is ripening rapidly."

Hanged by Accident.

Port Huron, Mich., June 16.—Frank Anderson, living on Fifteenth street, went to the rear door of his house for some purpose and either stumbled from the steps or was overcome by an attack of dizziness and fell headlong to the ground. His breast struck the seat of a swing, which he had put up Saturday for his children, knocking the board off and twisting the rope about his neck in such a way that he was strangled. There were evidences of a struggle to release himself, but without avail.

Will Be Freed If He Pays Up.

St. Catharines, June 16.—William Vance was yesterday found guilty of endeavoring to defraud Miss Kingstone, an employe, of $40 wages, and of obtaining $50 under false pretences from Charles Peterson of Brantford, but was promised liberty if the amount is repaid in ten days. Vance asked for liberty to make up $90, but the judge held he could not let him go free.

Degree for Leon Farthing.

Kingston, June 16.—Leon Farthing, the procurator of the Church of England General Synod, left yesterday for Nova Scotia, where he will this week receive the degree of D.D. from King's College, Windsor.

SOAK THE GOVERNMENT.

Manufacturers Make Enormous Profits—Evidence Before Enquiry.

Ottawa, June 16.—An interesting sidelight thrown on the profits made on materials supplied to the Government was the chief outcome of yesterday's enquiry by Judge Cassels into the affairs of the Marine Department.

T. L. Willson, the carbide king, admitted that the profit on calcium carbide for the manufacture of acetylene gas was between 30 and 40 per cent.

F. S. Mearns, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Signal Co., Toronto, the concern which supplies diaphonese to the Department, said that they cost the company to manufacture about $400 to $500 each. They are sold to the Department at from $5,000 to $6,000 each, with equipment.

He claimed, however, that the company was losing money, although he declined to divulge its business affairs, lest the information should benefit rival concerns.

The Hodgins' Investigation.

Ottawa, June 16.—In the Hodgins' investigation yesterday, Engineer Doutt produced photographs of a cutting near LaTuque, to which Major Hodgins had been taken to inspect in order to be instructed in Quebec classification. Major Hodgins had said as to this cut that he saw loose earth and rock classified as 86 per cent. solid rock. Major Hodgins declined to point out the classification particulars from a photograph, but he knew from what he saw on the spot that it was largely loose earth, and 40 per cent. rock would be a liberal allowance.

Asked what he would say if told that the cut in question had really only been classified at 32 per cent. rock, Major Hodgins said that would be about right.

Major Hodgins admitted that under a vague ruling made by Chief Engineer Lumsden it might be possible to classify as solid rock what would ordinarily be classified as loose rock. He did not agree with this ruling, and considered no engineer had the right to over-classify.

The investigation will be continued to-day.

Suspect Arrested.

Vancouver, June 16.—A Malay was arrested yesterday at White Rock, near the international boundary, as a suspect in the case of the murder of Mrs. Morrison. He was captured by Tom Bertrand and Frank Smith, who allege that they saw him before the day of the murder, carrying a knife, which later they found on the scene of the crime. Mrs. Morrison's daughter was taken to Blaine, but she could not identify him as her mother's assailant. Adair's shoes fit the footprints near the scene of the crime.

Crazy Man Lets Loose.

Paris, June 16.—A man named Bellanger, while waiting to present a petition to Minister of War Picquart at the War Ministry yesterday, suddenly thrust his hand into his pocket and began firing shots from a revolver. Two of the bullets lodged in an upholstered chair, and another in the man's arm. Bellanger was arrested. He is believed to be demented.

Prohibition in Louisiana.

Baton Rouge, La., June 16.—Louisiana will not become a prohibition state during the term of the present Assembly.

This was declared last night by the House of Representatives when that body by a vote of 58 to 47 indefinitely postponed consideration of the Bousan Bill providing for a referendum on state-wide prohibition.

Garrison Rebel.

Washington, June 16.—The United States Minister at Tangier has reported to the Department of State that the garrison at Alcazar, a town 50 miles from Tangier, after having killed the commander, have declared for the Pretender.

The Minister states that the governor is said to have been sent to Fes as a prisoner.

No Bars In Alberta.

Lethbridge, Alta., June 16.—Rev. W. G. W. Fortune, field secretary of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League, predicted last night that there will be no barrooms in Alberta five years hence. He says hotel men have told the same thing.

Temperance people will ask the Legislature for a 7 o'clock closing.

Brutally Beaten and Robbed.

Port Arthur, June 16.—William Simley, an Englishman about 50 years of age, was assaulted, beaten and robbed, and will likely die of the injuries received near McKenzie, a small station on the C.P.R. east of here Saturday evening.

Insist on Fair Wage Clause.

Ottawa, June 16.—The City Council last evening, after hearing representations by labor unions, passed a resolution to have a fair wage clause inserted in the contract for the proposed G.T.R. hotel and station.

Thaws Are Reconciled.

Used as Spell to Cure Aged Negress of Consumption — Gruesome Crime Work of Brujos—Lad Arrested For Complicity—Makes a Confession —Rural Guard Start in Pursuit of the Rest of the Band.

Havana, June 16.—In the town of Alacrandes, Province of Matanzas, Victor Nakafro, a negro lad arrested on the charge of complicity in the kidnapping of Luisa Vandes, a white child, who recently disappeared from her home, has confessed that the girl was the victim of a band of brujos, or negro wizards. He said that he and one of the wizards named Martin, who also has been arrested, entered the house and abducted the girl, who was murdered for the purpose of using the blood of her heart to cure an old negress of consumption. Members of the rural guard are scouring the country in pursuit of others of the band of brujos.

A GRUESOME DISCOVERY.

Quebec Police Enquiring Into Case of Alleged Cannibalism.

Montreal, June 16.—On May 12 the body of a guide named Lemieux was found in the Abitibi district about 300 miles north of Lake St. John, chopped up, evidently with an axe.

The conditions pointed to cannibalism. The man was one of a party of three who went north to explore the district a year before. Two of the parties were Parisians. Three days ago the body of a man was found in a hut in the Cobalt district chopped up in the same way.

The Quebec Provincial Detective Department has sent officers to the district where the guide was found, to investigate, as it is thought that the man was murdered and portions of his body eaten by his comrades.

A detective has also been sent to Cobalt to investigate there, as it is thought the man found there was another of the party.

THREE MOTORISTS DROWN.

Automobile Plunges In the River—Two Others Escape.

New York, June 16.—Two women and a child were drowned and two men narrowly escaped death when a taxicab automobile became uncontrolable on West 56th street last night and ran down the dock at the foot of the street and into the Hudson river.

The dead are: Miss Adeline Borden, aged 16; Mrs. Josie Coleman, aged 23, Virginia Knight, aged 8.

The driver of the taxicab, John Nolan, fell into the water with the machine. He was able to swim, however, and was rescued. Jos. Coleman, a chauffeur, husband of one of the victims, jumped from the automobile before it reached the end of the pier.

Robbed on a "High Seas" Ferry.

Detroit, June 16.—State Senator St. Huster of Boston, Mass., a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Chicago, was robbed of $300 and his return ticket to Boston on a Michigan Central train, as it was being transferred from Windsor to Detroit on a ferry Sunday afternoon.

If captured the thief would probably be charged with robbery on the high seas; punishable by life imprisonment. Joseph Kirwin is serving such a sentence in the Detroit House of Correction for robbing a woman on a steamer.

Hamilton Ballots Case.

Hamilton, June 16.—William Lawson, the deputy returning officer, and Harry Dillabaugh, the poll clerk, were yesterday sent up for trial on the charge of tampering with the ballots in the West Hamilton election. The interests of the accused were looked after by D. L. McCarthy, Toronto, the defence was reserved for the higher court. It is likely to be that it was simply a joke, and that Dillabaugh had no intention of selling the ballots, which would have been absolutely worthless to the purchaser.

Arrested In Chicago.

Brantford, June 16.—Word was received by the police that Harry Ward, alias Wardley, strike-breaker, wanted here on a charge of severely assaulting George Batty, a union moulder, during a riot some time ago, has been arrested in Chicago. Ward has waived extradition.

Breaks Thigh In Dodging Police.

London, June 16.—Frederick Harris, a young colored man, jumped from a three-storey attic window in Dynamite Hall while the police were conducting a raid and sustained a fracture to his right thigh and a number of bruises about the body.

Fatal Fall.

Ottawa, June 16.—J. B. Emile Saucier, timekeeper on the Victoria Memorial Museum, under construction by the Dominion Government, fell from a wall a distance of about 75 feet and died in the hospital shortly after. He was 32 years of age.

Dear Sir,---We beg to acknowledge receipt of cheque for $2,500.00 in settlement of fire loss, Policy 8,645,879, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

We note in connection with this settlement a most unusual feature. They are legally entitled to 1% of stated sum for payment prior to due date. No business man would for one moment question their right to this amount. But they do not take it. Instead they have purposely waived their priveleges and presented us with this additional amount.

We are gratified to note this remarkable action. To adjust and settle a loss within twelve days is noteworthy, but to add to this magnanimity in refusing to take advantage of their discount privileges places this company in a most favorable position.

We congratulate you upon representing a company of such superior standing.

Yours very truly,

Harrison Was Much Too Good For His Opponent In Belleville

Soon Tired Cooper Out and Won Easily—Belleville's Impressions of the Race and the Men

HARRISON MADE GOOD TIME

The Belleville Ontario says of the Harrison-Cooper walk:

The three-hour walking contest arranged between J. Harrison of Peterborough and John Cooper of this city, formerly of England, took place in the Arena on Saturday night before a much smaller audience than the event deserved. At no time were there more than seventy-five persons present. It was the first event of the kind ever pulled off in this city, but it will probably not be the last.

Harrison won the walk "hands down," and he proved a revelation to the audience. The men were to have walked for four hours, but by arrangement it was decided to make it three hours. Harrison covered 18 miles in the three hours, while Cooper, who claimed to be out of condition, covered 16 miles in the same length of time.

Mr. Wm. Stuart, a great lover of all legitimate sports, was referee. He announced that the course had been laid out with a steel tape line and was perfectly correct, being 13 laps to the mile.

The men were started at 7.30, and for the first eight miles it was a real contest, Harrison leading by one lap. The latter made the first mile in eight minutes, which is considered splendid work. After the ninth mile, Harrison continued to gain, and as announced at the end of the three hours, he was 26 laps, or two miles ahead of Cooper. The latter took a stitch in his side, causing him to retire for some time.

Harrison displayed remarkable endurance. He kept up the same long, easy stride from first to last, and finished fresh and strong. He was loudly cheered as he spurted the last lap, although Cooper, being a local man, was the favourite. Harrison's last mile was made in nine minutes flat, being paced by Mr. Stuart, after seeing that Cooper's chances were gone.

Harrison will enter the big walking contest which takes place in St. Catharines next week.

The Oddfellows' Band was in attendance and played several selections.

Harrison's trainer was Mr. Murphy of Peterborough, while Al. Finch of this city looked after Cooper.

The Time by Miles

The following is the official time made by Harrison, as recorded by Referee Stuart:

1 mile in 8 mins.
2 miles in 17 1-2 mins.
3 miles in 26 mins.
4 miles in 36 mins.
5 miles in 45 1-2 mins.
6 miles in 55 mins.

12 miles in 1.57.
13 miles in 2.07.
14 miles in 2.17.20.

SIMPSON, THE DARK SKINNED RUNNER, INTERESTS PASSENGERS

Father Point, Que. June 15.—(With the Olympic team on board the S.S. Tunisian.)—Daily workouts have been inaugurated by Manager Crocker. Billy Sherring led the boys for a two-mile run around the ship's deck, which is about twenty laps to the mile. Keith, Elliott and Archibald, the Toronto gymnasts, indulged in a few minutes of mat work, and Walsh heaved a leather-covered shot. The work-out proved an entertainment for the rest of the passengers, who were especially interested in the dark-skinned Simpson, the Indian runner from Peterborough. The boys derived considerable pleasure by introducing Simpson to the rest of the passengers as the famous Tom Longboat.

At Quebec the boys were entertained by a delegation of prominent citizens, who took them all around the town sightseeing on a special car.

Spare moments on board are passed in letter-writing and shuffleboard, a popular amusement on board ship. Mr. Crocker is fortifying the boys against seasickness by administering pills. The boys are all in fine shape, and are enjoying themselves immensely.—Toronto News.

DAVE BELAND GOES TO LONDON FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

The Quebec Chronicle says: Dave Beland, of this city, the fast 100 yards runner, will go to the London Olympic games where he will compete under the colours of the Zouave A. A. A. Beland has on various occasions shown that he can cover the ground and even in the recent trials held in Montreal, although running at a serious disadvantage he clearly showed that he could hold his own with the best of them. The Zouaves, therefore, undertook to send him to England, and when Dave sails away to represent Quebec at the Olympics he will be followed by the best wishes of a host of friends.

COMPETITION FOR THE HOWDEN TROPHY TO-MORROW NIGHT

PORT HOPE'S VIEW OF THE GAME

Guide's Account of Saturday's Match With the Athletics

The locals won their second victory of the season on Saturday by defeating the Athletics of Peterborough, by a score of 11 to 2. While many fast plays were pulled off still the game lacked the vim that has marked the other contests, due in a great degree to Quinlan, the Peterborough pitcher, taking every advantage to cause delays.

The home team had been strengthened by McGuire, of the St. Mary's team, Toronto, at second and Dunn, of London, at third, and both imports did good work. O'Toole, who was out of the last game through illness, held down his old position at third, but Jack had evidently left his batting eye in the Queen city, striking out four times.

Jack Wilson did the twirling and made a very favourable impression. He only allowed three scattering hits and made seven of the Peterboroughs fan the air.

Port Hope got busy in the run line in the first innings, tallying one on McGuire's and Wilson's hits. They added three in the second, five in the fifth and one in the seventh and one in the eighth. Peterborough scored one in the second and one in the fourth.—Port Hope Guide.

TOMMY BURNS AGAIN TRIMS BILL SQUIRES

Australian Made Better Showing, Once Knocking the Champion to the Floor.

Paris, June 15.—Tommy Burns, the Canadian boxing champion of the world, had a tough fight Saturday night with Bill Squires. They met at the bowling palace in Neuilly and being the night before the Grand Prix (Sunday,) there was an enormous crowd in attendance. It was their second meeting, Burns having put Squires away before in the first round. Saturday night Burns sent Squires down for the count in the third, but after that the Australian recovered, and forced the battle somewhat, giving the champion the worst of the exchanges. Burns was knocked to the carpet in the eighth, but came back fiercely and by a series of body punches scored a knockout. The winner was enthusiastically cheered.

RIDPATH CAN WALK ON THE WATER

Former Lakefield Boy Does Remarkable Stunt.

Toronto, June 15.—Bruce Ridpath, the professional canoeist, whose wonderful stunts made such a sensation in New York and Berlin, Germany, last year, has accomplished the feat of walking on the water.

He made a private trial Friday, and did it in public at the T.C.C. regatta Saturday.

Ridpath uses two five-foot flat-bottomed boats about a foot wide. On the bottoms are fins, which shut when he shoves his foot forward, and open and grip the water when he shoves forward. He travels at a nice gait, and in a week or so expects to have the stunt down fine.

The late Ned Hanlan once tried this game, but his attempt wasn't a distinct success.

Baseball

The White Sox of the West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto, would like to arrange a game here for the first of July, or a double header, morning or afternoon if that will suit better. UNION MEN ATTENTION

The members of Peterborough Local No. 191, American Federation of Musicians, desire to call the attention of all Union Men to the fact that it is distinctly contrary to the principles of Unionism to join in a parade headed by a non-union band, and more especially when such engagement is secured by cutting prices. Our scale of prices is most moderate and, what is most important still, we fill our engagements with competent musicians, using the best instruments manufactured in the world.

Again we ask the hearty co-operation of all Union men in a fight for fair prices for the men who can deliver the goods.

BANDS CANNOT OBTAIN SEATS

"Band" Suggests a Place to Leave The Key.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly call the attention of the mayor and aldermen to the fact that the 57th Regiment Band and the Salvation Army Band both complain of the way in which the Victoria Park band stand is cared for.

Whoever the chairman of the Band Committee is, or whoever has the key of the Victoria Park band stand, is causing the bands and public considerable annoyance.

On Friday evening last when the 57th Regiment Band went to the band stand, they could not get at the seats or stands, that were locked up, and they had to hunt up the chairman of the committee, and it was nearly 9 o'clock before he could be found.

Last evening the Salvation Army Band went to the park to fulfil their engagement, and they also were unable to find the seats and lights required. The chairman had the key and could not be found, so they played at the corner of Simcoe and George streets.

If the key was left at Mr. O'Shea's hotel or the Little Windsor, or was even given to the jailer, the bands would know where it was and would be able to obtain it, but at present they have no idea of when or where it is going to be had.

Can this not be remedied? The bands hope there will be no more trouble,

Yours truly,

BAND.

A GALLANT ACTION ON THE LINDSAY RIVER

The "Bob Hall" Assisted the "Kathleen" to Finish Her Journey.

Lindsay, June 12.—While returning from the Collegiate excursion to Coboconk on saturday evening, the steamer Kathleen had the misfortune to break one of her heavy cranks, causing it to go ashore near the old distillery. The government tug Bob Hall, which had been following the excursion steamer from Sturgeon Point, took the boat in tow to town, where she is being rapidly repaired, and will be on her usual route in a few days.

Supreme Court of I. O. F. Is Meeting Now In Toronto

Two Candidates for the Position of Supreme Chief Ranger—The Change of Rates an Important Subject of Discussion.

A FAIR PROPOSAL OFFERED

The Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters is meeting to-day in the Temple Building, Toronto, and will continue in session for several days. They meet every three years, and about two hundred delegates from Canada, United States and Great Britain are assembled in Toronto. The contest for the position of Supreme Chief Ranger has brought out two strong men, Mr. H. A. Collins, the Supreme Treasurer, and Mr. E. G. Stevenson, the present S. C. R.

Mr. Collins has been treasurer of the I.O.F. for a number of years and is prominent in the Masonic Order, being at one time Supreme Potentate of the Mystic Shrine. Mr Stevenson was law partner of Hon. D M. Dickinson of Detroit, and was also the Supreme Counsellor of the I.O.F. for a number of years. He is considered a man of integrity and possesses sterling qualities befitting this position as leader.

The Rates

The rate of the old members at the age of 18 is 60 cents per $1,000. The new members' present rate at the age of 18 is 76 cents per $1,000. The proposed rate on the old members is 82 cents. Last year there was paid out in death and disability claims $400,000 more than the sum paid in by the old members. This does not affect the general new members' funds of the Order, as some contemporaries are trying to make out, as there was $1,029,259 added to the surplus last year, which at the end of April amounted to $12,104,073.57 surplus. According to the returns in April, over 4,000 new members were added to the society, which now numbers about 265,000, so that the present discussion of Government insurance bills and re-scaling of some of the rates are not keeping out men nor money from the I.O.F., which is practically secure.

This proposed rate on the old members will cover all their liabilities since 1898, so that there will be no other payments nor reducing of insurance, unless any member desires to remain paying his old low rate. Most of the old members are perfectly satisfied to be raised to the rate of the new members at the age they joined. The proposed changes do not affect any of the members who came into the Order after 1898.

TO PROTEST AGAINST THE BILL

At last night's meeting of the city council a telegram was read from Mr. W. D. Lighthall, secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, asking that the council take some action against the passing of the bill regarding the Dominion Power Company, which comes up at Ottawa to-morrow.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow,—That this council urge the Parliament of Canada not to pass the bill respecting the Dominion Power Company, without explicit provisions protecting the authority of municipalities over their streets, and providing that streets and highways may be used only with the consent of the proper municipal authorities.—Carried.

LAST OF ENNISMORE PICNICS, AND THE LAST WAS THE BEST; DEBT COMPLETELY WIPED OUT

About 1000 Persons on Grounds—Guests From Various Parts of the County—Congratulations for Rev. Father Fitzpatrick—Excellent Meals Provided—Splendid Programme of Sports

WEATHER WAS FAVOURABLE

Greeted by lovely June weather and favoured by a large attendance and perfect arrangements, the annual Ennismore picnic—the last of a series of similar events—was yesterday made the best and most successful of all. Beautiful Tara Grove, which has been the scene of so many pleasant outings in the past, was thronged with pleasure-seekers who enjoyed to the full the genuine hospitality of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, the parish priest, and his parishioners who aided him so acceptably in the work. The number of persons on the grounds was estimated at 1,000 which was more than last year and the picnic was probably superior in point of numbers as well as in receipts to any other ever held in the township of Ennismore.

Clothed with a bountiful and beautiful foliage Tara Grove looked its prettiest. This naturally attractive spot was indeed the Mecca of pleasure for the youths and maidens and for the older folk too, who gathered from every part of the township. Peterborough was also largely represented; Emily sent its quota to swell the numbers; Smith residents were there in greater numbers than ever, including as well a contingent from Young's Point, the former parish of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, and even from so far away as Lindsay and Douro came the holiday seekers to spend the delightful day in sociable intercourse with their Ennismore friends.

The Last of Many

As intimated above, yesterday's picnic—the 6th annual since the present parish priest began his duties in Ennismore—is the last. This is by no means any indication that the events have not been successes. The very opposite is the case. The objects for which they have been held have been attained, every debt has been wiped out, the hall, school, church, house and property have now not a dollar against them and for these reasons Rev. Father Fitzpatrick deems it unnecessary to continue them longer.

What is also very gratifying to the Roman Catholic people of Ennismore who assisted in the arrangements as well as the carrying of them out, is that "the last was the best." Good leadership and combined effort undoubtedly made it so and the Ennismore picnic of 1908 will pass into history as the greatest of the many successes attained on similar occasions of the past.

As early as 9.30 o'clock picnickers began to arrive at the Grove and by midday a large crowd had assembled. They came in droves from 10 o'clock until the shades of evening began to fall. During the afternoon "Old Sol" disappeared behind a cloud and rain threatened to fall. But all fears of such an occurrence were set aside when the sun broke out again and as the poet would say "touched all the darksome fields with light." Providence, therefore, smiled benevolently on Tara Grove yesterday and the people were as happy as the June bride.

The Luncheon Booths

To the women who prepared the dinner and supper, great credit is due. In five booths erected on the grounds for the purpose, the tempting eatables were stored away and at the proper times spread on three lengthy tables in an enclosure. The work of the women and young ladies in this regard is particularly worthy of mention for their display showed splendid decorative tastes. When dinner was announced the tables seemed to fill up almost instantly and all ate with a heartiness which bore ample testimony to the excellence of their appetites. The same may be stated of the supper. The ladies and gentlemen who waited on tables extended every courtesy to the guests and everybody enjoyed themselves.

The tables were in charge of Messrs. Timothy Crough and John O'Reilly and they were ably assisted by about one hundred ladies of the parish. The gates were looked after by Messrs. Patrick Crough, John Mahoney, Stephen O'Reilly and John Young.

REV. FATHER FITZPATRICK,
The Parish Priest of Ennismore, Whose Picnic Was a Great Success.

Tripped the Light Fantastic

Possibly the most popular portion of Tara Grove during the afternoon was the dancing platform. This also served as a platform for the speakers but it was only during that time that it was unoccupied by the merry dancers. Miss Agnes Scollard presided most acceptably at the organ, her assistants being Misses Gertrude Moloney and Theresa Guiry. The violinists, who also performed their arduous duties well, were Messrs. Walter O'Connor, Jas. Killen, Jr., Edward O'Donoghue and the Hickson Bros. The floor managers were Messrs. John K Galvin and William Conway. The dancing was one of the most attractive features of the afternoon.

There were two refreshment booths on the grounds which were liberally patronized considering the somewhat cool nature of the atmosphere. One was in charge of Mr. P J Scollard, his assistants being Misses Lottie Scollard and Katie O'Connor while the other was looked after by Mr. Joseph Galvin with Misses Josie Brick and Lizzie Killen as assistants.

Some Splendid Sports

For the athletic inclined, there were some excellent sports to watch. Pedestrianism, the latest innovation into the sporting arena, was much in evidence and it proved to be the most popular of all. The men's walking race was won by Mr. Telford, of Ennismore, but there was a great struggle for second place. The sports also included the various kinds of jumping, putting-the-shot, and running. The Sports' Committee which included Messrs. Jas. Killen, Daniel Crough, Peter F Flood, and J A O'Donoghue was one of the busiest on the grounds and some accomplished its work in superior fashion. A full report of the results of the sports will be received and published in the course of a day or two. A number of games of quoits were also played during the day.

The reverend gentlemen present on the grounds were Fathers, McGuire, Galvin, Kelly, and Fitzpatrick.

The Addresses

About four o'clock the large gathering was brought to order by Rev. Father McGuire, of Downeyville, who was the chairman for the occasion. It is safe to say that Rev. Father Fitzpatrick could not have hit upon

Displacement Of The Bible By Other Literature Is The Work Of The Evil One

"The devil is crowding the Book of God out of the homes and literature of pernicious character is found on the family table and on the shelves in the book case." Rev. John O. Regan of Buffalo was a new speaker at the camp meeting of the Free Methodists last night. The tent could not contain the crowd, and the sides were held up in order to give those who were forced to remain outside an opportunity of hearing.

The speaker in the course of his remarks emphasized the benefits to be derived from reading the Bible.

"If you ask a man nowadays how he is getting along with his Bible study, he will reply that he has not time to devote to it, or that it is antiquated reading and does not interest and appeal to him very strongly." It is the work of the devil, he said, this crowding of the Word of God out of everyday human life.

"One who fills himself with the divine Word becomes permeated with the feeling which is of God. He learns to love Him, and no other thoughts enter the mind. This man comes to possess true righteousness, which in the sight of God is beyond the mere fact of being a church member."

Harmlessness is one of the standards God gets, Mr. Regan said, and he urged his hearers to endeavour to lead a harmless life, injuring no one in any way; striving not to cause pain, but rather ever offering a helping hand.

No Temporal Reward

Temporal reward is not necessarily bestowed upon those who trust in God and serve him faithfully, the speaker asserted. "You might pray till your hair turned gray, and never become any richer in material things but you are in close relationship with God, which was the end of creation." However, Mr. Regan stated that the faithful follower of Christ seldom had to end his days in the poor house. This was a noticeable fact. Concluding, he urged the people to turn to a life of real Christianity at once. "You will never go to bed a sinner," he said, "and wake up a saint."

All the visiting ministers were present last night.

The day's meetings begin at 6 a.m., the next at 9 a.m., then at 2.30 and 8 p.m.

DISPUTE ABOUT OWNERSHIP OF STREET IN CHEMONG PARK

Trouble is brewing over a dispute as to the ownership of a street in Chemong Park. Recently a cottage and property was purchased from Mr. R. B. Rogers by a gentleman from the United States, and the latter enclosed some grounds which the Smith council declare is a street. The present owner of the property has refused to remove the fence, and, it is said, he has declared to shoot the first person who attempts to take it down.

The county authorities have been asked to remove it but it is more than probable that legal action will first be taken to decide the ownership.

Circus Arrives In The City; Large Crowds On The Streets

Parade This Morning Proved a Huge Success---A Large Number Watched the Unloading---Free Exhibition of Mlle. D'Zizi.

Cole Bros.' Great Circus arrived in the city this morning about three o'clock, and their white city of tents has been planted upon the Exhibition grounds. There should be, and is, a "whole city-ful," thronging the streets to see what has, in other places, proved a show of the highest merit. In Toronto, Cole Bros. spent two days, and in that city showed to 35,000 persons, the largest patronage ever given a circus in Toronto. On Monday evening the ticket sellers closed down at 8.15, over 2,000 persons were unable to gain admission, and the great canvas was similarly crowded at all the other performances. A show to attract such immense crowds at four successive performances must be a genuinely good one.

An indefinable stir and excitement is in the air which has been felt since an early hour this morning, and which can only be explained by the magic words, "the circus." It was this spirit of excitement which caused the small boy to-day to look at his books and to abhor the fact that such means of tuition were ever invented. But the small boy is not the only one who is attracted by the circus stir, his father feels an old-time thrill in his blood which he cannot keep down, and usually winds up the day by taking in the performance in the big tent himself, despite the fact that he wakened up in the morning with the avowed attention of having nothing to do with it this year if at least. There may have been a financial stringency and all the rest of it, but it is indeed a stringency in the money market that will prevent the collection of enough coin of the realm to purchase an admission ticket and a couple of packages of peanuts.

The Parade

The parade this morning was the stellar attraction, leaving the grounds about 11 o'clock, this pageant traversed the principal streets of the city, and a monster throng lined the streets. The wild animal dens were very popular and the black tigers, the lion that forecasts the weather for Cole Brothers' Circus attaches were each the objects of much comment. The elephant herds, the camels with their Arab riders, the baby ship of the desert and all the novelties that could well be included in one parade were all there. Four bands and a delegation of clowns provided enough pure fun for all. In fact, the parade was about as complete as one would care to see.

When the paraders had returned to the lot the free attractions were announced. These were all up to the standard, but the dizzy performance of Mlle. D'Zizi outclasses them all. Spanning Death's arch is a hazardous feat at best but this French rider successfully made the ride down a 60-foot incline, leaped a gap 55 feet wide and completed her daredevil performance on the remaining runway, 20 feet long. Neither she nor her slender wheel were harmed. After her performance the Ethnological Congress opened its doors, and the exhibition of monstrosities occupied the time until the doors to the circus proper, the "big top" as the tent is called, was opened.

LESSONS ON STREET MAKING.

On page three of this issue will be found the second of a short series of articles on the principles of proper street building, reprinted from a manual on the subject, by Mr. A. W. Campbell, C.E., Provincial Deputy Minister of Public Works, and a high authority on street construction and maintenance. The Examiner does not necessarily have any special knowledge on the subject, but it can give publicity to the expression of the knowledge of a man, whose word can be accepted with confidence as perfectly reliable and correct. The article printed on page three to-day deals with earth streets and gravel streets. In dealing with the subject of grading the importance of securing perfect drainage is again insisted upon, a lesson which our street authorities should take to heart. Earth streets are good in summer, as a rule, simply because they are dry. This condition can be prolonged on earth streets, or in fact on any street by providing for drainage to keep them comparatively dry when wet weather comes—by providing perfect surface, and, when necessary; tile drainage. Mr. Campbell, in speaking of earth streets—and the same applies to all kinds—calls drainage "the fundamental requirement."

The section of the article in to-day's issue treats of gravel streets and contains a lesson that should be laid to heart by the street authorities. At present gravel, so-called, is being laid on Gilmour street and in the process, almost every principle prescribed by Mr. Campbell as proper and requisite, is being violated, or ignored in practice. He insists on gravel being screened to remove earth or sand, clods and large stones. On Gilmour street the gravel now being dumped is of a most variable quality. One place there will be a load of stones of large size, next to it there will be seen a load of almost pure yellowish sand, or perhaps sandy loam, and another place there is to be seen clods of turf mixed with surface soil. Now, according to the rules published, it is impossible to make a good street of this conglomerate material. The earth and sand placed alongside good gravel will soon develop into mud holes. Common sense should show anybody that it is impossible to make a satisfactory street by mixing stray loads of mud material with gravel. It would be just as reasonable to expect a good street pavement by substituting an occasional shovelful of sawdust for sand in the surface coating. Of course, it would cost more to sift the gravel but the result would pay all extra expense. We should then have a gravel street made right, a street that would last and be easy to maintain. The idea of having streets is not mere places to spend money upon in a haphazard way, but for use by the people who pay the taxes. Any person using the streets would rather pay $2 expenditure upon a properly constructed street than pay $1 for slop work that will not last, that will not make a good street, with a comfortable driving surface. What is worth doing is worth doing right, is a proverb that applies especially to streets, which, in their condition, are the measure of executive ability of the city authorities and the measure of the convenience of the public and the facilitation of traffic in the interest of either commercial or pleasure driving. The attention of the city authorities is especially directed to the article on page three of this issue upon the proper use and treatment of gravel as street-making material.

CANADA'S SUPERIORITY.

New York is getting anxious about the increasing tendency of Montreal to becoming the great shipping outlet for the interior of a very large area of this continent. The several Governments of Canada haven't spent one hundred millions of dollars on our canal system for nothing. We have, by virtue of the St. Lawrence and connecting canals, obtained a supremacy to which the trickle of water, known as the Erie Canal, so far furnishes no formidable rivalry. The people are beginning to have a higher appreciation of the importance of our canal system. The proposal of Hon G. P Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, for the construction of a new Welland Canal, of a capacity to accommodate ocean-going freighters, has met with universal approval. Although the project involves the expenditure of twenty-five or thirty millions of dollars, no word of protest has been heard. Public journals of all shades of opinion approve of the proposal—it is not a party, it is a national, question. It involves the greatness of the future of Canada in an unusual degree. With only a fraction of our great wheat fields of the Northwest under crop, we have a production that gluts every avenue of transportation. What will the conditions be when, instead of one hundred million bushels of wheat, we produce five hundred million or one thousand million bushels a year? This can easily be done if only the available or ten times larger wheat area is placed under crop. In respect of transportation facilities by water, what Canada has it must hold, and not only hold, but strengthen.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Canada has been spending money for exhibitions in foreign countries at a pretty liberal rate, and in the way of advertisement, the money has doubtless been very profitably spent. Recently at St. Louis, at Osaka, at Liege, at Milan, at Glasgow, at Dublin, and now at the Franco-British in London, the Canadian exhibit was invariably a centre of attention, and millions of people received, or are receiving from these exhibits their first impressions of the vastness of the Dominion, and of the variety and value of its natural resources.

LAST OF THE ENNISMORE PICNICS, AND THE LAST WAS THE BEST

a better choice. He possesses not only that faculty, common to every good chairman, of keeping the undivided attention of his hearers, but his witticisms and funny stories never failed to appeal to those who listened. In a few introductory remarks he referred to the splendid success of the picnic as in former years and then called upon several speakers to take the platform. Those who responded were Messrs. D Hughes Charles, R R Hall, M.P., T. E Bradburn, M.P.P., J H Burnham, Ald. H Phelan and Hon. J R Stratton.

Mr. Hughes Charles

"I am glad to be here and I wouldn't unless I wanted to," remarked Mr. Hughes Charles, who was the first speaker called upon by Father McGuire. He congratulated Rev. Father Fitzpatrick on the lovely day with which the picnic was favoured and told of his recent visit to the Sunny South in the state of Virginia, where the people were not so prosperous as those in Canada.

Mr. R. R. Hall M. P.

Mr. Hall assured the assembly that it was an exceedingly great pleasure for him to be present again at the Ennismore picnic. He anticipated a pleasant time and his expectations were realized. He congratulated Father Fitzpatrick and the committees in charge of the picnic for the manner in which they had made it a success.

REV. FATHER McGUIRE,

The prospects in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific for a bountiful harvest were bright; the prices of farm products were good so that the people of Ennismore had every reason to feel grateful.

Mr. Hall again congratulated Father Fitzpatrick on the great success of the picnic and thanked him for the privilege of speaking.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P.

Mr. Bradburn agreed with the previous speakers that congratulations were due to Father Fitzpatrick for the large attendance at the picnic and for the provision of such a splendid outing. He would not speak at any great length, for he deemed it a pity that the speakers should occupy the place of amusement of so many of the young folk. He thanked the reverend gentleman for his kindness in inviting him to speak.

Ald. Phelan

The city of Peterborough was represented by Aldermen Phelan and Gillespie. Ald Phelan congratulated Father Fitzpatrick and the Ennismore people for the large turnout. It was always a pleasure for him to attend the picnic, there to meet the many and prosperous farmers. He spoke of the bright outlook for the crops and thanked Father Fitzpatrick for the privilege of speaking.

Ald G. A. Gillespie

Mr. Gillespie also extended his hearty congratulations to the parish priest on the attendance and general success of the picnic. He had been to the picnic a year ago and had enjoyed the hospitality of the people of Ennismore, and was glad to be there again and to have the privilege of speaking, along with the others. He spoke optimistically of the crop prospects, and believed that the people of such a Province as Ontario were deserving of good crops. He thanked the chairman and the Rev Father Fitzpatrick for the opportunity of speaking to the ladies and gentlemen of Ennismore

Mr. J. H. Burnham

Mr. Burnham was delighted to be with the youth, beauty and energy of Ennismore, and he was sorry to learn that the picnic would be the last. He hoped Rev Father Fitzpatrick could be induced to hold another next year, as the occasion was always an admirable one to promote social interests. He congratulated the Reverend Father on the success which had accompanied yesterday's event.

Hon. J R. Stratton

Mr Stratton was the next speaker He congratulated all on the fine weather and splendid crowd. Father Fitzpatrick's picnic, like the county, had expanded and grown since he had the pleasure of attending the first picnic over twenty years ago. The population of Canada had increased, and even doubled. Railway mileage had been multiplied over ten times, until Canada had more mileage of railways than any other country in the world, according to population. Bank assets and bank deposits had increased many times. In every direction there had been extension and improvement. Ennismore, like everywhere else, had improved in every way. He believed in the social gatherings of churches. They kept the life and helped the vitality of the church, and gave friends the privilege of meeting, who, perhaps, had seldom the opportunity of so doing.

Before calling upon Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, the chairman referred briefly to the prosperity of Canada and paid a loyal tribute to the grand work of "Good Old King Edward," who had done innumerable things for the good and welfare of the British Empire.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick

The last speaker was Father Fitzpatrick. He thanked the pastor of the Emily parish for his assistance as chairman and otherwise, and hoped to see him continue to mingle with the people of both parishes. He extended his thanks to all the others who had assisted during the years he had held picnics. Words could not express his gratitude to these. During his pastorate in Ennismore $4,000 had been realized at the various picnics, and this sum had been sufficient to pay off every dollar of debt on church property. It was, therefore, the last picnic that was necessary. But he would always be pleased at any time to meet the people he had been accustomed to meet during the past.

The addresses were closed by cheers for the chairman, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and the King.

ADVERTISING CANADA IN THE OLD COUNTRY

Comment of a Reader—2500 Said to Have Been Wanted.

From the Warminster and Wilsburg Journal, Wiltshire, England, of Saturday, May 30th, the following about Canada was taken:

The district was visited, the other day by the appearance of a large red motor car advertising vegetables corn and other products of Canada on the sides, and back of the vehicle in large gold letters, at the same time boasting that Canada wanted 2,500 men out there at once."

A reader, who supplied the above clipping, comments thus: A great number have come out here, leaving their homes and families, unable to find work. They become destitute in great numbers and are going back daily. This kind of a thing makes people that are contented leave their family and homes to become destitute and a burden to Canada.

The Foundation Principles Of Proper Street Building

How to Make Good Earth Streets---The Proper Way to Treat Gravel for Use in Streets---What to be Done and What to be Avoided.

Number Two

To the chairman and members of the Board of Works, the City Engineer, the Street Commissioner, the Street Inspector and the Aldermen generally—read, mark, learn and inwardly digest—and outwardly apply. The following, the second of a series of articles, is reprinted from the Twelfth Annual Report of Highway Improvement in Ontario, of Mr. A. W. Campbell, C.E., Deputy Minister of Public Works. Mr. Campbell is one of the most capable road-building experts on the continent. He has made a study of the subject for years and is competent to speak with the voice of authority. The article for to-day deals with earth streets and their mode of construction, and also with gravel streets and the quality and treatment of gravel. It is to be noted that the manual still insists on the supreme importance of efficient surface drainage—describing it as "the fundamental requirement." This is important, as it is also pointed out that "a good earth street is the first step towards making good gravel and stone streets." The instructions respecting the quality and treatment of gravel is of great importance to Peterborough, which is blessed, or otherwise, with a gravel deposit of its own. The "blessing or otherwise," it will be seen largely depends upon the manner in which it is selected and treated.

Earth Streets

Earth streets differ from gravel and broken stone streets principally in regard to the surface covering. A good earth street is a FIRST STEP toward making a good gravel and stone streets, and GOOD DRAINAGE is the FUNDAMENTAL REQUIREMENT of all. This is largely the object to be attained by grading and crowning, which form the principal part of the work of making an earth street.

In making an earth street, observe carefully the requirements for grading, crowning and drainage and rolling.

Keep clay or earth roads sharply crowned. To provide for settlement two inches to the foot, from side to centre is not too great for a newly graded street. Clay streets are easily rutted, and the surface becomes "puddled." Without a good crown, water stands in the wheel tracks instead of flowing to the side drains.

Do not repair an earth street by filling holes and soft spots with gravel or broken stone. The latter materials do not wear down so rapidly as the earth around them, with the result that they become humps or ridges, and the effect is to make two holes where there was originally one. If the hole is wet, drain it.

The condition in which earth streets are frequently left when newly graded is exceedingly objectionable. No effort is made in some cases to level the surface. A rough mound of loose earth is left in the centre. Not only is this objectionable from a roadmaking point of view, but it is dangerous and a frequent source of accident. The street should at least be levelled so that consolidation will take place as evenly and as quickly as possible with the least interference with travel. The use of a heavy roller on clay streets, immediately after being graded will break down lumps and aid in compacting the street.

Place drains and culverts wherever needed and always keep them free from obstruction. Use under-drains freely. If a complete system is not used, tile drains should at least be placed where the water does not leave the side of the street early in the spring, or wherever the ground appears to be continually damp. If open drains are kept in good working order, and if the street is properly crowned, its condition in fall and spring will indicate the points at which tile drainage is most needed.

Gravel Streets

Gravel varies greatly in quality, but is, as a rule suitable for light traffic. It is less durable than broken stone, one cubic yard of broken limestone being equal to two cubic yards of average gravel. On clay, a standard depth of good gravel is eight inches. On a sand or gravel sub-grade, the depth may be reduced to five or six inches. On loam ten or twelve inches is at times advisable. More gravel is required between hills than on knolls or high ground.

Before putting gravel on a street, see that a good earth road has been made, as regards grading, rolling (to make a formation), crowning, draining and straightening.

Old gravel streets with a solid foundation should have the shoulders of sod and soft material cut off and thrown outward—not drawn to the centre. To cut away these shoulders will generally do the street more good than to put on a covering of new gravel,

Selecting Gravel

The best gravel pit for roadwork is clean, free from an excess of sand and clay, composed of stones of varying size up to one and one-half inches in diameter, and just enough fine stuff to fill the voids and make a compact mass. The appearance in the face of a pit, is that of an almost solid mass of pebbles, from the size of marbles up to 1 1-2 inches in diameter.

The sound made by metal tires in passing over a gravel street should be continuously smooth and gritty. If the gritty sound is absent the gravel contains too much earthly material. An interrupted, intermittent sound indicates too many large stones.

"Dirty" gravel is the chief thing to avoid. Gravel containing much clay, or sand or earthy material packs quickly and makes a good dry-weather street. But in the wet weather of spring and fall it turns to mud and slush, and ruts readily. It wears out quickly.

Avoid very fine gravel, and gravel that packs quickly. It lacks strength and is usually dirty. It is the stone that is needed on the streets. There is enough earth and clay on the streets without hauling and paying for more. A street surface of stony material will wear and keep its shape, but fine material becomes "slushy," flattens out under traffic, and the crown of the street is lost.

Treatment of Gravel

If the gravel is of fair quality, except for a few large stones, rake these out as the gravel is spread on the street, drawing them forward so as to be spread under the next load.

If large stones are too numerous to be sufficiently removed by this treatment, station a man in the pit to rake out as many stones as possible from the gravel as it is being shovelled into the wagons.

Gravel consisting of a mass of large stones and boulders should be treated as rock, and put through a crusher. A rotary screen attached to the crusher is desirable to separate the crushed stone into coarse and fine grades. Where there is an excess of clay, earthy matter or sand, a rotary screen is especially useful in removing such objectionable material.

Gravel which is not coarse, but which is "dirty" should be screened to remove the excess of sand or clay. A rotary screen may be used, operated by steam power. The gravel can be drawn in wagons to an elevated platform, dumped into a hopper from which it passes through the rotary screen, and from the screen to an elevated bin, from which the screened gravel is again loaded into wagons to be taken to the street. By means of the elevated bins the expense of shovelling into wagons is saved.

Dirty gravel packs more quickly than does clean or screened gravel. But the bond of clean gravel is much more durable. It is a firm mechanical clasp of one stone upon another aided by the cementing properties of the stone dust created by the stones rubbing against each other.

Gravel beds and pits should be stripped of the layer of earth and sod which usually covers them before gravel is teamed from the pit. If this is not done, as the gravel is removed from beneath it, the soil and sod fall in lumps into the pit, are mixed with the gravel and are drawn with it to the street—a source of injury to the street.

Teamsters should be watched to see that, in hurrying to get the wagons loaded, they do not throw in refuse, earth, sod and large stones. There is enough earth and sod already on the streets without paying for the teaming of more.

The cost of gravel roads depend largely on the cost of hauling gravel. In teaming gravel the size of the wagon box should be fixed, and a definite number of loads should constitute a day's work. It is not uncommon to see teams going out of a pit drawing half or even quarter of a cubic yard, whereas a load should contain from 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 cubic yards.

A day's work in hauling gravel or broken stone, should be specified by the number of loads, according to length of haul. Going empty and returning loaded, a team can walk 24 miles in a day of 10 hours on good roads; and on bad roads about 15 miles.

When gravel is dumped loosely, the fine material sinks to the bottom, allowing large stones to protrude and roughen the surface. In placing gravel on a street, large stones not removed at the pit, should be raked out of the material when it is being spread, and drawn forward so as to be beneath the next load, or broken by hand. These stones should not be left in a mound but should be scattered, otherwise they create an uneven and wavy surface when the road settles.

The gravel should be dropped from the wagons well back on the preceding load and then raked forward. The gravel consolidates at the point where it is dropped from the load, and to lightly "rake off the tops" leaves a deficiency of metal between each load, causing a wavy surface.

Installation Of The New Archbishop Of Toronto

Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough, to be Present—Notable Event To-day.

PROCESSION ARRANGED

Toronto, June 17.—(Special.)—With all the pomp and ceremony in accord with the ritual of the Roman Catholic Church held requisite for such an occasion, Right Reverend F. P. McEvay, D.D., was installed Archbishop of Toronto at St. Michael's Cathedral this morning. The services were most impressive and, with the papal delegate, two archbishops, six bishops, a couple of hundred clergy, and thousands of laity, the event was one seldom witnessed in Toronto.

His Grace arrived in this city from London on Tuesday night on the 6.55 C.P.R. train and was met at the Union Station by a delegation of clergy and laity. He was then escorted to St. John's Grove on Sherbourne street, which he will make the Archiepiscopal residence. Most Reverend Donatus Sbarretti, D.D., papal delegate, accompanied by Very Rev. T. Sinnott, secretary, arrived at 7 o'clock from Ottawa, and will make his home while in the city at St. Michael's Palace.

The ceremonies of the installation began at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning. Sharp on the hour the procession left the palace on Church street, and went by way of Shuter and Bond streets to the Cathedral.

First in line were the cross bearer and acolytes, followed by the clerics, the Christian Brothers, the priests of the diocese and visiting clergy, the bishops and archbishops, and finally Archbishop McEvay.

At the door of the cathedral his Grace was met by Very Rev. J. J. McCann, Vicar General, and through the crowded cathedral the procession moved up the centre aisle to the sanctuary.

The papal briefs apointing his Grace head of the Archdiocese of Toronto were then read by Vicar-General McCann, after which the priests of the diocese made their vows of obedience.

An address of welcome was then read by Very Rev. D. Morris, dean of St. Catharines, on behalf of the clergy, and by Mr. Justice Anglin on behalf of the laity, to which his Grace replied.

The Installation

The ceremony of installation then took place, being performed by two of the bishops present.

Pontifical high mass followed, Most Rev. Donatus Sbarretti, papal delegate, being the celebrant. His deacons of honour were Rev. J. T. Hand and Rev. T. Sullivan of Thorold. The deacons of the mass were Rev. P. Coyle and Rev. James Traylinz, with Vicar-General McCann assistant priest. Archbishop McEvay assisted at the throne in cope and mitre, and his assistants were Very Rev. Dean Morris and Rev. H. Gibney. Rev. T. O'Donnell of St. Mary's was master of ceremonies.

The following were present: Most Rev. C. H. Gauthier, D.D., Archbishop of Kingston; Most Rev. E. J. McCarthy, D.D., Bishop of Halifax; Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough; Right Rev. D. J. Scollard, D.D., Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie; Right Rev. T. J. Dowling, D.D., Bishop of Hamilton; Hon. J. J. Foy, representing the Ontario Government; Senator Scott, Secretary of State, representing the Senate, and Charles Fitzpatrick, Minister of Justice.

FARMERS ARE PRAYING FOR RAIN

Sun Has Absorbed the Moisture and the Ground is Drying

And now the farmers are praying for rain. The moisture with which the ground had been laden has been absorbed and the crops are beginning to show the effect of it. A farmer from Smith said that the believed some fields had been touched with frost. Others say that the yellow appearance of the hay is due to the sun's excessive heat. The farmers are all united in their desire to receive rain. Some parts, mostly to the north of the county, had a shower on Sunday, but the rest are beginning to look parched. The turnip and mangel crops, which have been recently planted, show no signs, in some cases, of germinating owing to the lack of moisture. On the whole, however, the farmers have a fair outlook and a good shower will put things to right.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Epidemic Influenza, Grippe, Catarrhal Troubles, Pneumonia Increasing.

A marked increase in troubles of the breathing organs is noted in many localities. If you will only have Hyomei at hand to use with the first attack of Cold in the Head, Pneumonia, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup, in fact any respiratory affection, the trouble will be quickly overcome.

If the attack is neglected and becomes severe, speedy relief will come in most cases, and a persistent use of Hyomei will cure.

The directions for using it vary, but the principle is always the same, that of destroying all the germs in the air you breathe, and having it reach the air passages with dry medication from the Pine and Eucalyptus forests.

Remember that liquids or moisture are barred from the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs. It's the dry air of Hyomei that reaches the spot. Wm. Madill guarantees it.

You shake down the ashes —not the coal—in the

"Hecla" Furnace

There are four grate bags in the "Hecla"

Each one can be shaken separately.

You don't have to shake the whole fire to get out the ashes around the edges of the firepot.

You don't shake down a lot of good coal with the ashes.

You don't have to use a poker at all.

The "Hecla" Triangular Bar Grate allows you to shake just the part of the fire where the ashes are, without disturbing the rest of the coals.

Naturally, one grate is easier to shake, than four all geared together. That is why people find the HECLA "no trouble to look after."

Fused Joints—a patented "Hecla" feature—keep the house free of gas, smoke and dust.

KNOX CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL EXCURSION

A Delightful Trip and a Successful Outing—Not a Hitch or Accident to Interfere.

Knox Church Sunday School excursion to Jubilee Point yesterday was well attended by scholars, teachers, members of the congregation and friends. There must have been two hundred souls on board the steamer "Otonabee" as she left the street railway wharf at 9 o'clock. Rev. Mr Keith, the popular pastor of Knox Church, and Sheriff Hall, the respected superintendent of the Sunday school, were on board, and lent their influence in increasing the success and pleasure of the excursion.

The weather was very favourable, and a delightful time was enjoyed by all. Nothing occurred during the whole day to mar the pleasure of the party, and the social character of Knox's people was never better exemplified. Jubilee was reached at 11.30 o'clock, and in short order the picnic hampers were soon opened and their contents enjoyed. The grounds were in good condition for the programme of games, which was run off in the afternoon, and never were out door sports better enjoyed.

Ball Games and Races

A baseball match between married and single men gave the married men one run more than their opponents, the score being 4 runs to 3. A baseball match between the Knox Boys' Guild and the Young Men's Guild resulted in a score of 93 in favour of the boys.

The races were run off in excellent spirit, as follows:

Girls' Primary Class—1, Olive McKinley; 2, Mabel Penrose.

Boys' Primary Class—1, Harry Sherwood; 2, Eddie Taylor.

Girls, 10 years and under—1 Ruby Carr; 2, Josie Armstrong.

Boys, 10 years and under—1, Ed. Smith; 2, Phil. Taylor.

Girls, 15 and under—1, Geo. Byers; 2, Geo. Montgomery.

Boys, 15 and under—1 Max McClellan; 2, Roy Smith.

Ladies' Race—No less than 12 entries were offered in this race — 1, Maud Syxby; 2, Mamie Menzies.

Men's Race—1, W. Denoon; 2, H. Wilkie.

Lady Teachers' Race — 1, Mamie Menzies; 2, Miss M. Bartley.

Boys' Boot race—1, Chesney Coates; 2, Max McClellan.

The prizes were presented to the successful ones by Sheriff Hall and Mr. H. Wilkie. Special credit is due Mr. Wilkie for the interest he took in running off the events, and his general usefulness during the day. Rev. Mr. Keith was a happy man all day. He not only had a shepherd's watchful care over his flock, but enthusiastically participated in the sports of the afternoon. He lined up on the side of the married men in the baseball match, and his performances at the bat and in the field demonstrated that what his hand findeth to do it doeth well.

MANUFACTURING GINGER BEER

Mr. P. Grady Has Branched Into a New Line of Business

Mr. P. Grady, formerly proprietor of the livery barns on Simcoe street, has branched into the manufacture of ginger beer and has been in business several weeks. His apparatus has been installed and he has already delivered a large quantity. Ginger beer is one of the few beverages that will allay thirst and the summer time puts a heavy demand on it. Mr. Grady's brew is said to possess a splendid flavour, and his patrons are daily increasing.

THE GEORGE ST. CHOIR EXCURSION

Enjoyable Outing at Stony Lake Yesterday—Orchestra Present.

The excursion under the auspices of the George street Methodist church choir yesterday was made successful by a large and jolly crowd, splendid weather and every arrangement well carried out. About 150 were on board the steamer Empress when it left Lakefield and the sail through the lakes to Mount Julian was much enjoyed. Dinner was partaken of at Mount Julian, after which a trip was taken through the upper part of the lake, stopping at Glenwood where a halt an hour was spent. Another stop was made at McCracken's Landing for supper and a lively game of baseball was played. The party returned by special train from Lakefield. The Sunday School Orchestra added considerable to the pleasure of the occasion by playing enjoyable music throughout the day.

County Council In Midst Of Business Of June Session

The Warden's Address and the Reply---Important By-law Passed---House of Refuge Committee Report---Many Communications to Deal With

At the opening of the June session of the County Council yesterday at 2 o'clock p.m., Warden Thompson addressed the Council in a strain that was full of hope for bright prospects for the county. He was pleased to note the spirit of prosperity which is evident in the county. His address was as follows:

To the Members of the County Council:—

Following the example of my predecessors, permit me to address you at this, the regular June session, 1908.

Before referring to the matters of importance that have come up and will come up before you, I am sure I am voicing the sentiments of all of you when I give expression to the recognition of the hand of a kind Providence for a splendid harvest, judging by the appearances at present.

I am proud of the continued material prosperity of the county, and note with satisfaction the improvement in the amount of money now available for the prosecution of all industries, and also for the purchase of municipal debentures, etc.

This, as you are all aware, is an agricultural country, and Peterborough county, though having one of the most prosperous cities for its size, within its boundaries, is among the leading counties as an agricultural county, and I am proud of the position its products have, not only at home, but in the great consuming centre, the British Isles. Canadian cheese is of world wide fame, and the Peterborough Cheese Board, the banner board of the Province. This is an evidence of the practical and honest contribution of the patrons of factories, brought into requisition co operatively.

In order to encourage and foster this great agricultural industry, the Council of the county of Peterborough have been active in providing highways, or in assisting to provide such, and in doing so have built and assumed bridges in different parts of the county.

From the address of the recent Grand Jury to His Honour the County Judge, you will note with satisfaction the absence of serious crime at the present time, and also, the County Council will hear with pleasure the report of the said jury upon the management of the County House of Refuge.

I will not deal with the matter of bridges, as the councillors will no doubt have reports from their respective bridges.

In the current expenses of any institution or corporation some years will exceed others, and it must be apparent to all that this is one of the abnormal years of this county, due to absolute necessity, which, as I have stated, will be shown by the commissioners from the bridges, etc.

Some additional repairs have also to be made in the Court House and other county buildings, which will, of course, also increase the current expenses.

The facts which I have endeavoured to lay before you, will, when you have looked into them, convince you of the amount of careful consideration the chairman of the Finance Committee has had to give to that department.

As you are aware, we have, with the additional debenture of $1,030 first paid last year, another one for this also following our debenture issue last year.

The debentures we are now about to offer for sale will, I have no doubt, be disposed of readily and consistent with the market.

Recent legislation has so provided that I think probably, if in the future the Act is taken advantage of, it will enable municipalities to dispose of their debentures more readily still. Some time during the session our solicitor will explain the matter to the Council.

Although our financial standing, as a county, stands with those at the head of the list, I would respectfully urge upon you all to use economy in every department consistent with good work, so that a continuance of good judgment will be to the credit of the Council of the county of Peterborough, as has been credited to, and deserved by, our predecessors.

Thanking you for your united assistance in the performance of the several duties connected with the wardenship and general county work, I am,

Yours respectfully,
JAS. THOMPSON

Business Transacted

Also yesterday a special meeting was held for the purpose of giving bylaw No. 927 its final reading, being a bylaw to provide for the borrowing of $5,000 for the purpose of constructing bridges in the county. This was read, passed and signed.

The regular session opened in the afternoon with the following members present:

Warden Jas. Thompson M.P.P., in the chair; Wm. Oakman, Asphodel; J. Russell, Belmont and Methuen; Charles R. D. Booth, Burleigh and Anstruther; Wm. Hales, Chandos; S. Killen, Enniskmore; Chas. Coben, Galway and Cavendish; Jas. Ingram, Harvey; Denis Moloney, Douro; C. J. Darling, Dummer; Jno. Browne, North Monaghan; Jno. R. Fite, Otonabee; W. J. Potter, Otonabee; R. N. Scott and T. H. Graham, Smith; F. J. Moore, Lakefield, A. Breault Norwood.

On motion of Messrs. Scott and Breault, the clerk was authorized to thank the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick for the kind invitation to the Enniskmore picnic and to give expression to the regret of this council in not being able to attend, due to matters in connection with the reading of a bylaw that according to statute had to be read yesterday afternoon.

On motion of Messrs. Booth and Coben, the Warden's address was received and the following gentlemen appointed to deal with the same:—Messrs. Scott, Fite, Brown, Killen, Moloney, Oakman.

The following communications were read by the Warden:

From J. A. Hacking, re betterment of consumptives.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Geo. Bailey, re Bell Telephone System.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Isaac Richardson's account was

WARDEN JAS. THOMPSON,
Who is Presiding at June Session of The County Council This Week.

referred to the Finance Committee.

A number of other communications were received and referred to their respective committees.

Mr. Oakman appealed to the council to make provision for auctioneer's license for parts of the county that are somewhat in an isolated position. On motion of Messrs. Breault and Hales the matter was referred to the Finance Committee, who will confer with the County Solicitor.

To-Days Session

This morning a session opened at ten o'clock and was taken up principally by the reading of the reports of the chairman of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge, and of the committee appointed to deal with the Warden's address.

The report of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge was read as follows:

Gentlemen,—Since the last report from the Board we have admitted more inmates to the house, there now being 35. We are pleased to state that all are in fairly good health, save one old man, and a woman recently admitted with her baby, six months old.

Improvements consistent with the assistance available has been going on during the spring. We have now under way a wire fence in front of the lot.

You will notice by the accounts the purchases made of a permanent character which, of course, cannot be charged to current maintenance.

The crops look well, as well as the young stock, and considering the number of inmates, we are pleased to say we hope to be able to lessen the cost per inmate for maintenance this year.

Your Board has endeavoured to carry into effect the wishes of the council, and bring credit upon all in so far as the care of the aged poor of the county is concerned.

The amount necessary to be raised by the people will be presented to you through the chairman of the Finance Committee, who has in charge that part of the work.

Yours respectfully,
R. N. SCOTT,
Chairman.

On the Warden's Address

Your committee appointed to deal with the Warden's address, beg leave to report as follows:

Your committee concur with you in recognizing the prospects of a bountiful harvest.

The reference made by you is certainly satisfactory: that is to the possibility of more easily disposing of debentures due to improvement in the money market.

We endorse the action of the County Council in previous years assuming bridges where permanent structures were to be built, thereby giving suitable traffic consistent with the needs of this, an agricultural county.

We recognize the fact that this year will be one of unusual expenditure, currently speaking, due to repairs to bridges, etc.

Referring in a general way to the address we heartily concur in the words used, and wish to say that your council will not disappoint your aspirations, but use economy in all departments, consistent with necessity, thereby eliciting from the ratepayers of the county continued confidence. We also recognize in your address a ring of sincerity, combined with good judgment, which is characteristic of all your efforts on behalf of the county heretofore.

Respectfully yours,
R. N. SCOTT,
Chairman.

Other Business

"O! MY POOR HEAD"

Stop Those Headaches.

Headache and neuralgia are pronounced signs of blood poisoning. This poisoning of the blood comes from the waste matter of the body being left in the system, instead of being regularly carried off by the bowels, kidneys and skin.

When the bowels do not move regularly, the refuse is absorbed by the blood. Thus, the blood is loaded with foul poisons which irritate the nerves.

Poor skin action also causes headache and neuralgia. Impurities cannot escape through the skin, so the blood must take them up and deposit them on the nerves.

If the bowels and skin are not ridding the system of waste, the kidneys try to do so and are overworked.

There is just one way to cure headaches and neuralgia—to regulate bowels, kidneys and skin so that all the poisons of the body will be properly carried off.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep blood pure and rich—relieve the stomach and kidneys—regulate the bowels; and invigorate the skin to healthy action. "Fruit-a-tives" are a wonderful discovery, being a combination of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box—six for $2.50. At all dealers, or from "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

Mrs. Crouter Was Sentenced to One Year In Mercer

One year in the Mercer was the penalty handed out by Magistrate Dumble in the police court this morning to Mrs. Sarah Crouter, who was found guilty of a charge of keeping a disorderly house. Mrs. Crouter, who has been in police court before on the same charge pleaded not guilty, but P. C. Mcharry and other witnesses gave strong evidence against her, and the Magistrate registered a conviction.

Two young men who were arrested at the C.P.R. station and who gave their names as Wm. Stevens and Gordon Judge, of Toronto, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. Stevens said that he had come down from Toronto to look for work and had got drunk. The men were remanded for a week in order that some information may be obtained about them.

A boy who pleaded guilty to a charge of throwing stones in a public place was fined $2 by the Magistrate and given five days in which to pay the money.

THREE MEN ARRESTED

—Three men were arrested this afternoon by P. C. Newhall, charged with picking pockets. Preliminary trials will likely be held in the morning.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, June 17.—The market opened dull and steady, and the floor element took up the bull side with the idea that the Taft nomination had not been discounted, and they were considerably encouraged yesterday by the fact that there was no great amount of stock offering on the rise.

The bad weather conditions in the Southwest have brought about reports of much damage to wheat, and the grain markets have been quite strong, and this led to some selling for professional account on the floor.

Later in the day, on the announcement of the passing of the common dividend on Big Four, there was a quick rush to get rid of stocks bought earlier, with a consequent loss of all the improvement of the morning. The Illinois Central directors met to-day, but transacted only routine business, making no announcement whatever of any bond offering.

London was a moderate buyer in this market, but trading for foreign account had little effect. Indications still point to higher prices in [illegible] upon our advice to buy good stocks on all bear drives, and before the end of the week we look for much higher prices.

It was reported from Chicago that there was a big fight on over the platform, and the prominent part played by Cannon gave the Taft crowd a little worry. The closing was firm on a rally.

PADDLED CLOSE TO THE LOCKS DAM

Foolhardy Attempt of Canoeist to Get Close to Danger

To keep as far away from danger as possible was not the motto followed by a foolhardy youth, who last night attempted to see how close he could go to the dam at the Locks Bridge. He was accompanied in his canoe by a young lady, also. He first paddled to within about fifty feet of the pier and then turned back, and the second time lessened the distance by about twenty-five feet. He may have been pretty confident of his skill in the canoe, but to the onlooker it appears another example of "fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

SILVER TROPHY FOR THE CHURCH LEAGUE

The deciding game will be played at Riverside Park to-morrow night between the Y.M.C.A. Chieftains and the St. Andrew's Boy's team. Mr. H. R. H. Kenner will umpire the game.

No Skirt Dancing For Officers.

London, June 17.—King Edward has absolutely forbidden what he calls one of the most inane exhibitions he has ever heard of. Several officers of one of the crack regiments in London recently went in for skirt dancing, engaged the services of an eminent professional teacher of the art, and a few days ago sent out invitations to all their friends to a forthcoming exhibition of their latest accomplishment. One of the invitations came into the hands of His Majesty.

The officers who are concerned are indignant over the fact that their little affair has been interfered with. It is said that the costumes which were to be worn at the entertainment have already been bought from a well-known French shop in Leicester square which supplies professional dancers with their dresses. The elaborate outfit of a second lieutenant who was expected to make a sensation by his agility and skill is said to have cost $300.

Contractors Indicted.

Boston, June 17.—The evidence in the so-called "Boston agreement case" was considered insufficient to warrant an indictment, according to a statement yesterday.

The agreement case involved six leading structural steel and iron firms of this city, who, it is alleged, had combined to secure contracts from the city of Boston.

Seven officials connected with the six firms referred to have been arrested and are waiting a hearing in the municipal court Saturday.

Eaten by Cannibals.

Madrid, June 17.—Further reports have been received here from the west coast of Africa concerning the sinking by a tornado on the Upper Congo river of the steamboat Ville de Bruges last May.

Of the six Europeans who lost their lives four were caught by cannibalistic natives while attempting to reach the shore by swimming, and later killed and devoured. A total of seventy negroes were drowned.

THE TIME HAS NOT YET ARRIVED

For Government Ownership of Telegraphs and Telephones.

MR. GRAHAM'S STATEMENT

Control of Private Interests the Best Method, He Says—Mr. Lennox Supports the Bill—Improvement of the Postal Service—Free Rural Delivery—One Cent Drop Letters in Cities and Towns.

Ottawa, June 17.—The House yesterday morning discussed the bill placing telegraphs and telephones under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission, the Government for the time ignoring the election bill.

Haughton Lennox of South Simcoe place a mass of material before the House in support of an argument for the nationalization of telephones and telegraphs.

He recalled the telephone enquiry made by a House committee presided over by Sir William Mulock. Sir William, he said, had come to the conclusion that telephones should be nationalized, and a difference of opinion with his colleagues in this respect had caused him to leave the Government.

Mr. Graham suggested that Mr. Lennox should start an Ontario campaign for buying out the Bell Telephone Co. in that province. He pointed out that Canada's ownership of railways was not a bed of roses.

The Government had come to the decision that private ownership and Government control was the best method. Rates on railways, telephones and telegraphs depended on density of population. Canada could not have such rates as obtained in New York.

Government ownership might be practicable when our population was denser, but the time had not yet come.

Postmaster-General Lemieux talked improved postal service last night in moving the second reading of his bill to provide for a one-cent drop letter rate in cities and towns having free delivery.

Toronto, he said, led all cities in postal revenue, last year contributing $1,449,000. Montreal was second with $938,000 and Winnipeg third with $555,000.

He said rural offices were behind to the extent of $210,417.

Mr. Armstrong again pressed the claims of the rural sections for free delivery.

"How is the Minister going to spend his surplus?" he asked.

Mr. Lemieux, who went on to say that there must be no discrimination in the matter of free rural mail delivery. If he gave this service to thickly-settled rural communities, he must to others, and the revenue would not stand it.

Mr. Henderson suggested a half-cent drop letter rate in rural districts, but Mr. Lemieux thought this reform could wait.

The bill was given its third reading.

Mr. Aylesworth's bill to restrain the use of tobacco by children under 16 years was yesterday amended by raising the age limit to 18, Mr. Miller (South Grey), suggesting the change.

Mr. Henderson thought there were many people of 18 or older who ought to be restrained in the use of cigarettes. He suggested 21 as the age limit. After several members on both sides had endorsed the amendment, Mr. Aylesworth said all the provinces except Manitoba and Quebec had restraining legislation, with the age limit varying from 15 to 18.

Mr. Blain spoke in favor of the prohibition of the importation and manufacturing of cigarettes and Dr. Sproule supported him. Mr. MacPherson protested against amendment.

The bill was held over for its third reading to enable Mr. Blain to move his prohibition amendment.

Senators Put Bills Through.

Ottawa, June 17.—Forty-five bills, passed by both Houses, were given royal assent by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Deputy Governor-General, in the Senate Chamber yesterday.

The Senators suspended rules to enable the supply bill of over $31,000,000 to be put through its several stages, but as before Senator Lougheed had protested against the railroading process. At the moment the Senate was asked to discuss its provisions, the acting governor was at the door awaiting admission.

HARRISON OVER A MILE BEHIND IN THE ST. CATHARINES GRIND

Examiner Special

St. Catharines, Ont., June 17.—There was very little change in the position of the walkers in the big six-day walking race in the Phelps street rink here last night, as the result of the three hours on the track. Stacey, the Toronto walker, gained on Harrison again, and is setting a terrific pace, going at the rate of over six miles per hour which is better time than Hoaglan I made in the Peterborough walk, while Harrison is also going faster than the Yankee crack. Spencely of Peterborough is now in third place, Guerin dropping to fourth. The attendance last night was very light. The track is fourteen laps to the mile and the men are making good time. Following is the standing so far:—

	Miles.	Laps.
Stacey, Toronto...	38	3
Harrison, Peterborough.	36	13
Spencely, Peterborough.	35	6
Guerin, Peterborough ...	34	12
Stevens, Peterborough...	34	12
Brown, St. Kitts... ...	32	6
Hedgeman, St. Kitts ...	32	1
Eves, St. Kitts	31	10
Lydiatt, St. Kitts... ...	31	4
Shields, St. Kitts...	29	0

THE ST. CATHARINES GRIND

Stacey Set a Terrific Pace for the First Three Hours.

The St. Catharines Star-Journal has the following to say of the first night's grind in the six-day race:

The big walking match at Phelps Street Roller Rink opened last evening, with a good list of entries and considerable interest on the part of the public. Judging by the first night's work, the match will prove one of the most interesting events in the realm of athletics that has taken place in St. Catharines in a long time. Local interest centres, of course, largely on the five speedy St. Catharines walkers who have entered the contest and who made such a creditable showing at the opening of the match.

Sharp at 8 o'clock word was given to the walkers to go. They started in a bunch. Stevens of Peterborough led for the first lap or two when Stacey of Toronto forged ahead, closely followed by Harrison, Spencely and Stevens. At the end of the first mile Stacey led by three laps, having covered 6 3-4 miles. He was walking in fine form as were also Harrison, Spencely, Stevens and Guerin. At the end of the first mile their positions were as follows:—Stacey, Harrison, Spencely, Stevens, Guerin, Liddiard, Eves, Brown, Hegerman and Shields, which positions they maintained until the second hour was finished. From this on Guerin made a great sprint, and picking them up one at a time, he was presently in 3rd position, finishing strong at the sound of the gong at 11 o'clock. This is Guerin's first race and he looks as though he would be first or second at the finish as he is a clean easy little walker and has splendid staying power.

Harrison, the Peterborough man, although 10 laps behind the leader, will endeavour to overcome this to-night, but the Toronto man thinks differently. It therefore promises to be a great race to-night as they all expect to do over 18 miles.

LONGBOAT WOULD LIKE TO LIVE IN MONTREAL

He May Settle Down There on Return From Olympics

Yesterday's Montreal Herald says: It is stated on the very best authority here that Tom Longboat, the famous Onandaga long distance runner, may settle in Montreal on his return from the Olympic games. While he was here last week Longboat expressed to a few of the prominent sporting men of the city his desire to settle down here. There is considered to be every chance of his doing so. It is also stated that Tom Flanagan had some very pointed things to say about the C.A.A.U., and the way that the team to represent Canada at the Olympic games was picked. Tom and his Irish Canadians may apply to the Federation for affiliation, according to a well authenticated story here, but it is considered improbable that any application of the sort will be considered.

Flanagan had some things to say about the American Amateur Athletic Union as well as the C.A.A.U., while he was here. Tom admits frankly that although he is fighting him, there is not a man on the continent of America, who knows more—or who even knows as much—about athletic sports as Jim Sullivan, the A.A.U. president.

QUAKERS WILL PRACTISE TO-NIGHT

On the Grounds to the Front of the King Edward School

The Y. M. C. A. Quakers will practise this evening on the ground to the east of the King Edward School. As many as possible are wanted out as the team will be picked to play Havelock on Friday night.

Baseball

The final game in the Junior Church League will be played on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at Riverside Park, when St. Andrew's and the Chieftains, the winners in their respective sections, will clash for the championship. Neither team has lost a league game and as they have been playing great ball a fine contest should be seen. A lot of interest is being taken in the contest and there will no doubt be a large crowd on hand for the final.

Why Napoleon Shoe Vamp Is Crackless!

The vamp is the leather between the box toe seam and the instep seam. This is why Napoleon (Foot-rite) Shoes have crackless vamps:

They're made of "Normal Calf," a leather almost as soft and supple as the live calf's skin. You never heard of a live calf's skin cracking.

The linen canvas linings are cut on patterns which fit the insides with watch-like accuracy. Poor linings cause permanent diagonal vamp wrinkles, which split the leather.

Normal Calf is almost waterproof, hence soaks up little water. The repeated drying of water-soaked boots eventually brings cracked vamps.

The toe-freedom box toe, being uncollapsible, holds the vamp leather arched and smooth, and prevents splitting at the vamp toe seam.

The wrinkleless vamp improvement keeps out vamp wrinkles which undermine and crack the vamp leather.

Being shaped over foot-sculptured lasts, Napoleon insides are precisely the same shape and size as the feet that inhabit them, which compels the leather to crease straight instead of diagonally across the vamp. Diagonal creases wear in cracks. Straight creases don't.

Anywhere in America, Canada or Great Britain, $5.00 and $6.00. Every pair Goodyear Welted—gives flexibility. Canadian Head Offices: Foot-rite Shoe Company, Montreal.

Increased Number Of Cheese Boarded At To-day's Meeting

Increase of 3/8 Cents in the Price—Nearly All the Cheese Sold at 11 15/16 Cents—Meeting Largely Attended

ADJOURNED TO JULY FIRST

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held this morning in the Bank of Montreal Chambers. There was a large attendance of salesmen and buyers and the Board practically sold out at 11 5-16 cents.

The following buyers were present: Messrs. Kerr, G. W. Fitzgerald, Geo. A. Gillespie, Thos. Watkin of Belleville, W. Weir of Lang, Jas. Cook, H. Morton and W. H. Cook, representing Gunn & Langlois of Belleville. Mr. John Riddell, the president, conducted the sales.

Cheese Boarded

There were 4,561 cheese boarded and all but 70 were sold on the board. Mr. George Gillespie's opening price 11 5-16 cents was not raised or lowered during the sales, all the buyers paying the same. The price was considered very fair and the number of cheese boarded compared well with former months. At the last meeting 2,643 cheese were boarded and the highest price was 10 5-16 cents. There has, therefore, been an increase of 6-16 cents.

At the corresponding meeting a year ago 3,918 cheese were boarded and 11 5-8 cents was the highest price. From these figures it is evident that a good showing will be continued throughout this season.

The factories were boarded as follows:

Keene	195
Warminster	120
Shearer	215
Central Smith	200
Villiers	111
Warsaw	165
Westwood	210
Oakdale	140
Daisy D.	85
Lakefield	100
King Edward	125
Maple Leaf	145
Myrtle	145
Ormondie	200
Lang	175
Fraserville	110
North Dummer	80
East Emily	125
Benefort	165
Cedardale	80
Stony Lake	43
Cavanville	110
Norwood	170
Fleetwood	180
Oak Leaf	130
Brickley	83
Shamrock	125
Killarney	130
Young's Point	90
Otonabee Union	66
Trewern	175
Crown	125
Pine Grove	150
Selwyn	190
South Burleigh	40

The Bidding

Mr. Watkin opened the bidding at 11 cents, which was raised to 11 1-8c by Mr. Cook, to 11 1-4c by Mr. Fitzgerald, and by Mr. Gillespie to 11 5-16c. At this price he took Westwood, Villiers, Central Smith and Keene. At the same price Mr. Jas. Cook got Benefort, Trewern, Selwyn, King Edward, Myrtle, Crown, Warminster, and Warsaw. Mr. Weir at 11 5-16c took Shearer, Lang, and Pine Grove. Mr. W. H. Cook, for Gunn & Langlois, called Ormondie, Daisy D. Norwood, Brickley, Shamrock, and Killarney.

Mr. Morton's offer of 11 1-4c was outbid by Mr. Kerr, who came back to 11 5-16c and took Fleetwood, Cavanville, Fraserville, Cedardale and Lakefield. Mr. Fitzgerald at the same figure got Otonabee Union, Maple Leaf, East Emily, Young's Point and North Dummer. Oakdale went to Mr. Kerr at 11 5-16c, and Stony Lake to Mr. Gunn at the same price. South Burleigh and Oak Leaf were not sold.

The Board's next meeting will be held on July 1.

A motion was made by Mr. Hawthorne, seconded by Mr. John Coughlin, that factories making cheese and not selling it be removed from the board. It was said that if they were paying their dues nothing could be done with them. An effort will be made to have all the factories listed.

Rich, red blood is produced by Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist, Peterborough.

UNION MEN ATTENTION

The members of Peterborough Local No. 191, American Federation of Musicians, desire to call the attention of all Union Men to the fact that it is distinctly contrary to the principles of Unionism to join in a parade headed by a non-union band, and more especially when such engagement is secured by cutting prices. Our scale of prices is most moderate and, what is most important still, we fill our engagements with competent musicians, using the best instruments manufactured in the world.

Again we ask the hearty co-operation of all Union men in a fight for fair prices for the men who can deliver the goods.

PLANK FELL ON TOP OF A YOUNGSTER

Little Son of Mr. W. B. Armstrong was Painfully Injured Yesterday.

Kerlisle Armstrong, the little son of Mr. W. B. Armstrong, Stewart street, was the victim of a painful accident last night which threatens to have serious results. A number of boys, who were playing on the top of the new Armouries, dislodged a plank which fell on top of the little fellow, striking him heavily on the head and inflicting a long, deep gash, which required medical attention. Several stitches had to be put in to stop the flow of blood.

SOMETHING DOING AT GILMAN'S; JUBILEE POINT

Sport With the Finny Tribe Commenced—The House Getting Busy for Guests and Excursions.

Jubilee Point had an overflowing population on Tuesday. The steamer Otonabee brought Knox's Church Sunday School excursion from Peterborough and the steamer Rainbow brought an Orange picnic from Bailieboro and Centreville.

Jubilee is just beginning to put on its summer buzz. With the opening of the fishing season, a noticeable hustle is discernible around the Jubilee House, which is again in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Gilman. Fish was a long-looked for and delicious addition to the bill of fare yesterday; and such fish! Fresh from the cool waters only five hours before. You ought to have seen the way they were cooked and served—with that delicate shade of brown and a luscious light crispness—"just done to a turn"—by Mrs. Gilman's own expert hands.

Only "soft stuff" is on tap in the Jubilee bar—not even a flask was to be seen. But the "soft stuff" is all right, because it is kept right. The candy booth did a record breaking trade, in fresh fruits, confectionery, peanuts, etc.

Inquiries from tourists are coming in thick and fast. Fourteen men want rooms from July 1st, to August 16th. Americans are securing rooms now to have another try at the maskinonge and bass in these famous fishing grounds, which can't be excelled.

WEDDING BELLS.

COMSTOCK—KNOX.

A quiet home wedding took place this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, when Carrie Isabel, eldest daughter of the late Mr. David Knox, 390 Queen street, was married to Mr. John Comstock, second son of Mr. Aaron Comstock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Church.

As the bridal party entered the drawing room, which was tastefully decorated with palms and cut flowers, Miss May Masson, of Woodstock, sang sweetly "Oh! Fair, Oh, Sweet and Holy." The bride was given away by her mother, and wore an embroidered Brussels net over silk gown and carried white roses. Her sister, Miss Estella Knox, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. John Gemmell was groomsman.

After the ceremony congratulations were showered on the young couple and Miss Masson sang in excellent voice, Aylard's "Beloved it is Morn." A sumptuous Luncheon was then served.

The presents, which were extremely beautiful, testified to the high esteem in which the bride and groom were held.

Mr. and Mrs. Comstock left on the 4.38 C. P. R. express, Mrs. Comstock travelling in a brown taffeta suit, with hat to match. On their return they will take up residence at 342 Charlotte street.

CALLENDAR—BUCHANAN

At 11 o'clock this morning at St. John's church a pretty wedding ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Batty. The bride who was unattended was given away by her brother, Mr. J B Buchanan. Mr. and Mrs. Callendar left on the 11.45 G. T.R. train on a wedding trip and on returning to the city will reside at 65 McDonel street.

LINTON—TIMLIN

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the George street parsonage this morning by Rev. E A Pearson, when Mr. Wm. John Linton, of Ainwick was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Ruth Timlin, of the same place. Miss Maud Linton, of Roseneath, was bridesmaid and Mr. Norman Sherwin, of Roseneath, assisted the groom.

APPEARED ON STILTS THIS MORNING

Mr. Wm. Bowman the Centre of Attraction on the Street

One of the attractions on the street this morning when the parade was passing by was Mr. William Bowman attired in his summer female costume. As they say in the show world "he was doing stilts," and, of course, caught the eye of many as did the procession. He was advertising Lang & Maher, clothiers.

HAND STUCK FAST TO ELECTRIC WIRE

Narrow Escape For A Havelock Youth—Several Were Shocked

Examiner Special

Havelock, June 18.—What was almost a fatal accident occurred at the Dineen House the other morning. The wine clerk having occasion to go into the cellar found fire flying from an electric wire. Mr. Michael McGlade, a boarder, took hold of the wire, which was covered, and received a shock which rendered him unconscious. Being unable to let go, the wine clerk endeavoured to draw him away and received a shock which threw him over into the coal bin. Mr. Geo. Warren, another guest, then seized a bottle and knocked the wire out of Mr. McGlade's hand. The latter was carried up to the sample room and Dr. Crawford, after an hour's work, succeeded in reviving him, but his hand has been severely burned. Had it not been for the action of Mr. Warren it is likely Mr. McGlade would not have survived.

A number of people complain that they received shocks the previous night when turning on the electric light.

SUCCESS OF A FORMER PETERBOROUGH YOUTH

Mr. J. Ernest Hodgson Receives Creditable Diploma

Many in Peterborough will be interested in the following despatch from Yonkers, N.Y., referring to Mr. J. Ernest Hodgson, a former local boy:—

"J. Ernest Hodgson of Fernbrook street is the recipient of a diploma from the correspondence department of Chicago University, awarding him high credit on a course in stationary engineering. The course is a long and comprehensive one, covering steam, gas, and electrical engineering and machine design.

Mr. Hodgson is a member of the National Association of Stationary Engineers, and is employed at present in the controller department of the Otis Elevator Company."

THE PLAINVILLE PIG IS A PETTISH PET

Circus Clown's Trained Pig Won in a Lottery

Those who visited Cole. Bros.' circus yesterday will remember the ludicrous skit of the clown and the pig. The particular merry Andrew who amused the people with the young porker, was Harry Clark, the leader of Cole Bros.' mirth artists. He is looked upon as one of the best clowns in the business. His act with the young pig would fail if he forgot the bottle of milk from which he supplies his pet with a few potations while in the ring. He secured it some time ago while the circus was at Plainville, Ohio.

While walking along one of the streets Clark accidentally came across a group of men where a number of little pigs were being raffled. From mere curiosity he bought a number and paid 15 cents for it. Luck was with him for his ticket won a pig. He picked it up and carried it back to the "lot." He treated it kindly, and discovered that it had a failing for milk. It would almost ask for a drink when it saw a supply near at hand. By kindness and milk, Clark trained his pig, and it was not long before the sucking bottle stunt was successfully presented in the arena, and proved a good one.

PETERBORO' WALKERS LEAVE ST. KITTS FOR THEIR HOMES; FINANCIAL OUTLOOK IS DARK

Examiner Special

St. Catharines, June 18.—Last night practically saw the end of the walking match here, so far as outside competitors are concerned. After walking for about an hour last night all but the local walkers withdrew from the contest, on account of the financial outlook, the attendance having been very poor.

The score at the end of the hour's walk was:

	miles.	laps.
Stacey	44	4
Harrison	42	13
Spencely	41	9
Guerin	40	12
Stevens	40	9
Lydiatt	39	3
Eves	38	12
Hedgeman	38	12
Brown	38	10

At 10.30 when times was called the only men remaining were Lydiatt, Brown and Eves, the score being:

	miles.	laps
Lydiatt	47	10
Eves	45	8
Brown	44	13

It is understood that Harrison, Stevens and Spencely have left for Peterborough.

Four Alleged Pickpockets Arrested At Circus Yesterday

Were Nipped by P.C. Newhall and P.C. Meharry at the Exhibition Grounds—Remanded for Week by Magistrate This Morning

TWO ARE AMERICANS

Peterborough seems a good city for pickpockets to fight shy of. Last year when Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus was here four of the light-fingered gentry were arrested, and yesterday another quartette of alleged pickpockets were apprehended at the Exhibition grounds by P. C.'s Newhall and Meharry. The four gave their names and addresses as follows:—Geo. Williams, 360 Yonge street, Toronto; Henry Hamilton, 32 Asburn street, Charlotte, N.Y.; Jas. Graney, 11 Hertsford street, Detroit, Mich., and Jos. Adams, 152 St. James' street, Toronto.

The four appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on the charge of stealing two dollars from the person of Jas. Gross, but there are other charges preferred against the quartette, who were defended by Mr. G. N. Gordon.

They did not elect or plead, and upon request of the Chief, were remanded for a week, although Mr. Gordon protested that the Chief should give his reasons for a remand. The Chief replied that it was reason enough that he was not ready to go on and that he could not get his witnesses here in shorter time than one week. One of the witnesses is a commercial traveller, who is said to have been relieved of $20 at the G.T.R. station.

P. C. Newhall had the four prisoners under suspicion as soon as they arrived in the city yesterday, and watched them unceasingly. Their actions at the G.T.R. station and at the circus grounds were suspicious so much so that in the afternoon they were arrested by P. C.'s Newhall and Meharry, Williams, Adams and Graney being arrested together and Hamilton soon after.

The four are all well dressed and present a respectable appearance. Graney gave his age as 23 years and his occupation a horseman. Williams said he was 24 years of age and his occupation was a showman. Hamilton informed the authorities that he was a telegraph operator, 38 years of age, and that he was married, his wife living in Newark, N.J. Adams, apparently the youngest of the four, says that he is a printer, residing in Toronto.

Immediately after the hearing this morning the four were taken to Roy's studio to be photographed, in order to trace their past records, if they happen to have any. Hamilton, Graney and Adams submitted to the operation in good grace, but Williams objected strenuously so that it was impossible to get a good photograph of him. He twisted his features and rolled out of range of the camera, until the task was given up as hopeless.

The officers then decided to use strategy and to try and "snap" Williams as he was being taken up to jail. Mr. Fred Roy waited in the lane near the post office with his camera ready until Williams, who was handcuffed to Hamilton, and in charge of P. C. Adams, came along. The attempt was only a partial success, as Williams seemed to be looking for some such attempt and kept his handkerchief over his face in such a manner as to mask his features.

It is said that about $400 was found on the prisoners when they were searched at the police station. The court room was crowded when they came up this morning and much interest is being displayed in the case.

TWO CHARGES OF ASSAULT ARE LAID AGAINST CHAS. HEALEY

With his head swathed in bandages, Robt. Maxwell appeared in police court this morning to press a charge of assault against a young man named Chas. Healey. The alleged assault took place on Water street near the corner of Hunter street, at 6 o'clock last evening and it is said that Healey ran out from the sidewalk and knocked Maxwell off his wheel as he was passing. Some bystanders seized Healey and held him until P. C. McGinty arrived and put him under arrest.

In addition to the charge arising out of last evening's affair there were two other charges against Healey; one of assaulting Robt. Maxwell on Oct. 22nd, 1905, and the other that he being a person on the black list of the liquor inspector, had unlawfully procured liquor.

Healey, whose interests were looked after by Mr. G. N. Gordon, pleaded not guilty and the three charges were enlarged until Saturday morning.

J. E. Barrington appeared on a charge of not procuring a tag for his dog. He informed the magistrate that he had sent the dog away this morning and the case was dismissed.

A milkman was fined $2 for obstructing traffic by allowing his rig to stand on Brock street for some hours.

PRESENTATION OF A CLOCK PLEASING EVENT IN DOURO

Mr. and Mrs. George Spence Receive a Pleasant Surprise

A pleasing feature of the Spence-Little wedding at Pine Grove, Douro, last evening was the presentation to the happy couple of a clock by several of their friends, who entered the house disguised as charivariers. The presentation was accompanied by the appended address:

Mr. and Mrs. George Spence,

It is not often that we are called upon in this section of the country, to congratulate the principals in so pleasing a ceremony as that in which you, our neighbours and dear friends have to-day been participating. We are sure that the sun which has shone so brightly on this, the most important occurrence in your lives, is a good omen of the happiness which awaits you both in your journey through life. That it may be so is the earnest hope of us all. Though our persons may be disguised, yet we assure you our hearts are not, and as a token of this we ask your acceptance of this clock. May it ever keep as true in its time as we are in our feelings towards you both.

LESSONS ON STREET MAKING

On page three of this issue will be found the third of a short series of articles on the principles of proper street building, reprinted from a manual on the subject, by Mr. A. W. Campbell, C.E., Provincial Deputy Minister of Public Works, and a high authority on street construction and maintenance. The Examiner does not necessarily have any special knowledge on the subject, but it can give publicity to the expression of the knowledge of a man whose word can be accepted with confidence as perfectly reliable and correct. The third lesson on the proper way to construct streets, to be found on page three of this issue, deals with broken stone streets. These are another name for macadam streets, which are at present the nearest approach to permanent pavement, within the resources of the city for general adoption on streets subjected to the heavier forms of traffic. The point to be observed by our city authorities in the article printed today, is the proper grading of broken stone in the matter of size. In practise in Peterborough this is ignored. It seems to be the practise to place on the street broken stone of all sizes, from that of a robin's egg to that of a cocoanut. This is contrary to the principles laid down by Mr. Campbell, and cannot contribute to the best results. The results are rather unsatisfactory results, providing streets that are disappointing for use for driving, thus defeating the sole object of constructing streets. the provision of a smooth, durable and comfortable driving surface.

Unfortunately there is not as much macadam streets laid down now as there was before the city came into possession of its gravel deposit—a good thing enough in the abstract, but its utility and value are entirely dependent upon the use made of it. However, the manner in which the gravel from the city pit is used has a doubly injurious effect. It prevents the construction of macadam streets, and is so used as to produce inferior gravel streets. If the chairman and members of the Board of Works would visit Gilmour street, which is under treatment now, they would see at a glance that the mixture of sand, soil, gravel, cobble stones, almost boulders, being placed cannot by any possible treatment it can receive be licked into the shape of a decent, durable and satisfactory street. The lesson on street-making printed yesterday insisted upon the necessity of screening gravel, so as to remove sand, soil, loam and clay, and rejecting the large stones, which should be crushed. These stones when crushed would be useful in making macadam streets. They seem to be of a good quality of hardness and in macadam would be in the right place. They are in the wrong place on a gravel street, a positive injury and stones of offence. It is to be remembered that the sole object of spending money upon our streets is to produce a good, smooth, permanently serviceable road surface for driving. All money spent that does not produce this result is wasted in proportion to the unsatisfactory, rough, uneven, rutty and mud-holed street surface that follows inefficient work, that is work done contrary to the principles laid down by Mr. Campbell, as defined in these articles. In passing it may be pointed that work seems to be largely done on our streets without regard to system and satisfactory supervision. How often do the members of the Board of Works and the City Engineer visit the scenes of street construction operations to see how the work is being done, to see whether the ratepayers are receiving proper value for the money spent, to see if the work is being done in a way to secure the only result desired, namely, a good permanent smooth and useful street for driving upon?

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Civil service reform at Ottawa has been taken out of the academic realm and placed in the realm of practical legislation. Hon. Sidney Fisher has introduced a bill of the most important character into Parliament. This is a civil service reform bill which provides for a revolutionary change in the appointment and status of civil servants. A summary shows that one of its chief features provides that the Inside Service shall be placed in charge of an independent commission, which shall have full control of examination, administration and promotion in the service. Though the Outside Service does not come under the provisions of the bill, it may be included by order-in-council. Entrance to the service shall be only after competitive examination, and in order of merit only. In fact, the principle is laid down that the order of merit shall be the order of appointment. The bill is founded upon a careful study of the various measures of legislation upon the subject in Canada, of the reports of three Royal Commissions which have investigated the service, and also of the procedure of Great Britain and the United States. The procedure will be based entirely upon that in use in England. The Commissioners will hold examinations at regular intervals, probably twice a year. The heads of each department will furnish the Commissioners with a list of vacancies or of probable vacancies or requirements during the ensuing period. The Commissioners will advertise the number of vacancies in each class, stating the qualifications required, and after the examinations will classify the candidates according to their merit. The order of merit will be the order of appointment.

OUR FIRST TEMPERANCE REFORMER.

(Montreal Herald.

Next Sunday at Quebec they will begin a three days' celebration to mark the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the arrival of Mgr. Laval, the first Bishop of Quebec. A magnificent monument has been erected on a site commanding the access to the upper part of the city, and in the very heart of the district where were enacted the stirring events that make the story of the old regime one of the most rare Canadian treasures. It is as a churchman, of course, that Bishop Laval is kept most faithfully in memory. He is entitled to the credit, however, of having been the first to take strong ground as an opponent of the liquor traffic, in at least one of its phases. It was Bishop Laval who strove hard and strove unceasingly to prevent the sale of liquor to the Indians. He may be said to be the author of that law which, down to our own day, seeks to protect the red man from the ravages of fire-water by prescribing severe punishment for whoever helps him to it. The good Bishop had not much luck with his crusade. Talon, the great Intendant, saw in the Indians only people with whose aid the French traders could make money out of the fur trade. If they wanted spirits to drink, and would pay for it with skins, he was for letting them have all they could buy. He doubtless believed that in the main the harm resulting would be to themselves, and he had none whatever of Laval's solicitude about that. Before Talon got the upper hand Governor de Tracy had taken his stand against the sale, but once he was out of sight Talon got the sovereign council to abolish the restriction. There were only two votes for its continuance, and Laval's was one. Curious that the prohibition should still be in the statutes of Canada, after two centuries and a half—still ignored in practice by those who want anything from the Indian.

ONE DAY'S WORK.

That was a pretty good day's work for Parliament on Tuesday, says the Ottawa Free Press:

1. Royal assent to the supply bill, releasing millions of dollars for the payment of salaries throughout the country.

2. The passage of a bill placing telegraph and telephone companies under the control of the Railway Commission.

3. The prohibition of the sale of tobacco to minors under 18 years.

4. The reduction of the drop-letter rate of postage to one cent.

Parliament can work when it wants to do so.

The amount of money represented by modern port development in the interests of shipping and commerce in Great Britain and other countries is 813 millions of dollars, distributed as follows: London, $186,700,000; Liverpool, $125,000,000; Manchester, $90,000,000; Glasgow, $40,000,000; Newcastle, $80,000,000; Bristol, $30,000,000; Cardiff, $30,000,000; Antwerp, $45,000,000; Hamburg, $100,000,000; Rotterdam, $33,000,000; Marseilles, $29,500,000; Havre, $24,000,000, and Montreal, $10,000,000. It will be noted that as is to be expected, from Great Britain's maritime supremacy, by far the larger part,—$598,000,000,—of this immense expenditure has been made to improve British ports and shipping facilities.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The present "smell" of dry weather affects more than the crops. The tourist season has begun and the season of forest fires is also coming in.

Col. Sam Hughes has given practical reasons for his advocacy of the Ross rifle. He recently made fifteen consecutive bull's eyes with it. And now the Toronto World has joined Col. Hughes in the demand for the production in Canada of a Canadian service rifle made by Canadian labour. And there will be other converts.

Postal reform continues under the Laurier administration. First the domestic letter rate was reduced to two cents; then came the two cent rate to Great Britain and the rest of the Empire; and now comes a restoration of the one cent drop-letter rate for cities and towns. Liberal administration of the Post Office, says the Ottawa Free Press, spells Progress with No Reduction in the Postal Surplus.

An act has received the royal assent at Ottawa which raises the "age of consent" of boys who wish to smoke cigarettes without coming under the ban of the law, from 16 to 18 years of age. No doubt this legislation was enacted with the very best intentions, but the obstacles to its enforcement are almost insuperable. From observation it would seem to be almost as easy to enforce a law forbidding hens to lay.

The announcement is made that the White Star line intends to take five of its large freight steamships out of the New York-Liverpool service. The assigned reason is that the railways are discriminating in favour of Montreal. This is very practical testimony to the superiority of Montreal as the western terminus of the transcontinental route. Railways are not moved by sentiment, but by hard-headed business considerations. If the port of Montreal, and the route it represents, did not present distinct advantages, the railways would not discriminate in its favour.

A TIP FOR FAT WOMEN

In a few years that excess fat of yours will become a bad habit—impossible to break. Better take time by the forelock and reduce now in a natural way, if you would keep intact the youthful symmetry of 20 through the trying years of middle age. Go to the druggist and ask him for 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex. Take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. Mix them at home if you wish, but see that the Marmola comes to you in a sealed package.

This mixture makes firm fleshed, well-formed women out of flabby, shapeless ones. It animates their stomachs to burn up the food fats instead of allowing them to gather at the waist line. Without disturbing the diet or requiring exercise to help it out, it dissolves the fat away just where needed the most. It has been known to melt away harmlessly as much as sixteen ounces a day without causing a single wrinkle.

THAT CATTLE EMBARGO.

British Ports Still Closed to Canadian Cattle.

London, June 18.—(C.A.P.)—It is stated that neither the Dominion nor Home Government is anxious to reopen British ports to Canadian cattle. Any chance wherein an element of uncertainty exists, it is contended, would be prejudicial to the interests of the Dominion farmer, while the view is also taken that as long as Canadian cattle are unprotected against disease from the United States, it would be unwise to re-open the ports. The British beef-eater must therefore be content to pay.

C.P.R. Conciliation Board.

Winnipeg, June 18.—It was decided at Tuesday's session of the conciliation board that it would sit in Moosejaw next Tuesday, as there are many witnesses there. Excellent progress was made.

Two blacksmiths gave testimony as to past and present conditions in shops, and President Bartlett of the Trades and Labor Council, gave his reasons for believing there was a combination among certain classes to destroy unionism.

He stated the Canadian Manufacturers' Association were fomenting trouble with this end in view. In C.P.R. shops there had been marked improvement in working conditions, and until recently officials had shown a desire to meet the men on any grievance which had come up.

There is no suggestion that the C.P.R. took any part in an effort to disrupt the unions. So far the cross-examination has taken the line that no hardship would result from changes in schedules proposed by the company.

Incendiary Burns Steamer.

St. John, N.B., June 18.—The steamer Aberdeen, one of the best tourist boats on the St. John river, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The fire is believed to be incendiary. Just a year ago the steamer Crystal Stream of the same line was burned, with a loss of five lives. The fire in that case was incendiary.

Thousand Left Behind.

New York, June 18.—More than a thousand persons holding steerage tickets for European ports were left this side by the steamer Potsdam when she sailed yesterday with her steerage accommodations filled to their capacity of 2,000.

The Foundation Principles Of Proper Street Building

How to Deal With Broken Stones or Macadamized Streets ---Quality of Stone and Correct Mode of Application ---Grading and Crowning Road-bed Dealt With

Number Three

To the chairman and members of the Board of Works, the City Engineer, the Street Commissioner, the Street Inspector and the Aldermen generally—read, mark, learn and inwardly digest—and outwardly apply. The following, the third of a series of articles, is reprinted from the Twelfth Annual Report of Highway Improvement in Ontario, of Mr. A. W. Campbell, C.E., Deputy Minister of Public Works. Mr. Campbell is one of the most capable road-building experts on the continent. He has made a study of the subject for years and is competent to speak with the voice of authority.

The article on proper street making reprinted below from Campbell's Manual deals with macadam or broken stone streets, the quality of stone to be used, and also deals with the important preparatory work of grading and crowning of street road-beds:

Broken Stone Streets

Streets of broken stone when properly made, are much more durable than gravel streets, and should be employed where traffic is heavy.

Stone should not be put on a street until the road-bed is prepared for it by grading, draining, crowning, straightening and rolling.

Rolling is more important in the construction of a stone street than of a gravel street. Municipalities which use broken stone will receive decided benefit from the use of a street roller, economizing the stone, making a more durable street, and one at once fit for travel.

If the street to be improved has an old gravel or stone roadbed which it is intended to preserve, cut away the shoulders of sod and soft material at the side, throwing this material outward with the grading machine, never drawing it to the middle.

The depth of broken stone used must be sufficient to consolidate into a compact layer. A sprinkling of stones over the surface is useless. It merely impedes travel on what might otherwise be a good dirt street. Six inches of broken stone is a standard thickness to be used in making a durable roadway, and it should be the aim of councils to thicken this covering as circumstances will permit. On loam a greater depth than six inches is desirable, but on a sand or stony subsoil, four inches is permissible as Loose broken stone contains about 50 per cent. voids, and will shrink nearly one-third when rolled. Thus a depth of 9 inches of broken stone will be reduced to 6 inches when thoroughly consolidated by rolling.

Quality of Stone

The quality of stone is not a matter of names, as varieties of the same kind, and even from the same quarry, may differ greatly in durability.

Stone not only wears out on the street, but decays more or less rapidly from atmospheric influences. Avoid stone which decays or "weathers" rapidly on exposure to the atmosphere. Certain qualities of limestone and sandstone, hard and tough to quarry, quickly turn to clay when exposed to the air.

Field stone makes a durable road metal, but is less uniform than stone taken from a quarry. In consequence, the softer stones wear away leaving a rough surface. All weak and weathered limestone and sandstone should be culled.

Limestone, granite and gneiss are very commonly used. Limestone is usually softer than others, but its binding qualities are excellent, enabling it to make a more waterproof road covering.

A heavy stone is usually better than one that is light. A stone that breaks into cubical shapes is desirable; while one that breaks into thin flat shapes is objectionable.

Judge of the qualities of a stone by breaking with a hammer, wearing it on a grindstone, crushing it in a blacksmith's vice, scratching with an iron nail, breaking small pieces with the fingers. No test is so conclusive as actual wear on the street, and old streets of the locality may be instructive.

Broken stone should be separated into grades according to size, the coarser stone to be placed in the bottom of the street roadbed and the finer at the top. This grading of stone is done by means of a rotary screen attached to the crusher. If the stone is placed in the road without being graded in this manner, the smaller stones wear away more rapidly than the larger, and a rough surface results. Large stones at the surface, moreover, are more apt to become loose, to roll under the horses' feet or the wheels.

There should be placed in the road-bed:

(a) In the bottom a layer of stones such as will pass through a 2 1-2 inch or 3 inch ring.

(b) On this a thin coating of stones such as will pass through a 1 inch or 1 1-2 inch ring.

(c) On this a sprinkling of screenings—that is, the dust and chips created in crushing.

Between courses (a) and (b) a light sprinkling of screening is desirable. Course (b) should be only a thin covering not exceeding two inches in depth. The main body of the road should be made of the grade (a).

The earth sub-grade, or foundation, and each layer of stone and gravel as applied is to be thoroughly rolled, the metal to be thoroughly wetted just before rolling if practicable or the rolling to be carried on after a rain. It is desirable that the screenings be flushed down into the interstices of the stone to assist in forming a bond.

Street intersections, and private entrances are to be graded and gravelled to such a width as will not allow vehicles to cut and roughen the earth grade. Provision is to be made by the use of tile or otherwise, that such intersection SHALL NOT INTERRUPT SURFACE DRAINAGE.

Grading

Good grading is the basis of permanent roadwork. Good grading implies at least GOOD SURFACE DRAINAGE. Grading is the cheapest part of streetmaking, yet it very often is badly done or neglected altogether.

Gravel and broken stone are largely wasted when the streets are not graded and crowned before the metal is placed on them. Before gravel or broken stone is put on the road, a good earth road should first be made by using a grading machine. The water-tables should be given regular slopes to natural outlets crossing the street.

Crown and raise the roadway, cut down the knolls, fill the hollows, conform the slopes so as to DRAIN to natural watercourses, crown the road with a good fall from centre to side. When this is done, gravelling and stoning will be a matter of permanent benefit.

Grade so that the longitudinal slopes conform to the natural flow of the surface water. Study the outlets for drainage, and grade to them.

Depressions should not be left either on the roadway of in the open drains, in which water will stand. DRAINS FROM WHICH THE WATER DOES NOT FLOW AWAY ARE MERELY ELONGATED PONDS TO HOLD WATER, PERMITTING IT TO SOAK INTO AND SOFTEN THE ROADBED. THEY MAKE MUD UNDERNEATH THE ROAD, WHERE IT DOES MORE HARM THAN ON THE SURFACE; the dry crust is easily cut through. See that the road is so graded that there is a CONSTANT FALL along all OPEN DRAINS, or water-tables to NATURAL OUTLETS.

Old streets with a good bed of gravel or stone, are usually too wide and too flat in the centre, with square shoulders at the sides. These shoulders are of soft material, earth, dust, sod, which should be cut off and TURNED OUTWARD, NEVER BROUGHT TO THE MIDDLE to cover the hardened roadbed. If the roadway is too wide, as many old streets are, the grading machine will do all the work, carrying the shoulders outward and shaping the water-tables. When this is done, if the roadbed is sufficiently high, it should be restored to shape and crowned by a new covering of metal. If not high enough, it should be plowed or picked up, then graded with the machine, thoroughly rolled to make a solid foundation and new material spread on top to the desired depth.

Crowning the Roads

Streets must be crowned or rounded with the highest point at the middle, to turn water to the side drains. A common defect of street roadbeds is that they are too wide and too flat. Narrow streets, sharply crowned, will remain in good condition with a minimum outlay for maintenance.

A street always settles rapidly for the first year after construction; and this settlement continues in a less degree for all time. A street when first built should be too high in the centre. If not, in a year's time it will be too low to properly shed the water; and in three years, the street will require re-construction. It will be flat and cut into a series of ruts.

Streets are now usually graded with road machines, and are arched from the bottom of the open drain to the centre of the street. A width of twenty-four feet between the bottom of the drains with the central eight feet metalled is ample in most cases. When made of this width the centre of the street should be two feet higher than the bottom of the ditch. This gives a rise of two inches to the foot from the bottom of the drain to the top of the street.

The travelled surface of the roadway should have an average crown of at least one inch to the foot. The edges should drop off more sharply to the side drains.

Old stone and gravel streets when being reconstructed should be given a good crown. In doing this, DO NOT DRAW IN THE SOFT MATERIAL, SOD AND EARTH, from the shoulders. These shoulders should be cut off and TURNED OUTWARD.

Having cut off the shoulders, renew the crown by putting on new material. If in low places this cannot be done, knolls on each side can often be cut off and the old stony material used in the low places.

If the old street has become too flat, and the grading of knolls does not offer a solution, it may be necessary to loosen up the old material with a pick plow, grade it to the middle, and then place new material.

Rebuilding old streets if they have become vry flat is often more difficult than making new ones. To renew the crown by drawing soft material from the sides, placing it on the old and hard roadbed, then over this spreading new metal, is very objectionable. The hard surface of the old road will not let water drain through it. The earth between the old and the new metal in the first wet weather is converted into mud and muck. The new metal is forced through it to surface.

Streets are occasionally made with a wide flat grade; with a gravel or stone track on one side, and a clay track on the other. Such streets are neither good in theory nor in practise. The earth track becomes out up and rough. Having insufficient crown, surface drainage becomes impeded, the whole street soon becomes flat, rutted, shapeless and waterlogged. It is not a type of road that will last.

CIRCUS PLEASED THE PEOPLE

Cole Bros. Big Shows Drew Large Crowds Here Yesterday

Cole Bros. World Toured Circus has come and gone, leaving behind a host of friends in Peterborough and the vicinity of this city. Two big crowds saw the performance at the exhibition grounds yesterday and were apparently thoroughly satisfied with the show. There are no big nerve racking acts, but the circus carries a lot of clever people and there is something doing all the time. The menagerie is large and contains a splendid collection of rare animals, including some fine tigers and lions.

"It's an old-time show," was the general opinion at the close of the evening bill. And it was, even to the circus peanuts, the circus lemonade, and the circus band. Everybody was happy, but the happiest, probably, was the owner.

The Cole horses are better than good, and there's a drove. The feature examples of equestrianship are Mike Rooney's somersault from horse to horse and some startling tumbling over four moving horses by Artoyse and Boxiene. Rooney is both an old time favourite and a present day one. Then, too, there's a riding collie. Springboard somersaults send George Whitly and others flying into space over horses, men, camels, and other obstacles, while Harry Clark and other burlesquers do the laugh-making.

The stage sensations include the Stirk troupe of bicycle riders; Castello and Jennie Burpho, on swinging ladders; and Minerva, "the iron-jawed woman," the four flying Donovas; Jacobs and Sardell, barrel jumpers, and the Franks, double trapeze performers.

The chariot races make the people gasp and the clowns make them hold their sides, extremes of sensation. The charioteers don't dash their brains out against the tent poles, and the clowns are only men, but the drivers are daring and the comedians funny. At least three of the latter have assistants, one a duck, and the other a pig, a little one, and a bull dog that bunts a big ball far up into the tiers of spectators.

DOMINION DAY EXCURSIONS

Washout On Park Street Ordered To Be Reported

Regular Session of the North Monaghan Council Transact Business—To Repair the Culvert at McClure's

JUDGEMENT FOR COUNTY

The Council met in May's School House on Monday, the 15th inst., at 7.30 p.m. All the members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, enclosing judgment of the County Judge in the action of Reynolds vs. Cavan and Monaghan townships. This judgment allows damages to the extent of $60 to the plaintiff. This was received and referred to the reeve.

Accounts were presented as follows:

R. Colin, repairs to culverts, in road div. No. 2, $20.50.

R. Colin, snow shovelling, account as referred from last meeting, $24.

On motion of Messrs. Foster and May, these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Mr. Howden for the committee appointed to look into the matter of repairing the washout on Park street, reported that there was a washout at intervals extending about 70 feet, and that as the roadway was narrow at this place the township in time would require to widen it out and he advocated building a cement concrete wall to protect the roadway with filling of earth or stone, so as to have when completed a permanent work. A portion of which might be done each year for several years.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Forster, that Mr. Dobbin be authorized to repair the washout on Park street.

It was moved in amendment by Mr. May and Mr. Dobbin, that the Commissioner of Road Div. No. 4, is hereby authorized to repair the washout on Park street by cribbing with cedar and filling with earth or stone.

The question being submitted Mr. Howden asked for the yeas and nays, which on being called for by the Reeve, resulted as follows:

For the amendment—

Yeas—Messrs. May, Dobbin and Brown.

For the original motion—

Yeas—Messrs. Howden and Forster.

Nays—Messrs. May, Dobbin and Brown.

The amendment was then declared carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Forster, that the whole council be a committee to attend the County Council in session in Peterborough for the purpose of obtaining a grant to roads in North Monaghan.—Carried.

Mr. Forster for the committee appointed to look into the matter of repairing the culvert at McClure's Crossway, reported having looked over the place and after having Mr Carver's consent to straighten out the creek through his property to meet the culvert directly at the upper side it was deemed advisable to put in a new cedar culvert which by using such old material as might be found available would cost about $60 This would also straighten out the road and give an outlet to all water that might accumulate at this point. The committee therefore recommended that the Commissioner of Road Div. No. 1 be authorized to repair the culvert and road at this point according to the terms of this report.

On motion of Messrs. Forster and May, this report was received and adopted.

By-law No. 602, a bylaw to regulate and license refreshment booths and places of entertainment in the township was then introduced and finally passed.

Council then adjourned until called by the reeve.

FARMER AND HIS WIFE PRAISE ZAM-BUK

As a family balm and salve, Zam Buk is unequalled, and should be on every Canadian farm. Mrs. C. E. Tibbs, of Oak Vale Farm, Winnipeg Beach, writes: "We have found Zam Buk a wonderful healer. I used it for a very bad burn on my hand, and by the next day the pain had gone and the wound well on the way to healing. My husband also used Zam Buk for a nasty flesh wound on his arm, which it healed. In several ways we have found Zam-Buk so healing and soothing that we would not like to be without it in the house. Before we could get Zam-Buk in Canada we used to write to England for it, we thought so much about it."

This great skin healer is sold by all druggists and stores at 50 cents a box.

Former Peterborough Lady Beats Out Bucket Shop

Miss Rose A. Clarke Wins Suit Brought by Cummings & Co. in Connection With A Stock Deal

THE JUDGMENT GIVEN OUT

"Without considering the evidence of the commission in this case, judging it solely on the evidence given by Cummings himself, I am satisfied that Cummings' business is what is known as a bucket shop business, pure and simple." The foregoing was part of Mr. Justice Latchford's judgment in the suit of Messrs. M. J. Cummings & Company against Miss Rose A. Clarke, a former well-known resident of Peterborough, in which the plaintiff asked for $600 from the defendant in connection with a transaction in one hundred shares of Louisville & Nashville stock, against which the defendant brought a counter claim for $1,500. His Lordship yesterday afternoon dismissed the plaintiff's claim with costs, and allowed Miss Clarke's counter claim with costs.

Yesterday's proceedings were occupied in the argument of Mr. Reginald Eyre on behalf of the Cummings Company and Mr. Chas. Millar for Miss Clarke. Mr. Millar described the case as one of "shrewd Yankee scheming, fraud and falsehood."

The evidence of the special commission that was sent to investigate the case was of a sensational nature. According to it, several American companies in Cincinnati had established a so called Board of Trade in Superior, Wisconsin, and had employed men on salaries sometimes of fifty and sixty dollars a month to frequent the place and to buy and sell certain stocks. The place was so operated that it paid running expenses. The market prices of certain lines of stock were apparently arranged to suit the syndicate, and these prices were communicated all over the country.

Stock not Purchased

His Lordship's judgment was as follows: "Whether Miss Clarke ordered the stock from Cummings, as Cummings claims, or whether she merely asked for a quotation, is, I think, immaterial. It is evident that Miss Clarke ratified the order later, as it was represented to have been executed by Cummings. The representation he made was, I find, that he had carried out the order and bought the stock. His statement to that effect was untrue, and he knew it to be so. On the other hand, Miss Clarke believed it, and assumed he had purchased the stock. It must be apparent to anyone who has heard the evidence, as it is apparent to me, that Cummings was not carrying on a regular broker's business and dealing in stocks for delivery. His books, with one or two exceptions, show that he dealt merely in differences.

"Reviewing the evidence of the commission, it reveals the peculiar means taken by Cummings and his associates to take advantage of many people like Miss Clarke and some of the witnesses who had a disposition to indulge in stock speculation. It is evident to me that the Super or Board of Trade was established to give colour to the transactions in which these men have been engaged. The plaintiff knew that actual delivery of the stock was not contemplated, and that Miss Clarke was not aware of this fact. Her instructions to the plaintiff, on his own evidence, were to buy 100 shares of the stock in question. I find that he did not buy. There was never any purchase intended to be made by him. The transaction, so far as he was concerned, was a mere gamble, to his knowledge, but not to that of the defendant."

More About Mauretania's Time In Crossing Ocean

"Informant" Replies to "Old Salt"—Enclosed Clipping Giving Her Time.

WANTS QUESTION ANSWERED

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—If my learned friend, "Old Salt," would keep his sarcastic remarks to himself, and answer the questions as they were asked, he would be much nearer to getting an interview about facts in the marine world. As regards the time I stated it took the "Mauretania" to make the trip, if you will kindly insert the clipping I enclose from the Toronto Sunday World of June 7, perhaps "Old Salt" will know a little more than he professes:

"The Cunard liner, "Mauretania," broke the record over the long course from Queenstown to New York last week, covering the distance in four days and fifteen seconds, at an average speed of 24 88 knots.

The "Mauretania's" record is 77 minutes better than the high record held by her sister ship, the "Lusitania." Her log showed that she made 635 knots on Sunday, which is the best day's record ever made by a trans-Atlantic steamship.

The record of the "Mauretania" is considered most remarkable in view of the fact that she covered the course with only three of her four propellers in operation. The "Mauretania's" log shows that she covered 2,890 knots. The wireless report received from the "Mauretania" states that the Cunarder passed Daunt's Rock at 4 35 a.m. on May 28, and up to noon of that day covered 202 knots. The log further shows that the "Mauretania" covered up to noon of May 29, 621 knots; up to noon of May 30, 620 knots; up to noon of May 31 635 knots; to noon June 1, 605 knots, and from that time until she passed Sandy Hook light vessels, 207 knots, making a total of 2,890 knots.

The "Lusitania's" record of four days, 20 hours, 22 minutes, was made over a course of 2,889 miles."

INDIAN ARRESTED AT LINDSAY THOUGHT HE WAS IN PETERBORO

"Is this Lindsay? Why, I thought I was in Peterborough."

So said John Shippegan, an Indian, of Georgian Bay, in Police Court today. The aborigine was picked up last evening by Constable Shortt. He had come in on the evening train, and according to his statement, thinking he was at Peterborough, jumped off. The Indian was just about the most surprised man in the Province when he found where he was.

His story, as told to Magistrate Jackson, was, that getting out of work at Byng Inlet, he took a notion to go down to Peterborough in search of work.

"What tribe do you belong to?" querried the court.

"Oh, the Chippewas, I guess."

"Where do you live?"

"I don't live nowhere exactly, just hang around the Georgian Bay."

"You were drunk and incapable last night. Do you often get that way?"

"Not very often; sometimes I do," replied Mr. Shippegan.

The Indian couldn't read, but he understood English well enough to understand the magistrate when he read him a portion of the Act concerning Indians who took too much of the stuff that refuses to freeze.

"You were making for Peterborough. Is that where you were going?" asked his Worship.

"Maybe I was, maybe I wasn't. I dunno," he said dubiously.

"That must have been prime stuff you got," continued the court.

Shippegan got the firewater from a man at Byng Inlet—three bottles of it—and since Monday night had been hitting the high places only.

Two dollars and forty-six cents costs was what he paid into the treasury this morning to allow him to proceed to Peterborough.

CIRCUS PARAPHERNALIA PACKED AWAY IN QUICKSTEP TIME

System is the simple science of circus management. No shop could possibly perform its work with greater expedition, and whether it is putting up or pulling down the tents each man has his particular duty to attend to at a certain time, and it is not often that he fails. Last night the first train left the G. T. R. station after 12 o'clock. In Collingwood last Saturday night the word was passed around to the foremen that the circus had to be out of the town before midnight. It was said that if any work was done after that hour it would be a violation of the Lord's Day Act. Within twenty-eight minutes after the band had played God Save the King the canvas was all down, rolled and packed away and the wagons on the flat cars. There was no violation of the act.

So perfectly is the work mapped out for the men that there is seldom if ever, an article left behind in any town. The circus leaves merely the peanut shells and the sawdust of the rings, everything else is carried away.

A QUESTION WITH ONLY ONE ANSWER

The problem which confronts the ladies of Peterborough and suburbs now that the sweet summer days have come is, where can I have my shirt-waists, suits, blouses, evening coats, fancy dresses, etc., made up in the latest and most up-to-date style, and the answer to this question is, go straight to "The New York Ladies' Tailoring," 658 George street. See for yourself the style, price and finish to their garments. Don't forget, it's your custom we want, not the price. Open evenings until eight o'clock. 'Phone 624. LUNGE ARE SAID TO BE PLENTIFUL

Reports That Even in Little Lake They Are Numerous

With the fishing season now opened there have been a number of fair catches already recorded. On Tuesday there were a large number of canoeists out on the lake, and during the day it was reported that many fish had been hooked. The favourite place seemed to be from the C.P.R. bridge out into the lake.

Mr. Robt. Howland, as usual, was among the first of the successful fishermen, getting two nice lunge on Tuesday morning. He caught the fish in the river, above the Cereal. Yesterday there were but few landed, although there were the usual enthusiasts out with the hook.

Grants Asked From County Council To Assist Fall Fairs

Three Deputations Yesterday and One To-day—Peterborough Industrial Want Increased Grant

WARDEN THOMPSON ABSENT

On resuming business at the County Council yesterday afternoon three deputations waited on the councillors. One from the Lakefield Agricultural Society, the spokesman being Mr. Duff, asked for financial aid for their annual autumn agricultural exhibition, and a similar request came from the East Peterborough Fair. Mr. Edward Hawthorne made the address. Both the requests were referred to the Finance Committee.

There was also a deputation from North Douro, asking aid for the Young's Point road. This was left in the hands of the Roads and Bridges Committee. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Thursday Morning

Warden Thompson was called to his home in Havelock last night, and this morning Councillor Fife, Reeve of Otonabee, occupied the chair.

The session opened with the council in committee on Finance, after which a deputation from the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, including Messrs. R. H. Leary, (president), Jas. R. Bell, J. J. Turner, Ald. G. A. Gillespie, and Secretary F. J. A. Hall, asking for financial assistance to the extent of $250 for the autumn fair.

Mr. Leary asked that the grant, which the council had been giving annually, be increased. Two years ago when the present officers took hold of the exhibition they had to face a deficit of $134. They had worked hard, and last year, after paying up all their liabilities and after meeting a rainy day they had $94 to the good. Financial assistance was needed to make the show a success. It assisted the farmers to produce better stock by inviting competition, and the money always went back to the farmers. He thought West Peterborough Exhibition should have more assistance than East Peterborough because they paid prizes of three times the value as East Peterborough.

Messrs. J. J. Turner, G. A. Gillespie and Jas. R. Bell also referred to the need of financial assistance. Speaking along the same lines as the president, they pointed out that the exhibition last year showed signs of the resuscitation of a good fair, and a little more aid was needed. They were well satisfied with what the County Council had done last year, and the directors had used the money to the best possible advantage. Rivalry in growing farm produce and in raising farm stock was a good idea. The question was referred to the Finance Committee.

EXPLANATORY

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As considerable exaggerated gossip is being circulated concerning the trouble arising from the fact that a quantity of wheat belonging to the Central Milling Company, was, at different times during the past month, taken from a car which had been standing on the siding near their mill, and was sold to two respectable south end residents, one of whom, Mr. D Moher, was suspected of having known that the wheat was stolen and in consequence of which was brought up in court. A few words of explanation might throw some light on the matter. Although a small fine was imposed on the latter, yet considerable doubt exists, in the minds of many as to whether he was guilty or not. Those who know Mr. Moher best entirely repudiate the idea of guilty knowledge, notwithstanding the fact that some damaging circumstantial evidence was brought forward, but we must remember it was only circumstantial—there were no facts produced, and there were also extenuating circumstances which should not be lost sight of.

As near as I can understand the facts of the case, are about as follows: On or about the 20th of May, the seal on one of the wheat cars was found to have been broken. On being weighed, the car was 41 bushels short. Suspicions were immediately fastened on those two citizens, who had, both, a short time previous, delivered wheat at the mill. Those persons, on being interviewed, acknowledged having bought the wheat from five boys who said they got it at the spur line and that it was what is known as sweepings. Those sweepings, they said, are usually dirty, but when taken from the linings of the car they sometimes got as much as a bushel and a half of clean wheat, from one car and that they had swept as many as ten or twelve cars in one day. In bringing this wheat, the evidence went to show, that each boy brought about a bushel at each trip. In selling to the livery men and others during the past winter, they had often sold more than that amount at one time, and not only boys but also respectable men have taken a hand in this car-sweeping business. So that we cannot be very much surprised that an unsuspicious person could be duped into believing that it was what they represented it to be. He had no reason to conclude they were lying. He had on one occasion last winter bought a small quantity of car sweepings from the same boys. This however, was the extent of his personal experience in this kind of business. He had, however, when engaged in the dredge near the spur line, during the past two summers, seen eight or ten bags of sweepings taken from there in one load.

To this we may add that those persons who bought and sold this stolen wheat made no effort to cover their tracks. They acted as any honest people would act in the ordinary routine of business.

When they got a few bushels together they hired a carter, not at an unseasonable or suspicious hour, but in broad day light, and had it taken to the elevator and sold there. How they know or even suspected it was stolen one would have thought it not a difficult matter for either of them, but especially the one who was up in court, and who has any number of friends in the farming community, to have procured a farmer's outfit and have sold his load as farmer's wheat. Again, Mr. Moher's action neither before nor after the trial seemed to indicate that the man carried with him a guilty conscience. Until the eve of the trial we find him at his usual employment and the day after we find him there again. Proving that a man with a clear conscience does not fear the search light of public opinion.

Again, if they knew it was stolen, they must have known it was stolen from the Central Milling Company. If they knew it was stolen from said company and then took it back to them for sale, they were fitter subjects for a lunatic asylum than for a prison.

And now, to "cap the climax" when all has been settled we find that not only the wheat, but also the bags in which it was taken to market, belonged to the Central Milling Company. Can we be surprised that Mr. Moher was deceived in regard to their ownership, when those men at the mill who are handling those bags every day did not recognize them. The company have, however, one satisfaction, if they had to pay a second time for their wheat, they have the consolation of having their bags returned free of charge.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
"NEIGHBOUR."

A DOLLAR GOAT IS NOT A BARGAIN

Boy Bought Him to Hitch to Cart but He Refused

A boy living in the South End purchased a goat a week ago for a dollar. He intended to harness him to a small cart, and to drive, but the "Billy," for it is of the "William" variety, refused to enter upon friendly terms with his new companion. It was so cross that the boy could only go near him at meal time. It even used its horns with uplifting effect, and like Buster Brown, the lad got the worst of it. His efforts have since proved more successful, but he has not yet established the warmest relations with the whiskered one.

A USEFUL, INTERESTING ANAESTHETIC

Apparently little has been said or heard in Canada about one of the safest and most useful, as well as simple anaesthetic known, viz., Ethyl Chloride or Chlore Ethyle.

It is a combination of Hydrochloric acid and Ethyl, and is a pleasant smelling preparation.

It is put up for sale in glass tubes, hermetically sealed, in a liquid form but is a gas at the ordinary temperature of the air or above 12 degrees centigrade.

It will not freeze at a temperature of 30 degrees zero.

Ethyl Chloride is used both for local and general anaesthesia, which means that either, any individual part of the anatomy can be rendered insensible to pain (without hypodermic injection, which is called local anaesthesia, or by inhaling into the system by means of a suitable inhaler, the whole body is anaesthetized or insensible.

The outlet of the tubes for local application is a fine jet or orifice through which the anaesthetic is ejected by capillary force, and a spray is directed on the part affected, producing a pleasant sensation of coldness and relief, and ending in numbness or freedom from pain. It is most valuable in dentistry and for relieving the pains of sciatica, neuralgia, etc.

To any office or indoor worker liable to headaches and heated brain this is a most valuable and pleasant compound, as when sprayed on the forehead or temples a pleasant coldness and cessation of pain is the result.

For general anaesthesia it is the most harmless anaesthetic yet discovered, but, of course, for this purposes is only used by medical men in their practice and with suitable appliances.

The great advantages of Ethyl Chloride are its safety and the freedom of the patient from after effects, sickness, etc., also the freedom from heart interference. The patient recovers as quickly as he or she succumbs to its influence. The convenience is such that a doctor can carry apparatus and anaesthetic for twenty or thirty operations in his pockets.

Valuable mixtures can also be made with the Ethl Chloride, greatly enhancing its value. The peculiar technicalities connected with the manufacture and handling of this drug have no doubt kept it in the background here. The popularity in England and Germany, where thousand of successful operations take place every day, testify as to its efficiency.

An up-to-date plant for the manufacture of this drug would cost about $2,500 or $3,000, capable of supplying Canada and the United States, and the writer, who possesses full knowledge of the manufacture, will be pleased to negotiate with anyone with capital, who may be interested.

OBITUARY.

WM. COULTHARD

Mr. A. E. Coulthard, of the Colonial Weaving Company, has received word of the death of his father, Mr Walter Coulthard. An Oshawa despatch says:

Oshawa, June 17.—After an illness extending over a period of about five years, Mr. Walter Coulthard, a prominent citizen and retired manufacturer of this town, expired at his home here last night in his 80th year. Mr. Coulthard was born in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, and came to this country with his parents when quite young, and settled at Manila, in the northern part of this county. He moved to Oshawa in 1875 and entered the manufacturing business, first with the Masson Manufacturing Company. He later founded the Coulthard & Scott Company, Limited, a firm widely and favourably known through Canada as manufacturers of agricultural implements. This firm did a successful business for many years, and finally, about six years ago, sold out to the Frost & Wood Company of Smith Falls, who, after continuing the business here for a couple of years, amalgamated it with their own plant. Mr. Coulthard always took a keen interest in politics, being a strong Conservative. He was also a great worker for the benefit of the town, and served in nearly all positions of honour on the town council, being reeve for a period of sixteen years. He also served many terms on the County Council, and was elected warden in 1899. He leaves a family of six daughters and three sons, all of whom, with the exception of one daughter, are married. The sons and sons-in-law are all prominent business men in the different towns and cities in which they reside. The surviving members of the family are Mrs. Ed. Armstrong of Whitby, Mrs. Geo. Thompson of Cobourg, Mrs. Geo. A. Somerville of Toronto, Mrs. C. W. Scott of Toronto, Mrs. D. T. Hepburn of Wingham, and Miss Coulthard at home; Mr. A. E. Coulthard of Peterborough, Mr. W. W. Coulthard of Barrie and Mr. Arthur Coulthard of Oshawa.

The funeral will take place on Friday.

WOULD REWARD THE DESERVING

Hon. Sydney Fisher's Bill For Civil Service Reform.

ENGLISH SYSTEM ADOPTED

Commission of Two to Manage Appointments—Candidates Must Pass Competitive Examinations — Favoritism Altogether Eliminated—New Wage Classification—To Include All Branches.

Ottawa, June 18.—Reform of the civil service with competitive examinations and merit to count, and with two commissioners to manage and a re-classifications of grades—these are the principal features in the Government's policy submitted to the House yesterday.

The most important innovation is the establishment of an independent civil service commission of two members, who will have the status and salaries of deputy ministers. They will control the entrance examinations, and will give such certificates as may be necessary in regard to promotions and salary increases. The commission will have power to make regulations and control examinations and the arrangements for carrying out their work.

Entrance into the civil service, which is now left "entirely to the judgment of the nominating power," will be by open competitive examinations. Under this present system, candidates pass qualifying examinations, but are not necessarily appointed. Hereafter the appointment is to be made after competitive examinations, according to merit, by the commission.

The procedure is to be according to the British system; examinations will be held as often as necessary, say, twice a year. The heads of departments will notify the commission as to vacancies, etc., and the commission will advertise, stating the offices which are to be competed for. The commission will, while making appointments generally by merit, be given latitude in the case of candidates who excel in one particular branch, and who may therefore be appointed to offices for which they are specially qualified. The probation period will be six months. In that time a deputy minister may reject a new appointee, giving his reasons. The commission may, when advisable, give the probationer another appointment.

All departmental services at Ottawa are to be included in the inside service and brought under the Civil Service Act. Any outside service may be brought in from time to time by order-in-council, but otherwise they remain under the old law.

The classification of the service is to be made in three sections, the first including those qualified for administrative, executive and technical work; the second a class preparatory [illegible] and the third will include those doing routine work under direct supervision. Those in the third class may enter the second only by competitive examination, and on an equal footing with outsiders.

In the first class the salaries are to be from $2,100 to $2,800 and from $2,800 to $4,000. In the second class the salaries will be from $800 to $1,600, and from $1,600 to $2,100. In the third class the salaries will be from $500 to $800, and from $800 to $1,200. There will be a statutory increase of $6 a year for those deserving it, and this may be doubled on certificate of merit from the commission.

The House made excellent progress with Government bills.

In committee the Chinese immigration act amendment was discussed. It provides that the head tax may be paid at the point of destination, instead of the point of entry. Mr. Bergeron thought this would help Chinamen to evade the tax.

R. G. MacPherson said the object was the other provinces might share in the head tax. He opposed the change.

Several amendments were assented to. One imposes a penalty on persons who aid or abet an infraction of the exclusion act.

The bill was left over to consider a suggestion that the word "students" be more adequately defined.

On a bill to encourage the construction of dry docks, Mr. Ames raised the question whether a municipality-owned dry dock would be aided.

Mr. Fielding said not, but, even if he was not so enamored of public ownership as some people, if there was any reason to suppose that a municipality would undertake the construction of a dry dock, there would be no objection to granting Federal aid. Leighton McCarthy, however, did not think that municipalities should be encouraged to enter into competition with private enterprise.

Mr. Monk urged the construction of a dry dock at Montreal instead of spending money on useless public works, for political purposes. Such a dock should be owned by the Government.

The bill was passed.

The bill respecting Government guaranteed bonds of Grand Trunk Pacific was next put through. Mr. Fielding explained that the bill dealt with the method of handling securities of the company. If the company find it inadvisable to sell the bonds, it may pledge them to any bank.

Forest Fires in Yukon.

Dawson, June 18.—Forest fires are raging near Minto. Fifteen miles of Canadian telegraph wires have been already devoured, and for five miles along Lebarge. Hundreds of miles of valuable timber have been destroyed.

Admits Perjury.

Vancouver, June 18.—The woman Bond, who was chief witness against George A. Walkem, convicted of counselling abortion, has written from California that she gave perjured evidence.

STRIKERS CAUSE RIOT.

Foreigners In Jail, While One Man Is Badly Injured.

Midland, June 18.—The foreigners employed by the Metcalf Co., contractors for the new G.T.P. elevator here, to the number of about 250, went on strike yesterday, demanding $2 per day. A few of the strikers created a riot by threatening, assaulting and intimidating the other men who remained on the work.

An information for a riot was laid before Police Magistrate Jeffrey, and the police, assisted by many citizens, went out to the works and succeeded in arresting six of the rioters, who are now confined in jail.

The Italians seem to have lost their heads and chased a workman named Smith with a rope and crowbar, because he would not stop work. Others used clubs and gas-pipe to try and frighten the workmen who remained.

Many men received a beating, but only one was badly hurt and is in the hospital.

JUDGE ORDERS ARREST.

Climax to Divorce Suit In Which Brighton Folks Are Interested.

Rochester, N.Y., June 18.—A series of dramatic incidents climaxed the divorce suit of Flossie Shewman of Brighton, Ont., in the Equity Court yesterday afternoon.

Archibald Shewman was the defendant, Mrs. Jennie Deforest, with whom Shewman roomed, was exonerated by the court for alleged improprieties with Shewman. Pearl Fosdick was declared innocent of one accusation, while Robert Allard of Lovett was arrested at the order of Judge Sawyer on the charge of wilful perjury.

The Shewmans were married at Brighton in 1902. Mrs. Shewman's parents are said to be well-to-do.

Judge Sawyer directed that Mrs. Shewman should be given a decree of absolute divorce on the grounds that he had relations with the Fosdick woman in Rochester in August last.

Future of Queen's College.

Kingston, June 18.—When asked yesterday concerning the outlook for Queen's College, since the Presbyterian Assembly refused to change present relations between the church and the university, Principal Gordon said that the question yet to be answered is: "Whether a growing university like Queen's can be adequately maintained on the revenue contributed solely by the church, great though that church may be."

The desire of the assembly was that the efforts to raise the endowment fund should be prosecuted vigorously along present lines.

End of Hodgins' Charges.

Ottawa, June 18.—The inquiry into the Hodgins' charges failed to go on yesterday morning. The final decision as to the course to be pursued, however, has been deferred till to-day.

The first incident of the brief morning sitting was the announcement of Frank Hodgins, K.C., of his retirement from the case. He said that he had decided that it was not necessary for him to re-examine the major.

Three Black Hand Artists Shot.

New Orleans, La., June 18.—Following a series of crimes attributed to so-called Black Hand societies in the Italian quarter of New Orleans, one of the worst tragedies yet connected with that section took place yesterday, when three Italians were shot to death as a result of an attempt to extort money from Pietro Gioacona, a wealthy Italian wine merchant.

Summoned; Ends His Life.

Chatham, June 18.—Alex. Grover, aged 65, an engineer, shot and killed himself yesterday.

He had suffered from rheumatism and was despondent. Monday he quarreled with a neighbor over a cow's trespassing and had been summoned to appear in court on a charge of assault.

CHEERED FOR ROOSEVELT.

Unprecedented Scene at Chicago Convention Yesterday.

Chicago, June 18.—The second day of the Republican national convention has brought the long-expected "Roosevelt yell," a whirlwind of enthusiasm, which raged within the vast amphitheatre of the Colliseum for full 40 minutes yesterday, and for a time presented to the timid the spectre of a Roosevelt stampede.

This demonstration was decidedly the feature of a day otherwise notable for a stirring speech from the permanent chairman of the convention, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, for much practical procedure in placing the convention on a smooth running basis, and for the final defeat of the plan to reduce the representation of the Southern States at future national conventions.

Probably the most important act of the day, and the one having greatest significance on the final result of the convention, was the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials, seating the Taft delegations practically in toto. If there had been any lingering doubt of the Taft strength it disappeared before this decisive action, which in effect placed upwards of 700 delegates in the Taft column.

WEDS GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER.

Miss Tweedie of St. John Runs Off With Coachman.

St. John, N.B., June 18.—Miss Tweedie, daughter of Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, eloped yesterday with her father's former coachman, David McEwan, a Scotch immigrant.

They were married in the afternoon at St. Stephen and left on the evening train for Montreal, en route for the old country.

The Governor and Mrs. Tweedie were in St. John attending the wedding of Judge Barker's daughter yesterday, and received the news by telephone from their home in Chatham. Both are almost heartbroken.

McEwan came to the province last summer with an importation of cattle bought in Scotland by the Provincial Government. He is a young man of fine appearance. Soon after his arrival the governor hired him as his coachman.

The affair has created a sensation in society and has aroused a great sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Tweedie.

Dear Sir,---We beg to acknowledge receipt of cheque for $2,500.00 in settlement of fire loss, Policy 8,645,879, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

We note in connection with this settlement a most unusual feature. They are legally entitled to 1% of stated sum for payment prior to due date. No business man would for one moment question their right to this amount. But they do not take it. Instead they have purposely waived their priveleges and presented us with this additional amount.

We are gratified to note this remarkable action. To adjust and settle a loss within twelve days is noteworthy, but to add to this magnanimity in refusing to take advantage of their discount privileges places this company in a most favorable position.

We congratulate you upon representing a company of such superior standing.

Yours very truly,

THE EXAMINER'S SPORTING PAGE

STACEY IS THE FAVOURITE WITH SPECTATORS AT ST. CATHARINES

The St. Catharines Star-Journal has the following to say of Tuesday night's work in the walking race:

All the contestants entered in the six-day walking race started last evening at the referee's signal at 8 o'clock. Every man appeared to be fresh and supple and none the worse for the opening day's exertions. Stacey, the lanky Toronto man, again appeared to advantage and not only maintained Monday night's lead but succeeded in increasing it considerably. At the close of the first hour last night the leaders had covered 6 1-2 miles, and had the following relative positions: Stacey, 1; Harrison, 2; Guerin, 3; Spencely, 4; Stevens, 5; Lyddiatt, 6; Brown, 7; Hegeman, 8; Eves, 9; Shields, 10.

During the second hour's grind one change only was made in the positions stated above, Spencely moving up from fourth to third place, which he held until the close.

Stacey, the leader, gained eight laps last night, giving him a clean lead of one mile and four laps. He has taken the position of favourite with the great majority of the spectators, although there are not a few who still pin their confidence on Stevens, the young Peterborough crack, while others maintain their belief that Harrison will surprise his opponents. Guerin, too, has quite a large number of supporters, as also has Spencely. All the contestants, with the exception of Shields, finished within the limit.

THE HOWDEN TROPHY WILL BE CONTESTED TO-NIGHT AT OVAL

The annual field sports of the Y. M. C. A. will be run off this evening at the Nicholls Oval, commencing at 6.30 sharp. All contestants and officials are requested to be on the grounds on time, as it is desired to run off all of the seven events to night. The courses for the 100 yards 220 yards and the mile have been carefully marked off, and everything will be in readiness for the occasion. A collection will be taken up at the grounds. Those who have entered up to the present are E. Wilson, Peter Wallace, H. Watt, J. Drysdale, J. Sanderson, G. E. Bruce, C. Walsh, S. P. McFadden, Stanley Canniff, R. Best, Wm. J. Todd, H. Munro, B. Corkery, Chas. Thorpe, R. Hillier, P. Adamson, F. O'Connor, S. Thomas, R. Evans, F. McGrath, E. A. Roe.

Prizes will be offered for first and second in each event and some very keen competition can be looked for.

Baseball

The Y. M. C. A. Baseball Club are asked to be at the Nicholls Oval at 6.30 sharp to-morrow night for their game with the Wellingtons. All the men are asked to be on the grounds.

Lacrosse

The Y. M. C. A. Lacrosse men are reminded of their practise at the Riverside grounds on Saturday evening at seven o'clock. Both senior and junior men are asked to turn out.

NEITHER BOWMANVILLE NOR OSHAWA SCORED

Two Draw Games in Western Section of Midland Football District

The second game in the Midland Football League was played in Oshawa Saturday afternoon with Bowmanville as their opponents. The game played in Bowmanville was a raw, neither side scoring. As the winning team in this section play in the finals against the winners in the Peterborough district, both teams had put in some hard practises and strengthened their forces since the last game. In the first half play was about even, both teams rushing the ball on goal, but the shots either went wide or were warded out by the backs. Neither side were able to score. The second half was a repetition of the first and at full time the score stood 0—0. Bowmanville forwards played a better combination than their opponents, but were checked too close to score. It would be hard to pick out the best players on the Bowmanville team as all played good fast ball. Dr. J. C. Devitt, of Bowmanville, acted as referee and as a result made the boys cut out rough work and play a clean game. Doctor is one of the best authorities on association football in Eastern Ontario, and always gives good satisfaction when he handles the whistle. As the teams are still a tie another game will be played in Bowmanville on the High School grounds Saturday, June 20th, at 6 o'clock. This game will be played to a finish. THE HORSE'S FOOT WENT THROUGH THE BRIDGE

Accident Last Night at Corner of Brock and Aylmer Streets

A horse crossing the bridge at the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets about 9 o'clock last night stumbled, throwing the occupants out of the vehicle. Its foot went through a defective portion of the bridge. Luckily, the driver held a tight rein and the animal was kept up sufficiently to prevent it from receiving any injuries. None of the occupants were hurt.

WEDDING BELLS

SPENCE-LITTLE

On Wednesday, June 17, a very pleasing event took place at 7.30 o'clock at the residence of Mr R. H. Little, Pine Grove cheese factory Douro, the occasion being the marriage of his eldest daughter, Miss Eva Little, to Mr Geo. Spence, of Lakefield, son of Mr Samuel Spence. About sixty guests were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. John Bedford, pastor of the Lakefield Methodist Church. The bride, who was unattended, looked charming in a pretty dress of cream wool trimmed with applique, and she wore the bridal veil caught up with apple blossoms. She was given away by her father, the ceremony taking place under an arch of evergreens on the lawn in front of the house. The wedding march was played by Miss Spence, and the usual wedding supper followed the tying of the nuptial knot. The bride, who is one of the most popular young ladies of the district in which she lives, was presented with numerous handsome gifts by her many friends. Her travelling suit was of navy blue trimmed with white lace and white insertion, and she wore a white hat. Mr. and Mrs. Spence will reside in Lakefield.

ROBINSON-STAFFORD

Brockville, June 18.—(Special)—The Brockville Times contains the following report of a wedding, in which the groom is a nephew of Mr. Jas. McKibbon, 3 Dennistoun Avenue, Peterborough.

A pretty June wedding was celebrated last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stafford, Lyn, when their eldest daughter, Miss Etta Stafford, was joined in wedlock to George Robinson, a worthy young farmer of Halleck's school settlement. The bride's sister, Inez, was bridesmaid, and Wm. Robinson, brother of the groom, was best man. Rev. T. Austin Smith officiated.

The house was prettily decorated for the event and the bridal party looked their best. Upwards of forty guests joined in the festivities and brought many handsome and valuable wedding gifts for Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, who are held in high esteem throughout the neighbourhood of their homes.

During the evening an elaborate supper was served followed by a social hour. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have gone to Ottawa and other points on a wedding trip.

IRONS-THOMPSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at 6.30 p. m., on Wednesday, June 17th, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. Newton Greer, 359 Aylmer street, when Dr. Ernest E. Irons, of Chicago, and Miss Gertrude B. Thompson, formerly of Peterborough, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's. Dr. and Mrs. Irons left on the evening train for an extended tour in the west.

ARMSTRONG-CHAMBERS

A pretty June wedding was solemnized last evening at 7 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Geo. Chambers, 522 Sherbrooke street, when his daughter, Miss Ethel, was united in marriage to Mr. Earle Armstrong of Schenectady, N.Y., who was for some time employed at the C. G. E. works. About fifty guests were present, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. M. Manning. The bride was attired in a pretty white silk costume, carried a bouquet of white roses, and wore the bridal veil. The bridesmaid was Miss Florence Chambers, sister of the bride, she being also dressed in white silk. The groom was supported by Mr. Geo. Grinnel, city. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were the recipients of many handsome gifts. They will reside in Schenectady.

REPORTS ON COUNTY BRIDGES

Submitted Yesterday at County Council Meeting by Chairman John Brown

MANY REPAIRS ARE NEEDED

Yesterday afternoon at the County Council the major portion of the time was spent in committee, dealing with Roads and Bridges. The following report was presented by the chairman:

Gentlemen,—I beg to report that all work appointed to be done by your committee has been done with the exception of Mr. Fife's bridge, in the Township of Otonabee. On March 2nd I visited the Wallace Point bridge and inspected repairs ordered by last year's council. Two of the piers had sunk. We had the iron work raised and oak placed underneath, and Mr. Fife inspected the same lately and informed me that the bridge is all right.

On March 5th, the committee appointed visited Burleigh Falls bridge. Mr. Booth did not receive notice in time, but Messrs. Scott, Graham and myself were in attendance, and let the contract for filling in the approaches with stone, and also the painting to be done at a cost of $65.

At the same time as above, we visited the Deer Bay Creek bridge in Harvey. The above bridge is about one hundred and fifty feet in length and is built of wood. This bridge is in bad repair, but is at present a township bridge.

I regret to say that about April 15th the high water, in company with wind and ice, damaged the Gannon's Narrows floating bridge. On April 20th a committee composed of Messrs. Ingram, Killen and myself visited this bridge and found it broken in three pieces. None of the timber, except some of the rail and probably two floats were lost. It was left with Mr. Ingram to engage a tug to do towing, and Mr. Smith to engage necessary help.

On June 1st a committee composed of the Warden and Councillors Brenult, Oakman and the chairman inspected Victoria street bridge, Norwood, the length of the same being about fifty feet. The south pier is of sound cedar filled with stone, the centre is supported by three props, trusses, and the flooring is in bad repair—in fact, rotten.

On May 18th, in company with Reeve McNeil, of Cavan, I inspected the bridges on boundary of Durham and Peterborough counties which we found safe and sound. We decided to have the Douglass Bridge painted and let the job of same for five dollars, the county to supply paint.

A committee composed of Messrs. Moore, Scott, Moloney, Killen and the chairman, met in the Clerk's office and opened tenders for material for the covering of the Lakefield Bridge. Two were received, one eighteen and other twenty-four, the lowest being accepted, and the clerk was instructed, with Mr. Peck to have the agreement executed. Mr. Moore on motion was empowered to have the bridge re-floored and painted.

On June 12th, a committee composed of the Warden and Messrs. Russel and chairman inspected North River Bridge. I beg to report that we found it about thirty feet in length which we considered much too short. Some of the west pier was broken by the current, ice and logs. In my opinion the bridge is in the best location with plenty of good building stone convenient. The road across it is the only means of travel for a large number of people.

June 13th, 1908, a committee composed of Messrs. Moore, Darling, Moloney and chairman inspected Canal Bridge, Dummer, which we found to be thirty-six feet between piers, with a wooden approach on each side, thirty and fifty feet respectively. The covering was in fair condition but the frame trusses were rotten. Three cedar sleepers under the main bridge were good but others made of elm were not. The piers apparently might do service for some time.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN BROWN.

The various reports on bridges from the councillors of the other townships will appear to-morrow.

A despatch from London, Ont., received this afternoon by J N Barber, states that Taft has been nominated for the presidency of the United States by a large majority.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, June 18.—The market opened quiet to-day with a good deal of irregularity in prices. The industrial section of the list, especially American Locomotive, was under pressure, but the offerings in this stock were not heavy, but a poor market obtained, and its price at one time showed a loss of nearly four points for the day. Towards noon time the selling movement seemed to have petered out and offerings of stocks were small. Some increase in activity took place, and it is believed that shorts were the chief buyers on the decline, and were to a large extent responsible for the improvement.

The stocks were strong throughout the session, and very good buying was in evidence. Towards the delivery hour, the market became stronger, and more active and prices at that time were at highest of the day, particular strength being shown in Reading and Union Pacific.

The market continued strong in the last half hour and we look for a more active market and higher prices before the close Saturday.

The Directors of the Republic Iron & Steel Co., at their meeting late to-day passed the dividend on the preferred stock. This action caused that stock to sell off about two points. The buying of Copper was the very best. Look for a more active market next week. The regular dividend was declared on Distillers to-day.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE SESSION

Will Open on Monday, June 22nd—Two Cases Already on Docket

The June sessions of the High Court of Justice will be opened on Monday, June 22nd, before the Honourable Mr. Justice Teetzel. Two cases have already been entered.

The session which opens on Monday are non-jury sessions. The plaintiff in each case is the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company. One is against Thos Reid formerly hotel proprietor at Marmora for a sum of money, over $200 for two shares of stock which he was supposed to take. O'Connell & Gordon for plaintiffs; Wills & Wright at Belleville for defendant.

Jos. Hudson Burton is the defendant in the other case. He is a commercial traveller residing at Bracebridge. The charge against him is somewhat similar to that against Mr. Reid. T. E. Gordon represents the defendant.

MUSTARD AND THISTLES PLENTIFUL

Weather is Pampering Weeds to Neglect of the Crops

The thistle is being pampered by the weather and is coming along altogether too numerous and strong in the country. The warm weather is bringing along the thistle at a rapid rate and the weed is doing better than the crops. A gentleman who was through Otonabee states that many fields are bearing a strong thistle crop, and wherever there is mustard it is also beating out the grain. The farmers want a copious shower and their anxiety will be greatly relieved.

COMPANY INSPECTION BY COL. GORDON

The Three Companies Did Their Work Splendidly—Remainder To-night

Companies 6, 7 and 8, of the 57th Regiment paraded at the Drill Shed last night at eight o'clock for inspection, which took place on the Central Park. The work of the companies included squad and company drill, skirmishing and firing exercises. They all did their work in good fashion. The inspecting officer was Col. D. D. Young, D.A.A.G., of Eastern Ontario Command. The colonel left to-day to inspect the arms of the Warsaw Rifle Association.

To-night the remaining companies, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 will be inspected similarly.

PARTICULARS OF LAUNCH RACE

Aquatic Sports Are Arousing Considerable Interest.

There have been many inquiries of late from launch owners regarding the races on Dominion Day at the T. A. S. picnic, and apparently considerable interest is being aroused. It may be said that Mr. R. M. Roy has kindly consented to act as judge of the water races, and if any handicaps are to be allowed he will decide them. The aquatic races will commence immediately after the other sports and the launch race will start about half-past four o'clock.

The posters for the picnic have been printed and are now being placed on the streets.

PERFECT KNOT TIED ON RICE LAKE PINE TREE

Now in Possession of Mr. John Jayes at Munro House

Mr. Jack Jayes of the Munro House has also a curio in the pine knot line. It was given him about two years ago by Capt. Copperthwaite. The latter a number of years ago, when the pine was merely in its infancy, tied a knot in it. It grew of course, and so did the knot. He came across the same tree two years ago and cutting it so as to include the knot, brought it to Peterborough. It is as perfect as possible. The pine grew on Muskrat Island, Rice Lake.

Canon Davidson Read Paper On Church Union At London

London, June 19.—(Special.) — At the Pan-Anglican Conference yesterday Judge Herbert Macdonald declared that prohibition was a failure in Canada. He detailed methods of evading the law which surprised his hearers, and held that the law should strengthen individuals not to do wrong, instead of prohibiting. Dr. N W Hoyles, Toronto, advocated giving to laymen a recognised, definite position. He considered that men asked to assist the clergy should not be given merely temporal duties, but should also assist in the purely spiritual work.

Canon Davison, of Peterborough, Canada, read a paper on fellowship and co-operation with the different Protestant communions as a preparation for Church re-union. Canon Davidson took the line that only through re-union with her now separated children could the Church realise her true catholicity and accomplish her mission to the nations.

The re-union was a splendid possibility, but could only gradually be brought about by a far more practical general recognition than at the present time of the separated Christians as fellow-disciples, and by a close fellowship and co-operation with them on this ground for the moral uplift of the community.

The door of access to Roman Catholics was closed and locked by themselves, but not so with the other separated brethren.

TO DETERMINE RELATION OF NORMAL TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

At a meeting of the Committee on Appointments of the Board of Education on Wednesday night, a special committee was appointed to wait on the Deputy Minister of Education to-day at 11 o'clock to discuss various matters in respect to the relation of the Normal School to the Public School training school. It is probable that the subjects of manual training, domestic science, music, etc., will also form subjects at the conference. The deputation consists of Messrs. W H Hill, Jno. Crane, D W Dumble, Dr. Morrison and Inspector Mowat. Part of the deputation went on the evening train last night and part went this morning. They will return this evening.

RESPONSIBLE COMMISSION FOR A FORMER PETERBOROUGH BOY

The Canadian Machine Telephone Company have shipped from the factory in Toronto an automatic exchange, which will be installed in the city of Rome, Italy. Mr. Geo. E. Chamberlain, who was formerly with the company in Peterborough and who went, a few months ago, to the company's factory in Toronto has been chosen to go to Rome to make this installation. His friends in Peterborough will congratulate him on being sent on such an important mission, and they will all trust that he will have a pleasant journey and be successful in carrying out the work he has been sent to perform. He left Toronto yesterday for New York, and previous to his leaving, the employees of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company's factory in Toronto presented him with an address wishing him a pleasant voyage and success in his work. The address was accompanied by an up-to-date camera. Mr. Chamberlain will probably be absent for some months in Europe.

This shipment is the first foreign shipment the Canadian Machine Telephone Company has made, and it will be followed early in July by another exchange of three sections of automatic equipment, together with all the necessary apparatus to handle the toll lines, etc., for installation in the city of Lyons, France.

Actions of Free Methodists Are Principally Due To Great Rejoicing

Many people who have visited the Free Methodist Camp meetings have wondered at the vigorous manner in which they act. Those who are non-members in fact fail to realize the significance of their actions. Some of the expressions are of joy, others of sorrow but they are very strongly pronounced and are more emphatic than the ordinary church-goer ever effects.

The reason for the great rejoicing was explained by Rev. J. O. Davidson at a meeting a few nights ago. "We have no pattern," he said, "to go by. When a person is actually freed from the bondage of hell, he wants to rejoice, has to rejoice. He must give vent to the feelings which stir him as he has never been moved before.

"You must have true holiness of heart, then a great joy is felt. Full forgiveness must first be obtained and entire salvation will follow." Thus Mr. Davidson explained the action of his people, which others say are fanatical, but which he explains in a simple manner is nothing more than the expression of the great outburst that is felt in the soul.

POLICE MAGISTRATE FOR THE NORTH

Recommended by County Council—Horticultural Society Grant

At to-day's session of the County Council a resolution was passed recommending the appointment of a police magistrate in the north western townships of Peterborough County. If this is carried into effect County Magistrate Edmison will be lieved of any trips into that section and it will also lessen the expenses for witnesses, who formerly very often had to come to Peterborough.

Mr. C. R. D. Booth, Reeve of Anstruther and Burleigh for nine years, was recommended, and no doubt if he becomes the police magistrate the government will have made a good appointment.

Resolutions Passed

Moved by Messrs. Scott and Fife that in the opinion of this council it is expedient that a police magistrate should be appointed for that part of the County of Peterborough comprising the Townships of Anstruther, Chandos and Burleigh, and of that part of the Township of Methuen lying north of the lots numbered twenty-five in the said township; and that this council requests the appointment by the Lieut.-Governor of Mr. Charles R. D. Booth to that position and that the warden be appointed to wait upon the Government in order to have this recommendation carried into effect.

Moved by Messrs. Breault and Graham, that any grant made by this Council to the Horticultural Society be made on condition that the said society expend the same in keeping the upper part in proper condition, and that the grant this year be $100 instead of $75, as recommended in a former committee report, and that the payment be made to the treasurer of the Agricultural Society upon certificate, consistent with the conditions satisfactory to the County Property Committee.

Moved by Messrs. Maloney and Russell, that Clause 2 of the Finance Committee's report, June session, 1905, be rescinded, and that in future all renewals of insurance upon county property and administration of justice buildings be left in the hands of the County Property Committee, the chairman of the Finance Committee, and the warden.

On motion of Messrs. Breault and Hales, the county solicitor was authorized to prepare a bylaw to provide for the borrowing of $60,000 by debentures, to be met during the next twenty years, equal payments.

It was moved by Messrs. Ingram and Scott, that clause 3 of the Finance Committee's report be struck out, and that the bridge referred to in the clause, known as Deer Bay Creek Bridge, be assumed by the county, and that it be rebuilt this year, and that the timbers from the old Buckhorn bridge be used as far as possible for the purpose, and that Messrs. Ingram, Killen, Scott, Booth, Brown and the warden be a committee to carry out the said work.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Pretty dry time in the city to-day—dry as in Millbrook. Even our streets were suffering under "local option." The dust on Charlotte, Rubidge and King streets was the worst ever this season. The sprinkle is light enough, any day, but to-day, the Alderman of the ward must have gone fishing, and the water cart knew it. Don't mind paying the price, you know, but would like to get value.

Yours truly,
"DUSTER."

LESSONS ON STREET MAKING.

The main portion of the fourth of a series of articles reprinted from the manual on street-making by A. W. Campbell, C.E., Provincial Good Roads Commissioner, to be found on page 3, deals chiefly with one of the most important features of street construction — street maintenance. There is an intimate co-relation between well-constructed streets and their maintenance in good condition A well-constructed street costs more in the beginning, but the compensation is found in a greatly reduced cost of maintenance in the interest of the prime and sole object of street-building, the securing of a good comfortable, smooth, easy-driving street surface. What our street authorities seem to forget, at least, to ignore, in practice, is that the primary sole object of making streets is to provide good driving surface for the people who pay for the work.

Proper maintenance of streets after efficient construction involves the least possible disturbance of the completed surface. Yet what do we see? Charlotte street was metalled this month, from the boundary east. Hardly is the work completed, the rolling finished, and the street turned over for traffic, than our wonderful street authorities go to work and grade the street—putting the dirt before the horse with a vengeance. Loose earth, clods, weed roots, etc., were drawn by the grader over the newly-laid and rolled broken stone. Then, next, the gas company comes along, and is now breaking up the metal for the laying of trenches. They may take great pains to put the street in the original condition, but it stands to reason that, with the best care, the street cannot be restored to its former state At any rate, it will have to be rolled, and that will cost the city ratepayers some money. Herein we see evidence of deplorable lack of system and of the most ordinary foresight. If the city contemplates doing a street, and does not want to do the ratepayers, it would publish a notice that on a certain date street work would begin, and they would require any person who wanted to open the street to do so before street work was begun, and, if this were not done, to withhold permission to open the street that season.

There is too much tampering with the streets, too much breaking of the surface, in a sloppy, unworkmanlike way. A portion of a street in the west of the city was treated to gravel last year and made fairly passable. Hardly was the work done, when sewer and city water trenches were opened and filled in such a careless way that all that season and all wintor there were huge mounds of rough earth eight or ten inches above the street, preventing the flow of water and obstructing traffic. This spring the street butchers picked down these mounds, leaving the street surface littered with large, loose stones. A few days ago, just opposite this gravel pit section of street, a water connection was put in and, though fully a cubic yard of stones and boulders were taken out of the trench, the workmen could not—at least did not—get the rest of the earth back into the trench. As a result there is a mound of earth four or five feet wide, rising four or five inches above the level of the street. Why should these things be done in the first place, and, in the second place why should they be allowed? The city council passed a resolution requiring that no street should be opened without permission, and that the street should be restored to its usual condition. No more attention is paid to this than to the wind blowing. The Machine Telephone Company set the pace, and the Bell Telephone Company, and later the Gas Company have made good work in filling in construction trenches. Others with a little care could do the same, and should be made to do so. Thus one of the most serious obstacles to proper street maintenance would be removed.

In to-day's article on page three emphasis is laid upon keeping the streets in repair. If the city authorities excel in one thing more than another it is in neglecting this duty. In proof take a look at George street. The day after a rain the street is dotted with water pools in the depressions, which develop later into mud holes. Yet one man in an hour could, in the beginning, have filled up these depressions and saved the street and maintained a good driving surface. If a little care had been given the street, if a very little attention had been given in time, the street would have been as good to-day as it was when it was first laid down. But the practice seems to be to permit streets to be worn into ruts and holes, going from bad to worse, till the street has to be ripped up and rebuilt at an expense ten, or even twenty, times greater than it would have cost to keep the street in good repair for years. The main object of building and maintaining streets, namely, to provide and maintain a smooth, easy and comfortable driving surface, is lost sight of entirely. The money of the ratepayers can be so spent upon streets as to provide a benefit and delight to those using the streets for driving, the chief object in building them. The money of the ratepayers can be so spent as to represent waste and bad streets. One way is the right way and the other is the wrong way and the bad way. The ratepayer with half an eye, can easily see which way the city authorities favour.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The voice is the voice of Taft, but the hand is the hand of Roosevelt.

In old France the births are decreasing by from 80,000 to 100,000 a year. "New France" can do better than that. In Quebec the birth rate is active and the population is increasing.

Five million acres under crop, half of it in wheat, the promise of the best crop in history, present work for 25,000 more men and 5,000 more women; that is the cheerful budget from the Canadian West.

Hon. Sam Blake failed to get what he wanted from a Liberal Government and he went over to the enemy. Now he is jumping upon the Anglicans of Toronto "with both feet." What have the Anglicans been withholding from the great moral reformer?

The nineteen-year-old daughter of Lt.-Governor Tweedie, of New Brunswick, has shocked society by eloping with and marrying her father's coachman. The latter being a Scotchman, the damsel doubtless aimed to be near the real thing—to be as Scotch Tweedie as possible.

The withdrawal of the Hodgins' charges of improper charges and classification in work on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway construction, pricks another scandal bubble. But the Conservative Opposition at Ottawa will hang on to the remains and iterate and re-iterate the charges which Mr. Hodgins has himself withdrawn. They so dearly love a scandal that they are faithful to it in life and death.

The New York Sun, Democratic, uses plain, democratic language. It doesn't like Roosevelt. It hints that he aims at a dictatorship. It regards the great Republican convention in Chicago as a tool of Roosevelt, doing his bidding and will under the name of Taft. Here is a sentence from the Sun which is not very complimentary to the Chicago convention. Read this:—"The Roosevelt trained swine, fattened at the Federal trough, are turned loose and the vineyard of our Fathers is ravished and defiled." We sometimes use a little vigorous language in Canada, in discussing political matters, but we don't often equal this.

What a solitary pilgrim Mr. S. H. Blake is these days. A fortnight ago, remarks the Globe, his soul seemed sore vexed within him because of the apostasy of the Liberal party, and the scoundrelism of politicians who opposed his plans. Now he finds the Church of England simply "a band of hypocrites," and the mainstay of race-track iniquities. Alas, poor man! He is sure of none now except himself and "My Dear Premier." Presently even "My Dear Premier" may come in for what a member of Synod, in the Bishop's hearing, called "a vituperative harangue." But then Mr. S. H. Blake would not be happy were it not for these "bits o' divarshun."

The bringing by the Dominion Government of telegraph and telephone systems under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission, is a grand form of public ownership. The country, without incurring the cost of purchase, or of constructions and maintennance, gets a guarantee of telegraph and telephone service in the public interest as effective as if the lines were government-owned. This, it stands to reason, can be more efficiently provided by the Railway Commission, which makes a specialty of such work, and can do better work than any government, hampered by a multiplicity of other duties to a degree that would necessitate the making of the administration of these systems a mere side line.

BOAT UPSET

Two men in a boat upset in the Otonabee River at 3 o'clock this afternoon just below the canoe slide at the Locks Bridge. They were going down stream along the wall when the accident happened. Of course, the water is not extra deep there and they succeeded in getting out all right.

The Foundation Principles Of Proper Street Building

The Function and Importance of Rolling---Crushers and Crushing---Importance of Prompt and Constant Repair as Elements in Permanency of the Good Condition of Streets

Number Four

To the chairman and members of the Board of Works, the City Engineer, the Street Commissioner, the Street Inspector and the Aldermen generally—read, mark, learn and inwardly digest—and outwardly apply. The following, the fourth of a series of articles, is reprinted from the Twelfth Annual Report of Highway Improvement in Ontario, of Mr. A. W. Campbell, C.E., Deputy Minister of Public Works. Mr. Campbell is one of the most capable road-building experts on the continent. He has made a study of the subject for years and is competent to speak with the voice of authority. The article in today's issue deals with the subject of rolling, street foundations, and metalled or gravelled roadbeds. It is pointed out that before an ounce of gravel or broken stone is placed, the roadbed or foundation must be thoroughly consolidated by rolling stone. Crushing, and the proper use of crushing machines also receive attention. A very important part of the article represents maintenance and repair.

Rolling

Rolling increases the durability and the usefulness of a street. By means of a roller, newly-made roads are at once placed in their best condition for use, vehicles are not compelled to drive on the end of the ditches for a season to avoid a mound of loose material in the centre of the street.

Rolling saves the gravel and stone; the sides of the street are not cut up by traffic, and the smooth, hard surface of the street permits BETTER DRAINAGE.

A street should first be properly graded, crowned and DRAINED. The roller should then be used to consolidate this earth sub-soil so that the gravel or stone placed on it will not be forced down into loose earth, but will form a distinct coating. When this foundation is prepared, the metal can be placed over it and rolled and consolidated into a distinct crust.

The consolidation of loosely-spread stone or gravel by traffic is a slow process, causing much inconvenience to travel, during which the earth or sub-soil becomes mixed with the stone. Earth intermixed with stone prevents the strong mechanical bond which clean metal will assume when the stones are wedged ore against the other by a roller.

By the use of a roller the earthy sub-soil can be first thoroughly consolidated. The stone should be placed on this foundation IN LAYERS, and EACH LAYER WELL COMPACTED. In this way a smooth, durable, waterproof coating of stone, free from earthy material, can be laid over a firm foundation.

The roller should be preceded by a watering cart, and the material kept thoroughly wet. Otherwise rolling should be done in wet weather.

Rolling should commence at the side of the street, approaching the centre gradually. If the roller is first passed over the centre, the loose material is crowded out, and the street flattened. The earth foundation should be rolled, and EACH SUCCEEDING LAYER up to the top dressing. When the latter is put on, the rolling should be continued until the street is thoroughly compact and solid, able to resist, without displacement, the heaviest load passing over it.

Crushers

Stone-crushers are necessary wherever broken stone is to be used, as they have wholly superseded the old method of breaking by hand. They may be used for crushing quarry stone, field boulders, or stone from coarse gravel pits. When used in boulder pits, or in pits of very coarse gravel, by putting all the material, fine and coarse, through the crusher then through a rotary screen, an excellent street metal is produced, free from dirt, and graded according to size.

Much can be saved by setting up a crusher so that it can be fed directly from the waggons instead of wheeling the stones in barrows. To permit of this, the crusher may be permanently set in an excavation on a hillside, waggons driving over the crusher; or a platform may be erected to the level of the crusher.

The broken stone should be received into bins from the crusher, and from these a waggon can be loaded in from two to four minutes. Do not keep teams standing at the crusher while the waggon is being filled, instead of using a bin. If a bin cannot be had, extra waggons should be used.

By using a rotary screen, the crushed stone may be segregated into grades according to size. By placing the COARSE STONE IN THE BOTTOM of the street, and the finest on top, a smoother and more durable street is obtained.

The screen is operated by the power used for the crusher. The mesh of the screen varies; but an ordinary screen has one section with 1 1-4-inch perforations; a second with 2-inch perforations, while all larger stone passes out of the end of the screen. The 1 1-4-inch mesh makes a good top dressing, the 2-inch mesh provides a good middle course for the street, while the larger grade is put in the bottom of the street. From the screen the broken stone passes to elevated bins, and from these through shutes to the waggons.

Maintenance and Repair

Maintenance is as important as construction. Streets deteriorate very rapidly if neglected. Rain, frosts, freshet, drought, waggon traffic, the iron-shod feet of horses, narrow tires, combine powerful forces to flatten, rut and destroy streets.

Streets should be maintained by not allowing them to get out of repair. Neglect to keep streets in repair, FAILURE TO REPAIR them WHEN REPAIR IS FIRST NEEDED, adds very much to the cost of streets. A good street which is not kept in repair, very quickly becomes a bad street, and the object of the original expenditure is thus lost. To allow streets to DEGENERATE FOR WANT OF REPAIR, MEANS AN IMMENSE WASTE OF LABOUR, MATERIAL AND MONEY, which has to be made up in their reconstruction. Wherever good streets are built, arrangements should be made for a careful attention to their repair.

A street as commonly built for traffic should receive as much attention the first year after construction as it would require in the following two years.

A large part of the repair of streets is necessitated by defective construction. A poorly-made street will wear out much more rapidly than one which has been well built. To construct streets properly may be greater in first cost, but this is compensated by the reduction in the outlay for maintenance, in addition to the benefits of better streets.

Streets should be kept smooth. Smooth streets shed water more readily than do rough ones. It is not the even roll of a wheel over a smooth street that causes injury. It is the jarring action of wheels dropping from loose stones, from protruding stones, or sinking into holes and ruts.

Hollows and pitch-holes should not be allowed to form at the ends of culverts and bridges projecting above the surface.

Wherever there is a roughness of any kind, a projecting or loose stone, a soft or hollow spot in the street, there is a pounding action of the wheels, assisted by the collecting of pools of water, which lie in every depression.

Wheel tracks very soon form after a street is first metalled with gravel or broken stone, particularly if not thoroughly consolidated with a roller. In forming these tracks, a certain amount of the metal is forced downward by the wheels, but a greater portion is crowded outward. In this way, when wheel tracks are not filled, they become the weakest part of the street; whereas the portion of the street supporting the wheels should have the greatest strength. These tracks or ruts should not be allowed to remain. But, when they have formed, they should be filled by drawing metal into them again with a grading machine, or by the use of a rake. By giving constant attention to these tracks until the street is thoroughly consolidated, keeping it in proper shape and the street metal in place, the wheel tracks become what they should be, the strongest part of the street, almost as firm as two lines of steel. When once a well-shaped street has been given a proper form, and is thoroughly consolidated in this way, the subsequent cost of maintenance is greatly reduced.

Shoulders and edges of turf between the metal and the gutter should be cut off from time to time, taking care not to draw this sod and earth to the middle of the metalled street. These shoulders are made up of dust washed from the middle of the street, and they interfere with the ready flow of water from the wheel tracks to the side drains. This stuff, if returned to the top of a hard covering of gravel or stone, will destroy the street.

Whatever material is used in the construction of a street should be used in its repair. Holes and depressions on a clay street should be filled with clay; on a gravel street they should be filled with gravel, and on a stone street they should be filled with broken stone. If a soft material is used on a hard street, the hole will quickly reappear. If a harder material is used than the street is made of, two holes will be made instead of one.

If a pitch-hole in an earth street is filled with stones or gravel, holes will be made by traffic on each side of the hard material. If broken stone is used to repair depressions and holes on a gravel street, a hole will be cut through on each side of the patch of broken stone, where wheels of waggons drop on the softer gravel.

Do not allow hollows, ruts or puddles to remain on the street, but fill them at once; if an earth street, use earth; if a gravel street, use gravel, and, if a stone street, use stone.

Deep holes in gravel and stone streets should have the earth and soft material cleaned out of them before putting in new metal.

Ruts and holes should be filled a little higher than the surface of the street, so that there will not be a depression when the material is consolidated.

Loose stones should be raked into piles, to be taken up by a waggon and hauled away. The stone should be collected in a convenient place to be used afterward for crushing, putting into fills, or in such other manner as occasion may require.

All drains should flow freely in the early spring, so that the cold water may be drawn away as quickly as possible, permitting the frost to come out of the ground.

If the gutters are not in a condition to drain the macadam promptly, heavy loads will cut through the macadam into the wet and soft subsoil, forming holes that are costly to repair.

The rake is a most useful tool for making repairs, and should be frequently used on gravel and stone streets to keep wheel tracks filled with the metal forced out of them. This is especially true during the first year after construction.

Streets should receive constant attention. This is the most economical and satisfactory system of making repairs. Repairs should be made, not once a year, nor twice, but as soon as signs of wear appear. Special attention is needed in early spring and early autumn, as at these two periods much can be done to prepare the streets for the ensuing seasons, or particularly severe conditions.

SOME FACTS ABOUT ELECTRICITY

As Much a Mystery Now as it Was in the Past Ages—Truth About it is Not Known

NEW WONDERS EVERY YEAR

The nature of electricity is just as much of a mystery to the scientists of to-day as it was in the days when it so puzzled the wise augurs and astrologers of the Medes and Persians with static electric sparks produced by rubbing amber and glass. No one knows for a certainty the truth about electricity. Some hold that it is a form of matter, a kind of force, a variety of motion, a disturbance in the ether and still others that it is a weightless fluid.

For the sake of simplicity, however, scientists assume that electricity may be a fluid, that is, in the sense that light is a fluid. It may be a fluid without weight; capable of inconceivably rapid motion, traveling at the rate of 188,165 miles a second, even faster than light; and manifesting itself under certain conditions as heat, light and power.

Elsewhere it takes the form of magnetism or has a peculiar influence to bring about chemical action. We live surrounded by electricity but it becomes evident to us only when in motion or when the quantity present in any thing is more or less than the average amount.

Electricity through all substances in some degree; some almost wholly oppose the passage and others allow it to move with the greatest freedom. Those materials through which electricity passes easily are called good conductors; those which obstruct its passage are called non-conductors or insulators. Silver is the best conductor, copper being almost as good. The latter metal is used almost exclusively where good conductors are wanted. Over 141,000,000 pounds of copper were used last year in the electrical industry. All the metals and their alloys are conductors. Iron and steel conduct fairly well but less than one-seventh as well as copper. All gases, including air, are practically absolute non-conductors. So are oils, rosins, glass crystals, gems, porcelain, clay, dry wood, and leather, rubber, gutta-percha, paper and fibrous materials such as silk and cotton cloth.

When electricity is at rest it is called static electricity. Lightning is a discharge of static electricity from one over-loaded cloud to another or to the earth. The earth seems to be a regular reservoir of electricity. Electricity is generated or produced by friction, chemical action or by magnets. When electricity generated by mechanical means flows continually in one direction it is called direct current electricity. When it is produced with alternators which generate a current surging first one way then the other over the line it is called alternating current. At first all the electrical lines were direct current but lately alternating current is being extensively used.

"It is an age of electricity," declared one of the engineers of the General Electric Company," and the electrical industry is yet in its infancy." Even now electricity applied to motors gives the best form of motive power in the world. In the electric arc and incandescent lamps it produces the best artificial light known to man, lighting thousands and thousands of buildings, cities and villages. As a source of heat it is rapidly coming to the front. The electric furnace gives the highest temperatures known in the laboratory. Electricity is so tractable it can be transmitted hundreds of miles over slender copper wires to run at once the tiny dentist drill or the mammoth machinery of a steel mill. It is in daily use in nearly every business, in all professions and by a large percentage of the world's population.

New and greater electrical wonders are produced every year. What the future will bring forth no one can even imagine.

IN A BREATH THERE'S REST

Breathe Hyomei And Be Cured of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma.

Nature has a remedy for catarrh, epidemic colds and bronchitis that is far better than dosing the stomach with medicine and drugs.

It is the healing oils and balsams of Hyomei, which medicate the air you breathe, reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs and restoring health to the mucous membrane.

Hyomei acts like a curative internal air bath, and has the same healing and antiseptic effect as the air where the Pine and Eucalyptic forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

Breathe healing Hyomei and see how quickly you will get relief from catarrh and head colds. If it does not help you there will not be a penny's expense, as Wm. Medill agrees to refund the money. The complete Hyomei outfit costs only $1.00.

Comprehensive Reports On Bridges In The County

Presented at County Council Meeting by the Representatives of the Various Municipalities---Bridges That Have to be Looked After

Members of the County Council from the various townships and villages submitted reports on Wednesday of the work that had been done or was necessary to be done to bridges in the municipalities they represented, thus giving an accurate account of the state of repair of every bridge in the county. The following are the reports:

Lakefield

To the Members of the Roads and Bridges Committee.

Gentlemen:—In accordance with clause 7 of the Roads and Bridges Committee report at the January session I beg to report that I called for tenders for cedar for the flooring of Lakefield bridge.

The lowest tender we received was $18.00 per thousand feet, and there being upward of 30,000 feet necessary the cost will be considerable.

The contractors are delivering the cedar at the present time and it appears to be of good quality.

The painting I have decided to let by day work or minor contract, and purchase the material myself to be used. The rust and scales that are now on the ironwork being so detrimental to a new coat of paint, is sufficient reason to have the work under control all through.

Respectfully,
F. V. MOORE.

Asphodel

To the Members of the Roads and Bridges Committee.

Gentlemen—According to the regulations of this council it became my duty to inspect certain bridges in the part of the county known as Asphodel and boundaries.

I found the Ouse Bridge in need of some repairs and would ask your permission to have the same attended to.

The new bridge built last year will require some repairs, due to rush of water against approach, and some railing for approach.

Steel's bridge can be made passable by cutting the floor in the centre and placing both ends in centre, thereby renewing floor at a much less cost and be just as serviceable as a new floor for ten or fifteen years more.

Comstock's bridge appears to be in good repair.

I would recommend keeping the bridges properly painted.

Respectfully yours,
WM. OSKMAN.

Chandos

To the Members of the Committee.

Gentlemen,—Chandos having only one county bridge I am pleased to state that the same, known as Dosee bridge, needs no repairs at present.

Yours respectfully,
WM. HALES.

Belmont and Bethune

Gentlemen,—Having examined the county bridges in the municipality of Belmont and Methuen, I beg leave to report as follows:

Brown's bridge is a steel one, built on wooden piers and abutments. The structure is in good repair, except that a coat of paint would be beneficial in preserving the steel work from rust.

Deer River bridge is a wooden one throughout. It is in good condition except the flooring which will soon need some repairs, though, I think it quite safe for this year.

Taylor's bridge is a steel structure built on wooden abutments and is in good condition.

Burnt Mill bridge is an old wooden one and is in need of a railing. Otherwise it is in fairly good repair.

North River bridge is an old wooden bridge and is unsafe for travel and should be replaced.

Respectfully submitted,
JAS. W. RUSSELL.

Smith

To the Warden and Council:

We beg leave to report on the Chemong Bridge. The ice went out without doing very much damage. Part of the railing was torn off but outside of that, the cost of repairs was small. This bridge will need new flooring before long, perhaps next year. The township having no county bridges the cost of maintaining them is nothing outside of the Chemong floating bridge.

R. R. SCOTT,
Reeve.
THOS. H. GRAHAM,
Deputy Reeve.

Harvey

To the members of the Council:

Gentlemen,—As you all have seen by the report in the local newspapers, Gannon's Bridge suffered greatly as a result of the ice going out during a high wind. The bridge, so to speak, was entirely taken from its proper position, and floated away in three pieces, thereby causing breaks that necessitated considerable repair; the same stripping the railing from one side.

Through the inclemency of the weather we were detained in commencing repairs, but we are pleased to state that when once started we were successful in opening traffic in a short time. The repairs as you will see by the accounts, cost in the neighbourhood of $200, although the general estimate of repairs was much larger.

The floats purchased last fall by my predecessor have all been delivered and are of a satisfactory quality, the same being delivered to the three floating bridges.

Nogey's Creek Bridge, due to high water and timber floating against it has suffered to some extent, the pier at the west end requiring some repairs when the water lowers.

The Buckhorn Bridge at the time of high water suffered so as to require temporary repairs, that is the approach at the west was partly gutted out by the rush of water and the caretaker has temporarily fixed it to maintain traffic at present.

With reference to the Deer Bay Creek Bridge, although not a County bridge, has been visited by a committee from the Council of the County who no doubt will have seen the necessity of the bridge and the claim the township has upon the County with regard to assuming and maintaining of said bridge.

The committe will no doubt have been impressed with the fact that the road upon which the bridge is now being used is a road leading from one main road known as the Buckhorn Road, at the west, to another main road known as the Burleigh road at the east, the same being travelled by the lumbermen and general public, and of greater convenience and necessity to such traffic than to the traffic of the residents of the township of Harvey.

Respectfully yours,
JAS. INGRAM.

Otonabee

To the Committee on Roads and Bridges:

Gentlemen,—We beg to report on county bridges in our municipality as follows:

We inspected O'Leary's Bridge, which is a wooden structure on Indian River, and we found it not needing any immediate repairs.

We also inspected Kvan's Bridge on same river, which is a steel structure, built two years ago, and found it in first-class condition, and should not need any expenditure of money for several years.

Armstrong's Bridge, which is next on the stream, is the bridge about to be built this year. We will not not report on it.

We also examined Hope's Bridge, which is also a wooden structure, built years ago. We found it in ordinary repair for an old bridge. We discovered that the side timbers supporting the bridge are decaying, and in our opinion will need to be replaced by a permanent structure in the near future, as this bridge has not been safe for years, for traction engines.

We inspected Allandale and Keene station Bridges and found them not needing any immediate repairs.

We also had a look at Keene Bridge which was built two years ago, and found it in good condition.

In the inspection of Bemfort Bridge which is situated between Peterborough and Northumberland counties, we found it in good condition.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. FIFE,
W. J. PORTER.

Douro

Report on county bridges in the township of Douro:

To the Warden and Members of the County Council:

Gentlemen,—

Having examined the county bridges in the township of Douro, I beg leave to report as follows:

Burn's Bridge is in good repair with the exception of the railing, which is badly in need of painting.

Sullivan's Bridge is in good repair with the exception of the railing on approaches, which is badly in need of repair, the posts being leaned sideways. They would need to be straightened up and new hub boards put on.

The boundary bridge between Douro and Otonabee, built in 1905, is in good repair, and unless something unusual happens, will entail no expense for years to come.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. MOLONEY.

Dummer

Report on county bridges in the township of Dummer:

To the Warden and Members of the County Council:

Gentlemen,—

Having examined the county bridges in the township of Dummer, I beg leave to report as follows:

Payne's Bridge on the Indian River is in good condition.

On Spencer's Bridge the covering on the top of the old flooring is completely worn out, and should be recovered.

Warsaw Bridge is in good condition.

Douglas' Bridge is in good condition also.

Robson's Bridge on the boundary between Asphodel and Dummer is in need of repair, Mr. Oskman having examined this bridge, no doubt he will also report on it.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHRIS. J. DARLING.

Ennismore

The report on the Pigeon Creek Bridge is as follows:

Gentlemen,—

The Pigeon Creek Bridge, being maintained by the municipalities, namely: Victoria, 6.20; County of Peterborough, 4.20; City of Peterborough, 7.20, I take this opportunity of stating, so that all concerned may be apprised of what action has been required with regard to repairs necessary to said bridge.

As you will notice by the accounts that will come before you, more repairs than usual have been made this year. Since the repairs of 1904, no year has required as much as this present year. It is not necessary for me to refer to the items of expenditure, but permit me to say that all expenditure has been made consistent with good work, of course. The new supply of floats will be useful for the succeeding year, or years.

Your commissioner has the gratification of reporting extra care and careful attention of the caretaker.

Some of the accounts have been met by the other municipalities already and will appear in the June financial statement of the county.

We hope to maintain traffic for the balance of the season with comparative safety to the public.

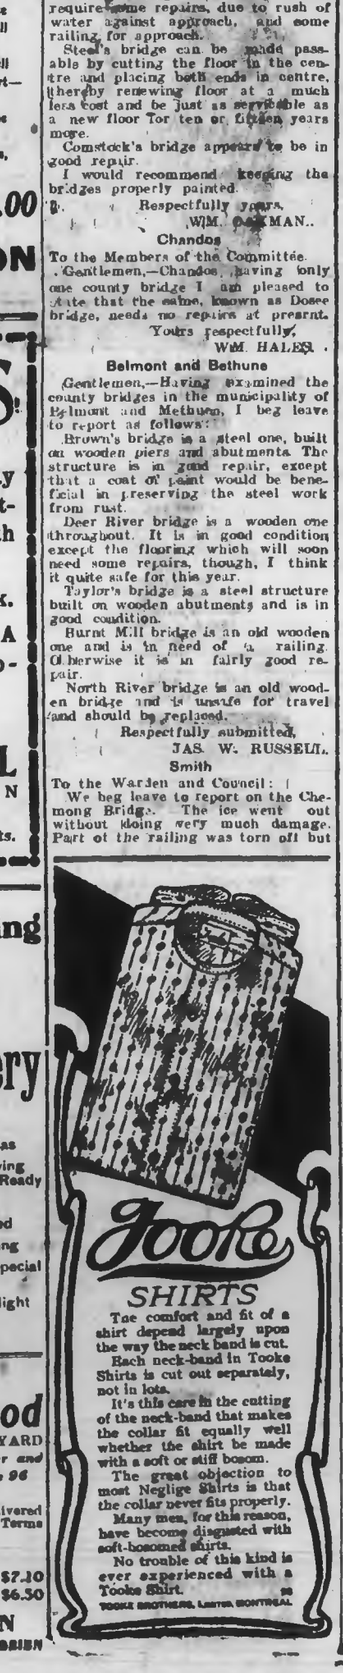
Respectfully yours.
S. KILLEN,
Commissioner.

Galway and Cavendish

I visited the Black Lake Creek Bridge, Cavendish, recently, with the intention of making preparations for re-building, but found that owing to the very heavy rains this spring, the water was still too high to commence operations, and upon investigation, I find I will have no difficulty in securing the necessary timber for rebuilding the same. I think the month of August or September will be the proper time to do this work. I might say that in consultation with the caretaker of those waters, I was informed that all driving would be through by that time, and that he would lift the stop-logs and let the water off.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHAS. COBEN.



The comfort and fit of a shirt depend largely upon the way the neck band is cut.
Each neck-band in Tooke Shirts is cut out separately, not in lots.
It's this care in the cutting of the neck-band that makes the collar fit equally well whether the shirt be made with a soft or stiff bosom.
The great objection to most Negligee Shirts is that the collar never fits properly.
Many men, for this reason, have become disgusted with soft-bosomed shirts.
No trouble of this kind is ever experienced with a Tooke Shirt.

MANY FARM POSITIONS VACANT

Good Farm Hands are Wanted in the County

Mr. and Mrs. J T Lane arrived at Quebec on Sunday morning after crossing from the Old Country on the Kensington. They were directed to a farmer named Finlay at Hest's Station by the Salvation Army but the farmer did not need them. The local immigrant agent is trying to place them to-day with a farmer at Fraserville.

A letter for Richard Trim bearing a Stockwell post mark has been left with Mr. Howson.

There are many farm positions awaiting desirable men.

ILLEGITIMATE FISHING BEING DONE

During Close Season—The Minimum Size of Bass and Lunge

Fishery Inspector Watt reports that during the close season for bass and 'lunge he secured four nets, two spears, six snares and six gaffs and that he had four convictions. He states that the spawn was well protected this year and that the fish will be plentiful.

He is hearing rumours that undersize fish are being caught since the season opened and wishes to inform the public that the minimum length of 'lunge is 24 inches from the V of the tail to the tip of the nose. Bass must be 10 inches in length and no more than eight can be caught by one person in a single day. The limit in 'lunge is four per day. It is his intention to enforce the fishery laws in this respect.

REFRESHMENT STAND ON BANKS OF THE OTONABEE

Peterborough and district is getting more like New York every day. Just this week a refreshment stand roughly but strongly built has been erected by Mr. J. Levasseur on the shore of the Otonabee at the southern end of Park street. It is calculated to supply the weary canoeist with a refreshing drink when he has journeyed farther down stream than his strength would allow.

A QUESTION WITH ONLY ONE ANSWER

The problem which confronts the ladies of Peterborough and suburbs now that the sweet summer days have come is, where can I have my shirt-waists, suits, blouses, evening coats, fancy dresses, etc., made up in the latest and most up-to-date style, and the answer to this question is, go straight to "The New York Ladies' Tailoring," 658 George street. See for yourself the style, price and finish to their garments. Don't forget, it's your custom we want, not the price. Open evenings until eight o'clock. 'Phone 624. BROAD SPIRIT OF LOVE WAS BEAUTIFULLY EXPRESSED AT I.O.O.F. DECORATION SERVICE

Graves at Little Lake Cemterey Today Bear the Tokens of Love Unforgotten — Large Numbers Visits Cemetery With Oddfellows

CEREMONY OF DECORATION

Then forget not the dead, who are evermore nigh us,
Still flatingo smoothes, to our dream haunted bed;
In the loneliest hour, in the crowd they are bye us;
Forget not the dead, oh! forget not the dead.

"To every man upon this earth, death cometh, soon or late," but the Independent Order of Odd Fellows does not allow the inevitable call of Death to terminate the fraternal relationships that are formed within its ranks. Yesterday evening the Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges of the I. O. O. F. held their annual decoration ceremonies at the Little Lake Cemetery, thereby continuing to perpetuate the beautiful custom of paying a tribute to the memory of their departed members.

The occasion was one of unusual significance. Each little awarded mould of earth, the only visible reminder of the brother whose eyes have since closed in their long sleep, but whose spirit has passed on to its eternal reward, each grave was visited and a floral token left on it as an offering to those cherished ties of love which are still unbroken. The impressively beautiful city of the Dead, clad in a wealth of verdure and flowers, touched many heart strings yesterday. Old loves were awakened, old memories recalled, old joys and sorrows were shared again. The Odd Fellows' service vividly portrayed the divinity of love. It makes the whole world akin. It is the central of the three links of Odd Fellowship. It is the bulwark of the Order. (With hoops unbreakable it unites the members as the withe does the sheaf. The ceremony was a beautiful lesson on the power of love, and those who witnessed it could not but have appreciated the appropriateness of the function.

A Large Gathering

The Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges assembled at the Central Park at five o'clock and marched to the cemetery. The Peterborough Band headed them and presented a good appearance in their summer suits. There was a very large concourse of people, many of the general public went down during the early part of the day and strewed flowers on the graves of their departed friends. Many of the members of the Order were in the parade and each carried a handsome bouquet of flowers. The people did not cease coming until dark, when the last of a throng that numbered thousands left the mournful city of monuments and graves after an unspoken farewell to the memory of some loved one.

Thus the I. O. O. F. have by their example made general the beautiful custom of paying this tribute and today there was scarce a grave that had been forgotten.

The Ceremony

In front of the chapel the men were drawn up in two lines and a prayer offered up by Rev. C. H. Coon, which the band played "Nearer My God to Thee." The members were divided into five sections to carry out the decoration duties.

The leaders of the sections were as follows:

Section No. 1—Bro. Wm. Freeburn, P.G.
Section No. 2—Bro. F. Wise. P.G.
Section No. 3—Bro. W. S. Robinson, P.G.
Section No. 4—Bro. M. Breckenridge.
Section No. 5—Bro. Wm. Hill, P.D. D.G.M.

Bro. J. W. Miller, P.D.D.G.M., acted as Master of Ceremonies.

Each section of men had a certain number of graves to visit. At each grave the name of the departed brother is read. A brief biographical note is made and a floral token left on the grave. A verse or phrase is recited at each grave, such as "The memory of the just is blessed."

There is a different selection for each grave.

Addresses

This ceremony over the people gathered on the eastern slope of the cemetery when short addresses were given by Rev. C H Coon, who acted as chairman, Ven. Archdeacon Batty, Rev. Robt Pogue and Rev. E A Pearson.

Each speaker dwelt on the impressive beauty of the function which had been carried out and on its appropriateness. The effect on the members of the Order and on the public would be that they would leave the graveside resolved to love their brothers better, that life is too beautiful, too dear to be sullied by petty dislikes. The Order was commended for perpetuating this custom which has caused a day to be known as Decoration Day and the hope was expressed that it would never be relinquished. The act is a Christian one, and is a proof that the people believe in the hereafter as God desires them.

In conclusion it may be said that the cemetery under Bro. Frank Wise is in excellent order and appeared to advantage yesterday.

BOARD DECIDES TO TAKE ACTION

Against the Peterborough Light and Power Company for Opening Up Street Without Permission

The Board of Works decided last night to notify the City Solictor to take legal action against the Peterborough Light & Power Company, who have started to lay gas mains on Charlotte street. The Board determined some time ago to take action against the opening of streets without permission, and this is the first case since the resolution was passed.

The Board last night visited the waterfront at the end of Simcoe street for the purpose of discussing what is to be done there to allow of the drainage of the stagnant water.

The Sons of England cricket club expect to play a game with the Peterborough branch of that order on Dominion Day in Peterborough. There will be a big S.O.E. celebration that day in that town, and the cricket match will be among the attractions. The local club are practising faithfully, and expect to give their opponents a good game.—Lindsay Warder.

OLD AGE ANNUITIES ARE TALKED OF

Mr. Fielding's Bill in the House of Commons.

ADVANCES TO THE BANKS

Opposition Record Their Disapproval of the Act—Plan to Move Western Crops Endorsed by the House—Votes For Public Buildings—Several New Works Were Postponed Till Next Year.

Ottawa, June 19.—The Opposition placed themselves on record yesterday as opposed to the steps which the Government took in the fall of last year to aid the movement of grain from the west during the financial stringency. When Hon. Mr. Fielding asked the House to endorse the loans made to the banks Mr. Foster took the ground that the Government were not warranted in taking the action they did, and charged them with having violated the law. Hon. Mr. Fielding admitted that there had been a technical departure from the strict letter of the law, but that the gravity of the crisis justified the action of the Government. The security for the loans had never been in doubt; the farmers had been assisted, a crisis averted, and the money all paid back, the country having lost not a cent. In the course of the debate the Finance Minister stated that under similar circumstances he would do the same again. In a very effective speech Hon. Frank Oliver emphasized the extraordinary position taken up by the Opposition, and eventually the bill legalizing the advances passed. Hon. Mr. Fielding's old-age annuities bill was afterwards discussed and passed through committee on the second reading, and the remainder of the session was spent in Committee of Supply on the public works estimates, considerable progress being made. Among the items passed were those of the Toronto postoffice and military buildings. The Opposition wanted these votes to stand because the members for the city were absent, but the Minister of Public Works and other members on the Government side insisted that the Ontario votes should all go through, and the Conservatives after a wrangle gave way.

Mr. Oliver replying to Opposition criticism, said he discovered in this financial legislation proof of the assertion that the Government is not only helpful in times of prosperity, but also when conditions are adverse. It was all right now to say that the Government played the part of thieves in taking the money from the reserves, but it was necessary.

"We can say to the country," said Mr. Oliver with warmth, "that if the Opposition should come into power and such conditions should arise, they would not meet it."

Mr. Fielding's bill to authorize the issue of Government annuities for old age was also discussed in committee and stands for third reading.

The House got into estimates and passed a number of votes for public buildings in British Columbia and military buildings in Ontario.

Some of the military items caused considerable discussion; in fact, after a week of peace, the members are getting into a fighting mood again.

Mr. Pugsley finally struck out several Ontario military buildings, saying the Minister of Militia thought he could get along without them and this was a year of economy. The list of buildings dropped included the new magazine at Kingston, veterinary hospital at Kingston, magazine and new gymnasium, London; additional stores buildings, Kingston, and gun and wagon sheds, Ottawa.

Mr. Pugsley promised that if two more items were allowed to pass he would consent to adjournment, but on the Opposition agreeing the Minister asked for a few more votes. This precipitated a lively discussion.

Before the House rose at midnight all the Ontario public buildings' votes were passed.

Betrayed by Countryman.

Montreal, June 19.—An officer of the Roumania Government named Costachesku is held by the local police on a demand from his Government for his extradition on a charge of stealing the sum of 60,000 francs.

He was betrayed by a fellow-countryman, who first got 20,000 francs from him under threats of exposure. The betrayer then boarded a steamer for Liverpool, where he will be arrested.

PATENT PROPOSALS DELAYED.

Complaint of Dilatory Methods In British House of Commons.

London, June 19.—(C.A.T.)—In the Commons, responding to Joynson Hicks, who asked if proposals might not be made to the Canadian Government of the reciprocal character affecting the validity of the patents of both countries, Winston Churchill said the committee will, in accordance with the resolution of the Imperial Conference, ascertain the views of the self-governing colonies on the question of uniformity of the patent laws. In the meantime the Government could not approach a single colony.

Comments are made of the fact that the lapse of twelve months sees nothing done to carry out the conference's resolution.

Churchill denied the report that the Austrian Government is exhibiting in Vienna, 15,000 samples of manufactured articles in demand in Canada. The truth was that an Austrian merchant placed some samples in the commercial museum at Vienna.

TAFT GETS FIRST BALLOT.

702 Delegates Vote For Him For President—Loudly Cheered.

Chicago, June 19.—For President of the United States, William H. Taft of Ohio.

Taft on the first ballot.

Taft by 702 votes.

Taft by unanimous choice of the convention.

Such is the record of the culminating day of the Republican national convention of 1908, effected amid scenes of tumultuous enthusiasm and after a nerve-racking continuous session lasting nearly eight hours.

With the President named, another platform enunciated there remains only the nomination for vice-president to complete this momentous work.

Last night the whole city was given over to wild exultation in honor of the new candidate, whose name goes echoing through the country.

END OF HODGINS' CHARGES.

Committee Will Report No Case For Investigation.

Ottawa, June 19.—The committee of enquiry into the Hodgins' charges by a vote of 3 to 2 will report that Major Hodgins has withdrawn his charges and there is nothing to investigate.

All yesterday afternoon the committee talked to little purpose. Haughton Lennox took the position that it was not a question whether Major Hodgins could make out a case. Hodgins was merely a witness. The point was, whether the contractors were being paid more than they should be paid.

Mr. Barker insisted that letters of Chief Engineer Woods of G.T.P. to Chief Engineer Lumsden of the N.T.R. containing charges of over-classification were sufficient upon which to go on with the enquiry.

Killed by Sulphuric Gas.

Raleigh, N.C., June 19.—Daniel Jones, Frank Spikes and Haywood Lee (white), all of this city, were killed yesterday at the Raleigh Phosphate Works, on the outskirts of the city, by the escape of sulphuric acid gas in one of the rooms. Three others were overcome.

Tecumseh, June 19.—A celebration was held at Pike Creek, two miles from here, yesterday in honor of the 100th birthday anniversary of Pierre Johin, who was born in St. Jean, Que., where he married his first wife in 1833.

In 1845, two years after the death of his first wife, he married Louise Roger of St. Roch, who is still living now, being 87 years of age. Eight children, 77 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren assisted in the celebration.

Innocent Bystander Killed.

Memphis, Tenn., June 19.—In an effort to arrest John Wiley, an Illinois Central Railroad freight conductor, yesterday, John Lloyd, a bystander, was shot and killed, presumably by Wiley. Detective Lawless, who attempted to make the arrest, and a negro woman, name unknown, were also shot, but not dangerously wounded.

The shooting occurred on a crowded thoroughfare.

Wife Killed Husband.

Little Falls, N.Y., June 19.—Martin Finn, a farmer, was instantly killed by his wife, Elizabeth, as he lay asleep in his home in Salisbury, N.Y., early yesterday. Mrs. Finn used an axe. Mrs. Finn walked to the home of her mother, a mile distant, where she drank paris green and chloroform. She probably will die.

ACCUSED OF BURNING THE HOTEL

Tillsonburg Man Sent For Trial on Heinous Charge.

REVENGE IS ALLEGED MOTIVE

Witnesses Swear That Accused Had Made Threats of Vengeance — Had Been on the "Indian" List and Refused Drink—Alleged to Have Owned Himself Guilty—Three Lives Were Lost at This Fire.

Tillsonburg, June 19.—Chester Buckborough appeared before Police Magistrate Rare yesterday, charged with setting fire to the Queen's Hotel, when three lives were lost. After the crown evidence was heard the young man was committed for trial. None of the defence witnesses were called, but the cross-examination of the crown witnesses revealed an intention to try to prove that the fire had not originated in the lower part of the house, as Mero claims, but in the third storey, and therefore could not have been started by the prisoner. The evidence given by the last crown witness made a commitment inevitable, however.

W. E. Barkey, electrician, on behalf of the crown, testified that he had wired the hotel in accordance with the rules of the underwriters, and was confident that it was safe. He had read about fires being started by defective wires, but had never had such an experience.

John Mero, proprietor of the burned hotel, told of having been wakened by his wife, had looked down the front stairway and saw the flames burst beneath the stairs. He escaped by the back stairs, and at the back door as he stepped out, he saw Buckborough a few feet distant in the passage leading to the street. The fire had originated under the front stairs, where the toilet paper was stored and where there was nothing kept that could cause spontaneous combustion. He had examined the electric wires and found them all right.

He had known Buckborough a long time, and the young man had been an annoyance to him and every hotelkeeper for fifteen years. Buckborough was on the "Indian" list, but came into the hotel occasionally and tried to get liquor. He had been put out of the house several times and had been arrested. Buckborough had called him vile names and threatened that he would get even with him. The back door of the hotel was not locked at night, and anyone familiar with the premises could get in.

Joseph Snowden said he was working in the livery barn the night before the fire occurred, and ran out to the street as soon as he heard the alarm. When he got to the hotel he saw Buckborough, to whom he said, "It looks as if the building was going up," and Buckborough replied, "Let the —— go." He and Buckborough were the only two persons on the street at the time.

Robert Hawthorne, proprietor of the feed stable in connection with the hotel, said that while the hotel was burning Buckborough came to his barn and said he had "got even with that cock-eyed ——."

Thomas Exley, veterinary surgeon, said he had conversed with Buckborough about Mero in the spring after Mero had put Buckborough out of his hotel, and Buckborough said he would get even.

Louis Swartz, an employe of Becker's livery, said that he slept in the office of the livery the night of the 19th, and when he went to sleep at 11 o'clock Buckborough was sitting in a chair at the foot of the couch. About 5 o'clock in the morning he was wakened by Buckborough, who said, "Lou, there is a fire." He got up and went to the door and then the bell rang. When he was up at 1 o'clock Buckborough was still in the chair and he thought Buckborough could not have left the barn without waking him.

Charles Crossitt said he talked to Buckborough the morning of the fire, and said to him, "This is a pretty bad thing," and Buckborough replied, "I did it." Crossitt then said, "You had better keep quiet," but told Chief Chilton what Buckborough had said.

Cross-examination did not weaken Crossitt's evidence, which completed the crown's case.

W. E. Kelly, the prisoner's counsel, claimed that there was no evidence that Buckborough was guilty and asked for his discharge, but the magistrate decided that he must commit. He would not consider the question of bail, leaving that to be dealt with by the county judge. Buckborough will be taken to the county jail to-day. A local subscription has been taken up for his defence.

Showing Motive Was Jealousy.

Summerside, P.E.I., June 19.—A sensation was produced at the Doherty trial, when Stella McDonald testified that on one occasion, when Louis McMillan, the adopted brother of the victim, started to go home with her from church Doherty stepped in and forbade him.

A fight then ensued between the two men. This evidence is considered important by the prosecution towards further establishing the motive of jealousy.

Stabbing at Hamilton.

Hamilton, June 19.—Leo Barry and Henry Ainsborough were yesterday locked up on the charge of aggravated assault. Joe Since, an Italian, at James and Ferrie streets. The Italian was injured so seriously he had to be taken to the city hospital. He was stabbed behind the right ear.

Disguise That Failed.

Port Huron, Mich., June 19.—Fleeing fro. Thedford, Ont., where he is wanted on a burglary charge, James Henry, an Indian, aged 32, blacked his face and thus disguised attempted to cross over into the United States.

He thoughtlessly neglected to blacken his hands and the Port Huron immigration officers placed the man under arrest.

The Napoleon (Foot-rite) Shoe
Gives Toe Freedom

Squeezing, Pinching, Toe-Deforming.

Napoleon (Foot-rite) Toe Freedom Toes.

"That's where the shoe pinches." Where? Everywhere in the ordinary shoe, which is merely a foot straitjacket, but principally in the toes.

The toes in nearly all shoes are not made wide enough, nor high enough, nor long enough, neither are they shaped like the toes. They're simply straight and stiff on the bottom, soft, collapsible and round on the top, and tapering V-shaped to the front point of the shoe.

Into this low, stubby, narrow, tapering, squeezing, pinching, toe-deforming shoe, man jams his toes. What happens to those toes? Corns, bunions, ingrown nails, twisted toes, and other pain-producers.

The Foot-rite Shoes are a radical reform in shoe toe construction. Their toes are built long, wide and high and are formed precisely like the shape of the foot's fore-part. The toes which inhabit them never touch the sides, nor the top, nor the end except by voluntary muscular action. They touch only the bottom on which they lie flat, and free to move at will in any direction. And the arched roof over them is not made of paste and cloth as in other shoes. It's a canopy of pliable sole leather which sustains its arched from stubbornly, relieving the toes from roof pressure and abrasion and maintaining the shoe's box toe handsomeness.

Ask to see Napoléon Foot-rite Toe Freedom Toes. You'll find a welcome as warm, whether you wish to buy or just to see.

Anywhere in America, Canada or Great Britain—$5.00 to $8.00. Every pair Goodyear Welted.

QUALITY vs. PRICE
It is not what you pay—but what you get—that proves the bargain. The best ideas, the best materials, the best workmanship, cost more because they mean a better finished product.
A woven wire bed at $3 or $4 is more expensive in the end than a "Banner" Spring Bed at $8—because the "Banner" will outwear half a dozen woven wire beds.
"Banner" Spring Bed
is the right idea, because steel spirals, properly made, form the only bed that will adjust itself to every curve of the body—and at the same time, never "sag" or pull out of shape.
The "Banner" is made of the best steel spirals, which have been oil tempered like a sword blade. The quality of the steel, and the special process of tempering, give these spirals the strength and springiness of a fencing rapier.
Attaching the spirals to steel bands, which in turn are riveted to angle iron sides, insures the "Banner" being both rigid and noiseless, and also enables it to fit metal beds without slats.
The "Banner" Spring Bed is a bed of quality. At its price—$8—it is the most economical you can buy.
This trademark guarantees satisfaction in Springs, Mattresses and Pillows. Look for it whenever you buy. 15

Jack Crough Easily Won The Howden Trophy Last Night

Won the Three Jumps and Shot —Ernie Wilson Cleaned Up the Mile and 220 Yards Dash—The Sports Well Contested

BIG CROWD WAS ON HAND

J. E. Crough easily won the Howden trophy at the annual Y.M.C.A. field day of sports held last evening at the Oval, being successful in winning all the field events, which gave him twelve points. Ernie Wilson cleaned up two out of the three track contests, while Fred McGrath had no difficulty in winning the 100 yards, the only event in which he entered.

A large crowd was present for the meet and much interest was taken in the different events, which were keenly contested and provided plenty of amusement for the crowd. The competition was most successful, the events being pulled off quickly and the affair was over before dark. Some good time was made, notably in the mile, which Ernie Wilson won in 4.38, a splendid effort.

The 100 yards event was run in two heats. Fred McGrath, the well-known sprinter, had no trouble winning the first heat from O'Connor and Adamson in 11 seconds, and Ernie Wilson showed his ability as a "dasher" by beating out Hillier and Roe, the time being 11 3-5 seconds. In the final McGrath again won easily, with O'Connor second and Adamson third.

The 220 yards was a pretty rush, Wilson winning by about three feet from Ralph Hillier, while Adamson was third. The time was 25 2-5 seconds.

The mile race brought out a field of eight, but soon resolved itself into a duel between Wilson and Thorpe. Williams took the lead at the start, while Wilson and Thorpe trailed, but before the first lap was over Thorpe went out in front, closely followed by Wilson. The two immediately proceeded to draw away from their field, all but Hillier dropping out. Thorpe led to the western turn, 280 yards from the finish, when Wilson sprinted past him and led him home by about three yards. The time was 4.38.

Crough showed himself to be a very clever "lepper" by winning all three of the jumps in a manner that demonstrated his superiority over the rest of the field, and made the cup his for sure by cleaning up the shot-put.

THE Y.M.C.A. CHIEFTAINS WIN CHURCH LEAGUE HONOURS

The Y. M. C. A. Chieftains captured the championship of the Junior Church League yesterday afternoon by defeating St. Andrew's Church team in an exciting and lively struggle at Riverside Park by 7 runs to 6. The game was of a see-saw nature all the way, and kept the large crowd agog all the time. The Saints had a lead of 4—0 up to the end of the third, when four errors, three bases on balls and Brown's two-bagger netted the Chieftains four runs, tieing up the game. St. Andrew's took the lead in the fifth, only to lose it when the Y. M. C. A. youngsters counted two in their half. They increased their lead to 7—5 by scoring again in the sixth. Both teams were blanked in the seventh and eighth, and when the Saints came to bat in the ninth they needed two to win. They succeeded in scoring one amid great excitement on singles by Ray and Giroux, but the latter was caught stealing third and the game was over, the Chieftains retaining the Bradburn trophy for one year.

Kirns pitched for the winners and Cresswell, a left-hander, did slab duty for the Saints. Both pitched fine ball, but Kirn had better control and was more effective in tight places, keeping the Saints' hits well scattered. Cresswell was not hit hard but his wildness in the third aggravated by some bad errors, gave the Chieftains four runs and the game.

The fielding was not gilt-edged; both sides slipping up at critical moments, but at times some fast, snappy work was done. Crane did some splendid fielding around second for the winners. Wade, of the Saints, had two pretty catches in right field, robbing Crane of a hit in the second by a running grab of a high low fly along the right field foul line. Both catchers performed splendidly, throwing excellently to bases.

The game was always exciting and the youngsters played clever ball throughout. There is some promising material among the players of the two teams, and it is to be hoped that the league will be re-organized next season.

Mr. H. R. Kenner umpired most satisfactorily.

ST. KITTS WALK PROVED TO BE A FAILURE FINANCIALLY

The St. Catharines Star-Journal says:

The six-day walking race in the Phelps street roller rink was continued last evening, but an unfortunate contretempts occurred at 9 o'clock which put a different look on the probabilities as to who the winners will be. It was stated by a prominent sporting man who is closely connected with the management of the event, that the affair was the outcome of a conspiracy concocted in the hotel in which the out-of-town walkers staged, and directed to the breaking up of the race.

The occurrence came about in this way; the attendance so far has been very slim and the contestants imagined that the event would be a failure, and that they would not receive enough prize money to compensate them for their work. Last night there was a big growl over the matter, and at 9 o'clock, as if by prearranged signal the out-of-town walkers left the track. The four local contestants pluckily stuck to the race and will certainly finish in the leading four places.

Guerin, Spencely, Stacey, Harrison and Stevens were the quitters.

The management decided to close the night's work at half-past ten and to walk fifteen minutes longer to-night and Friday night.

It is understood that the outside walkers with the exception of Guerin and Spencely left town this morning. Guerin, it is said, will remain here having secured a position in town.

The management looks for a big attendance every night till the close of the match. Adults will be admitted free to-night after 10 o'clock. Guerin and Spencely will probably be back in the race to-night.

SHOULD BE BIG CROWD TO SEE THE HAVELOCK-QUAKER GAME

The Quakers have a strong line-up for their game to-night at Riverside Park against the Havelock eleven. They were defeated by two goals at Havelock, but they were somewhat handicapped there by not having their regular line-up. The visitors will arrive on the five o'clock train and the game will begin about 6.30 o'clock.

The Quakers need assistance and all their friends should turn out and help them along by ten cents each. They will be rewarded with seeing a good, fast, clean game. Kenneth Kidd, of Warsaw, will referee. The Quakers team will probably be:

Goal—McFadden.
Backs—Evans, Maddock.
Half backs — Scrimshaw, Fitzgerald, Hitchins.
Forwards—Best, Brodie, Huston, Crough, Archibald.
Spares—Allerton, Barrie, Sisson.

ATHLETICS AGAINST PETES AT RIVERSIDE PARK TO-MORROW

A great game of ball will be seen at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon when the Peterboroughs and Athletics clash in a Midland League game that should be a hummer. The Athletics will go on the field with a re-organized team and will have a line-up that they are confident will extend the Petes to the limit. They will likley be strengthened by O'Halloran, Mackerel, Glynn and other well known Toronto ball players for the game, which will fill up all the weak spots. With Quinlan and Rattray as a battery, the Athletics will have a most formidable line-up.

The Peterboroughs will have their regular line-up on, realizing that they have one of the hardest games of the season before them. Clemente and Edmunds will be a battery and the regular outfield and infield will be behind them.

The game will start sharp at three o'clock and it is likely that Jack Rosevear of Port Hope will umpire. It is the first meeting of the two local teams in a league game and there should be a big crowd on hand to see what will undoubtedly be a lively and interesting contest all the way.

GAMES IN THE CITY LEAGUE

Will be Played To-night and To-morrow Afternoon

To-night the Y.M.C.A. and Wellingtons play in a postponed game at the Oval. The teams are to be on the grounds at 6.30 o'clock in order to get going at once.

To-morrow afternoon two games will likely be played. Any club that has not paid up all their fees before to-morrow afternoon will not be considered in the league. The T.A.S. and Strathconas will play the second game.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, June 19. — To-day had been looked forward to for some time by the bulls as a day that would probably furnish favourable opportunities to take profits on stocks recently bought. There was a sharp rise at the opening among some of the rails, and the moderate buying by commission houses was accompanied by a better demand through foreign houses than has been witnessed for some days.

The amount of selling proved in excess of this buying, and the highest prices of the day were those recorded right at or near the opening. The Republican platform as adopted was much more satisfactory than had been feared it might be. As the market fell to-day the bears took on more courage, and were able to bring about a good setback. The bull interests are not at all aggressive in their operations, but they are nursing this short account.

The passing of the Republic Steel dividend and the reduction in the Louisville & Nashville dividend from six to five per cent. had a very unsettling effect on sentiment, particularly among investors, and to-day's decline was in great measure due to this. It looks as though the break might go considerably further. The closing was weak at about the lowest for the day.

PETERBORO' WALKERS HAVE RETURNED HOME

Jim Harrison and Spencely, two of the Peterborough walkers who have been taking part in the St. Catharines walk, returned home from the Garden City last night, bringing back with them the story of the utter failure of the six-day race. The attendance was ghastly, the total gate receipts for the first three nights being $16, and it was no wonder the walkers quit on Wednesday night. About fifty were present on Monday night, thirty on Tuesday, and only three paid admission on Wednesday. The event was not advertised at all and half the people of St. Kitts did not seem to know anything about the affair. Only a few small posters were in evidence, and the papers did not take up the affair. The band was present only on the first night.

Harrison says that Stacey of Toronto, who was in the lead when the men quit, is a fine walker. He is only 21 years of age and stands six feet three inches.

The funeral which was very largely attended was held to the English Church Cemetery at Apsley.

Grants To Exhibitions To Be Same As Last Year

County Council Makes No Changes —More Committee Reports— Inspector Brown's Verbal Report

DEPUTATIONS WERE HEARD

During yesterday afternoon's session of the County Council, reports from the Property Committee and Joint Committee were submitted. They were as follows:

To the Members of the Council:

Gentlemen,—

I respectfully ask permission to lay before you, not a regular report, but an explanation from your Joint Committee, with reference to the effecting of a lease of the park to the Horticultural Society.

The same, being county property, and properly speaking, under the supervision of the Property Committee, yet in accordance with Clause 2 of the Finance Committee report at the January session, your chairman consulted the chairman of the Property Committee, who, with myself, thought it advisable, not considering any hurry necessary, to defer matters until we met at this session, and before the close of the session we hope to be able to report a satisfactory lease, signed by all parties required to sign such.

Respectfully yours,

C. J. DARLING,

Chairman Joint Committee.

To the Members of the Council:

Gentlemen,—

Your Property Committee herewith, through your humble servant, beg to report by way of sub-report to your Council, the following:

Referring to Clause 1 of the County Property Committee, January last, your committee appointed, namely:—Messrs. Brown and myself, having discussed the matter, that is, the repairing of the steps and walk to the Court Clerk's office, decided to leave the matter over until the present session, from the fact that material and men would be more available now and could be reached by your committee at less cost to the county, due to the fact that we could attend to it along with our sessional duties.

With reference to Clause 2, we have authorized the expenditures that will be presented to your Financial Committee, barring some smaller accounts that will come in later, the same being repairs to jail and residences, the account for clothing for the old poor in the jail, your treasurer thought it wise to have laid before the Board of Audit in duplicate, thereby enabling him to send it to the department with the expectation of some reimbursement from the Government, the results not being known yet, as the returns have not come back yet. Other repairs have been ordered to the county offices, which are now under way. This seems to be an abnormal year from the fact that repairs that seemed absolutely necessary cropped up.

With reference to the negotiations between the city and county with regard to county property or park, the chairman of the Joint Committee will report upon the same in accordance with Clause 2 of the Finance Committee at the January session.

Trusting that any suggestion or comment will be cheerfully given, as I can assure you that it will be appreciated.

Respectfully yours,

W. J. PORTER,

Chairman, Property Committee.

A Douro Deputation

On motion of Messrs. Moloney and Holes a deputation from Douro, namely Messrs. Hamilton and O'Brien, addressed the council, asking for assistance to repair a hill and make it passable, said hill known as O'Brien's Hill. This was referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Moved by Messrs. Scott and Moloney that East Peterborough and West Peterborough Agricultural Societies be granted each $150 and Lakefield Agricultural Society $50 and Lakehurst, Keene, Kinmount Societies each $25.00 for the year 1908.

It was moved in amendment by Messrs. Coben and Porter, that the grants be the same as last year, namely, East and West Peterborough Societies get $100 each, Lakefield $25, Keene $25, Kinmount $25, Lakehurst $25.

An amendment to the amendment was moved by Messrs. Graham and Moore that the grants be, East and West Peterborough $100 each, Lakefield $50, Lakehurst $25, Kinmount $25, Keene $25.

The amendment being the only one supported by a majority of the council, was declared carried, namely, that East and West Peterborough get $100 each, Lakefield, Kinmount, Keene and Lakehurst $25 each.

This Morning's Session

The council met this morning at 9 o'clock with Warden Thompson in the chair. Matters of insurance were discussed after which the council was addressed by Mr. J Coyle Brown, P. S. I. Mr. Brown stated he had no formal report to make as he had presented one in January and would again next January. During his work through the country he had found manifest an extraordinary spirit of compliance with the school laws by the trustees and teachers. The desire has also been manifested by not a few to discard the old school houses for the new and he believed the recent changes made in the school laws were working well. He was busy getting out examination papers for promotions and he believed the promotions would be more uniform and just this year than ever.

The council then went into committee.

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System has just made an important announcement in connection with the movement of passengers from Eastern to Western Canada. Commencing June 14th, and daily thereafter, the agents of the Grand Trunk in Ontario and Quebec, and connecting lines, will be able to issue all classes of tickets from Eastern to Western Canada via Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis at the lowest current fares by any route.

As the Grand Trunk Railway have a double track to Chicago from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Woodstock, Ingersoll, London and other principal stations in Quebec and Ontario, and maintains a superior train service including the famous "International Limited," it is expected that many passengers will prefer to travel by way of Chicago. In addition to this advantage, the Grand Trunk now offers the choice of seven connecting lines between Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, while north of St. Paul and Minneapolis, a choice of three connecting lines will be available. Many Canadians have friends and relatives residing at Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other large American cities passed through by the new routes, who will doubtless appreciate the opportunity thus afforded of a brief visit at the stations in such cities.

All arrangements have been completed so that the baggage of passengers will be carried through the United States in bond without requiring any special attention on the part of passengers, and there will be no detention or inspection of such passengers at any point in the United States.

While through cars will not at present be operated beyond Chicago, it is believed that many passengers making so great a journey will much prefer the comfortable transfer at points like Chicago and St. Paul into freshly ventilated clean cars. The connecting lines from Chicago are credited with running some of the finest limited and other passenger trains on the American continent.

Another feature of the new route is the electrification of St. Clair Tunnel which has now been completed, and all trains are handled by electric locomotives. It will interest those who have in the past heard or imagined that under the former methods of handling trains through the tunnel there was occasionally a disagreeable odor from engine gases, to know that now under the new electrical equipment and its operation, the element of gases and smoke are entirely eliminated and that the inside of the Tunnel is as bright as day.

The Shipment Of Canadian Apples To The Old Country

Canadian Boats Sometimes Carry 20,000 Barrels --- The Liverpool Fruit Exchange a Wonderful Place--- The Magnitude of the Industry

From the Canadian Dairyman

The principal market and distributing point for apples, in Great Britain is Liverpool. It receives more than half of all the apples exported from North America. The quick Atlantic service, so essential to the apple trade, gives Liverpool a great advantage. About 20 per cent. of the apple exports go to London, a similar portion to Glasgow, and the remainder is distributed.

Most of the shipments of apples that arrive in Liverpool, no matter to whom they may be consigned, are sold by auction in the amphitheatre of the Fruit Exchange. There buyers of fruit have been accustomed for many years to congregate; and there also those who have fruit to sell find their best and readiest market. Sales are held three times a week, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. In busy seasons a session is often prolonged till after nightfall. The morning newspapers contain notices of all offerings, and each of the firms constituting the Exchange prepares printed catalogues for distribution among the buyers. These catalogues are very elaborate, often exceeding twenty pages, each page eighteen inches long. An extract taken from one of them will show how a carload of 150 barrels of apples arrived and was treated:

The shipment, it will be noticed, arrived in bad condition. Something must have gone wrong with it; for other consignments in the same boat arrived in good condition and sold well. Alexanders are notoriously bad shippers. The numbers 355, etc., indicate the lots into which the consignment was divided. Two of the lots are full sized. The miscellaneous character of the rest necessitated a more minute division, which was a disadvantage. The figures in brackets (1) represent the samples exhibited in the salesroom, the lots themselves being still in the shed at the dock, three or four miles away, where the purchasers accept delivery.

The Liverpool Fruit Exchange is the most celebrated of its kind in the world. It is a union of six old and time-honored firms that occupy a building in common, where they have their offices and a large salesroom. The building is a well-known structure centrally situated, unpretentious in appearance, but commodious, with extensive vaults for storing samples. The sale-room is in the form of an amphitheatre, having a seating capacity of about 250. The seats rise in semi-circular tiers, and a gallery overhangs. Along one side extends a narrow elevated platform from which the auctioneer dominates the scene. On the platform with the auctioneer and the officials of the Exchange usually appear a number of visitors, Spaniards mostly, interested in the sale of oranges, or some other of the many commodities offered; occasionally also a Canadian, interested in the sale of apples. The body of the room contains, throughout the day of sale, a concourse of buyers from all over the northern and central counties of England. The focus of interest is the circular space on the floor in front of and below the auctioneer. As each lot is called, the samples, usually two in number, rise from the cellarage in full view of the buyers. One of the barrels or boxes is at once seized by two stalwart attendants, and its contents are emptied into a large wicker basket. Sometimes an outburst of laughter greets a ludicrous revelation. "Ornament," Shakespeare says, "is, in a word, the seeming truth which cunning times put on to entrap the wisest." But the wise jobber is not entrapped nowadays by the outward show of a barrel of apples. Nowhere is the value of a good reputation more apparent than in the salesroom of the Liverpool Fruit Exchange. When the cable report reads: Spies, 12s. 6d. to 18s., one may safely ascribe 15. 6d, of the top figure to the good reputation of some well known brand.

Sales begin promptly at 10 o'clock, and each firm occupies 40 minutes, varying regularly the order of precedence, the first, one day, being the second the next, and so on. After the first round, smaller sized lots are taken up in the same order. The auctioneer is usually one of the leading members of the firm. The buyers have always a good knowledge of the quality and condition of each lot, for the day before, they were at the dock while the steamer was unloading, and had abundant opportunity of examining the fruit. The auction system of buying and selling is developed in England as it is nowhere else, and the skill of the auctioneer and the promptness of the bidding soon reach the point where "any advance?" meets with its final response. The vast amount of business transacted and the accuracy and thoroughness that characterize every transaction cannot fail to impress the visitor with genuine admiration: and the recognized integrity of the firms that comprise the Exchange, and the numbers and varied interests of the buyers, give shippers of apples every assurance of an absolutely square deal.

Scarcely less interesting is the scene at the dock when a Canadian apple boat is unloading its cargo. The long, wide street is filled with busy activity. The barrels are being deposited by the steamer's derrick in sling-loads, or else are rolling slowly down a slide in continuous procession. Hand-trucks are rattling in all directions along the concrete floor, carrying barrels to the spaces allotted each consignee. There busy attendants receive the barrels, classify and arrange them according to brand variety, grade, and condition. Prospective buyers are passing from group to group, like bees among apple blossoms, opening barrels, examining the contents and carefully replacing the covering. The Dominion inspector, a most useful functionary, is unobtrusively taking notes for his report to the Department at Ottawa. Policemen, customs officers, watchmen, are not wanting; and over all may be heard the directing voice of the shed superintendent.

In the busy season it is not unusual for a Canadian boat to carry upwards of 20,000 barrels. Yet these are all received, arranged and catalogued in one day, and sold with perfect order and precision the next. Simultaneously at other docks similar scenes may be enacted. A boat load of onions from Alexandria, oranges from Jaffa, lemons from Sicily, bananas from the Canary Islands, oranges, or grapes from Spain, to say nothing of other apple boats from America.

The magnitude of the commerce of Liverpool may be judged when one considers that the fruit trade is only a small fraction of its total amount. A visitor cannot but contemplate with astonishment and wonder the intricate succession of docks, basins, slips, all of solid masonry, extending for miles along the river front, fourscore vessels of great tonnage arriving daily; and the enormous warehouses and endless trains of heavily-loaded wagons and drays; and crowds of busy workmen. Nor is it possble to resist the conclusions that are presented with overwhelming force from all sides, connecting England's wealth and progress with their just causes. It is freedom to trade and right dealing that have enriched and exalted England above all other nations.—E. J. McIntyre.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED HIS LIFE

Mr. Dingwall was Superintendent of St. Andrews Sunday School in Williamstown for nine years and License Commissioner for Glengarry — and Tax Collector for Charlottenburg—for fourteen years continuously. Read how strongly Mr. Dingwall comes out in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Williamstown, Ont., April 5th., 1907.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a life long sufferer from Chronic Constipation and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring, I had a severe attack of bladder trouble with kidney trouble, and "Fruit-a-tives" cured these complaints for me, when the physician attending me had practically given me up. I am now over eighty years of age and I can stronghly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for Chronic Constipation and bladder and kidney trouble. This medicine is mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action. 147

"Yes, yes; I know. I thought I could give you up, but I didn't realize till you had gone how I wanted you. Oh, it's been a torture to me every day for the past two years." There was no semblance now to the cold creature she had appeared upon entering the gambling hall. She spoke rapidly, her whole body tense with emotion, her voice shaken with passion. "I've seen men and men and men, and they've loved me, but I never cared for anybody in the world till I saw you. They ran after me, but you were cold. You made me come to you. Perhaps that was it. Anyhow, I can't stand it. I'll give up everything, I'll do anything, just to be where you are. What do you think of a woman who will beg? Oh, I've lost my pride! I'm a fool—a fool—but I can't help it!"

"I'm sorry you feel this way," said Glenister. "It isn't my fault, and it isn't of any use."

For an instant she stood quivering, while the light died out of her face; then, with a characteristic change, she smiled till the dimples laughed in her cheeks. She sank upon a seat beside him and pulled together the curtains, shutting out the sight below.

"Very well!" Then she put his hand to her cheek and cuddled it. "I'm glad to see you just the same, and you can't keep me from loving you."

With his other hand he smoothed her hair, while, unknown to him and beneath her lightness, she shrank and quivered at his touch like a Barbary steed under the whip.

"Things are very bad with me," he said. "We've had our mine jumped."

"Bah! You know what to do. You aren't a cripple. You've got five fingers on your gun hand."

"That's it! They all tell me that—all the old timers. But I don't know what to do. I thought I did, but I don't. The law has come into this country, and I've tried to meet it halfway. They jumped us and put in a receiver, a big man by the name of McNamara. Dex wasn't there, and I let them do it. When the old man learned of it, he nearly went crazy. We had our first quarrel. He thought I was afraid"—

"Not he," said the girl. "I know him, and he knows you."

"That was a week ago. We've hired the best lawyer in Nome—Bill Wheaton—and we've tried to have the injunction removed. We've offered bond in any sum, but the judge refuses to accept it. We've argued for leave to appeal, but he won't give us the right. The more I look into it the worse it seems, for the court wasn't convened in accordance with law, we weren't notified to appear in our own behalf, we weren't allowed a chance to argue our own case—nothing. They simply slapped on a receiver, and now they refuse to allow us redress. From a legal standpoint it's appalling, I'm told. But what is to be done? What's the game? That's the thing. What are they up to? I'm nearly out of my mind, for it's all my fault. I didn't think it meant anything like this or I'd have made a fight for possession and stood them off at least. As it is, my partner's sore and he's gone to drinking—first time in twelve years. He says I gave the claim away, and now it's up to me and the Almighty to get it back. If he gets full he'll drive a four horse wagon into some church or go up and pick the judge to pieces with his fingers to see what makes him go round."

"What 're they got against you and Dextry—some grudge?" she questioned.

"No, no! We're not the only ones in trouble; they've jumped the rest of the good mines and put this McNamara in as receiver on all of them, but that's small comfort. The Swedes are crazy. They've hired all the lawyers in town and are murdering more good American language than would fill Bering strait. Dex is in favor of getting our friends together and throwing the receiver off. He wants to kill somebody, but we can't do that. They've got the soldiers to fall back on. We've been warned that the troops are instructed to enforce the court's action. I don't know what the plot is, for I can't believe the old judge is crooked—the girl wouldn't let him."

"Girl?"

Cherry Malotte leaned forward where the light shone on the young man's worried face.

"The girl? What girl? Who is she?"

Her voice had lost its lazy caress, her lips had thinned. Never was a woman's face more eloquent, mused Glenister as he noted her. Every thought fled to this window to peer forth, fearful, lustful, hateful, as the case might be. He had loved to play with her in the former days, to work upon her passions and watch the changes, to note her features mirror every varying emotion from tenderness to flippancy, from anger to delight, and at his bidding to see the pale cheeks glow with love's fire, the eyes grow heavy, the dainty lips invite kisses. Cherry was a perfect little spoiled animal, he reflected, and a very dangerous one.

"What girl?" she questioned again, and he knew beforehand the look that went with it.

"The girl I intend to marry," he said slowly, looking her between the eyes.

He knew he was cruel—he wanted to be. It satisfied the clamor and turmoil within him, while he also felt that the sooner she knew and the colder it left her the better. He could not note the effect of the remark on her, however, for as he spoke the door of the bar opened, and the head of the Bronco Kid appeared, then retired instantly with apologies.

"Wrong stall," he said in his slow voice. "Looking for another party." Nevertheless his eyes had covered every inch of them—noted the drawn curtains and the breathless poise of the woman, while his ears had caught part of Glenister's speech.

"You won't marry her," said Cherry quietly. "I don't know who she is, but I won't let you marry her."

She rose and smoothed her skirts.

"It's time nice people were going now." She said it with a sneer at herself. "Take me out through this crowd. I'm living quietly, and I don't want these beasts to follow me."

As they emerged from the theater the morning air was cool and quiet, while the sun was just rising. The Bronco Kid lighted a cigar as they passed, nodding silently at their greeting. His eyes followed them, while his hands were so still that the match burned through to his fingers; then when they had gone his teeth met and ground savagely through the tobacco so that the cigar fell, while he muttered:

"So that's the girl you intend to marry? We'll see, by God!"

CHAPTER VIII.

THE water front had a strong attraction for Helen Chester and rarely did a fair day pass without finding her in some quiet spot from which she could watch the shifting life along its edge, the ships at anchor and the varied incidents of the surf.

This morning she sat in a dory pulled high up on the beach, bathed in the bright sunshine and staring at the rollers, while lines of concentration wrinkled her brow. The wind had blown for some days till the ocean beat heavily across the shallow bar, and now, as it became quieter, longshoremen were launching their craft, preparing to resume their traffic.

Not until the previous day had the news of her friends' misfortune come to her, and although she had heard no hint of fraud, she began to realize that they were involved in a serious tangle. To the questions which she anxiously put to her uncle he had replied that their difficulty arose from a technicality in the mining laws which another man had been shrewd enough to profit by. It was a complicated question, he said, and one requiring time to thrash out to an equitable settlement. She had undertaken to remind him of the service these men had done her, but, with a smile, he interrupted. He could not allow such things to influence his judicial attitude, and she must not endeavor to prejudice him in the discharge of his duty. Recognising the justice of this, she had desisted.

For many days the girl had caught scattered talk between the judge and McNamara and between Struve and his associates, but it all seemed foreign and dry, and beyond the fact that it bore on the litigation over the Anvil creek mines, she understood nothing and cared less, particularly as a new interest had but recently come into her life, an interest in the form of a man—McNamara.

He had begun with quiet, half concealed admiration of her, which had rapidly increased until his attentions had become of a singularly positive and resistless character.

Judge Stillman was openly delighted, while the court of one like Alec McNamara could but flatter any girl. In his presence Helen felt herself rebelling at his suit, yet as distance separated them she thought ever more kindly of it. This state of mind contrasted oddly with her feelings toward the other man she had met, for in this country there were but two. When Glenister was with her she saw his love lying nakedly in his eyes, and it exercised some spell which drew her to him in spite of herself, but when he had gone back came the distrust, the terror of the brute she felt was there behind it all. The one appealed to her while present; the other pleaded strongest while away. Now she was attempting to analyze her feelings and face the future squarely, for she realized that her affairs neared a crisis, and this, too, not a month after meeting the men. She wondered if she would come to love her uncle's friend. She did not know. Of the other she was sure—she never could.

Busied with these reflections, she noticed the familiar figure of Dextry wandering aimlessly. He was not unkempt, and yet his air gave her the impression of prolonged sleeplessness. Spying her, he approached and seated himself in the sand against the boat, while at her greeting he broke into talk as if he was needful only of her friendly presence to stir his confidential chords into active vibration.

"We're in turrible shape, miss," he said. "Our claim's jumped. Somebody run in and talked the boy out of it while I was gone, and now we can't get 'em off. He's been tryin' this here new law game that you all brought in this summer. I've been drunk. That's what makes me look so ornery."

He said the last not in the spirit of apology, for rarely does your frontiersman consider that his self indulgences require palliation, but rather after the manner of one purveying news of mild interest, as he would inform you that his surcingle had broken or that he had witnessed a lynching.

"What made them jump your claim?"

"I don't know. I don't know nothin' about it, because, as I remarked previous, I ain't followed the totterin' footsteps of the law none too close. Nor do I intend to. I simply draws out of the game fer a spell and lets the youngster have his fling. Then if he can't make good I'll take the cards and finish it for him.

"It's like the time I was ranchin' with an Englishman up in Montana. This here party claimed the misfortune of bein' a younger son, whatever that is, and is grubstaked to a ranch by his people back home. Havin' acquired an intimate knowledge of the west by readin' Bret Harte and havin' assim'lated the secrets of ranchin' by correspondence school, he is fitted ample to teach us natives a thing or two, and he does it. I am workin' his outfit as foreman, and it don't take long to show me that he's a good hearted feller in spite of his ridin' bloomers an' penuchle eyeglass. He ain't never had no actual experience, but he's got a Henry Thompson Seton book that tells him all about everything from field mice to gorrillys.

"We're troubled a heap with coyotes them days, and finally this party sends home for some Rooshian wolfhounds. I'm fer pizenin' a sheep carcass, but he says:

"'No, no, me desh man; that's not sportsmanlike. We'll hunt 'em—aye, hunt 'em. Only fawncy the sport we'll have ridin' to hounds!'

"'We will not,' says I. 'I ain't goin' to do no Simon Legree stunts. It ain't man's size. Bein' English, you don't count, but I'm growed up.'

"Nothin' would do him but those 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' dogs, however, and he had 'em imported clean from Berkshire or Sibeery or thereabouts, four of 'em, great big blue ones. They was as handsome and imposin' as a set of solid gold teeth, but somehow they didn't seem to savvy our play none. One day the cook rolled a rain bar'l downhill from the kitchen, and when them blooded critters saw it comin' they throwed down their tails and tore out like rabbits. After that I couldn't see no good in 'em with a spyglass.

"'They ain't got no grit. What makes you think they can fight?' I asked one day.

"'Fight?' says H'Anglish. 'My deah man, they're full blooded. Cost seventy pun each. They're dreadful creatures when they're roused. They'll tear a wolf to pieces like a rag, kill bears, anything. Oh, rully, perfectly dreadful!'

"Well, it wasn't a week later that he went over to the east line with me to mend a barb wire. I had my pliers and a hatchet and some staples. About a mile from the house we jumped up a little brown bear that scampered off when he seen us, but, bein' agin a bluff where he couldn't get away, he climbed a cottonwood. H'Anglish was simply frothin' with excitement.

"'What a misfortune! Neyther gun nor hounds.'

"'I'll scratch his back and talk pretty to him,' says I, 'while you run back and get a Winchester and them ferocious bulldogs.'

"'Wolf hounds,' says he, with dignity, 'full blooded, seventy pun each. They'll rend the poor beast limb from limb. I hate to do it, but it'll be good practice for them.'

"'They may be good renders,' says I, 'but don't forgit the gun.'

"Well, I throwed sticks at the critter when he tried to unclimb the tree till finally the boss got back with his dogs. They set up an awful holler when they see the bear—first one they'd ever smelled, I reckon—and the little feller crawled up in some forks and watched things, cautious, while they leaped about, bayin' most fierce and blood curdlin'.

"'How you goin' to get him down?' says I.

"'I'll shoot him in the lower jaw,' says the Britisher, 'so he cawn't bite the dogs. It'll give 'em cawnfidence.'

"He takes aim at Mr. Bear's chin and misses it three times runnin', he's that excited.

"'Settle down, H'Anglish,' says I. 'He ain't got no double chins. How many shells left in your gun?'

"When he looks he finds there's only one more, for he hadn't stopped to fill the magazine, so I cautions him.

"'You're shootin' too low. Raise her.'

"He raised her all right and caught Mr. Bruin in the snout. What followed thereafter was most too quick to notice, for the poor bear let out a bawl, dropped off his limb into the midst of them ragin', tur'ble seventy pun hounds an' hugged 'em to death, one after another, like he was doin' a system of health exercises. He took 'em to his bosom as if he'd just got back off a long trip, then, droppin' the last one, he made at that younger son an' put a gold filling in his leg. Yes, sir; most chewed it off. H'Anglish let out a Siberian wolf holler hisself, an' I had to step in with the hatchet and kill the brute, though I was most dead from laughin'.

"That's how it is with me an' Glenister," the old man concluded. "When he gets tired experimentin' with this new law game of hisn, I'll step in an' do business on a common sense basis."

"You talk as if you wouldn't get fair play," said Helen.

"We won't," said he, with conviction. "I look on all lawyers with suspicion, even to old baldface—your uncle, askin' your pardon an' gettin' it, bein' as I'm a friend an' he ain't no real relation of yours, anyhow. No, sir. They're all crooked."

Dextry held the western distrust of the legal profession—comprehensive, unreasoning, deep.

"Is the old man all the kin you've got?" he questioned, when she refused to discuss the matter.

"He is—in a way. I have a brother, or I hope I have, somewhere. He ran away when we were both little tots, and I haven't seen him since. I heard about him, indirectly, at Skagway—three years ago—during the big rush to the Klondike, but he has never been home. When father died I must go and live with Uncle Arthur—some day, perhaps, I'll find my brother. He's cruel to hide from me this way, for there are only we two left, and I've loved him always."

She spoke sadly and her mood blended well with the gloom of her companion, so they stared silently out over the heaving green waters.

"It's a good thing me an' the kid had a little piece of money ahead," Dextry resumed later, reverting to the thought that lay uppermost in his mind, "'cause we'd be up against it right if we hadn't. The boy couldn't have amused himself none with these court proceedings, because they come high. I call 'em luxuries, like brandied peaches an' silk undershirts.

"I don't trust these Jim Crow banks no more than I do lawyers, neither. No, sirree! I bought a iron safe an' hauled it out to the mine. She weighs 1,800, and we keep our money locked up there. We've got a feller named Johnson watchin' it now. Steal it? Well, hardly. They can't bust her open without a stick of 'giant' which would rouse everybody in five miles, an' they can't lug her off bodily—she's too heavy. No. It's safer there than any place I know of. There ain't no abscondin' cashiers an' all that. Tomorrer I'm goin' back to live on the claim an' watch this receiver man till the thing's settled."

When the girl arose to go, he accompanied her up through the deep sand of the lanelike street to the main muddy thoroughfare of the camp. As yet the planked and graveled pavements which later threaded the town were unknown, and the incessant traffic had worn the road into a quagmire of chocolate colored slush, almost axle deep, with which the store fronts, show windows and awnings were plentifully shot and spattered from passing teams. Whenever a wagon approached pedestrians fled to the shelter of neighboring doorways, watching a chance to dodge out again. When vehicles passed from the comparative solidity of the main street out into the morasses that constituted the rest of the town, they adventured perilously, their horses plunging, snorting, terrified, amid an atmosphere of profanity. Discouraged animals were down constantly, and no foot passenger, even with rubber boots, ventured off the planks that led from house to house.

To avoid a splashing team Dextry pulled his companion close in against the entrance to the Northern saloon, standing before her protectingly.

Although it was late in the afternoon, the Bronco Kid had just arisen and was now loafing preparatory to the active duties of his profession. He was speaking with the proprietor when Dextry and the girl sought shelter just without the open door, so he caught a fair though fleeting glimpse of her as she flashed a curious look inside. She had never been so close to a gambling hall before and would have liked to peer in more carefully had she dared, but her companion moved forward. At the first look the Bronco Kid had broken off in his speech and stared at her as though at an apparition. When she had vanished, he spoke to Reilly:

"Who's that?"

Reilly shrugged his shoulders; then, without further question, the Kid turned back toward the empty theater and out of the back door.

He moved nonchalantly till he was outside, then with the speed of a colt ran down the narrow planking between the buildings, turned parallel to the front street, leaped from board to board, splashed through puddles of water, till he reached the next alley. Stamping the mud from his shoes and pulling down his sombrero, he sauntered out into the main thoroughfare.

Dextry and his companion had crossed to the other side and were approaching, so the gambler gained a fair view of them. He searched every inch of the girl's face and figure, then, as she made to turn her eyes in his direction, he slouched away. He followed, however, at a distance, till he saw the man leave her, then on up to the big hotel he shadowed her. A half hour later he was drinking in the Golden Gate barroom with an acquaintance who ministered to the mechanical details behind the hotel counter.

"Who's the girl I saw come in just now?" he inquired.

"I guess you mean the judge's niece."

Both men spoke in the dead, restrained tones that go with their callings.

"What's her name?"

"Chester, I think. Why? Look good to you, Kid?"

Although the other neither spoke nor made sign, the bartender construed his silence as acquiescence and continued, with a conscious glance at his own reflection while he adjusted his diamond scarfpin: "Well, she can have me! I've got it fixed to meet her."

"Bah! I guess not," said the Kid suddenly, with an inflection that startled the other from his preening. Then, as he went out, the man mused:

"Gee! Bronco's got the worst eye in the camp! Makes me creep when he throws it on me with that muddy look. He acted like he was jealous."

At noon the next day, as he prepared to go to the claim, Dextry's partner burst in upon him. Glenister was disheveled, and his eyes shone with intense excitement.

"What d' you think they've done now?" he cried as greeting.

"I dunno. What is it?"

"They've broken open the safe and taken our money."

"What!"

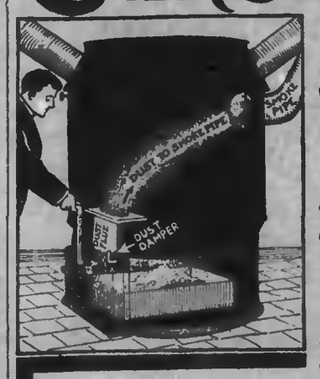
"Sunshine" Furnace



Where Shaking is Respectable

A Draft off furnace dome, with no other assistance, is powerless to overcome the dust nuisance in shaking time. Only surplus dust rises of itself above the fire. Great bulk descends into ash-pit, and unless legitimate outlet is therein provided, dust will escape through ash-door slits and into operator's face.

In "Sunshine" Furnace the legitimate dust outlet is provided. It's a great big dust-pipe running straight from ash-pit to dome, thence to chimney. When big pipe damper is opened, all dust in ash-pit ascends to dome; then, when direct drafts are opened, all dust passes up chimney.

Always the clean and quick dust route in "Sunshine" Furnace — via grate, to pan, to dust-pipe, to dome, to chimney, to open air.

The Real Purpose Of The Guelph Agricultural Farm

Gives Farmers' Sons an Idea of How Farms Can be Improved and How to Get Best Results—Not a Model for Whole Province

AN ADDRESS BY PROF. DAY

From the Canadian Dairyman

"People have the idea that the Ontario Agricultural College is a model Farm," said Prof. G. E. Day, acting president, to the excursionists from East Durham and West Peterboro, as he addressed them recently after they had partaken of one of the bountiful lunches for which the college is noted. "If it were a model farm," he continued, "it would have to be a model for the average farm of the province. This would be an impossibility, as the farms of Ontario are so varied. The college is run with a view of giving farmers' sons an idea of how farms can be improved, and to show them how to get the best results. Boys should not take any notice of the drudgery or hard work in connection with farming; they should rather look for results, considering rather what they are doing it for, and their motive for such work. Farming is the best business for anyone to-day. Statistics show that there are less failures in farming than in any other business."

The principal point of interest to the excursionists centered in the experimental plots to the rear of the college. Here the work was explained by Prof. C. A. Zavitz. The work of plant breeding has been receiving considerable attention. This was of great interest, as many had never before seen the work of plant breeding in operation. Several men were engaged on this work. It was explained fully to the crowd who gathered around this part of the field, eager to gain information about this comparatively new line of work. Through plant breeding and selection, much has been accomplished, and there are large possibilities for the future. The heads of different grains have been improved, harder strains of wheat have been evolved, and in some the straw has been strengthened. In some cases, wheat of greater hardness than either parent, has been evolved by crossing. The beards are being eliminated from barley, and even now, a variety of grain, perfectly beardless, has been obtained from a bearded variety by crossing the emmer with the spelt. The head of this new grain resembles the emmer, but is beardless.

Efforts are being made to obtain a six-rowed barley from the ordinary Mandscheuri barley that will be some what later, the idea being to get something that can be grown in mixtures with Siberian and Banner oats the Mandscheuri being too early for this purpose.

The experimental plots were not at their best, as owing to the early date, most of the varieties had not headed out. Some exceptionally fine rye was noticed, which would measure over six feet in length. The spring grains were all looking well for this season of the year.

Prof. Zavitz drew attention to a plot of winter barley. There is considerable risk in growing winter barley, but when it does winter well large yields are obtained. Last winter the winter barley killed out pretty badly leaving about only a third of the stand. Attention was drawn to the plots of grain grown in mixture. The largest yield of grain was obtained from a mixture of Daubeney oats and Mandscheuri barley. There was no advantage in growing mixtures of the same kind of grain by mixing varieties. A largely increased yield was obtained when oats and barley were sown in mixtures as above. Experiments were being caried on with different kinds of grain in competition, one class as against another in order to find out which would give the largest yield as a class. The results obtained so far showed that the emmer stood at the top, Mandscheuri barley next, with oats following. Taking it the province over, Mandscheuri barley gave a greater yield of grain than oats, besides leaving the land in better shape for succeeding crops.

In grasses and pasture mixtures the one year pasture crop, consisting of oats, early amber sugar cane, and red clover, drew considerable attention. This crop is sown in the late spring, and can be pastured the same season. The oats furnish the first pasture, and are followed by the sugar cane. After these have disappeared the red clover furnishes the necessary pasture.

A new thing in timothy was noticed. For many years but one variety of timothy has been grown in this country, but here was found a "pasture timothy." This plot, compared with the ordinary timothy possessed a much ranker leaf growth and showed no signs of heading, as did a variety of early timothy growing alongside. Some exceptionally fine plots of clover were much admired. In reply to a question Professor Zavitz said that the best time to cut clover for hay, was when the clover was all in head, and one-third turned brown.

On the farm in general, the live stock was the point of interest. Two of the Clydesdale mares had foals at foot, the one, "Pretty Sel," having an exceptionally fine foal by "Old McQueen." Her yearling foal, who is now a rising two year old, was a centre of attraction. He weighs 1500 lbs., and will doubtless weigh a ton or over ere he matures. The cattle were in good shape, and were the subjects of much inquiry on the part of the sightseers.

The corn on the farm was coming up nicely, the fall wheat had made an exceptional growth, and was in danger of lodging. The other crops were all that could be expected.

The new machinery hall at the college is a building well worthy of inspection. Here were found an aggregation of many of the modern farm implements that are at the disposal of the farmer, as well as a large collection of old machinery, and domestic utensils, relics of what our fathers made use of in the earlier days. A new device for cutting potatoes, whereby every piece would have an eye, as well as a new potato planter, were noticed, and are worthy of mention as being something new and up-to-date. These two machines worked perfectly, and gave the best of satisfaction in planting the potatoes at the college this season. The machinery department, which was a long felt want that is now a reality, is one of the best at the college. Here the student learns not only the use of different machines, but is taught to put them together, as well as how to repair them, thus becoming familiar with the working parts of the machinery. This is of special value in connection with the gasoline engine, self-binders, and other somewhat complicated farm machinery.

RESOLUTION TO COOL MILK PROPERLY

Passed at Cheesemakers' Association for Prince Edward County—Refuse Milk Not Up to Standard

COOL NIGHT'S MESS OF MILK

From the Canadian Dairyman

At a meeting of the Cheese-makers' Association for the County of Prince Edward, held in Picton, April 18, 1908, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:—

Whereas the cheesemakers of this district, aided by past experience, by the advice of government instructors, and by cooling of the milk by a large percentage of the patrons have brought the quality of cheese to a high degree of excellence and are of opinion that still further improvement may be achieved by the cooling of the night's mess of milk by every patron to a temperature of 60 degrees as soon as possible after milking especially during the months of July and August, and

Whereas a small quantity of milk too ripe or off flavor injuriously affects the quality of the whole milk-supply thereby depressing the value of the milk properly cooled—is unjust to the careful patron—and as unjustly increases the value of milk not properly cooled

Therefore resolved, That this Board very earnestly requests that every patron in this District cool the night's mess of milk to a temperature of 60 degrees as soon as possible after it is drawn from the cows,

And that we further solicit the aid and co-operation of the various Cheese Boards in the Province to attain the object above indicated, by interviewing their representatives in the Legislature of Ontario and by memorializing the Provincial Parliament and by appointing delegates to urge the consideration of this matter before the House at its next session to secure the passage of an Act of the Legislature making it compulsory on the part of every cheese-maker or his employer receiving milk at the factory to refuse all milk not up to the standard fixed by such act and imposing a penalty of not less than $10 or more than $25 for each contravention of the act wilfully and knowingly performed by such cheese-maker or his employee acting in his behalf.

That the Secretary of this Board prepare a copy of this resolution for publication in the "Canadian Dairyman" and also forward a copy thereof to the several Secretaries of the Cheese Boards of Ontario.—F. J. Roblin, Sec., Picton Cheese Board.

SOME LEAP YEAR LOVE TESTS

Flirtatious Maidens Send Them to Young Men They Love Best

There is a little token called the "love test" which the flirtatious maiden makes in leap year and sends to the young man she fancies most, or if she is the typical girl of 1908, practical, heart whole and fancy free, she send several of them to as many of her admirers.

A piece of cardboard 7 by 9 inches is selected and gashed in nine places to admit ribbons from an inch to an inch and a half in width. These are selected in colors corresponding with those in the couplets which are either lettered on the ribbon nitself or on the cardboard above it. The girl who is something of an artist may carry out the color scheme of the ribbons in a border of flowers painted around the sides and top, cutting the cardboard away from part of the flowers to make an irregular edge. Blue cornflowers black pansies, orange blossoms, yellow daisies, fern leaves, little brown button mums, red carnations, heliotrope and violets are painted in over the ribbons, which hang in a long irregular fringe and which, if well selected, make a beautiful color scheme when arranged in the order mentioned.

The maiden who is not overbold omits the white ribbon and uses it as a hanger, thus making it more difficult for the man to get it out, with the consequently better chance of tempting him to the coveted proposal. If the flowers are used, these couplets are lettered on the ribbons:

If to me your heart is true,
Send me back the blue.

If for me all thought you lack,
Send me back the black.

Should you think of the marriage rite
Send me back the white.

If you're already an engaged fellow,
Confess and send me back the yellow.

Should pique be what your cold airs mean,
Set me at rest and send the green.

But if at thought of me you frown,
Tell me the worst and send the brown.

If on thrills for me your heart is fed,
Quick, oh, quickly send the red!

If you are a friend for stormy weather,
Send the heliotrope, like purple heather.

If for what is past you suffer yet,
Send me back the violet.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

The hot weather months are an anxious time for all mothers, but particularly for young mothers. They are the most fatal months in the year for babies and young children, because of the great prevalence of stomach and bowel troubles. These come almost without warning, and often before the mother realizes that there is danger the little one may be beyond aid. It is the duty of every mother to use all reasonable precautions to ward off summer complaints. For this purpose no other medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets. An occasional dose will kee the stomach and bowels from all offending matter, and will ensure the little ones good health. If the trouble comes unexpectedly the Tablets will speedily cure it. Every home, therefore, should keep the Tablets on hand always; they may be the means of saving your child's life. They are guaranteed free from opiates and narcotics, and may be given with perfect safety to a new born babe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

FLOW OF MILK HERE EQUAL TO LAST YEAR

Mr. G. G. Publow Says Peterborough Is The Only County

From the Canadian Dairyman

According to the Chief Dairy Instructor, G. G. Publow, the make of cheese this year in Eastern Ontario will not exceed, if it is as large, as the make of last year. Mr. Publow was visiting the factories in the Peterboro section last week, and called in at the office of The Dairyman and Farming World. While crops generally are good, he says that cattle came through the winter in such poor condition that they are not doing as well as last year. In addition many farmers last fall sold a considerable number of their cows owing to the anticipated feed shortage. This, also, has tended to curtail a supply of milk. Peterboro, according to Mr. Publow, is the only section where the flow of milk at present is equal to last year. The creamery inspector reports that the make of butter in the creameries is, also, less than last year.

Mr. Publow states that never before were the cheese factories in Eastern Ontario in as good condition as they were this year. Several of the small factories in Eastern Ontario have closed. The instructors have been notified that they must insist on the requirements of the Sanitary Act being fulfilled.

Several cheese boards this year, that have been addressed by Mr. Publow, have passed resolutions instructing their factories not to ship any cheese less than a week old. There is a greater tendency this year than ever before to restrict the shipment of green cheese.

THE FOOD VALUES OF GRAINS

The Qualities of Wheat, Oats, etc., as Food for Fowl—Use Them Profitably

OATS PERHAPS THE BEST

From the Canadian Dairyman

During the high prices of grains on the market we often think that perhaps it is possible to rearrange the grains and food stuffs that we are using in the daily rations of our fowls and for that reason an explanation of the true value of foods will assist perhaps in making a cheaper yet substantial bill of fare. With a knowledge of their value and digestibility, the local market prices will readily determine in individual cases what ones can profitably be eliminated and what ones substituted.

Wheat: This is the most common grain used by poultry men and we find it supplied in various forms such as bran, shorts, coarse flour, and whole. As an exclusive whole grain it is not desirable, being deficient in protein or the flesh forming element, and somewhat deficient in fat. The bran of the wheat is good having nearly all the flesh-forming element, and is a good "corrective" when used in the mash. The shorts and coarse flour are high in the albuminoids or the egg forming material, and can to advantage be fed as the bulk of the mash feed. When saying that whole wheat is not desirable as the only grain feed I have in mind confined stock only because those flocks which have liberty can easily fill up from other seeds, etc., the deficiency in protean, fats or salts.

Turning now to the grain most used by our friends across the border we find:

Oats: This grain in its two forms, husk and whole. If it were not for the husk of the oats we would have in it a perfect food as it combines in the proper proportions those elements necessary for the perfect rebuilding of the body, hence also all the elements necessary for the making of eggs. This is the reason that cockerels raised on oats in any form grow to be such husky chaps and the reason that they grow so steadily and fast. But in the form of oat meal it is too expensive a food and in the whole it has perhaps too much of the husk. Consequently oats are generally fed in the mash form and certainly pay well where the price is not too high.

Barley: This grain is not as much used as it might be and compares favorably with wheat only that it has an excess of husk. But this must be fed cautiously as it affects the bowels sometimes. This grain, however, is more profitable to feed than is often imagined. It makes a splendid mash food.

Rice: Is a starchy food not much used and even though its price were high is not a very desirable food for any but growing stock and even then is not a paying grain.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

Pulls so Hard on the Stomach it Must Have Help.

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country makes stomach troubles. Five people suffer to-day where one did ten years ago with sick headache, dizziness, flatulence, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms of indigestion.

All who are suffering with stomach troubles, and that means at least two out of three in Peterborough and other towns, should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. Nothing else is as safe, yet effective; nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na.

So reliable is Mi-o-na that Wm. Madill, with every 50-cent box he sells, gives a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures.

SOMETHING ABOUT FRUIT PRESERVATION

Strawberries After Picking Should Never Be Left in the Sun

From the Canadian Dairyman

Weed the new strawberry patch and keep the surface soil well stirred. Remove all blossoms so that the strength of the plant may go towards the production of an abundance of runners. Larger and better berries may be secured by this system but not so many of them.

When picking strawberries, do not leave the berries in the sun. Choice fruit should be picked by pinching off the stem, touching the berry as little as possible. Do not remove the hull until preparing for the table.

Every garden should contain a number of salad crops and garnishes.

To have big, choice specimens of fruits from your trees, such as plums and peaches, thin the fruit on the limbs soon after they are well set.

All kinds of fruit trees and bushes should be sprayed. Where the plot is not large, get some of your neighbors to co-operate with you in the purchase of a small spraying machine.

When danger of frost is past plant sweet corn, cabbage and cauliflower and sow tender vegetables, such as cucumber, pumpkins, squash and melon.

The use of the water hose will give better results in the vegetable garden than if the weather alone is depended upon for moisture. The best time to apply water is in the evening, but water at any time rather than allow the garden to suffer from drought.

CREAM SEPARATOR IS NEEDED TO SECURE THE BEST PROFITS

From the Canadian Dairyman

Prof. H. M. Bainer of the Colorado Agricultural College in discussing the advantages of the hand cream separator says: Authorities on the subject of farm dairying will agree that any farmer who milks five cows or more and is either selling the cream or making butter of it, needs a centrifugal hand cream separator to secure the best profits.

The hand cream separator working under favorable conditions, does not leave more than one-twentieth of a pound of butter fat in 100 pounds of skimmed milk. The gravity systems and dilution separator methods of securing the butter fat will leave under favorable conditions, from one half to three-quarters of a pound of butter fat in 100 pounds of milk.

According to these figures, a farmer who uses a hand separator, and milks ten cows, which produce 60,000 pounds of milk a year, would lose in the skim-milk but 30 pounds of butter fat a year on the total amount of milk. By the other methods he would lose from 200 to 450 pounds a year. Figuring butter fat at 20 cents a pound there would be an annual loss of from $34 to $84 between the hand separator and the other methods.

Advantages of the Separator—Not only does the machine secure practically all the butter fat, but it delivers the skim-milk in a sweet, warm and undiluted condition ready to be fed to the calves. Very few dairy utensils are needed, as the milk is separated as soon as it comes from the cow, and the skim-milk is fed at once.

Less work is required to handle the milk in this manner than with the other methods.

The cream delivered from the separator is of uniform richness; it has had all the fibrous and foreign matter removed. The milk has not absorbed bad flavors and odors from standing around, and the cream is in excellent condition for ripening. Thus there is a gain in the quality and quantity of butter obtained.

Not only is the centrifugal separator of advantage in the production of fine butter, but it is equally advantageous in the purification of milk and cream for direct human consumption. Dairies improve the quality of their milk very much by running it through the separator and then mixing the milk and cream before bottling.

The average farmer cannot afford to hand the whole milk to the creamery, even if he is within hauling distance and the roads are good. The skim-milk often comes back in a cold half sour and coptaminated condition, which is unfit for feeding purposes. Even if it does come back in good condition, it is impossible to feed it regularly, and it is far from being equal to hand separator milk. Too much time is required to haul it to the creamery compared to the length of time required to separate it at home by hand. The hand separator cream, by careful handling, need not be hauled to the creamery oftener than every other day during the summer and perhaps not oftener than once in three days during the winter months.

A farmer who milks ten cows, obtaining from them, say 300 pounds of milk a day, or 150 pounds at each milking, should be able to separate it in fifteen minutes. This will require a separator of 600 pounds capacity an hour.

The avarage separator of standard or reliable make should last, with good care for twelve or fifteen years, with very few repairs.

BUTTER BEING MADE FROM WHEY

Average of Three Pounds From Every 1000 lbs. of Whey—Experiments at the Guelph Farm

THE NEW CASEIN TEST

From the Canadian Dairyman

The dairy department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, is doing considerable work in connection with the new casein test, as well as doing some work upon the whey butter problem. Mr. John Woods, who has charge of the work of this department, informed our editorial representative, that they were making a batch of whey butter every week. It was too early to state definitely what it will amount to, for it was uncertain how long such butter would keep. On the average about three pounds of butter was obtained from every 1,000 lbs. of whey. It was his opinion, however, that the making of whey butter would be all right in factories, if it were made for the farmer's own consumption. In this way, the farmer would be supplied with butter without having to retain a portion of his milk to supply this need. Of course one must have good milk to start with, or good whey butter could not be made.

Speaking of the new casein test, Mr. Woods stated that he had nine cows, three each of Ayrshires, Holsteins and Jerseys, with which he was working. The cows were being tested every week for a year, the idea being to test the variation of the fat with the casein contained in the milk. In general, as cows advance in fat, the percentage of casein also advances. From this it would appear to the casual observer that the Babcock test for fat would be an indication of the casein as well. To prove that it is not, the following case was cited: A farmer supplying milk with 5 per cent. fat, and 2 per cent. of casein, if paid by the percentage of fat, would get too much for that milk when it was used for cheese-making, whereas another farmer supplying 4 per cent. fat and 3 per cent. casein, would not be getting justice. A certain weight of the milk coming from the one farmer would be approximately as valuable as that from the other. The work along this line has not been carried on long enough to warrant the making of any definite statement as to results. The casein test is rather a complicated one, and requires considerable time to carry it through. Besides, it is an expensive test, as a considerable amount of chloroform is made use of, and this is expensive to buy, costing some $2.50 a pound. Mr. Woods gave it as his opinion that the casein test was not destined to come into general use in factories for some time, owing to the reasons stated.

The

"Hecla" Furnace

Each one of these four grates can be shaken separately

The outer edge of a furnace fire burns up quicker than the center.

This raises a wall of ashes between the firepot and the coals, just where the hottest part of the fire should be.

To heat the house properly and economically, these ashes must be removed whenever the furnace is attended to.

In most furnaces, all the grates are geared together. They must all be shaken together. As the coal burns unevenly, either good coal must be shaken down with the ashes, or the fire slightly shaken and the ashes and clinkers raked down with a poker.

In the "Hecla" Furnace, each of the four grate bars can be shaken separately. When ashes accumulate on the sides of the firepot, shake only the side bars. This means getting rid of all the ashes—saving coal—keeping the fire clean—and doing away with sifting ashes.

When the furnace is almost out, you can shake down the ashes farthest from the fire without disturbing the live coals, and quickly have a blazing fire.

Clinkers cause no trouble, as they do with grates that are fastened together and must all be shaken together.

It is certainly easier to shake one grate than four.

An Automatic Lock holds each bar in position. This Lock opens as the shaker is put on and locks when released.

"Hecla" Triangular Bar Grates may be removed in an instant and each bar replaced separately.

Our new catalogue describes the "Hecla" Bar Grates, Steel Ribbed Firepot, Fused Joints and other exclusive features. If you are going to put in a new furnace this year, write for a free copy. 56

SOMETHING ABOUT THE FRUIT CROP OUTLOOK FOR CANADA

From the Canadian Dairyman

The past winter has been very favorable for the fruit industry. With the exception of a few days in January, there were so snow blockades to interfere with the regular movement of apples from the storehouses in Ontario to the seaports. Few apples were injured by frost either in storehouses or in transit.

The most serious losses were in Nova Scotia warehouses as the result of the mild weather with excessive moisture in the atmosphere. Rots, moulds and other fungous diseases developed to a serious extent, particularly on fruit not altogether sound when stored. The reputation of Nova Scotia fruit was lowered perceptibly in the British markets from this cause.

Practically no serious injuries to trees have been reported, although the damage, caused by severe frosts in previous years in the Ontario fruit sections, is still showing in some localities, particularly among the older trees that bore heavily last season.

Apple trees everywhere have come through the winter well and are looking healthy and vigorous. Few injuries are reported from mice and rabbits.

Small fruits in Essex and the Niagara peninsula have come through the winter in excellent condition. Very little killing back is recorded.

Correspondents from Nova Scotia, Quebec and British Columbia report that fruit trees have come through the winter practically without injury.

To assist in estimating the marketable crop, the fruit districts of the Dominion are divided as follows:

District No. 1—Counties north of Lake Erie.

District No. 2—Counties on Lake Huron, and inland to York County.

District No. 3—Lake Ontario Counties north to Sharbot Lake and the Georgian Bay.

District No. 4—Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys to Lake St. Peter, and southwestern Quebec.

District No. 5—New Brunswick with northeastern Quebec.

District No. 6—Hants, King's, Annapolis and Digby counties, Nova Scotia.

District No. 7—Nova Scotia not included in District 6.

District No. 8—Prince Edward Island.

District No. 9—Lower mainland and islands, British Columbia.

District No. 10—Inland valleys, British Columbia.

APPLES

All varieties promise well with the possible exception of the Spy, Baldwin and Russet, where they bore heavily last year. All growth is sufficiently early to insure a season long enough for the full development of fruit.

In District 1 and in British Columbia the bloom is abundant and fully developed.

In Districts 2 and 3, bloom is not yet fully developed in the colder sections, and on the later varieties.

In Districts 4, 5, 6, and 7 only the earlier varieties are in bloom, but all the conditions are favorable.

PEARS

In Districts 1, 2, and 3, bloom is heavy, and the conditions are favorable for "setting." Trees are reported to be in excellent condition.

In British Columbia the Bartletts are reported to be somewhat light in bloom.

PLUMS

Japan plums wintered badly in District 3 along Lake Ontario, and plum fruit buds are reported scarce in Prince Edward. But the Japan varieties for the most part in Districts 1 and 2 came through the winter in good condition. In the commercial plum orchards in Districts 1 and 2 and in the Georgian Bay district the bloom is full, and the conditions otherwise are all very favorable for European and American varieties. British Columbia prospects are all favorable.

PEACHES

Peach trees came through the winter in excellent condition. There is an excellent promise for all varieties in the Niagara and Essex peninsulas. The majority of correspondents report prospects for a full crop. The bloom is more universal and somewhat heavier than last year. An encouraging feature is the statement by some correspondents that they expected to thin their peaches in nearly all varieties.

CHERRIES

Cherries have bloomed full everywhere. There has been no winter-killing nor early spring frosts.

GRAPES

Grapes have wintered well, look healthy and show an abundance of vines.

SMALL FRUITS

Strawberries have wintered well everywhere, but are a week or ten days later than usual in southern Ontario and in British Columbia.

Raspberries also wintered well with the exception of some old patches which suffered from the drought of last summer, and in a few instances where canes were broken by snowfall. Otherwise berries of all kinds look well.

The season in the northern sections growing small fruits is not so much later relatively as in the small fruit districts to the south. It is probable, therefore, that the home-grown fruit in the vicinity of Ottawa, Montreal, and other northern markets, will shorten the period during which shipments from the south will be profitable. The indications are that raspberries will overlap strawberries in the markets, as the former are relatively earlier than the latter.

FOREIGN PROSPECTS

The spring in Europe is much later than usual, and frosts and severe storms have done some damage to small and tender fruits. It is not likely the apple crop will suffer severely.

The prospects for the apple crop in the United States are favorable. The failure of the apple crop in the southwestern and western States last year, together with the fairly good growing season of 1907, has made it probable that the crop this year will be at least an average one. Up to the present there have been no unfavorable conditions to report.—A. McNeill, Chief of the Fruit Division, May 30th, 1908.

THE FRUIT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION

Election of Officers for the Ontario Society—Successful Year

From the Canadian Dairyman

The annual meeting of the Co-operative Fruit Growers, of Ontario, was held in Toronto on June 9th. Representatives from local associations in all parts of the province were present. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Hon. President, A. E. Sherrington, Walkerton; President, D. Johnson, Forest; 1st Vice-President, Robert Thompson, St. Catharines; 2nd Vice-President, James E. Johnson, Simcoe; 3rd Vice-President, Elmer Lick, Oshawa; acting Secretary and Treasurer, P. W. Hodgetts, Parliament Buildings, Toronto; Auditor, C. W. Gurney, Paris.

The report of the past secretary and treasurer, A. B. Cutting, Peterborough, pointed out the work that the association had done during the past year, and indicated progress. The delegates present expressed most favorable opinions respecting the work and worth of the organization. They look forward to a good crop this year, and a successful season. By the co-operation of all co-operative associations in the province only good can result. Every local association should send for information and become affiliated at once with The Co-operative Fruit Growers of Ontario.

ARE DEAD FROM IMPURE MILK

Loss of 15,000 Children per Year, Says Dr. Hastings of Toronto

From the Canadian Dairyman

"Impure milk is primarily responsible for the loss of 15,000 of the 30,000 children who die annually in Canada." This was the statement made by Dr. C. J. O. Hastings of Toronto, in a paper on the importance of pure milk read before the session on public health at the convention of the Canadian Medical Association held last week in Ottawa. Dr. Hastings strongly urged a more stringent inspection of the milk supply in every municipality, and he emphasized the paramount importance of the proper pasteurizing of milk in all dairies.

At the conclusion of the paper a committee was formed to wait on the Government with a view to securing more stringent regulations governing municipal inspection of milk.

WORKING HORSE NEEDS SOMETHING MORE THAN GRASS

From the Canadian Dairyman

Any practical man knows or should know that a horse which has to work hard during the day will not be able to obtain sufficient nutriment from pasture grass to keep him in condition and in shape for performing his daily work. A horse that works during the day should not have to stand up all night and pick grass from a pasture in order to keep from starving. The working horse needs rest for his tired limbs and sleep and comfort for his weary muscles. The majority of farmers feed their horses at least once a day during the summer season and some of them three times, yet others will work their horses and ask the horses to depend on grass alone for a living.

Grass, it is true, is an excellent condiment for horses that have been worked hard and fed heavily for some time. A horse that has become run down in condition, when turned to grass will rapidly pick up, if he is not worked too hard at the same time. But to expect a horse to do a day's work and gain his living from a pasture field is certainly asking too much. There is no better way of putting a horse or team out of condition than to start in by working them hard every day and then allowing the animals to depend upon grass for their support. While it may be advisable to allow working horses to go out to grass, the grass should be counted upon largely as a supplement to their regular feed and not made the whole ration as is frequently the case. It will cost something to feed them grain it is true and one often thinks, when he turns his horses out to grass after a day's work without feeding them that he is saving feed, and incidentally money. But a re-action is bound to come and if you do not supply the fuel or feed to the horse, you may rest assured you will not get returns, greater than what you have put into him of the work giving constituents of feed.

Unless the pasture is very good, and the stock when placed on the same is fat and strong, young growing animals, colts, calves or any other stock can be fed a little grain daily to advantage. If the stock is good, the extra feed will so improve the animal that it will be produced at less expense, and this supplementary feeding will make money for you, rather than add to the cost of production. A horse that is not worth feeding and feeding well all that he will eat clean is not worth keeping. The poor, half-fed animals are the ones that not only suffer themselves for food, but they cause their owners to suffer, as such animals are never anything but an expense. They are usually too weak to do their day's work and are too ugly and thin to sell for anything like what their real value should be.

If horses can be allowed in a field near a stable so that they can go to the stable at will and procure some dry hay or fodder, that has been placed there for them, they will do much better than when upon grass alone. At this season of the year, especially, when the grass is soft and tender and contains a large percentage of water, it is advisable to furnish some supplementary food to the horse on pasture. The horse's system seems to call for it, and they not only need it, but often suffer from the lack of such food during the pasturing season.

It is much easier to keep a horse in order by a little judgment and regular feeding than it is to get him into condition after he has once become run down and weak. Keep this in mind and do not allow your farm teams to get in poor flesh from overwork and lack of attention simply to save feed. Such a practice will undoubtedly increase your expense account instead of saving money as it often appears to the casual observer. There is nothing like grass to tone up stock, and all growing stock should be turned to grass as soon as it is good enough for them in the spring. With the work animals, however, grass alone is not a sufficient ration and if it is not supplemented by other feeds of a more substantial nature, the owner of the stock, while he may save money directly on the cost of the feed that he would otherwise give his animals, will lose much more through his stock becoming thin and out of condition, and being unable to perform the work that is required of them.

THE PROPER CARE OF CANARIES

From the Canadian Dairyman

Canaries may be fed twice a day. The food should be changed frequently. In the morning they may be given soft fruits, such as grapes with the skin broken, scraped apple, or hard boiled eggs, and in the afternoon raw carrots or red peppers. Do not give your bird sugar or other delicacies; it will endanger his health and spoil his song.

The beautiful red color so often seen in canaries is achieved in this way; just before the time for shedding the feathers arrives, and during the molting season, the bird is fed on crackers and eggs highly seasoned with cayenne pepper. This treatment quickly changes the feathers to a deep reddish hue, but must be given at every molting season or the natural light yellow feathers will reappear.

When a bird is in good health his feathers are sleek and adhere closely to his body. Whenever you see him sitting dull and bunchy, something is out of order. First consider if the molting season is approaching; if anything has frightened him; if he has been hung in a draft; if he can get at his food and water, and if they are sweet and clean, then remedy the cause.

Mites and other distressing parasites may readily be discovered by covering the cage with a white Canton flannel with furry side down. If they are the cause of the trouble they will show on the light surface.

To get rid of them take the bird gently in your hand and rub under the wings and his feathers a mite powder which comes for that purpose. Then dip the cage in boiling water for fifteen minutes, covering every part of it, including the cap on top, which is a breeding place for these vermin. If this is done once a month it will keep the cage free from all insects.

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

Anglican Synod Appoints Committee to Wait on Minister of Education—Want Better Facilities For Bible Teaching

MOTION BY MR. R. J. DEVEY

The Toronto Synod's report on education met with sharp criticism when it came up for discussion. The private schools mentioned therein, it was contended, did not all teach Church of England doctrine. Mr. R. J. Devey, of Peterborough, moved, and Mr. E. W. Trent seconded, that "It be an instruction to the Synod Committee on Education to publish in the next Synod journal the names of public schools visited by our clergy."

The mover of this instruction plainly stated that the present facilities for giving Bible instruction to public school children, did not make it easy for the clergy to act, but this motion would ascertain, if anything at all was being done along these lines. The instruction was negatived, but a substantive motion adopted that a committee wait on the Minister of Education for Ontario, and ask for additional facilities for Bible teaching in public schools during the next school year.

RODE BICYCLE IN 1866; WAS PROBABLY THE FIRST TO HAVE THIS PRIVILEGE IN AMERICA

Dr. J. W. Gray Saw First Bicycle at Cobourg When a Boy ---Just Brought into the Country---Quickly Learned to Ride It---A Description of its Parts

If not the first man in this country or even on this continent to ride a bicycle as he saw it in its embryd state in 1866, Dr. Gray, Sherbrooke street, is certainly among the first who enjoyed that privilege. It was not of the cushion frame, patent brake, rubber tire, roller chain variety, nor did it even have ball bearings. Compared with the comfortable 1908 model it was as uncouth and clumsy as Stephenson's engine alongside one of the modern moguls of our advanced railway system.

It was at Cobourg in 1866 when Dr. Gray was a youth that one day a man arrived in the city direct from the Old Country with three bicycles. He said they were the first ever brought across the ocean and at any rate it was in that form that the bicycle was introduced to the staid little town of Cobourg.

They were very cumbersome, crude and heavy. The doctor with several other friends was at the station when the man got off the train and obtained his bicycles from the baggage coach. They were the first that Dr. Gray ever saw, and needless to say, he was unaware of their purpose until informed by the owner.

The wheels were something like that of the ordinary wheelbarrow. The front one was bigger than the ordinary bicycle wheel and the rear one correspondingly smaller. The frame was heavy and was very different from that which is used today. The pedals were on the front wheel and no chain was necessary. The handle-bar was as straight as a mason's plumb line. There were no bars meeting at the seat from the front and rear forks. A support went from the rear wheel obliquely to the front forks, and the seat was uncomfortably placed on this. The wheels were wide, as stated above, and the machine generally was not intended for fast time.

As the newcomer was remaining in Cobourg Dr. Gray was successful in renting one and mastered its manipulation in a short time. He was able to make fair progress with it, and used to ride it frequently in the streets of Cobourg.

From this style of wheel the make evolved into the very high front wheel and small rear one. This proved a failure and the "safety" shortly followed and has been undergoing improvements every year.

Two Men Fell Down Elevator; Presence Of Mind Narrowly Averted Serious Accident

At the Quaker Oats Company's mills yesterday afternoon two of their employees nearly met death by falling down the leevator shaft. At the third floor a truck was being loaded on to the freight elevator, when someone below let it go down by pulling the rope. Mr. Lockhart, who attends the elevator, jumped and got the rope just in time to avert a serious accident. The elevator gate came down, hitting one of the men on the head. It is customary for Mr Lockhart to get off the elevator while a truck is being put on, but it happened that he did not get off at this particular time. If he had he would not have reached the rope so soon, and the men might have met their death.

BAKER'S HORSE IN A RUNAWAY AS FAR AS CEMETERY

A report was received of a fast runaway that Stocks' delivery horse made this morning. It was seen racing down Park street, where it turned at Lake and continued out Crescent street to the Little Lake cemetery, and went through the little gate at the side. It had left the cart somewhere on its route, but had the harness and shafts along with it. It was reported that some damage was done in the cemetery.

TEST CASE UNDER THE REVISED LIQUOR ACT WAS HEARD THIS MORNING BY THE MAGISTRATE

Young Man Who was On The "Black List" Told the Name of the Party from Whom He Obtained Liquor---Was Fined $10 and Costs

A fine of $20 and costs, amounting in all to $27.50, was the penalty handed out to Chas. Healey, at the police court this morning on a charge of assaulting Robt. Maxwell on Wednesday, June 17th. Healey first pleaded not guilty to the charge, but afterwards changed the plea to guilty and took the box in his own behalf.

The complainant himself was the first witness. He stated that Healey had come to him in the bar of the Windsor Hotel and called him out into the hall, saying that he wanted to speak to him. In the hall the prisoner called him a foul name and struck him with his fist. Some men had interfered and Healey had been put out of the hotel. When he thought the defendant had gone witness had started home on his bicycle. When he reached the corner of Hunter and Water streets Healey had rushed out at him and had knocked him off his wheel. His feet became entangled in the bicycle, and while he was in that position Healey had struck and kicked him, rendering him unconscious.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams testified to having seen Healey hit Maxwell several times with his fist, after the complainant had been knocked from his wheel.

Wm. Poulson gave similar evidence in regard to the assault on Water street.

Healey, after changing his plea to guilty, gave evidence to the effect that Maxwell had struck him in the Hotel, giving him a discoloured optic.

Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $20 and costs, amounting to $7.50, to be paid forthwith with the alternative of one month in gaol.

There was another charge against Healey, that he being a person addicted to the use of liquors, who had been blacklisted by the License inspector, had unlawfully procured liquor. It was the first case under the new act heard in Peterborough and considerable interest was taken in it on that account. Under the new clause, a blacklisted man who is found to have procured liquor contrary to the provisions of the act, must tell the name of the party from whom he obtained the same, on the penalty of three months in gaol should he refuse to do so.

Inspector Stewart, Jas. Healey, the defendant's father, and Patrick Hogan gave evidence as to the persons being served with a notice to the effect that he was blacklisted and Chief Rossel testified that Healey was interviewed at the time he was arrested.

The defendant was called to the witness stand by the prosecution and divulged the name of the hotel keeper from whom he had obtained liquor.

The magistrate inflicted a fine of $10 and costs to be paid forthwith with the alternative of one month in gaol.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant, while Mr. R. F. McWilliams acted for the city solicitor in the liquor case.

Crushed Beneath A Load Of Lumber, Farmer Near Norwood Meets With A Horrible Death

Norwood, June 20. — (special.) — While coming to this village with a load of lumber, Orbin Colby met a horrible death by being crushed beneath the waggon. He lived about 8 miles from here and was employed at Parker's mill. On the road the neck yoke broke coming down a hill. The waggon upset and the unfortunate man was horribly crushed under the load, and died in a few minutes. He leaves a wife and large family of small children.

STRAINED METEOROLOGICAL CONDITIONS

The gods of the air, the stewards of the dark storm clouds, the terrible deity who has charge of the aerial electric supply, and the watchman at the mill-dams on high, united in a big combine that resulted in one of the worst storms that has raged through this city in many months. After many advance notifications during the day, the storm broke about 6.30 o'clock with a downpour of rain that was accompanied by long rolls of thunder and lightning flashes. The cyclonic wind drove the rain in dense sheets, which at times cut off the sight to a short range. The crops were beaten down with the heavy flood, and the parched earth drank in the welcome water to saturation. This was the first act of the combine of the controlling powers. It did not last very long, for the skies broke in the west, and the deities retired for further preparation.

The Second Storm

After 7 o'clock, just as the dusk was gathering, the elements let loose their thunderbolts a second time. A wind storm ushered in the second display. It was like the overture to a grand opera. The wires whistled and sang in every key, lightning flashed, loose pieces of wood and paper were whisked about like straws, and the ensemble effect was very impressive. Old Zeus' hautboys then drew up the curtain, and straightway the "Frolic of the Gods" was on. In the growing darkness the electrical effects were grand. The lightning, in long zig-zags, with chain and fork effect, flashed at regular intervals over the centre of the city.

Damage Done

The flood of water gathered loose rubbish so rapidly at the intake pipes on the streets that they overflowed in many cases. The real path of the storm could be found. North of the city it was rather bad, but the wind exerted its combined strength from the city a distance about two miles south. The top of the grand stand at the exhibition grounds was lifted off its supports and blown into the road. The fence was blown down in patches here and there and the boards scattered everywhere.

Trees at the Court House, on Simcoe street, London street and in many parts of the city suffered from the wind. Trees at the Street Railway wharf were badly injured, and boards and loose articles at Rye's boat house were tossed about.

Free Methodist's Tents

The tents of the Free Methodists at the Exhibition Grounds were severely strained. Several small ones were blown down and the people had to seek refuge in the big building. The main tent was left hanging on its two poles, the side ropes being blown away.

Fruit Trees Destroyed

The storm reigned supreme as well along the Otonabee River bank, and this morning many residents there report much damage. Mr. John Holmes suffered the loss of about twenty-five small fruit trees, which were blown down by the cyclonic wind-storm. A large pine tree in his old orchard met a similar fate, and carried in its fall about six large trees. His wind-mill also came to grief and narrowly missed falling on a colt in the field. The telephone wires were broken, cutting off communication in that vicinity with the city.

Mr. E. Saunders lost fifteen trees and a number of his fences were, as well, destroyed. A pine tree was blown down almost on top of his house. Fruit and shade trees on Mr. Alf. Saunders' property fell victims to the storm as well as a number belonging to Mr. Archie Jackson.

A boat house on the river near McMartinville, was blown over, as well as a fence. A youth, who utilized the boat house for a protection, was almost injured.

Some fields of grain in the country were flattened, but the damage, it is believed, will not be very great.

According to Figures Supplied by Rev. Dawson Burns—Amounted to $18 per Capita

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES

The drink bill of the United Kingdom for 1907, according to the figures supplied the London Times by Rev. The total expenditure in each year respectively was (1906) £166,425,911 and (1907) £167,016,200. These figures show an in-

RYE 6 FT. 10½ INCHES HIGH

Comin' through the rye that is 6 feet 10 1-2 inches high would be no easy proposition, and if Bobby Burns were in Northumberland county now and on the farm of Mr. Edward Bennett he might have thought different about the song. A stalk of rye the above length was brought into the Examiner office this morning by Mr. John King, who was in that district this week. Mr. Bennett, he says, has ten acres of rye, and although not all 6 feet 10 1-2 inches tall, is the best he has ever seen. Mr Bennet resides near Hoard's Station. After last night's rain Mr. King thinks it should be eight or nine feet high, at least.

Tearing Up Charlotte After Grading and Rolling

(Many protests have been heard from residents of Charlotte street and others, who have seen the waggon tearing up of that street just after several weeks' work has been put on it in grading, gravelling and rolling it. The Gas Company is now digging a trench along this street and the road which had received fair treatment had taken on the appearance that has been long looked for. Now comes the pick and shovel to undo the work. Some settlement or arrangement has been made between the company and the city but its nature is unknown.

A GUILTY CONSCIENCE.

Our evening contemporary, with all the uneasiness of a guilty conscience keeps hanging upon the denial of an incontestable fact, namely, that a sheet or pamphlet intended to arouse sectarian bitterness of feeling was distributed in East Peterborough during the recent provincial election campaign by supporters of Mr. Thompson, the Conservative candidate and in his interests. There is no doubt of this. There is no manner of doubt that, as the sheet or circular was distributed in Mr. Thompson's interest, he derived the full benefit of its circulation. The vote polled shows that clearly. The Review may deny the facts all it likes, but such denial cannot change the facts. If it is anxious to get at the truth, let it "offer a reward of $10" for the discovery of the identity of the persons who handed the circular around in each locality and if they are not ashamed of their work, the reward will soon be claimed. The Review, in so strenuously denying a charge that has not been specifically urged, protests too much, and its action suggests the proverb —a guilty conscience needs no accuser. The Review will deny in vain facts that are undeniable; the circular was distributed in the interests of Mr. Thompson's candidature. It is all very well for Mr. Thompson to deny personal responsibility for the distribution of the circular, but he got the benefit of it all the same.

THE PORT OF MONTREAL.

Our Yankee cousins see, or have been wont to speak of Canada and its marvellous recent development in a patronizing tone, but it has changed, in one respect, to a cry of alarm. Fancy the great city of New York growing alarmed over the strides Montreal is making in securing the lion's share of the Atlantic shipping trade of the north half of this continent. Evidence of this superiority is found in the fact that the White Star line has withdrawn five grain and freight carrying vessels from the Liverpool-New York route. This season so far there have been shipped from the port of Montreal, eight million bushels of grain, as against two millions from the port of New York in the same period. The reason for this is not far to seek. It is the natural and developed superiority of the Canadian internal water route. According to the New York Produce Exchange, it costs 7.40 cents per bushel to carry grain by water and rail from Toledo and Chicago, via Buffalo, to New York. From Georgian Bay ports, the rate to Montreal by water and rail is 4.75 cents, a difference of 2.65 cents per bushel, not to speak of the saving in time. Thus is demonstrated the superiority of our canal system to that of New York's Erie Canal. The contemplated improvements in this great ditch might, if completed, reduce the disparity, but this is offset by the proposal to deepen the Welland Canal, and thus vastly improve the efficiency of our water route. This latter is much more likely to be done than the Erie Canal enlargement. Our canal system is national, directly and indirectly benefitting the whole Dominion, from the far West to tide water in the East. The Erie Canal system is sectional, only directly affecting one state and one large city. While the preceding Canadian Government deepened the Welland Canal, the present Government "followed suit" with the St. Lawrence canals, and the benefits of these works have been supplemented by the great improvements effected in the port of Montreal, and the River St. Lawrence from that great city to the sea. The considerable sum of ten millions has been expended by city and Government in making the port of Montreal one of the best on the continent. The harbour has a depth of thirty feet of water, with a thirty-foot channel with easy curves to the sea. The shipping of the port of Montreal, outgoing and incoming, amounts to 27,400 vessels in number, with a total tonnage of 11,000,000 tons. With our internal system of canals, Montreal is the most advantageous ocean port for a large area of the North American continent, and is the outlet of three transcontinental railways. It is the tide-water terminus of 1,400 miles of internal water navigation, giving access to Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Toledo, Duluth, Fort William, Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie. Canada owes much of the commercial supremacy she is acquiring to her internal system of water communication, and the canal problem is still a live question.

THE PAPER INDUSTRY.

There are few great industries which mean so much for the commercial development of a country as the paper industry, on account of the great amounts paid in labour and in material of various kinds, and also on account of the volume of business given to other industries, such as railways, banks, coal mines, and the manufactures of machinery, rubber goods, and felts. Some idea of the amounts spent in this way can be obtained from the following figures for one alone of the large Canadian paper plants, the Laurentide Paper Company. The value of the machinery and equipment of this company is placed at $1,500,000; and the cost of repairs and new parts amounts each year to $200,000. The felts alone which are used in the making of paper total $55,000, annually. So far as the railways are concerned, the freight bills of this company amounted last year to $375,000. During the summer of 1907 no fewer than 1,075 men were employed, and 975 during the winter, the salary list amounting to $680,000, for the year. Last year this company used 40,000 tons of coal, which was naturally a great source of profit and business development for mine owners.

These few figures for one company give some idea of what the paper industry of Canada means to the country, when it is considered that there are 46 paper mills and 58 pulp mills distributed over the eastern part of the Dominion, representing in 1905 an investment of $22,000,000 in paper mills and $12,000,000 in pulp plants, with a combined staff of 7,500 employees, and a yearly wage of almost $3,500,000. At this time the yearly capacity of these mills was about 700,000 tons of pulp and 300,000 tons of paper, but the capacity has since been considerably increased.

To realize what all this means to the country at large, it is only necessary to consider one or two simple facts. On an average it takes about half a ton of coal to cook and dry a ton of paper. This coal is worth $4.50 a ton, of which half goes to the mine operators and half to the railways. This naturally becomes an enormous item when the consumption of the whole Canadian paper industry is taken into account. Nor is this all. Machinery must be carried to the mills; great quantities of sulphur are used in making sulphite; alum and clay have also to be brought in; and taking everything into account, it is estimated that about three tons of material have to be brought in for each ton of paper produced. Thus the railways get four tons of freighting in the case of each ton of paper made in the country. When this is compared with what Canadian railways get out of the carrying of pulpwood, the difference is very striking. On the latter business the rates are so low that the share of the Canadian lines is only from $1 to $1.20 per net ton. Besides their business is greatly cut into by the American canal boats which take wood up the Richelieu and into the States by way of Whitehall, where Canadian boats are not allowed to pass through the canals. On the other hand the freights on supplies for mills and on paper shipped would average about $6 per ton of paper shipped.

Then there is the case of the banks. The larger companies, it is estimated, pay banks in interest about $1.75 for each ton of paper produced. This is in addition to their regular interest to shareholders, and is levied merely on the banking transactions which arise in the ordinary course of business. In this way a big mill would be worth about $75,000, a year to the banks alone.

Others to be benefitted are the makers of different kinds of mill supplies. Time was when almost all these things had to be brought from the United States, but now a very large proportion of them can be made in Canada, and the development of this industry is due entirely to the paper trade. Canadian factories are now turning out felts and rubber belting, and the like, which are as good as any made; and thus a big business is being rapidly built up for them.

All these reasons which show the value to the country of the paper industry, show also the necessity of building it up as quickly as possible, by giving the home manufacturer at least an equal chance with his American rival. As it is at present the American gets his wood for almost the same price, and gets everything else for a great deal less. Furthermore, he is protected by an almost impassable tariff wall, and has a tremendous home market to consume his product, but all this would avail him little if Canadians decided that he could not have their wood without paying for it pretty roundly in one way or another.

SORGHUM FOR SOILING OR FODDER

From the Canadian Dairyman

Up-to-date farmers recognize the value of soiling crops for supplementing the pastures during the season when pastures are comparatively poor. Farmers who go in for dairying largely, as a rule, make provision for such soiling. However, it frequently happens that owing to the rush of spring work and to the busy season at the time of corn and root planting, the matter of providing for a soiling crop is often overlooked until it is too late to plant such crops with any hopes of their ultimate success.

Any farmers who have been thus caught or who have entirely overlooked the necessity of making such provision for their cattle or those who for some reason or other have not some crop which they can use for soiling, before the ordinary corn crop is fit to use, have still one last resort in sorghum. The Early Amber Sugar Cane is perhaps the best known variety of sorghum. This variety has been grown to a limited extent in some sections of Ontario for the production of syrup, but more especially has it been grown by a number of farmers to furnish feed for farm stock. It is highly appreciated by individual farmers here and there throughout the province who have given it a trial.

Last season, the writer made use of a plot of ground some two acres in extent, which had previously been an alfalfa patch, for sorghum. It was planted about the 18th of June and then worked to a fine state of tilth, and sown with Early Amber Sugar Cane.

The seed was somewhat slow in germinating but in time the spindly plants of sorghum showed themselves above ground. Soon after the cultivator was put through between the rows the sorghum having been sown with the grain drill, through the seeder attachment, in rows the same width as corn. Although sown late and being slow to start, the sorghum when once started grew with great rapidity and ere the season was over, it was as high or higher than the corn which was sown some weeks earlier.

A portion of this sugar cane was cut and thrown over the fence to the cattle as a supplement to their pasture. They appeared to relish it and eagerly ate up all that was offered them. The remainder of the field was cut with the corn binder at the same time as we harvested the corn and stooked up as if it had been corn. A portion of this in the long state was fed out in the field after the frosts had killed the pastures. What was left after the fall feeding was drawn to the barn and fed to the dairy cattle for noon feed on favorable days throughout the winter. This was our first experience with sorghum and it will not be our last as we were favorably impressed with its feeding qualities and the case with which it could be grown.

We found it necessary in order to get an even germination of the seed to have the seed bed well prepared and worked up as fine as possible. In one corner of the field where the soil worked up somewhat lumpy, the seed failed to germinate and of course that portion of the plot was without a crop. Sorghum, being a Southern plant, must not be sown too early, as it requires considerable heat to get it properly started. The great advantage of sorghum is that it can be sown late and it is not so adversely affected as corn by seasons of drought, in fact it seems to make its best growth when the weather is hot and dry and the corn is virtually at a standstil.

SUN BONNETS FOR THE GARDEN

A Pattern From Which They Can be Made Easily and Cheap

From the Canadian Dairyman

Sun bonnets are always quaint and picturesque in effect and just now are being greatly worn for gardening and every outdoor occupation.

Indeed, women of all ages, from the little tots to the grandmothers, are guarding their complexions a bit carefully just now and these attractive and quaint head coverings make the best possible aid to such results. Lawn, batiste, linen, duck, dotted Swiss muslin and all similar materials are used.

Both white and colored materials are in vogue and some very charming effects are obtained by the use of Dresden dimities and similar simple figured stuffs. Two styles are shown in the illustration, one with and one without the cape at the back of the neck. In addition to serving for all the uses mentioned, the bonnets will be found admirable for motoring, when they protect the head from wind as well as the face from the sun.

Each bonnet is made with a wide brim and a soft full crown which is attached thereto, the one crown being extended across the back, the other being made in one with the cape.

SCOTLAND

The building of the new magnetic observatory by the Government at Eskdalemuir, Dumfriesshire, is completed, and the new institution will speedily be in full working order. The instruments are to be removed from Kew and fitted up at Eskdalemuir. Much greater accuracy in the observation of earth tremors will be possible at the latter place than at Kew, as the prevalence of electric tramcars and railways in London has greatly interfered with the delicate observations necessary, and at length forced a removal to a quieter locality. The site at Eskdalemuir was purchased from the Duke of Buccleuch, and the locality is an ideal one.

The late Joseph Hone, Donnybrook, Co. Dublin, left £66,910, and the late Right Hon. Sir Frederick Richard Falkener, P.C., K.C., Dublin, £56,683.

A meeting in Belfast on the 18th ult., organized by the Royal Universities Graduates' Association, adopted a series of resolutions protesting against the Irish Universities Bill.

The late Colonel Saunderson, the militant leader of the Irish Unionist party, was a man of many parts—yachtsman, politician, preacher, caricaturist, wit, and, above all, a simple and sincere Christian gentleman.

During the progress of a football match at Carnmoney, near Belfast, the bicycles belonging to the members of the visiting club were attacked by some maliciously-inclined persons, the tyres and tubes being mutilated beyond repair.

The Earl of Kenmare, who is selling his landed property in Ireland to the tenants under the Wyndham Act, is also disposing of his magnificient residence, Killarney House and demesne, one of the beauty spots of the renowned Lakes.

The farmers in North-West Donegal are perturbed at the wholesale havoc caused by a plague of grub on the oat crop. It made its appearance chiefly on the lea land, and in many cases large fields of oats have had to be resown. One farmer sowed flax instead of the oats which had been destroyed.

A general meeting of the flax spinners of Ireland was held in Belfast on the 29th ult. to consider a proposal to further reduce the working hours in the spinning mills. Since December last the operatives have been on three-quarter time, and owing to continued stagnation in the trade it is now suggested that only half-time be worked—that is 27 1-2 hours instead of 55. Between 35,000 and 40,000 employees are affected.

WOODLAND MEMORIES; OLD-TIME CRICKET MATCH

By F. M. Dela Fosse.

Being Englishman, we naturally endeavoured to create an interest in sports peculiar to the land of our birth. Several of us were possessed of complete cricketing paraphernalia, and although the soil was not exactly conducive to bringing out the finer points of the game we nevertheless made several heroic attempts towards playing it.

In the hey-day of our enthusiasm we challenged a village some fifteen miles distant to a match on Dominion Day. There were only about three old cricketers in the place mentioned but we were informed that there would be no difficulty in making up a team from the ranks of the local baseballers.

Our challenge was duly accepted. The eventful day arrived and arrayed in the correctest of costumes we started off in boats and canoes on our long journey to the field of battle. We were not expert paddlers in those days and the result was that we arrived on the scene in a state of much mental and corporal anguish. Our splendid appearance had been greatly dimmed by the copious spatterings of mud we had received in crossing the portages, and three of our number also, in attempting to pull their canoe over a fallen log, had slipped into the water up to their necks, a circumstance which did not add to their hilarity.

We were met at the wharf by the opposing team and at least half the population of the village, and carried off at once to the hotel to celebrate the occasion in a befitting manner. The captain of the opposing forces apologized for not having the band on hand to greet us at the wharf. This was due, he pleasantly added, to the fact that the village didn't possess one. We fully recognized that under the circumstances, its absence was quite unavoidable.

The celebration was carried on to the verge of giddy exhilaration, and by the time it was finished more than half the number were fitter for an ambulance than a cricket match. The game was started, however, and was replete with sensational features.

There was a considerable amount of trouble experienced in getting the baseballers to conform to the rules. Some of them had never seen a cricket bat in their lives, and evinced a dangerous habit when they hit a ball of flinging the bat from them with a violence that was hazardous to the fielders. Before many overs had been bowled, one of the batsmen in a weird attempt to hit a high ball, swung round as on a pivot and hit the wicket-keeper on the head, knocking him senseless, and causing a cessation of the game for about fifteen minutes. The fielding was done under difficulties. The pitch had only been cleared of stumps the week before and the outfield fairly bristled with snags and stones.

One gentleman of convivial propensities in order to sustain his strength through the trying ordeal of fielding, had secreted a bottle of whisky behind a stump, and in spite of all orders from his captain, refused to leave it and move to another part of the field. Expostulations were in vain. He said he had come there to enjoy himself, and he wasn't going to take orders from anybody—Blamed if he could see anything in the game anyhow! There was no git up and git to it—It was as long and uninterestin' as a Chinese play. He'd been pinchin' himself black and blue all day long in order to keep awake, so he had, and he'd see the captain to a more distant clime than that same cricket field, before he'd move to please him or anyone else. To endeavor to coerce a man into doing what he didn't want to do was as criminal, he said, as parting husband and wife. There wasn't a man on that there field, so there wasn't, as he'd trust within fifty feet of that there bottle of whiskey, etc., etc. As it was evident he was wound up to go, the whole team took him in hand and marched him and his whiskey off the field.

THE BANQUET

The score was not a magnificent one on either side, being represented by the total of 15-5 in favour of our opponents. The supper that followed in the evening, however, was remarkable, not only for the lavishness of the menu, but for the unbounded eloquence and enthusiasm of the principal speakers. The speech of the evening was undoubtedly made by the chairman, a saddler in a humble way of business in the village. It was a model of elegant diction and overflowing loyalty.

"Gentlemen," he began, "I rises to propose the 'ealth of 'er Royal 'Ighness, Queen Victoria. As the poet says, 'she's a daisy.' There aint nothin' livin' amongst crowned 'eads as can touch 'er in point of hanythink, I don't think. She's the garden hangel of a Hempire on which the sun never sets but is always arisin' somewhere else. Gentlemen, I asks you all, with your loyal faces abeamin' around me, which is much larger than I ever expected to see, to drink to the 'ealth and 'appiness of our noble Sufferin, the Queen, God bless her, and as a fittin' crown, as it were, to the toast I will call upon our well known feller townsman, Mr. Beddoes, to sing to us the well known anthem, 'Drink to me only with mine eyes and I will pledge with thine.'"

Mr. Beddoes rose to excuse himself, remarking elegantly that his "bellows was bust," but if the company would like to hear him later on in the evening when he was "kind of warmed up-like," he would regale their ears with a selection from his repertoire.

We were fated not to hear Mr. Beddoes that evening, as, in the process of warming up, he overshot the mark, and wilted away to a merciful oblivion under the table. The dinner passed off most harmoniously even though it was uproarious. Everyone was ecstatic in its praise. The finest tribute to its excellence was that of one of the umpires, who remarked that he had been at many functions of a similar character, but never in his life had he seen a body of men primed so well to make Rome howl, act so consistently as gentlemen. And certainly, beyond the pardonable exuberance of some of the speakers, and the regrettable sleepiness of a few of the banquetters, the event was a grand success.

When the time came for us to depart, which was about 1 o'clock in the morning, we sang "Auld Lang Syne" and God Save the Queen" with a gusto that showed our fraternal and loyal instincts. A steamer was in waiting to convey us to the head of the lake, and we started for home with a volley of cheers from our hospitable opponents ringing in our ears.

I have often thought in these after years of that glorious trip up the lake. The moon was at the full, and as the steamer cleft its way across the broad bosom of the waters, the heavily wooded heights, clad in a redundancy of foliage, were almost awe-inspiring in their desolate grandeur. But nothing could have been more grotesque, in a sense, than the spectacle of fourteen 19th century young men, clad in flannels, awakening the echoes of the primeval forest, in the early hours of the morning with such rollicking ditties as "Drink, Puppy, Drink," and "Vive La Compagnie." To a staid middle-aged mind the picture conjured up may be almost repugnant. But we were not middle-aged in those days, and a right conception of the great message allegorised in the glories of lake and stream and woodland had not been borne in on our souls.

It was five in the morning ere we reached our home waters, but weary as we were, every one of us disembarked and prior to going our different ways, joined in a hearty and vociferous rendition of "Auld Lang Syne."

MONAGHAN PIONEER PASSES AWAY

Mr. Andrew Finnie Died at Homestead Yesterday in His Ninetieth Year

HE WAS HIGHLY RESPECTED

The inevitable hand of Death removed one of the pioneers of South Monaghan, yesterday, in the person of Mr. Andrew Finnie. He had passed his ninetieth birthday after a long, useful life during which he enjoyed excellent health and a strong constitution, which carried him past the allotted time.

The deceased was born in Scotland at Johnston, a town near Paisley. With his family he came to Canada in 1837, settling in Hope Township. After a number of years he moved to his present home on the second concession of South Monaghan, where he has resided for fifty-one years. About sixty-one years ago he married Jane Chalmers. He was one of the prominent farmers of the section in which he lived, and with his family was highly respected by all those who knew him.

The late Mr. Finnie is survived by six sons and four daughters. They are Edward and James, of Peterborough; Andrew, John and Walter, of South Monaghan; George, of Carnegan, Man.; Mrs. Robt. Fisher and Mrs. Thos. Dawson, of Monaghan; Mrs. Walter Fisher, of Peterborough, and Mrs. J. Finnie, of St. Mary's. He died with his entire family around his bedside, the last member arriving an hour before he passed away. Mr. Finnie was a member of the Presbyterian Church and in politics was a Liberal.

The funeral will be held from the homestead at 9.30 a. m., on Sunday, and proceed to the cemetery at Centreville for interment.

Two Weeks Continuous Pleasure Awaiting "Y" Boys At Sandy Point

Friends from Lindsay and Port Hope Will Be There---What Camp Life Will Consist Of at Clear Lake---Big Time Anticipated

The Y. M. C. A. have issued circulars telling of their Clear Lake Camp this summer. Port Hope and Lindsay Y.M.C.A.'s will also be represented.

The boys' camp extends from July 15 to July 29, and the senior camps from July 31 to August 14. The following is said about it:

Sandy Point is situated about 20 miles north of Peterborough, on Clear Lake, which is a beautiful expanse of water five miles in length by two miles wide, and is the beginning of the famous Kawartha Lakes. It has a beautiful sandy beach for swimming, good field for baseball and other athletic games. Boating facilities are unexcelled, and for the disciples of Izaak Walton a rich treat is in store.

It is open to any member of the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough, Port Hope and Lindsay, or any non-member approved by the local secretary under 17 years of age, whose application is in before the 8th day of July. One dollar of the camp fee is required when application is made, payable at each Association.

The camp fee will be six dollars to each boy and will include board and boats. Each boy will pay his own fare. A reduced rate from Peterborough has been secured of 40 cents return. Also a trip will be made around the Kawartha Lakes on one of the big lake steamers. The fare for this will be 20 cents return extra.

We leave the Wolfe street wharf, Peterborough, on Wednesday morning, July 15, and proceed on the steamer Otonabee over the Peterborough life lock (the largest lift lock in the world), through the Trent Valley Canal, through Lake Katchawanooka into Clear Lake, and then to Sandy Point. Returning from camp on the morning boat, July 29.

Wear your ordinary clothes to camp. Bring two blankets and two heavy quilts, two suits of underwear, extra trousers, coat, shoes, gymnasium shoes, cap, sweater, stockings, towels, handkerchiefs, swimming suit, brush, comb, tooth-brush, soap and your Bible. Also knife, fork, spoon, enamelware plate and cup. Other things you may take if you choose: Camp bed, rubber coat or sheet, camera, musical instruments, games, fishing tackle, baseball outfit, brushes, needle, thread, mirror, reading matter, etc. All may be packed in a bag or trunk.

What They Will Eat

We have secured the services of Mr. Thos. Arnott as cook. Mr. Arnott has acted in this capacity for several years and has given good satisfaction. We will have the best of grub, which will be plain, wholesome and plentiful. Mr. Arnott will run his fruit and candy store as in the past.

We have few rules, but those we have will be strictly adhered to. Any boy disobeying rules will be subject to dismissal:

No. 1—No firearms allowed.

No. 2—No one is allowed in swimming except at stated times, and in the presence of leaders.

No. 3—No canoes allowed in the boys' camp.

A good supply of boats and skiffs will be procured from Lakefield.

A fifteen-minute Bible Study Class will be held each morning after breakfast. "Men Who Dared" will be the subject taken up.

The Leaders

The camp will be in charge of the following:

Mr. H. C. Wright, General Secretary, Peterborough.

Mr. E. A. Frowde, Physical Director, Peterborough.

Mr. W. R. Cook, General Secretary, Lindsay.

Mr. J. P. Reed, General Secretary, Port Hope.

And staff of senior leaders.

Each Association will have its own camp fall.

A reading club will be organized.

Evening entertainments will be in order.

A post-office will be established at the camp.

Baseball and football leagues will be run off.

A regatta will be held.

Two visitors' days will be open for friends and parents of the boys. The first on Monday, July 20, and the second on Monday, July 27, when the boys' regatta will be held.

All over 17 years will be eligible for the senior camp. Fees will be the same as for the junior camp. The senior camp will follow the junior for the first two weeks in August. Special features will be introduced, and canoes allowed.

AMERICAN FISHERMEN IN CANADA HAVE BAD INFLUENCE ON SPORT

In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post, Elliott Flower contributes an article on "Fish and Game Preservation in the United States and Canada," in which he designates the American as a game "hog." The article is a compliment to the Canadian's respect for law and also to the spirit that underlies our sportsman's pursuit of game. A part of the writing is as follows:

Waste of Fish

A party of eight Americans went up into the Georgian Bay district of Ontario to do a little fishing. They chartered a tug to tow their boats to the chosen fishing grounds, and, on the way, indulged in the delightful American pastime of betting. Each backed himself to bring in more fish than anyone else in the party—not the largest fish, but the largest number of fish of all sizes. A bet on the largest fish would have involved no violation of the law, but the bets they made were virtually as to who could put the biggest crimp in it, for it was a foregone conclusion that every member of the party would bring in more and smaller fish than is legally permitted. The Canadian law is far less liberal than the laws of most of the States on this side of the line, and it is no trick at all to bring in the full number allowed for a day's fishing. Canada is willing that you should have the sport of catching as many as you wish, but she expects you to return immediately to the water all the small ones and all others in excess of the specified number. There was in these bets not only a deliberate intention to break the law, but also the certainty of a criminal waste of good fish. After the bets were decided most of the fish were left to rot.

Now, this is not an isolated case. Canada has seen a good deal of that kind of "sport," and the Canadians do not like it. Further, the Canadians charge that the Americans are almost the only offenders, practically all others showing a proper respect for the law. The average American, they say, is a sport and not a sportsman; HE PUTS A BLIGHT UPON WHATEVER REGION HE "FAVOURS" WITH HIS PRESENCE; he is selfishness incarnate, giving no thought to the future, or the rights of others; he is a "hog" whose wastefulness has already done infinite harm in his own country and now threatens the game and fish of Canada.

Canada's Respect for Law

Minnesota is less liberal than Michigan in one particular, and more liberal in another the limit of a day's catch is twenty-five fish, but the non-resident may take fifty pounds away with him. Bass or trout, to be retained, should be six inches in length. Rather small for bass, it would seem.

Now let us turn to Ontario, where a day's catch is eight black bass of not less than ten inches or ten pounds of brook trout (I am using bass and trout for the purposes of comparison because of their popularity as game fish and because they are found in the waters of all the districts mentioned). Sale or export is prohibited, except that a non-resident may take home with him the lawful catch of two days' fishing.

So far as the protection of game fish is concerned it will be seen that Ontario has a big advantage in her laws, and this advantage is increased by the enforcement of the laws. In some measure, this latter advantage is due to Canadian respect for law as opposed to American contempt for it. I do not mean, of course, that there are no Canadian law-brekers, but the general spirit is not only of obedience to the law, but also even extends to assistance in the enforcement of it.

I had a chance to observe this last summer, when I went with a party made up in part of Canadians and in part of Americans to the Temagami Forest Reserve. We could hardly have had a greater incentive, from the point of view of a fish "hog," to violation of the law. The fishing was excellent, and we were three portages away from Lake Temagami, to which the majority of fishermen coming into that district confine their operations. We were, so far as we could see, absolutely alone in our chosen lake, except for one night, when a fire on the opposite shore told us of the brief stop of another camping party. However, we saw no member of it. A fish "hog" could ask nothing better than the fishing and the isolation that were ours.

But the Canadians reminded us, very diplomatically and courteously, that there were certain laws covering the number and size of the fish that could be taken, and that it was the custom of the country to respect those laws. There were no fish "hogs" in our party, but the Canadian day's catch is so much less than is allowed in the States we had recently left that the inferential warning was wise. And that warning merely reflected the spirit that seemed to prevail throughout the Temagami Forest Reserve. The Canadians, and especially the natives of the district are not satisfied with the fact that there is good fishing there (now; they intend to see to it that there shall always be good fishing there, and, they take a personal interest in the enforcement of the law. They are careful to see that every stranger is advised of the regulations, and I noted that my Indian guide asked no questions about fish that he considered undersized, but merely grunted, "Him too small," and put it back in the water. Sometimes I thought he favoured the fish at my expense, but, at any rate, he saw to it that I kept well within the law.

However, if our Canadian friends had been less particular we might have fared worse, for, in spite of our isolation, a game warden appeared suddenly in camp one day. I never knew where he came from—he may have come through the woods or he may have left his canoe somewhere along the shore—but he appeared unexpectedly in camp, and it was a fortunate thing that there was nothing there to which he could take exception.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO MIDDLE LIFE

All Women Need the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

From girlhood to middle life the health and happiness of every woman depends on her blood. If her blood is poor and watery she becomes weak, languid, pale and nervous. If her blood supply is irregular she suffers from headaches and backaches and other unspeakable distress which only women know. At every stage of a woman's life Dr. Williams Pink Pills are her best friend, because they actually make the rich, red blood which gives health and strength and tone to every organ of the body. They help a woman just when nature makes the greatest demand upon her blood supply. Mrs. H. Gagnon, who for twenty years has been one of the best known residents of St. Roches, Que., says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a blessing to me. I was weak, worn out and scarcely able to drag myself about. I suffered from headaches and dizziness, my appetite was poor and to attempt housework left me utterly worn out. I slept badly at night and what sleep I got did not refresh me. For nearly three years I was in this condition and was constantly taking medicine, but found no benefit from it. One of my neighbours who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with much benefit, advised me to try them. I did so, and the whole story is told in the words 'I am well again. There are times yet when I take the pills for they seem to me a guarantee against the troubles which so many women suffer.'"

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not act on the bowels. They contain just the elements that actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. That's why they cure anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, lumbago headaches, backaches, heart palpitation and skin diseases like pimples and eczema. That is why they are the greatest help in the world for growing girls who need new blood and for women who are troubled with irregular health. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

"CRITIC" LIKES TO HEAR THE PETERBOROUGH BAND

Their Playing a Credit to the City—Congratulates Leader

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would like to make a few remarks on the playing of our new City Band, which headed the procession on Thursday in such a splendid manner. The playing was really beyond my expectations, and I must say it reflects great credit on their conductor, Mr. R. Cannon. By the way, I must congratulate him on their tone and collective playing and also on their expression, and cannot finish without making reference to the euphoniums, which I consider were the features of the band. Their execution was really pleasing to the ear, there being no trombone effects coming from either of them, and if the band will only go in for good tone and a little less drum—not circus style, as we hear so often—in a very short time the citizens of Peterborough will have a band which will be a pleasure to listen to.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

Bravo, boys, I wish you every success.

Yours friendly,
CRITIC.

LONGEST DAY OF THE YEAR

To-morrow is the twenty-first day of June, and, as the almanac tells us, it is the longest day in the year for us. The sun to-morrow, according to the same source of information, will be directly over the Tropic of Cancer, which runs somewhere near Havana. It is said that a person at the bottom of an eighty-foot well in Havana can still see the sun overhead, so that the Tropic of Cancer line is near that city. It is certainly the Long, Long Summer Day, as the following lines will probably show:

Long, Long Summer Day

In years gone by perhaps you may
Have heard of the long, long summer day,
And even now my soul is stirred
By that rapturous song of the Bob-o-link Bard.

Into rude rhyme, here then I'll stray,
To sing the long, long summer day.
When nature spreads her charms so gay,
And the ducks are loudly quacking away.

The maiden, home, the cow is bringing;
The birds in the trees are sweetly singing,
And the Bard, at home, in the same old way,
Is found perpetrating another lay.

But some birds have a different lay,
When they're cackling in June's long day—
'Twill be found, 'tis needless here to say,
In a bunch of straw, or a wisp of hay.

But I must forget the theme of this song—
The days are so long, so long, so long—
For the sun, in splendour, shines high at noon
On the longest day in the month of June.

And in his beams the long, long snake
Has pleasant dreams on Stony Lake;
So 'neath some shade we crawl to rest,
By toil fatigued, and heat oppressed.

Now this same subtle, slippery snake—
One moment past of whom I spake—
Had listened long the night before,
To music sweet from Burleigh's shore.

No campers then remained awake.
There's none to hear except the snake;
And he, his patience overtaxed
Before the morn, indignant waxed.

He found it hard to understand
How felon frog, on lake or land
Should fill his snakeship with dismay,
Warbling at "night, on a June day."

A duet grand he heard in tune.
The treble high was Peter Loon;
In softer tone with artless grace,
The frog, he sang profundo-bass.

The mosquitoes have it their own way,
The black flies come in close array
Their victims while alive to fly—
The long, long summer day.

The fish worm, wiggle as he may,
Goes on the hook; goes there to stay,
Some guileless fish for to betray—
The long, long summer day.

The angler, too, with rod in hand,
Has "whips" of Corby's X.L. brand
Stored in the tent at his command—
The long, long summer day.

But from the snake, now rather glum,
Who only hissed, came the retort.
The summer days, they may be long.
But why this fuss? The nights are short.

Sweet, fairy lake, I'll say adieu,
As lonely now I part with you;
Some bolder bard might well recount
Thy praise, Gin Isle, and Eagle Mount.

And by the sedgey inshore bay,
'Mid rushes tall, and high marsh hay.
In future's may no frog essay
To sing "at night, on a June day."

—S. W. LOWRY.

A POPULAR LAMENT

Where Would Society Be If One Was Judged for the Sins of Others?

"O; I tried one of those hair tonics some time ago and it never did me a bit of good."

That's what many people are saying to-day when they refuse Herpicide a trial.

It would be as sensible to say "I never travel on a railway because I often see collisions mentioned in the newspapers."

Newbro's Herpicide is specially made to destroy the germ that is living on the roots of your hair.

That is why it is so exceedingly efficacious—it is there for the sole purpose of ridding the hair of this parasitic growth, after which the hair grows as nature intended.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c. and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto is visiting this city, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments reserved at the hotel.

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted, protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face, and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at the Oriental Hotel on Saturday, July 4, 1908. 3d1w145

The celebration in Quebec in July will interest the whole world, because it will be on a scale of grandeur and magnificence never approached on the continent. The historical pageants, embracing historical procession and tableaux, with thousands of historical characters, will be spectacles never to be forgotten. The naval demonstration by a fleet of nations, under the citadel, will be one of extraordinary interest. Millions of people will want to see the events of the celebration and cannot. The Standard, of Montreal, the great National Illustrated paper, published by George Murray Publishing Company, will issue the greatest commemorative number ever seen on this continent, reproducing the events to the very life, including supplements in colours, which will astonish even the illustrated papers of England and France. Those who have seen the advance sheets of the Standard Tercentenary Number say it is something wonderful, and it is certain the publishers will never be able to supply the demand. It is to be sold at only 50 cents, while each of the many supplements is worth the whole amount. Those ordering by the 25th June direct or through dealers will be sure to get copies. After that date those ordering must take their chances. It will be first come first served. It is learned that the orders are pouring in from all parts of the continent. You should order from your local newsdealer. If you send direct to the publishers add 10 cents per copy for postage.—Exchange.

THE STORM KING WORKS HAVOC

Farmers Killed by Lightning at Welland and Watford.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES

Andrew Hoover Struck In Boat on the River—Several Fires at Hamilton — Brantford Cordage Works Suffer—Man and Horse Killed—Electric Light Plants Put Out —Trees Levelled to Ground.

Welland, June 20.—Andrew Hoover, a well-known farmer, whose farm adjoins the Town of Welland, was killed by lightning last evening.

He had been working with his son-in-law, James M. Putman, in the fields, and the two started for home in a boat, when a terrific storm came up. Putman was rowing. There was a flash and Hoover fell backward on the seat. He was 70 years of age and leaves a family of four daughters.

Watford, June 20.—James A. Tanner, a well-known Warnick Township farmer, was struck and instantly killed by lightning during the thunder storm yesterday afternon. Mr. Tanner was sitting in his rig when the bolt struck him. He leaves a wife and family of five children.

Hamilton, June 20.—A storm of the tornado variety, with brilliant lightning and violent wind, broke over the city at 7.15 last evening, and did much damage. Four buildings in the centre of the city were set on fire, many trees were blown down, and the electric system was badly damaged, leaving much of the city in darkness.

Hespeler, June 20.—A fierce electric storm passed over this district last evening, doing much damage to trees, &c., and blowing down telegraph poles. The electric light plant is also out of business and the town was in darkness last night.

Winnipeg, June 20.—Regian F. Raffenberg while riding along the railway track south of here on Thursday on horseback was killed by lightning. His horse was also killed.

Brantford Cordage Works Suffer.

Brantford, June 20.—Severe electric storms passed over the city early last evening. Lightning struck in a couple of places, doing most damage at the Brantford cordage works, where it completely demolished the brick chimney, which was one of the tallest in the city, and wrecked the roof of the boiler house.

SAYS THAW IS DANGEROUS.

Fight to Release White's Slayer Is Still Going On.

New York, June 20.—In his argument in support of the application to transfer Thaw to another asylum than Matteawan, Col. Bartlett yesterday made known that it is the intention of the Thaw family at some time later to ask for a jury trial to determine the question of Thaw's sanity.

Col. Bartlett said the demand would be made on behalf of Thaw, Thaw's mother, brothers and sisters and friends, but made no mention of Thaw's wife.

Col. Bartlett argued against sending Thaw to Matteawan as he is not a criminal. Justice Dowling asked if there was any difference, since he committed Thaw to Matteawan. He said that from the testimony of Thaw's own experts it was clear that Thaw was not in his right mind, and that the only proper place to send him was Matteawan.

Justice Dowling said that he was convinced that Thaw's condition of mind was such that he was likely if not properly safeguarded to do injury to himself or others.

Independence of Philippines.

Manila, June 20.—The Philippine Assembly yesterday on the eve of adjournment declared by a vote of 57 to 15 that independence was the aspiration of the Filipino people, and that they were ready for immediate independence.

Took Too Much Poison.

Strathroy, Ont., June 20.—Bertha Skinner, a domestic employed by Rayford Thompson, took a dose of iodine in mistake for cascara. An overdose produced vomiting, which saved her life.

Wonderful New Weapon.

Dijon, June 20.—An engineer named Ponteaux announces the invention of an electric gun, which, without powder or other explosive, is capable of firing 1,200 shots a minute.

OPPOSITION CAUCUS.

Blockade of Supplies In House Likely to Be Resumed.

Ottawa, June 20.—The Conservative caucus yesterday was told that their vision of settlement of the Aylesworth election bill was an illusion that, having succeeded in getting a fair proportion of public business through, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not in a mood to hurry up negotiations.

It was as Western Conservatives feared when Mr. Borden consented to the one-eighth vote going through. They said then that the Prime Minister was playing a game and that although it appeared to be settled that the Manitoba lists were satisfactory, new complaints would be heard which would at the proper moment entirely upset the understanding that the session apparently had arrived at.

Yesterday Conservatives are full of fight, and it would not be surprising if next week there was a renewal of hostilities. The Government side is resting in the belief that the Opposition dare not hold up supplies, that they have found out that such a policy is not approved by the country.

Delay In Marine Enquiry.

Ottawa, June 20.—The adjournment of the marine enquiry was the subject of a question by Richard Blain, Conservative whip, at the opening of the House yesterday morning. The Finance Minister replied that Justice Cassels was master in his own court. Mr. Watson had no arrangement with the Department of Justice as to his trip to Europe, he added.

It develops, that the enquiry may be indefinitely prolonged. It has nominally adjourned to Sept. 2, but unless the Government takes action it will be necessary to adjourn again to enable Judge Cassels to attend to his Exchequer Court work. It has been supposed that Parliament passed the legislation necessary to relieve the judge from his work, but it develops that this is not the case. What Judge Cassels asked for was a provision to enable the registrar, Mr. Audette, to act as deputy-judge and hear cases in his absence. What Parliament enacted was to enable the registrar to act as judge in chambers and to certain routine work, which is far from enabling him to hear cases.

Dr. Reid and His Yacht.

Ottawa, June 20.—In the public accounts committee yesterday morning Dr. Reid, M.P., was called to give evidence as to the charge that he had his yacht repaired in the Marine Department dockyards at Prescott. He said that in 1904 he had his yacht hauled out in the usual course with the permission of Mr. Prefontaine. He had anticipated that his own men would haul the boat up, but he had learned only when this enquiry began that the boat had been hauled out by Government men. He had asked what there was to pay, and had been told $8, which he had paid. He admitted that for the purpose of chemical experiment in the laboratory of the starch factory in which he was interested a small quantity of acetylene gas had been piped from the Dominion tank to the adjoining premises of the company, but the supply lasted only for a couple of days. He also admitted having borrowed an engine for some time, but it had been returned in improved condition.

China's Plea to France.

Paris, June 20.—The Chinese Government has asked France to agree to an investigation of the difficulty that has arisen on the Tonkin frontier by reason of the killing of a French officer and six soldiers by regular Chinese troops. France is disposed to accept this proposal, although she thinks the result probably will be unsatisfactory.

The French Government, when the incident first become known, made a demand for the dismissal of the viceroy of Yunnan Province the punishment of the guilty soldiers and the payment of an indemnity.

Immigrants Must Have Money.

Ottawa, June 20.—An order-in-council has been passed requiring every immigrant over 18 years to have $25 in addition to his ticket to destination in Canada, unless evidence is furnished that the immigrant is going to definite employment or to relatives or friends who will take care of him, and requiring each Asiatic immigrant other than those with whose countries Canada has special arrangements is to have $200.

Caterpillars Delay Trains.

St. John, N.B., June 20.—A regular army of caterpillars is reported from York County between Tracy and Cook Station, on the C.P.R., between Fredericton Junction and McAdam.

On Thursday evening the pests started to cross the track, and a heavy freight train that came along and rushed on them was soon stalled.

Struck by Tidal Waves.

Victoria, B.C., June 20.—The British ship Lord Shaftesbury, which has arrived from Port Talbot via Iquique, reported that when 300 miles west of Cape Horn a tidal wave was encountered which swept her decks, taking all her boats and houses off, starting the hull and partially wrecking the ship.

Scores King's Report.

London, June 20.—(C.A.P.)—The Guardian, commenting on Mr. Mackenzie King's report, says that the document is both exiguous and redindidant. The Yorkshire Post says that it would have been wiser for the Canadian Government to modify King's flamboyant style.

THE I. O. F. RATES ARE SETTLED

Compromise Schedule Agreed Upon by High Court I.O.F.

SOME SALARIES ARE CUT

Members Have Choice of Two Alternatives—Can Lessen Policy or Become Borrower From the Order—Salary of Mr. Collins Reduced by $3,000 and That of Mr. Matheson by $2,000—List of the Salaries.

Toronto, June 20.—In a compromise which is somewhat of the nature of an experiment but which will certainly increase the assets of the society, and should be acceptable to the majority of the old members, the I. O. F. arrived last night at a settlement of the rates. To style it a compromise may perhaps contradict the idea of a final settlement, but no one was willing to give an official opinion as to what the result might be.

The report, which was adopted by a vote of 123 to 58, is as follows:

"That the old members be re-rated as of age of entry on the schedule set out on page ten of Supreme Chief Roger's report under column headed nine, such re-rating to start Oct. 1, 1908, with the option set out in the supreme chief ranger's report as option A, or a new option to borrow from month to month the additional premium required, the same to be charged with 4 per cent. interest against the policy as a lieu thereon, also that the same provision regarding extra assessments contained in plan I of the report of the committee on rates be adopted.

"That the executive arrange to ascertain the experience of the I.O.F. for a period of twenty years or upwards for submission at the next special or regular session of the Supreme Court.

"That the committee on constitution and laws be instructed to report the necessary amendments to effectuate this recommendation."

The option A referred to is for members who do not wish to increase the amount of their assessment payments. They can take out a reduced policy calculated for the amount their present premiums will carry.

The next most important matter was the question of salaries. This was dealt with by reducing the supreme secretary's by $2,000, and the supreme treasurer's by $3,000. The new salaries will stand thus:

S. C. R.	$15,000
S. Secretary	5,000
S. Treasurer	4,000
S. Physician	7,000
S. Auditors, each	2,000

The other business done was of a formal nature, and the supreme court closed shortly after 11 to meet in Toronto in 1912 unless otherwise ordered.

THEY FEAR THE TURKS.

Persians Make Appeal to Germany For Protection.

St. Petersburg, June 20.—Special despatches received here from Teheran say that Persian patriotic societies at Teheran, Kasvin and Ispahan have united in a demand for German protection against Turkey.

They ask that Germany send officers and officials to reorganize the Persian army and Government. The Turkish invasion of Persia arises from a question of sovereignty over Armenian territory.

Sherman of N. Y. For Vice.

Chicago, June 20.—With Congressman James S. Sherman of New York chosen as vice-presidential candidate and running-mate of Secretary Taft, the Republican national convention of 1908 passed into history yesterday.

The final session lasted less than two hours.

The New York delegation solidly stood back of Mr. Sherman, and when the voting began there was a rush of delegates to fall into line, victory being assured to the New York representation before the roll had been half completed.

Speaker Cannon appeared unexpectedly upon the floor of the convention, and, by unanimous consent, was granted the privilege of making the seconding speech for Mr. Sherman, who had been placed in nomination by Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the New York delegation.

Mr. Sherman's victory was an overwhelming one, 816 votes being the total before the nomination was made unanimous.

Vancouver, June 20.—Australia may become a large importer of Canadian wheat. Duncan McCorquadale, the owner of large flour mills at Sydney is here on his way to Winnipeg. There he will make large purchases of Canadian wheat to be sent in special steamers from Vancouver, charters on which are now being arranged.

AN AMENDMENT IN THE BANK ACT

Will Provide Funds For Moving the Western Crop.

HAS PLENTY OF SECURITY

Whole of the Banks' Assets, Mr. Fielding Says—Public Works' Estimates Under Discussion—W. F. Maclean Would Like Skyscrapers — Breeze In the House—Large Supplies Passed.

Ottawa, June 20.—Despite the tendency on the part of the Opposition to put on the brake, the Government succeeded in getting through a fair amount of business yesterday. The forenoon session and part of the afternoon was occupied in discussing Hon. Mr. Fielding's bill, amending the bank act, by providing for an increased circulation during the movement of grain from the west. Mr. Foster criticized the measure, chiefly on the ground that the bank securities were not sufficient, but the criticism carried little weight, and the bill passed. The rest of the day was spent in Committee of Supply, the public works estimate being under consideration. In the course of the discussion on the Ottawa vote several members of the Opposition displayed signs of temper, but Hon. Mr. Pugsley, with characteristic equanimity, calmed the rising storm and the item went through fairly expeditiously. The result of the day's work in supply was the passage of items amounting to about $1,000,000.

During discussion of the estimates for public buildings W. F. Maclean submitted for the consideration of the Government the erection of administration buildings according to modern ideas of architecture with abundance of light and accommodation for a large number of people. In Washington, the Government was coming to that idea and he would like to see the experiment tried here. A municipal building was being erected in New York at the height of 30 storeys or more.

Mr. Pugsley answered that in the new postoffice in Montreal not so much attention was being paid to architectural effect, but he did not favor the skyscraper.

G. W. Fowler could see no reason why public buildings should not only be architecturally beautiful, but in the highest sense useful as well. He thought that it was not right that the civil service should be scattered all over the city.

On an item for improvements to Rideau Hall Mr. Pugsley said he had had prepared plans for a new front, but as it would cost in the neighborhood of $225,000, he thought it would be better to postpone any general scheme of improvement. He had in mind a new site for the Governor-General's residence, but this, too, was out of the question now.

A vote of $200,000 for Yukon public buildings was reduced to $15,000.

Hon. Mr. Fielding's Bank Act amendment, which provides for an emergency note circulation during the crop moving period equal to 15 per cent. of the combined paid up capital and reserves, was passed yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Foster criticised the proposal on the grounds that it was unwise to tinker with the act in advance of the decennial revision, and that no provision is made for deposit by the banks of additional security.

W. F. Maclean (South York) declared that there ought to be increase in available bank capital of the country. The country was growing rapidly and therefore needed more money. There were two or three ways in which that might be obtained. As the Minister of Finance had pointed out, it might be got by increasing the bank capital, which would of course admit of a corresponding increase of issue of bank notes, but he had said that banks were slow to increase their capital. That was a fact.

Mr. Fielding agreed with Mr. Maclean that the bringing in of foreign capital was very desirable, but it must be left to the banks to take their own steps in that direction. The failure of the Sovereign Bank might be a hindrance to that being done, but Mr. Fielding understood that certain banks were contemplating getting capital from abroad.

The Finance Minister in reply to Mr. Foster admitted the general wisdom of decennial revision, but submitted that the need of the west for more currency was urgent. He was willing to send the bill to the banking and commerce committee, but thought it unnecessary. The bankers generally approved the act, though they would rather not pay interest for it. The rate of interest in the bill, a maximum of 5 per cent., he thought unreasonable; the banks should have margin of about 2 per cent. for profit. He said nothing about the failure of the banks to use the note issue above authorized.

Was No Extravagance.

Ottawa, June 20.—J. C. Tache, resident at Chicoutime, was cross-examined in the public accounts committee yesterday by Mr. Cardwell as to charges made by Mr. Ames that there had been gross extravagance in the construction of telegraph lines and other public works in Chicoutime and Saguenay.

Mr. Tache swore there had been no extravagance and that a number of bridges built by the Government had been necessary to maintain the Dominion telegraph line, which runs down the north shore of the St. Lawrence to the Straits of Belle Isle.

Girl Price Set Free.

Stratford, June 20.—Mrs. A. H. Saunders (nee George) the 20-year-old Stratford bride, who was arrested in Toronto charged with stealing a gold watch from Mrs. Sylvester, Stratford, while in the latter's employ, was tried yesterday afternoon and allowed off on suspended sentence.

She claimed innocence of the affair, and said the watch had been accidentally dropped into her trunk by one of Mrs. Sylvester's children.

The couple left the courtroom in high glee bound for Toronto.

Gives Shape to the Foot

A Corset-Fitting Shoe.

"ONE OF THE 14"

Corsets reduce the appearance of the figure and give it shape and style.

Why not a Corset Shoe which will make feminine feet look smaller and give them a pleasing form?

Dolly Vardens contain no stays, but they'll do these things, and this is why:

Their narrow construction takes the place of lacing. This narrowness reduces and shapes the foot by clinging to it at every point with the gentle firmness and snugness of a corset.

Their newly devised steel arch support takes the place of stays. It gives the foot's arch and waist an exquisite form, and besides it raises the arch, which draws back the toes, making the foot shorter.

And being exact copies of perfect feminine feet Dolly Vardens will give to most wearers nearly all of the exquisite form of the original master-pieces from which they were copied.

This may strike the wary as exaggeration; but if the wary will call on the Dolly Varden Store, we will gladly prove what we claim. Purchasers or investigators equally welcome. In the States and Canada at same price—$4.00 to $5.00. Every pair is Goodyear welt sewn too.

Dear Sir,---We beg to acknowledge receipt of cheque for $2,500.00 in settlement of fire loss, Policy 8,645,879, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

We note in connection with this settlement a most unusual feature. They are legally entitled to 1% of stated sum for payment prior to due date. No business man would for one moment question their right to this amount. But they do not take it. Instead they have purposely waived their privileges and presented us with this additional amount.

We are gratified to note this remarkable action. To adjust and settle a loss within twelve days is noteworthy, but to add to this magnanimity in refusing to take advantage of their discount privileges places this company in a most favorable position.

We congratulate you upon representing a company of such superior standing.

Yours very truly,

A CYCLONIC STORM STOPPED SOCCER GAME LAST NIGHT

Adverse aerial conditions were last night responsible for the early ending of the scheduled Midland League Football match between Havelock and the Quakers. Just about the time they were to begin the rain came down in torrents, and after the first shower passed the teams lined up at Riverside Park with Kenneth Kidd, of Warsaw, handling the ball.

The Quakers put on a strong lineup for the game, and after the visitors had a short innings, the locals rushed things, scoring in about 12 minutes. Capt. Percy Fitzgerald was responsible for the counter. He took charge of the ball about centre field and carrying it past the Havelock half backs went into the "back" territory. Huston put it through, barely missing the post.

The visitors again pressed and McFadden was given a good kick. The Breakfast Food men again assumed the aggressive and barely missed scoring. Their combination became puzzling to Havelock, whose players worked hard to withstand attacks on goal. They have a good team, and when the teams meet again there will be something doing.

The relentless storm once more passed over the field and the game had to be called by the referee with the Quakers one goal to the good. The referee gave perfect satisfaction to both teams.

The Quakers line-up was:
Goal—McFadden.
Backs—Evans, Deforge.
Half Backs — Hitchins, Fitzgerald, Scrimshaw.
Forwards—Best, Brodie, Huston, Crough, Archibald.
Referee—Kenneth Kidd, Warsaw.

He Would Walk From Indian River In His Bare Feet

Mr. Geo. Stevens stated this morning that Mr. P G Walker of Indian River, was trying to arrange a bet with him. His proposition was that he could walk from Indian River to Peterborough, a distance of eleven miles, in two hours—and do it in his bare feet. The stake proposed was $10.00, and Mr. Walker seemed to be anxious to place his money. It was not learned whether the bet was made.

CANADA'S CHANCES AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES ARE BRIGHT

The Toronto Saturday night has the following to say of Canada's chances in the Olympic games:

'Twas, indeed, good news to hear Con Walsh was going to the games. His hammer-throw at the trials was behind the record, but the big fellow is liable to get the right cast any day. His form this hardly up to that of Flanagan's, or McGrath's, as he doesn't get the speed in his gyrations, but his strength and size are good for something out of the ordinary any old time, and if he ever does get the form it's all off with the figures. He would have had a lunch of it if the 56-lb. weight had been on the programme. After juggling the big weights all winter, those 16-lb. affairs are like pellets to a man of his proportions, and anyone can throw a rock better than a pill.

Lou Sebert's 49 flat for the 400 metres looks better every day. Taylor, the coloured crack of the University of Pennsylvania, was all in at the finish in 49 4-5, at the A.A.U. trials, while the winner's time at the English finals was 51 3-5. And Bobby Kerr is some good at this distance, too. Canada has a bright chance in this race.

England seems to be there with the milers. In the 1,500 metres, H. A. Wilson, the winner, went the distance in 3.59 4-5, just six seconds better than the previous record, held by Lightbody, of Chicago, made at St Louis, and 13 seconds faster than Lightbody did at Athens.

The A.A.U. athletes expect to win the running events up to and including the 800 metres. They that expect much are due to go some to get it in this Olympiad.

England's only hope in the jumps is Ireland's "leppers," for be it known that the Scotch and Irish are included in the English team at these games.

E. R Voight, at the English trials, captured the 5-mile run in 25.26 2-3 That fellow will sure take some beating. England always did turn out good five-milers.

Harry Porter, the Christian Scientist high jumper, of New York, is looked upon as a sure winner in A.A U. circles, and is expected to do 6 ft 5 in. However, he will be up against Con. Leahy, and it is just possible, as they are great friends, that Con. is of the same temperament as Mike Creed, and you all remember Mike's historic utterance when they were jollying him about a man of his size clearing six feet, "Faith now, and if ye get me riled Oi'll lepp eight fate."

Right here we would like to put the public right as to Mr. Creed's not making the team. It is thought by many that his short residence in the country had something to do with it, but such is not the case. The Olympic Committee had adjudged him eligible for the team, but in attempting to change from the Irish style of two hops and a jump to the hop, step and jump at the games at West Toronto he tore the muscles of his right leg, and was under the doctor's care at the time of the final trials and could not compete. He is rounding into shape now and will compete at Sunderland, July 1. He is a wonderful high jumper for a man of his stature, and it is to be hoped that he fully recovers his old form. If Longboat really strikes his gait in England the only cause Flanagan will have for worry will be over the size of the Island. The Indian is liable to hit some of the surrounding water before he can be stopped.

Pole vault record gone up another two inches, but as the handshaking enthusiasts will not be present to bother Archibald every time he makes a good vault, he will be able to show his real form. He was a good deal better than 12 ft. 5 1-2 in at Rosedale, but the congratulations put him off. He has a chance

HUNDREDS WOULD HAVE ATTENDED

The Havelock-Quaker Match, Says Correspondent, If Weather Had Been Fine

A correspondent sends to the Sporting Editor the following account of last night's football match:

It is all very good for the farmers to have their prayers answered so speedily but they might have put their supplication, so that the powers would have allowed the match between these two clubs to be fought to a finish. At the advertised time the thunder storm held the field, and it was fully an hour late when the kick off took place. There were a few spectators, but had the night been good, lovers of the dribbling game would in all likelihood have turned out in hundreds, or at least would have made as much noise as if hundreds were on the beautiful grand stand. Peterborough won the spin of the coin, and Havelock kicked off. At once the strengers made way with the ball, but the defence was so good that their stay was short-lived. The local team took the game in hand and did all the pressing. The captain placed the ball nicely, and a smart goal was taken fifteen minutes from the kick off. At this juncture Havelock tried to break through the defence, but the parting shot went past. Peterborough kept up the pressure, but the elements forded both teams to quit the field. After hanging about for a time, the real tussle between the teams was postponed till a future time, when, judging from the good play that was witnessed at Riverside Park last night, a hard game will be the feature.

ALL RUN DOWN
Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy B. Ladue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a milinady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Marked Prosperity Of The Ontario Coal Co.'s Business

Successful Year Concluded and Prospects Bright for Future — Recent Modern Additions Made.

THE EXTENSIONS PROPOSED

One of the most important requisites to a successful business is the satisfying of the customer. Unless this can be accomplished the individual is on a fair way, to failure, and when it is fairly accomplished success is bound to follow. The latter applies to the business of the Ontario Coal Company, which has recently completed its initial year, and which has rapidly increased in the twelvemonth. The manager of this company is Mr. Gerald Rackham and the secretary, Mr. C. Currier, and their work has been creditably performed.

One year ago the company began business with one team of horses doing the delivery work. At the present time they have two teams at the work and expect to add a single delivery in the near future. Their business, therefore, has more than doubled and the prospects are bright for the coming year.

Recently the Ontario Coal Company purchased 500 cords of fine dry pine slabs, which they have on sale, in addition to their celebrated Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna coal. They also handle the Butts and the English Cannel and the Youghiogheny coal, and they expect to be in the wood business before the coming of winter. The company carries on a rather extensive business in taking soft coal contracts with various engineering firms throughout the province.

Some additions have recently been made to their equipment on the property, at the corner of Wolfe and Aylmer streets, which distinguish them from other firms. They have installed a new elevator, electrically operated, for carrying the coal from the car to the bins. A concrete pocket has been built under the track with an opening to allow the coal to drop into the various receptacles of the elevator, in which it is carried up to the roof and distributed to any place by long chutes. It is estimated that forty tons can be unloaded in one hour by this means.

The company also recently installed a sawing and splitting machine, which cuts and saws wood any size or length desired. Their head office is bright, well lighted and one of the cleanest and neatest of the city. It includes both the Bell and Machine 'phones. The company have every reason to feel proud of their year's record, and judging from the past they have a good future before them.

creased expenditure of £590,289. On spirits the increase was £973,408, and on wine £11,762, a total of £985,170 but a decrease on beer of £394,881 gave a net increase of £590,289. On the other hand, the estimated increase of population was 441,110, which, on the per head expenditure of 1906 would increase the expenditure by £1,706,220; but as the actual increase was only £590,289, there was a relative decrease of £1,113,931.

Hence the average per head expenditure of £3 16s. 3d. in 1906 fell in 1907 to £3 15s. 9.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. N. Barber.)

New York, June 20.—The market opened rather dull and for the most part somewhat weaker than yesterday's closing although there were no stocks that showed any particular heaviness. Union Pacific half a point but at once more than made it up. There was a moderate showing of strength among the industrial issues early, but on the whole the market was without any particularly prominent feature.

We look for a trading market during the next few days with prices pointing upwards and would certainly take advantage of all reactions to purchase the better class of securities.

The London market was quiet today but foreign houses had a moderate number of buying orders in this market. The bank statements show an increase in cash about as expected. A good showing with the exception of a large increase in loans caused undoubtedly by special transactions as market of the past week would not warrant such an increase. The close was very quiet.

THE McALLISTER COMPANY'S APPEAL HAS BEEN ALLOWED

has been the subject of much litigation. The Hydraulic Power Company sued the McAllister Milling Company for rent, which will amount to $21,000. The McAllister Company, by third party procedure, claimed indemnity against the Ontario Bank, and succeeded at trial in Peterborough before Chancellor Boyd. The Ontario Bank appealed to the Divisional Court, who reserved the judgment of Chancellor Boyd. Now that judgment has been reversed by the Court of Appeal, and the McAllister Company is entitled to have the collator of the Ontario Bank pay all rent as it falls due. Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon looked after the interests of the McAllister Company.

The Globe has the following to say of the case:

Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company v. McAllister. — Judgment (H.) on appeal by defendants from judgment of a Divisional Court (10 O.W.R. 604), allowing an appeal by the Ontario Bank (third parties) from the judgment of Boyd, C., (10 O.W.R., 109) and dismissing the claim of the defendants against the bank. The action was for rent, and the claim over by defendants against the bank was for indemnity against the payment of the rent under an agreement between the defendants and the bank and by reason of the bank being, as alleged assignees of the term. Appeal allowed, and judgment at the trial restored, with costs throughout. W. Nesbitt, K.C., and D. O'Connell of Peterborough, for defendants. J. Bicknell, K.C., and A. B. Morine, K.C., for the Ontario Bank.

Killed by Dynamite Explosion.

Sargent, Col., June 20.—By the explosion of a carload of dynamite near here yesterday, a freight train was blown to pieces, two tramps were killed and several trainmen were injured, one fatally. A hole 40 feet deep was blown in the ground.

Twenty Passengers Injured.

Meadville, Pa., June 20.—Twenty passengers were injured, one fatally and several seriously yesterday on the Meadville & Cambridge Springs street car line. A passenger car telescoped a freight car on a sharp curve.

ESCAPES DEATH PENALTY.

The Jury Find Doherty Not Guilty on Account of Insanity.

Summerside, P.E.I., June 20.—The jury in the second trial of Alonzo Doherty, here yesterday rendered a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity. The judge then ordered the prisoner to be placed in custody until the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor be made known. The jury was out two hours and a half.

Last Saturday the jury in the first trial disagreed after voting 7 to 5 for acquittal and in spite of the judge's strong charge against the prisoner.

Doherty crime was atrociously brutal and cold-blooded, and was not denied. He met the victim walking on the railway track with a young woman whom he himself sought after, and shot him dead, sending one bullet into his head after he had fallen. Then he assisted the girl to carry the body to her home nearby. Next day he surrendered himself to the police.

MAN MAY EXPLODE.

Curious Case In Which Wound Causes Inflation of Skin.

Cincinnati, June 20.—Slowly inflating like a balloon, Peter Deal is a puzzling proposition to the attending physicians, who have strapped him down to his cot with wide bandages for fear he will explode.

Deal's condition is due to a knife thrust he received Thursday. He was bent over an ash barrel looking for something he had lost, and it is alleged that Charles Tray, an enemy, came up from behind and stabbed him.

According to the physicians, the wound created a valve, and, instead of the air being drawn into the lungs and out through the bronchial tubes, it enters into the muscles and is driven under the skin.

Alleged Serious Offence.

Guelph, June 20.—A Greek peanut vendor, G. H. Liampotis, was arrested yesterday on complaint of the postal authorities. He is charged with having sent improper matter through the mails.

The complaint originated from Geo. Mitz, 1,151 Columbia avenue, Boston, who got postcards which he says contained obscene references. The Washington postal authorities took the matter up and forwarded the complaint to Ottawa, with the result that Inspector Henderson of Toronto was detailed to make an investigation.

There are five Greek families here, but it was decided that Liampotis is the man wanted. He comes before the magistrate this morning.

Paper Mill Burns.

St. Catharines, June 20.—Yesterday morning the lower mill of the Lincoln Paper Co.'s mills was totally destroyed by fire, which was discovered about 12.30 by four men at work in the building. The flames burst forth from the machinery room with great fury, and when the firemen of the city and Merritton arrived the whole building was on fire.

The president and general manager, Welland D. Woodruff, is in England with reference to the Woodruff succession duties appeal. The mill was burned some years ago, and a blind man was burned to death. The loss will reach $50,000, insured for $25,000. About twenty men were employed.

Brantford Boy Drowned.

Brantford, June 20.—A little boy named William Wilsoncroft, ten years of age, living at 94 Henrietta street, was bathing with two other little boys at Wilke's Dam, about two miles north of this city and got into one of the many deep holes in the Grand river bed. An alarm was 'phoned into the fire department, but when the firemen reached the river with the life-saving boat the body had sunk to the bottom, and the strong undercurrent that flowed hindered them from finding the body.

Vancouver, June 20.—Hon. Dr. Young, Minister of Education, yesterday announced that the system of compulsory vaccination in schools would be inaugurated immediately after holidays.

The Union Jack will be hoisted every day in front of school buildings before school hours.

Eight Incendiary Fires.

Victoria, June 20.—All day firemen have been kept busy following up fires, which are constantly breaking out. Fortunately, all have been caught in time and little or no damage followed. Of eight fires since Thursday evening, five are undoubtedly incendiary. In one case yesterday, Ridgeway Wilson, architect, left his office for 15 minutes, and, returning, found that someone had entered during his absence and set fire to papers in it. The fire-bug escaped from Mr. Wilson's office just before his return.

Visitors noticed that the door was slammed violently and someone ran down the hall. All efforts to trace the criminal have so far been futile. It is probably the work of a crazy man.

As the climax of a series of fires, the work of some unknown firebug, the paper and box-making factory and plant of T. N. Hibben & Co., occupying the top of a three-storey building on Government street was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The damage is about $75,000, mostly covered by insurance.

Woman to Be Electrocuted.

Watertown, N.Y., June 20.—The jury in the Farmer murder case returned a verdict of murder in the first degree after three hours' deliberation.

Justice Rogers sentenced Mrs. Farmer to be electrocuted at Auburn Prison during the week beginning Aug. 2. She was accused of killing her husband.

Detroit, June 20.—Frank Taggart, from near Brantford, found guilty of bringing Mabelle Owendolye Webb, a 20-year-old English girl, into the United States in violation of a federal law, was sentenced to six months in the Detroit House of Correction and to pay a fine of $200.

Blast Killed Five.

Scranton, Pa., June 20.—Five unidentified Italians employed by Burke Bros., contractors on the Lackawanna Railroad cut-off at Lehigh on the Pocono mountains, were killed yesterday by a premature blast. The blast had failed to explode, and the foreman, instead of using a stick, used an iron rod to see what was wrong.

Gored by a Bull.

Sussex, N.B., June 20.—A farmer named Ryder was terribly gored by an angry bull yesterday and will die. The animal, a large black Jersey, had always been docile, but like a flash he turned on the owner and had torn him in a ghastly manner before a party of men drove him off.

CAPTURED BY A TIGER.

The Fearful Experience of an English Sportsman.

It is not often that a person who has been in the claws of a tiger can tell later how the experience seemed to him. John Bradley, an English sportsman, had the good luck to escape with his life from such a predicament and in his "Narrative of Travel and Sport" tells what the sensation was like. He was hunting tigers in the eastern part of Burma when he met with the adventure. Two other Englishmen were with him at the time:

We marched along carelessly, without observing order or caution, and were not prepared to take advantage of Akbar's warning when he exclaimed, "Beware, sahib!" and a full grown tiger went past us at a gallop.

A straggling volley was fired after it, and, although evidently not struck, the beast stopped and, rearing up on its hind legs, clawed the bark of a tree just as a cat scratches the leg of a chair or a table.

Mr. Grant and I fired simultaneously, but without effect, and before a thought of the creature's intention had time to flash through my mind I was down under its paws.

Seizing me by the left thigh, the tiger shook me as a dog shakes a rat and then, growling horribly, dragged me at a tremendous rate through the thick undergrowth of the forest. I heard the frightened shouts of my companions and the report of several shots, and then a dizziness came over me, but I did not lose consciousness.

As I was jolted through the forest I several times caught hold of the trees, but the tiger, growling fiercely, shook me free in an instant. All this time, although quite calm and collected, I felt a strong desire to preserve my existence and never for a moment experienced that apathy with regard to the danger that some persons have described under similar circumstances.

How long I was in the jaws of this brute I cannot tell. It seemed to me an age before the creature stopped. My companions afterward declared that I had been dragged at least half a mile from the spot where I was first seized. They followed as fast as they could run and, although I was unaware of it at the time, never lost sight of the beast. To this circumstance I undoubtedly owe my life, for had there been any delay in rendering me assistance it must have been fatal to me.

The moment the tiger halted it released my thigh and seemed to be attracted by the approach of my companions, although as yet I did not see them myself. Taking advantage of this release, I tried to escape to the shelter of some tall bushes near at hand.

In an instant and with a terrible roar the creature pounced upon me, seizing me this time by the shoulder and at the same time lacerating my chest with its claws.

A shot was fired, and I heard the bullet whistle overhead. Fear of hitting me had caused them to aim too high. A second and third shot were equally unsuccessful, and the tiger, again releasing me, began to lick up the blood which oozed through my jacket. I began to feel very faint and could not suppress a groan. Several times the tiger dabbed his paws, apparently in play, about my face, but did not use its claws, fortunately for me.

Presently the beast seemed to be seized with a sudden rage and began to spit like an angry cat at some one approaching, whose footsteps I could hear, but whom I could not see owing to my position, for I was lying flat on my back. There was the sharp bang of a rifle close to my head, a heavy weight fell across me, and then I comprehended that my friend was pulling me from under the dead body of the tiger.

The Gates of Paradise.

Once in a year and at one place in the world there is a crush that surpasses anything else of its kind in the world. It is the great fair of Bawa Farid, which is annually held in the town of Pak Pattan, in British India. It is held in honor of the famous St. Farid-ud-Din, surnamed Shakar Ganj, or sugar store, from the fact that his body had become so pure by continual fasting that whatever was put into his mouth, even earth and stones, was instantly changed into sugar. The principal ceremony consists of passing through an opening made in a wall adjoining the shrine measuring 5 by 2½ feet and called "the gates of paradise." Whoever between noon and night is able to pass through this opening is assured of paradise, and when there are 50,000 striving to pass through at the same time the crush is something terrific. Women faint, bones are broken, and the heat is stifling.

MASONIC FRATERNITY ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Rev. Mr. Major Preached an Impressive Sermon on the Preparation of the Soul, the Temple of God

SPECIAL MUSIC BY CHOIR

"Take heed now; for the Lord hath chosen thee to build an house for the sanctuary. be strong and do it." 1 Chron. 28: 10.

An allegorical treatment of this, David's charge to Solomon regarding the temple which he was to build in honour of God, was the subject of Rev. Wm. Major's sermon at the special service for the local Masonic fraternity at All Saints' church yesterday afternoon. In an eloquent manner he reviewed the grandeur and magnificence of God's temple, the thoroughness, the care and exactness with which the costly walls were erected and the beauty and adornment of the interior work and lavish furnishing. Rev. Mr. Major emphasized the fact that everything that was employed was of the best; it was perfect. Symbolically he spoke of the soul of man, that temple which God destined as His temple but the preparation of which was left with the individual. It was a forcible comparison and was elucidated in an easy and comprehensible manner.

"God expects me to build up a character that my soul shall be a fit habitation for God," he said, and urged his hearers to see to it that God's temple in each of them be a habitation befitting His majesty.

A Large Attendance

The accommodation of the church was almost taxed to its utmost by the representative assembly of members of the Peterborough and Corinthian lodges of the Masonic Order. The service was begun at four o'clock the Masons having met in their hall and marched to the church.

In prefacing his remarks Rev. Mr. Major extended the Order a hearty welcome. He was particularly pleased, he said to see them attending divine service because there were not wanting, those outside of the Order who violated the ninth commandment in referring to it. The statements had been made that the Masonic Order ignores Christ and that there is no religion in it. It was peculiarly gratifying to him, the speaker said that their attendance at church was a complete refutation of that idea and he only regretted that it was not an annual affair. The future might result in something in this respect. He spoke of the impression that is made on the general public by the members attending church in a body.

On behalf of the congregation he also expressed his thanks to the Order that the collection be given towards the building fund.

The Sermon

The sermon has been partially referred to above. To complete the building of that spiritual temple which is in every man, the footsteps of God, the perfect man, should be followed. Many obstacles would have to be met and overcome and with firm reliance and trust in Him, by faith, hope and love, the temple could be built for divine habitation.

Masonry, Rev. Mr. Major said had accomplished a gigantic work. Wherever civilization has opened a way there the Order has also been represented. Widows and orphans have felt its beneficience, countless men have received help, have been revivified and Masonry has left an indelible mark on the history of the world. The speaker next dealt with the antiquity of the Order, of its existence in prehistoric times, of even its foundation before the world, since it was based on the divine law. Its modern organization in 1717 when a Grand Lodge of four lodges was formed in London, England, was also spoken of. The Order's tolerance of all creeds, its exalted ideas of morals and its sublime impressions of the resurrection of the body had been a prime factor in spreading truth.

Rev. Mr. Major concluded by reminding his hearers to have patience, love and kindness for our fellowmen and to render every assistance possible. "Live in love and charity with your fellowmen and your hope will have its fruition in the love of God."

THE LONGDO SISTERS AGAIN DISAPPEAR FROM SHELTER

Two little girls, sisters, aged 8 and 11, named Minnie and Ellen Longdo, who have been at the Children's Shelter, under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Henry, ran away last evening. Anybody found harbouring these children after the publication of this notice, render himself or herself liable to six months imprisonment. Parties knowing of their whereabouts will confer a favour by notifying Mr. Henry, 1013 Water street.

This is not the first time these children have disappeared. On four or five occasions they have left the Shelter, but have always been recovered in a short time.

STABLE WAS GUTTED BY FIRE; COWS AND HENS WERE KILLED

A fire which broke out in the stable belonging to Mr. John Sanderson, on Harvey street, at 12.30 o'clock to-day badly gutted that structure and resulted in the death of a cow and a number of hens before it was extinguished. The origin of the blaze is a mystery to Mr. Sanderson. He and the family were at dinner when a neighbour notified them that their stable was on fire, and an alarm was sent in at once.

The fire had already obtained a good start, and efforts to rescue the cow which was in the stable were in vain for some time. Finally when the animal was dragged out into the open air it was found that one of its legs was broken, and it was injured so badly that it was deemed advisable to end its sufferings as soon as possible, and the cow was killed with an axe.

The stable contained a large quantity of hay and the firemen found it a hard task to reach the blaze and subdue it, but it was finally overcome without any damage being done to the surrounding buildings. A number of hens met death in the blaze, although a few were rescued.

The loss will partially, at least, covered by insurance.

Horse Was Electrocuted By Live Wire This Afternoon

A horse belonging to the Peterborough Lumber Company was electrocuted by a live wire in the lane east of George street, between Brock and Hunter streets, this afternoon. The animal was one of a team attached to a waggon load of slabs which had been driven into the lane to be unloaded. The wire had been broken and was hanging down to the ground. It swung across the horses' hip and almost instantly killed the animal, a current of 2300 volts passing through its body. The wire belonged, it is said, to the Otonabee Power Company, and the theory is that it grounded on an eave-trough during the storm on Friday night and broke off.

SOCCER GAME CAPTURED BY WARSAW

Defeat Lakefield on Their Own Grounds by Score of 3 to 1

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, June 22.—The reputation of the local football team is growing. On Saturday night they played the Lakefield eleven winning by a margin of two goals, the score being three to one in Warsaw's favour. The match was played on the Hamblin grounds and was a good exhibition of the soccer game. Captain Ken. Kidd has got his men working in splendid fashion and they should prove a stumbling block to Warkworth's championship aspirations.

The home boys notched the first counter, "Billy" Bell doing the trick. A few minutes later, Quinlin, Lakefield's fast centre forward, evened, but Kidd came back with a long drive from centre field which fooled the caretaker of the Lakefield citadel. Just before time was up Bell made it 3 to 1. Huston of Peterborough refereed the game. The Warsaw team was as follows:

Goal—A Carveth.
Backs—H Payne, A. Payne.
Half-backs—Belkirk, Kidd, Vatts, (Crowe.)
Forwards—Darling, W. Carveth, Wellbanks, Bell, Crowe,

DIED AT THE AGE OF 78 YEARS

Well Known Resident of North Dummer Passes Away

Examiner Special

Warsaw, June 22.—Within two years of the four score mark, death summoned on Saturday Mrs. George Little, for fifty or more years a resident in the northern portion of the township of Dummer. She was one of the best known women of Dummer and wife of the late George Little who predeceased her over four years ago. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Matthews, she being a sister of the late "Soldier" Matthews, a Crimean War veteran, who spent the waning days of his life in Dummer township. Seven children survive. They are William, James, Robert and George, of North Dummer; Hugh in the Northwest; Mrs John Wright, Smith, and Mrs. Jacob Sidders, of Otonabee.

The funeral was held this afternoon to St Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw, at 1 o'clock.

COLONIZATION ROAD CONFERENCE.

Our evening contemporary, the Review is very bold. It would like one to believe it was brave. Mr. Bradburn, Mr. Bennett and Mr. Burnham, the three busy B's were buzzing at the Simpson House, in the Village of Kinmount, and the Hunter House Bobcaygeon, and the Review says that the insinuation, that they did anything improper while there, is unfounded. Of course who would consider Mr. Burnham guilty of doing anything? He was never known to do anything. Then as to Mr. Bennett, he gets $6 per day and expenses for inspecting colonization roads; consequently who would dare to say that he shouldn't go where Mr. Bradburn wanted him to go? Why shouldn't he be at the Simpson House? Why shouldn't he be at the Hunter House? Hadn't he as much right to be at either place as Mr. Bradburn or Mr. Burnham? True, there are no colonization roads there to inspect, but there were gentlemen written to be present who were there for a purpose, and of course that purpose was colonization roads. It was desirable to see these gentlemen before the election. Mr. Bennett had to be there for this purpose; Mr. Bradburn had to be there to get acquainted with the electors. It was a suitable time for this purpose. It would serve a double end. Mr. Burnham is a candidate as well as Mr. Bradburn was, and he might share in the future the reflected advantage of the manipulation of colonization road money in Mr. Bradburn's interest. After the first interview Mr. Bradburn when Mr. Bradburn's purpose had been served, graciously retired, and left the field to Mr. Bennett and the other gentleman taking part in the first conference, thus endeavouring to relieve himself of responsibility for details that might be "misconstrued" as the Review would put it. We leave Mr. Bennett arranging details with th gentlemen in the room. Of course Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Bennett didn't understand each other. Of course "we" 'were on the spot.' However we shall be able to "get any material required" from more reliable sources than "we" of the Review. What was all the rush about anyway in regard to these conferences? There was no necessity for immediate expenditure in May. On the eve of an election was a bad time to give so important a matter as the proper distribution and expenditure of colonization road money, the requisite attention. The matter could have waited a little longer in the interests of the townships affected, but Mr. Bradburn could not wait. His candidature was the most important matter to him, yet the roads had to wait. All that was wanted was the pull implied.

IN THE INTEREST OF PEACE.

His Majesty King Edward has well earned, and is nobly maintaining the title of International Peace-Maker: Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux has well earned the title of Industrial Peace-Maker. His Industrial Disputes Act is proving a powerful means of making peace between employees and employers. Numerous instances have been cited in these columns of the Act being instrumental in settling disputes, which, unchecked, would have developed into strikes, disastrous to both capital and labour, and productive of great inconvenience to the people, in the cases where public utilities were concerned. Peace has been restored and settlements effected, in which the rights of both labour and capital have been respected; wage-earning and industrial output have gone on under harmonious relations, which would not have existed except for the intervention of the Lemieux Act. When the Act was before the House of Commons last year, considerable opposition was manifested by certain of the railway brotherhoods to the proposals put before them in the bill. It is, therefore, most satisfactory to be told that the Minister of Labour has received from Mr. A. B. Lowe, president of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-way employees, the headquarters of which are located at St. Louis, Mo., and who is himself a former resident of Kingston, Ont., a letter, under date of June 12, discussing the operation of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act in Nova Scotia, in which he commends very highly the operation of the Act. He refers especially to contracts of settlement of disputes between the Dominion Atlantic Railway and its employees, and also the Halifax and Southwestern Railway. While commending the Lemieux Act, Mr. Lowe adds:

"My good opinion of the Lemieux Act is not so much because of the strikes that it has settled, or may yet settle, as in the much greater influence for good that it has had in securing settlements of which little is heard. Strikes bring everybody into the lime-light, but are poor affairs at the best, but, as I have frequently said, my endorsement of the Lemieux Act comes from knowledge that I have of settlements secured which have not come to the public notice, and have not been in the lime-light, as is the case of these two committees in Nova Scotia."

All this is additional evidence of the effects of the Lemieux Act in bringing industrial peace and social progress, directly benefitting those immediately interested, and indirectly conferring great benefits upon the community and the state. Sunny ways are better than the club of coercion.

POOR TACTICS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

The Conservative party has, during this long drawn-out session, given many examples of lack of thought as to the consequence of their actions, but it is doubtful whether they ever gave a more effective example of the tactics of how not to do it (when judged from the standpoint of the national party) than they did yesterday, when Mr. Foster, on behalf of the Conservative party, undertook to place himself, and, inferentially, his whole following, on record as opposed to the advances which the Government gave to the banks last fall in order that the grain of the West might be moved.

Mr. Foster's chief objection was that the Government had no right to depreciate the gold reserve of the country under any circumstances.

The best answer to that proposition is the fact that Canada—not only Western Canada, but Canada as a whole—was face to face with a proposition in its possible consequence was as grave as if an invading army of an allied state had entered upon our territory.

What would have happened under those circumstances? Why, every man, woman and child in Canada would have risen in arms to declare that the Government of the day should expend all its resources to defend the public interest.

Yet, the situation last fall was almost the same. We Canadians did not talk about it—at least that section of us which is not allied to the yellow journalism did not—and the result was that the general public escaped the knowledge of the gravity of the situation with which Canada was confronted.

It so happened that the year in which Western Canada was given a disastrous crop was coincident with a depression in the money markets of the world unprecedented within the present generation. It was necessary to devise ways and means by which the wheat crop of the West should be moved to the East and thence on to the seaboard; but there was no machinery available by which this could be done.

Did the Laurier Government hesitate?

No! It made up its mind that there was a situation which demanded the action of a nation.

And the nation acted.

The action was a success.

The financial stringency was relieved. The crop was moved. The Government advanced money to the banks out of the national reserve; and the action was justified by the result.

Coming down to the fine point—irrational reserve for? Is it not for the rational reserve for? Is it not for the use of the country in a national emergency? And, as Mr. Fielding said yesterday, what greater emergency could Canada be confronted with than failure to move the crop of the West?

Those Conservatives who hope to make party capital out of yesterday's developments in the House of Commons fail to grasp the fact that in a case of national emergency there are no lines of party; but the main point is to ACT; and that is what the Government did, and it is that which Parliament has ratified.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Taft is the Republican candidate for the United States presidency. Now the alleged funny journals will be busy from this on urging the charges in the rhyming words, graft, daft, graft, etc.

The resumption of work at the "Soo" steel mills is a sign of the times—good times. If the Beck power policy tangle were untwisted there might be a boom in the production of electrical supplies.

The Mail and Empire declares that the Hodgins inquiry was blocked by the Liberal members of the committee. The truth is that Mr. Hodgins withdrew his charges. The Mail and Empire stands valiantly for a cause for which Ananias died.

One is tempted to say to the men one sees standing about the streets, in the language of Scripture, "Why stand ye here all the day idle?" In the little Province of Manitoba alone there are needed at the present 30,000 farm servants. Besides, there are millions of acres also standing idle, to be had for the taking. Any strong young man who saves his wages for a season or two can become a farm freeholder and a profitable citizen.

BOY FELL THROUGH AN OPEN GRATE

Dropped Five Feet But He Escaped From It Unhurt

This morning a little boy dropped into the port hole on the sidewalk in front of Grafton's store. The gate was out while a load of coal was being shovelled into the cellar. The lad was not looking where he was going and fell into the opening. According to the report he was unhurt although the fall was a good five feet.

WRITE IN SECRET.

The Way Chinese Court Historians Do Their Work.

There are court historians in China, as there are in other countries, but there is one striking difference, and it lies in the fact that the work of the Chinese court historians does not see the light until the reigning dynasty comes to an end.

In this way these Celestial historians have an opportunity to describe most truthfully the virtues and vices of the valorous rulers and the real significance of the events which take place during their regime. They can write what they please without fear of censure, for they know that their work will not be published as long as the reigning dynasty lasts.

This has been the rule for more than 2,000 years, the first court historian having been appointed by the imperial house of Han, which reigned from 200 B. C. until 25 A. D.

The duty of these historians is to write plain accounts of all the events that occur during their tenure of office. At regular intervals their completed work is taken from them and is locked up in an iron safe or vault. There it remains until the first member of a new dynasty ascends the throne.

It is then given with all the other histories in the vault to the court historian, who is then living, and from the mass of documents he is expected to prepare a truthful history of the dynasty which has just expired.

Tortoise That Dreads Rain.

The tortoise is not an animal one would naturally fix upon as likely to be afraid of rain, but it is singularly so. Twenty-four hours or more before rain falls the Galapagos tortoise makes for some convenient shelter. On a bright, clear morning when not a cloud is to be seen the denizens of a tortoise farm on the African coast may sometimes be seen heading for the nearest overhanging rocks. When that happens the proprietor knows that rain will come down during the day, and, as a rule, it comes down in torrents. The sign never fails. This presentation, or whatever you may call it, which exists in many birds and beasts, may be explained partly from the increasing weight of the atmosphere when rain is forming, partly by habits of living and partly from the need of moisture, which is shared by all.

Knew His Dickens.

A third form boy in a city school belongs to a family of Dickens worshipers who have a kind of Dickens fellowship among the ... es—read Dickens round the fir... in turns, at night quote Dickens in all sorts of little "family" catch phrases. The boy of nine took his place in the Scripture class recently, the lesson had been on the story of Uriah the Hittite, and the form master was driving it home by close questioning. "And what," he asked, "was the name of Uriah's wife?" Dead pause; then the voice of the youthful Dickens scholar piped, "Please, sir, Heep?"—London Chronicle.

The Napoleon (Foot-rite) Shoe

You'll find the Shoe Merchant who handles the Napoleon (Foot-rite) Shoe a good one to deal with—he's satisfied with a small profit shoe which sells to every customer at the same price year in and year out.

He knows good shoes. And he knows that its the "many that makes the muckle." Big business is built on big selling and little profits, on lowest prices and good value.

The Napoleon (Foot-rite) Shoe has twenty improvements not found combined in any other shoe. It is neither a high priced shoe nor a low-priced shoe—but it is the best $5 worth of shoe you ever knew.

A speaking acquaintance with the 150 styles of the Napoleon Shoe should lead to an intimate long-wearing friendship. Let us show you. We'll be pleased, and you are just as welcome if you come only to see.

DISASTROUS FIRE SWEEPS TOWN'S CENTRE

Business Blocks Laid in Ruins at Burk's Falls.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $150,000

Whole Town In Danger of Being Wiped Out—High Wind Fanned the Flames—Women Join With Men in Fighting Fire—Church Burned—Valuable Communion Service—No Lives Were Lost.

Burk's Falls, June 22.—The worst fire in the history of Burk's Falls—one of the worst, in point of comparative size in the province—occurred Saturday afternoon when property to the value of $150,000, went up in smoke.

The insurance is about $70,000.

The fire started in a drying kiln at the Knight Bros.' Co.'s works, but through the heroic work of the Burk's Falls fire brigade, under Chief Jones, and assisted by the employes, the big factory, saw mills, machine shops and lumber yards were all saved.

Unfortunately, while the kiln was burning, the wind, which was blowing a terrific gale, carried flaming fagots over the mill and into the business part of the town, and in less than a quarter of an hour several buildings were in flames.

Soon the whole town was threatened with destruction, and women as well as men set to work to fight the flames. Gravenhurst and Huntsville fire brigades were wired for, but did not arrive until the flames had been got under control.

Every business block on the east side of Ontario street, from Yonge street to the Salvation Army barracks, was burned to the ground, including the Clifton House.

They were all wooden structures, which have for many years been a menace to the town.

On the west side of Ontario street every building from Yonge street to the Partridge Block, was destroyed, with the exception of three brick buildings. All of these were also wooden structures.

The fire burned fiercely until well into the night. Yesterday hundreds of people have come in to see the ruins.

Too much credit cannot be given the firemen for their valiant efforts. Thanks are also due to the firemen from neighboring places, who came by special trains, bringing their apparatus with them.

The town's fire wagon was reduced to ashes.

Many other buildings caught fire, but were put out.

The five fireproof brick walls in the Partridge block with heroic work by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Partridge and others stopped the southerly progress of the flames on the west side of Ontario street, and the splendid work done in saving the Salvation Army barracks stopped the fire on the east side, and doubtless saved the residential part of the town south and east of that point.

Desperate and well directed efforts prevented the flames crossing to the north side of Yonge street and catching in the Sharpe block and The Arrow office building, the proprietor and editor of which, A. R. Fawcett, is so well-known in West Toronto as former editor of The Leader and Recorder. Had the flames gained control in these buildings every structure on the north side of Yonge street almost to the G. T. R. station would have gone up in smoke.

The absence of rain for over a week and the gale of wind that was blowing all the time the fire was in progress made it seem probable that the entire town would be wiped out. Indeed, it is marvelous that the town escaped as well as it did.

Among the buildings destroyed is All Saints' English Church. A handsome communion service, valued at $350, and presented to the church by a lady in England, was also destroyed.

Three Villages Destroyed.

Detroit, June 22.—Fires in Northern Michigan forests, fanned to gigantic proportions by gales, have destroyed at least three villages, rendered hundreds homeless, swept over thousands of acres of timber land, and caused damage estimated at about $200,000.

The heaviest loss has been sustained in Presque Isle and Cheboygan counties.

Passed Russian Budget.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—The financial commission of the Council of the Empire passed the budget of the Ministry of Marine amounting to $42,500,000, inclusive of $5,500,000 to lay down four battleships this year.

A deadlock in the upper and lower Legislative Chambers is now threatened in view of the Douma's recent refusal to pass the latter item.

Gashed His Throat.

Vancouver, B. C., June 22.—Ed Snelling of Toronto tried to cut his throat with a razor at the Commercial Hotel yesterday. He will recover.

MI-O-NA MEANS STOMACH COMFORT

Its of Special Value to Many Here in Peterborough.

A notable discovery, and one that appeals especially to many people in Peterborough, is the combination of stomach help in the Mi-o-na treatment. This preparations works wonders in case of indigestion or weak stomach.

It acts directly upon the walls of the stomach and bowels, strengthening and stimulating them so that they readily take care of the food that is eaten, without distress or suffering.

So positive are the good effects following the use of Mi-o-na that the remedy is sold by Wm. Mad'l under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails to cure. A 50-cent box of Mi-o-na will do the good the stomach needs, which is simply to make it do its own work.

CONFERENCE SCORES TRUSTS.

Monopolies Denounced by Speakers at Great Church Conclave.

London, June 22.—(C. A. P.)—At the Pan-Anglican conference, the Bishop of Yukon described his work among the Canadian Indians, who, he incidentally mentioned, had given most liberally to the thank-offering in connection with the conference.

Judge Hannington, in the course of a speech in opening a discussion on monopolies said it was a subject the church should express its opinion upon in a decided manner. Monopolies were prejudicial to public interests and the best interests of the church and Christianity. In fact, the trusts were hostile to the interests of everyone, pressing down and impoverishing the people. It was wrong morally and constitutionally for any subject to have the monopoly or control of anything which was intended for the well-being of the people. He held that people who raised the price of coal or bread were as big monopolists as anyone else. The food of the poor, from milk upwards, was terribly charged for by people who talked of thriftlessness of the poor, but the poor were robbed by everyone and exploited in every way.

Amongst the other speakers, who all condemned trusts, were several Canadians.

SHOT MAD CLERGYMAN.

Fired at Men In Street Who Returned His Fire.

Hermann, Mo., June 22.—While insane Rev. V. Strauss, 70 years of age, a retired clergyman of the German Evangelical Church, was shot and killed in the streets of Fredericksburg Saturday, after he had fired at close range on four men standing in the street.

The preacher's mind had been failing for some time. He started for Fredericksburg Saturday, carrying his rifle, despite the entreaties of his family. Seeing the four men talking he fired at them.

One of the men, Max Knoiche, returned the fire with a revolver, killing Strauss. None of the four was hurt.

LIBERAL FOR STORMONT.

Mr. McCart Left In Possession of Seat After Recount.

Cornwall, June 22.—The recount in Stormont, which was in progress for three days before Judge O'Reilly, was concluded on Saturday.

There was an equal number of errors, and the result left W. J. McCart, Liberal, elected by a majority of eight.

There were two polls, Aultsville and Moulinette, where the deputy returning officers had not detached the numbered coupons, but the judge allowed these to be counted. McCart had a majority of 44 in these two polls.

Suicide at Falls.

Niagara Falls, June 22.—A medium-sized, dark complexioned, young man about 28 years of age blew out his brains at the foot of Jolly Cut, opposite the American falls, in Queen Victoria Park, at 7 o'clock last evening.

The body is that of a man 5 feet 7 inches tall, about 150 pounds weight, black hair, smooth face, with monthly receipts for the Electric Encyclopedia of Pittsburg bearing a subscriber's name of Alexander G. Luck, 7,601 Cedar avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. He also had a ticket, Cleveland to Niagara and return, dated Cleveland, June 21.

Want Officials Removed.

Brantford, June 22.—Petitions are in circulation inaugurated by the Moulders' Union and other union men against Crown Attorney Wilkes and Chief Slemin. The complaint is in connection with recent cases arising out of trouble at the Buck Stove Works.

The men allege that there has been discrimination against them in favor of the strike-breakers and they ask the Attorney-General for investigation with a request for removal of Mr. Wilkes, and the petition regarding the chief will go to the police commissioners with a like request.

NOMINATIONS AND WALL STREET

Stock Market Doesn't Appear to Take Kindly to the Nominations

NO ENTHUSIASM MANIFESTED

New York, June 20.—(Special).—If one were to judge from the action of the stock market immediately following the announcement of the nominations of Taft and Sherman by the Republican Convention in Chicago, the conclusion would very naturally be forced that Wall Street by no means takes kindly to the ticket. Whereas it had been anticipated that as soon as it was assured that President Roosevelt would not again be a candidate and that the Secretary of war would be selected as the choice of his party, the stock market would take on greater or less activity, with an advance in prices, just the reverse of this was the case and in consequence must disappointment was manifested by brokers on both the New York Stock and Consolidated Stock Exchanges, as well as the speculative public in general.

There were two ways to account for this failure of the stock market to enthuse over the nomination of Taft and Sherman. First of all, it is to be remembered that among those interests best informed regarding the situation, the selection of Mr. Taft has for a long time past been looked upon as a practical certainty, and hence these interests bought stocks freely some months ago, with the result that prices since then have advanced very materially, thereby "discounting" the action of the Chicago Convention.

Another reason, and quite a plausible one, is that those now in control of the stock market refrained from marking up values on the nominations for fear of creating a sentiment throughout the country that the Republican ticket was allied with Wall Street and the many interests which it represents. However sound this logic may appear, there is hardly any gainsaying the fact that that the nominations of Messrs. Taft and Sherman are quite acceptable to the general financial community and that sooner or latter this sentiment will find expression in a pronounced upward movement in the stock market, particularly as the platform adopted by the Republican party meets with the approval of all those having at heart the welfare of the vast business interests of this country.

This will be a two days trip, as the return will not be made until to-morrow. A number of the local fraternity joined the excursionists at the boat.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Mrs. Albert Dunford, born June 20, 1864; died April 9, 1901.

One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is still;
The place made vacant in our home
Can never more be filled.

Our Father in His wisdom called
The boon His love had given;
And though on earth the body lies,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

Gone, but not forgotten.

—Mother and Sister.

SURVIVOR OF GREAT NAVAL DISASTER RECALLS THE EVENT

Mr. Harry Dunford of Peterborough Rescued From Watery Grave—The Victoria-Camperdown Collision

FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

Fifteen years ago to-day on June 22nd, 1893, the great ocean disaster—the collision between the Victoria and Camperdown—took place on the Mediterranean Sea. Of the 651 who were tossed among the billows of the sea as a result of the great accident, 364 met watery graves, and 287 were saved, 50 of whom later died from injuries received. Of the rescued there is one living in Peterborough at the present time. He is Mr. Harry Dunford, who, more fortunate than many of his fellow naval soldiers, was snatched from death. He was invalided out of service seven months after the disaster. Mr. Dunford is the only survivor of the awful occurrence, now in Peterborough, and one of the few on Canadian soil.

Farewell Sermons On Sunday Next At Charlotte Street Church

Rev. Mr. Manning, during the morning service on Sunday at Charlotte Street Methodist Church, stated that he would preach on Sunday next his farewell sermons as pastor of the Charlotte Street Church. There had been subscribed already $3,700 for the new church in the South End of the city, of which amount Charlotte street had contributed cheerfully over two thousand dollars, and he hoped yet to obtain a considerable amount in addition to that. George Street Church, he had no doubt, would add considerably to the sum subscribed, and he hoped the amount would be known very shortly—in the course of a couple of weeks. The plans were about ready, and in four or five months the building would be occupied.

The congregation had subscribed cheerfully and liberally, and the response to the appeal was only another exemplification of the liberality and progress of Methodism in Peterborough and elsewhere. During his two years in Peterborough he had been able to occupy his position only about one-half of the time, but he was glad to know and see positive evidence of the good accomplished by the church. He would ever watch with profound interest the work of the Charlotte Street Church, and he would remember with deep feelings the kindnesses extended to him during his pastorate. He believed the way had been opened to him by his coming to Peterborough, and while the new church might for a while interfere with Charlotte street, it would only be for a short time. Charlotte Street Church he hoped would expand and prosper, and he would be pleased to see it do so.

Celebrate Their Diamond Jubilee At Centreville

The Centreville Presbyterian Church yesterday celebrated its diamond jubilee. Arrangements had been made to have a former minister now in the United States present, but he was unable to be there. The morning service was, therefore, conducted by the pastor while the Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, preached in the evening.

The congregations were very large and much enthusiasm was shown. The diamond jubilee celebration will be continued next Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Mackenzie yesterday evening preached most acceptably in the Springville Church.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN CITIZEN

Mr. William J. McCallum Passes Away After Lingering Illness

After suffering for some time from internal troubles, with the hope that the disease might be shaken off, Mr. W. J. McCallum, for many years the well-known proprietor of McCallum's restaurant, passed away at an early hour this morning at the Nicholls Hospital at the early age of 36 years. He was one of Peterborough's youngest and most successful business men and was one of the best known citizens of the city or county. He was of a kind and affable nature, loved and respected by all who had the good fortune to make his acquaintance, and always ready to lend a helping hand to the sick and distressed. The deceased had been suffering for some time from an internal trouble. He was removed to the Nicholls Hospital about three weeks ago, where an operation was performed. He rallied for a short time and made a hard fight against the hand of death, but the end came about 3 o'clock this morning.

He carried on a most successful restaurant business here for a number of years, disposing of his business about two years ago and entering as a partner with Mr. C. R. Banks in sporting goods supplies. He was a prominent Mason, and at the Masonic service in All Saints' Church yesterday afternoon prayers were offered in his behalf.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss a wife, his mother and two sisters, who have the heartfelt sympathy of many sorrowing friends.

Free Methodists Conclude Ten Day Camp Meeting

Some Souls Were Saved, Others Reclaimed—A Financial Success —Will Not Build a Church at Present

THE MINISTERS HAVE GONE

The Free Methodist camp meetings were brought to a close last night shortly after 11 o'clock after a most successful ten-days' meet. The concluding service was largely attended and after its termination everybody joined in a farewell, shaking hands and bidding each other good-bye after ten days of prayer and good work. All the ministers were favourably impressed with the people of Peterborough.

"We believe in practical meetings," Rev. Mr. Luck said to-day. "We do not try to preach anything that cannot be put into practice. Hence our sermons are straight from the shoulder, with no beating about the bush."

Financially, the meeting was a success, all the expenses being covered. The main object was also fully realized. Quite a number of people were saved and others were reclaimed for God.

Practical Sermon

Rev. J. C. Davidson, of Tyrone, was the speaker at yesterday afternoon's meeting. His text was "Ye are My Witness." Some people who gave testimony in law courts speak falsely, and the facts do not substantiate their statements and their infamy is discovered. Similarly people profess to be saved and to be Christians, but their actions do not bear up their claims. Their every day life is not in keeping with their profession. The most of the visiting ministers will attend a camp meeting at Bracebridge.

Owing to the present financial pressure it was decided not to undertake the erection of a church. Mr. Luck said they preferred to continue in their work at the mission opposite the market than to get into debt by building a church.

Talks To Dummer Farmers On Pure Seed Problem And The Eradication Of Weeds

Interesting Meeting in the Warsaw Town Hall on Saturday Evening —Government Gives Assistance

THE IMPORTANCE OF BEES

One of the greatest nuisances experienced by the tillers of the soil is the existence of noxious weeds on the farm and the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa is doing all in its power to mitigate the evil and give the farmer a better chance. Special meetings are now being held in various parts of the province at which the Government have representatives there to talk to the farmers in the interests of the production of pure seeds and the eradication of weeds.

On Saturday night one of these meetings was held in the Town Hall, Warsaw, and was addressed by Mr. T G. Raynor of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. About twenty-five farmers were in attendance, Mr. Edward Hawthorne being the chairman. Mr. Chas. O'Reilly, of Norwood, Secretary of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute, was also present.

Mr. Raynor's remarks were confined to how pure seeds may be obtained by making application to the government for assistance and an explanation of the elimination of the weeds that deteriorate the growth of grains, clover, or timothy. Those who were present entered heartily into the spirit of the meeting, asked many questions and told of their own experiences with noxious weeds. What the farmers wanted was "clean seed and a clean chance." Referring to clover seed Mr. Raynor stated that too often farmers had to pay the "top" price for seed that was impure. He advised them to have samples of the seed they intend to sow, sent to the Seed Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa for testing. The Department does the work free of charge; they make a report and if there are any noxious seeds the report will show it. Last year clover seed both red and alsike, became so rare, that the prices soared and the farmers didn't sow half as much seed as usual. With the money that is in clover seed now it will pay farmers to keep their eyes open and obtain pure seed and eliminate the noxious weeds.

Study The Weed Book

In this connection Mr. Raynor pointed out that the farmers had access to the weed book which had been placed in the rural schools for the identification of weeds.

At the meeting on Saturday night Mr. Raynor had on exhibition a large number of the most common weeds and explained their character—whether annual, biennial or perennial—and the best system of eradication. His specimens included the false flax, white cockle, bladder campion, night flowering catchfly, curled dock, sow thistle, blue weed, burdock, chickory, nomad's tongue, shepherd's purse, mustard, wild tare or wild vetch, and several others. Of these, the sow thistle was possibly the most detrimental to the crops on account of the provision that has been made for the spreading of the seeds.

The burdock could be killed by cutting the plant below the crown—the spark of life was thus put out, and neither salt nor nothing else was necessary when the crown was gone.

"If I had known that a few years ago," remarked one of the farmers present, "I should have saved a lot of trouble."

Chickory can be killed by using salt after the weed has been cut off below the crown.

A Good Clover Crop

When a field of clover is to be cut for seed, the first crop should be cut early, in fact just as soon as it has blossomed out. This overcomes the ravages of the clover seed midge, a small red insect which hatches in the clover blossoms. When the clover heads begin to turn brown, the dormant larvae come to life, the insect goes to the root of the clover, and when the new crop springs up they make a vigorous attack on the seed. It is the second brood that does the damage, and if the clover can only be cut before the larvae are hatched, the seeds are safe.

Mr. Raynor attaches great importance to the bumble bee as a fertilizer for the red clover, and the honey bee for the alsike. He stated that nowadays when the farmer was replacing the old rail or stump fences by the wire variety, the chances for brooding were greatly mitigated. He advised the farmers to take care of the wood refuse after the sheep are sheared and place it along the fences two or three rails from the ground—for the protection against field mice—and give the bees some place to build their nests. The bees are friends of the farmers and should be encouraged.

The meeting proved a very interesting and profitable one, and no doubt a visit from Mr. Raynor will be welcomed at Warsaw any time in the future.

He was removed to the Nicholls Hospital, and was able to be removed to his home on Friday the 19th of the month. Mr. Farmer will be incapacitated for some little time yet, although able to move around by the use of crutches.

HOTELKEEPER WAS FINED $30 TO-DAY

For Selling Liquor to Young Man on the "Blacklist"

A local hotel keeper was this morning at the police court fined $30 and costs by Magistrate Dumble on the charge of selling liquor to a person on the "black list," the magistrate holding that the responsibility of determining the identity of the persons on the black list fell upon the hotel keeper.

Chas. Healey testified that he was on the black list and had been served with lager by the defendant on Wednesday last.

Inspector Stewart gave evidence as to the black listing of Healey and the service of notice upon the defendant.

The defendant admitted serving Healey with lager, but stated that he did not know that he was the black-listed person until afterwards.

The magistrate held that the proprietor of the hotel was bound to make inquiries as to the identity of every black-listed person, and that the responsibility fell upon him. The maximum penalty for the offence is $50 and the magistrate inflicted a fine of $30 with costs, amounting to $4.15. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendant.

WEEK END NOTES FROM THE RIVER

The week end yachting on the river was decidedly brisker than for some weeks past. About fifteen of the C. G. E. Anglers went down to their cottage on Saturday afternoon in Allen's steam launch the "Tootsie." They got about six 'lunge that evening. They returned to the city Sunday evening. Mr. Robt. Wright was down to Jubilee with the Bessie, and Mr. S. Anderson in his launch went as far as Idyl Wyld.

Messrs Meredith and Mitchell had their launch out for the initial trip this season. Mr. T. Hooper took a small party as far as the Anglers' cottage in his new launch the "May Belle," on Saturday afternoon, returning the same evening. There were many pleasure seekers out in canoes and skiffs on the river, and this pastime has an increasing number of devotees.

EAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with Indigestion—are compelled "to diet"—find that after eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

Take the juice of an orange before breakfast—take "Fruit-a-tives" at night—and you will quickly be rid of Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation and Biliousness. "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price by "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

DEATH'S HEAVY TOLL OF ANOTHER DAY

Drowning Fatalities Numerous During the Past Two Days.

RESCUER ALMOST LOSES LIFE

Two Ottawa Men Victims Near Port Arthur—A. W. Fares Drowned While Bathing — Rowboat Swamped at Hamilton—Percy Young Meets Death While Baiting Night Lines — Other Accidents.

There is an unusually long list of victims of tragedies occurring in this province in the past two days. Drownings have been especially numerous, as the following records show:

Port Arthur, Ont., June 21.—A double drowning occurred Friday in a narrow lake in the English river district, west of here.

The victims are Albert Bertrand, aged 32, from Hull, and William Clarke, aged 27, from Ottawa, the latter being a married man.

In company with Lawrence Bertrand, who was employed at the same lumber camp with them, they were out fishing in a canoe. Clarke stood up to cast the line and upset the canoe.

Lawrence Bertrand swam ashore, but Clarke, who could not swim, grasped Albert Bertrand and both sank. The bodies have not been recovered.

Drowned at Goderich.

Goderich, June 21.—Private Harry Porter, 33rd Regiment, was drowned in Maitland river while in swimming with his brother, also a private. The brother went to the rescue and almost sank himself. Porter was formerly a clerk in the Sovereign Bank at Clinton.

Boat Was Swamped.

Hamilton, June 22.—James McEwen, an employe of the steel plant, was drowned in the bay, near Gage's Inlet, Saturday. He lived at the beach and went to and from work in a rowboat. In the afternoon he started out in the boat for his home, the boat was swamped by the storm and he was thrown into the water. He managed to cling to the bottom of the boat for a while, but was finally exhausted. Wm. Johnston, 288 North East avenue, saw the mishap, but he was in a shooting boat and was unable to give any assistance. Chief Hazell grappled for the body yesterday, but did not succeed in finding it. McEwen leaves a widow and several children.

Walked to His Death.

Ottawa, June 22.—George Barbeau, aged 23, who returned on Saturday night from an excursion to Cornwall lacrosse match, was drowned in the canal immediately after the train arrived. He was asleep on arrival and some friends awakened him. He got off the train drowsily, but refused to accompany friends out of the station. Instead he walked over the tracks and those around heard a splash of water.

Drowned While Fishing.

Port Bruce, Ont., June 22.—Percy Young, aged 24, son of George Young, one of the best known fishermen on the Canadian side of Lake Erie, was drowned Friday night in the lake.

The body was found Saturday morning, washed up on the beach. He had gone out in a rowboat to bait a night-line when a wave upset the boat.

Armenian Drowns.

Brantford, June 22.—The Grand river claimed its second victim within two days here yesterday afternoon when H. Manoogian, Armenian, 45 years old, was drowned while bathing below Lorne Bridge. Three fellow countrymen ran for assistance, and the firemen recovered the body after three hours' work. Manoogian came from Watertown, Mass.

Youth Drowns.

Welland, June 22.—Arthur Fares, 20 years of age, son of Dr. Fares, Port Colborne, was drowned while bathing in the Welland river.

Denver, June 22.—One man was killed and many are reported to have been injured by an explosion that blew up the Dupont Powder Co.'s plant at Louviers, 20 miles south of Denver, Saturday. Several persons are also reported missing.

Shot by Car Thieves.

Buffalo, June 22.—Daniel McCrea, a railway detective, was shot in the head in the yards of the Buffalo Creek, near Filmore avenue, last night, by five alleged car burglars. McCrea will not live.

DEATH OF HARRY COLLINS.

Supreme Treasurer of I. O. F. Passed Away Saturday.

Toronto, June 22.—Harry Collins, supreme treasurer of the I. O. F., and one of the most prominent Mystic Shriners in America, passed away at his home on Saturday afternoon.

He had been confined to his home since Wednesday and on Friday he became unconscious and continued so until the end came.

Last Monday, when he handed out his statement to the press, announcing his withdrawal from the S. C. R. contest, he was seen to be far from well, and the attack culminated in a few days in an acute condition of nephritis, a form of kidney disease from which he had suffered for some years.

Mr. Collins was 64 years of age last May, and was elected treasurer of the I. O. F. 18 years ago, holding the office continuously ever since.

The death of Mr. Collins is a tragic sequel to the crucial events in the history of the I. O. F. during the past ten days. Mr. Collins had announced himself as a candidate for the post of supreme chief ranger. Whether the opposition to his candidature which developed affected him is difficult to say, but on Monday, as stated when he announced his retirement from the contest, he was plainly ill. He of course never knew that the supreme court had on Friday night formally made the expected reduction from $7,000 to $4,000 in the salary attached to the position of treasurer.

Mr. Collins was born at Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland, in 1844. He was educated at Dublin and came to Canada at the age of 17, when he entered the employ of A. R. McMaster & Bro. as a clerk in their wholesale business in Toronto. After a connection with the firm for nine years he entered the employ of W. H. Sparrow, and later went into business for himself.

He was a member of the Church of England. He was married June 1, 1871, to Marie Adelaide, daughter of Robert Fraser of Toronto.

Mr. Collins was a past grand master of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows, a prominent Mason, a member of the A. O. U. W., of the Royal Arcanum, of the Knights of Pythias and of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

In the Masonic order his prominence was marked. For a year he was imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Northern Mystic Shrine — the highest office in the Shriners. His medal received in connection with this office is jeweled and is said to be worth about $700. It is said Mr. Collins was the first Shriner in Canada, being initiated in Detroit, Mich., 25 years ago.

Poor Pedlar's Son Gains Coveted Distinction at Cambridge.

London, June 22.—The Senior Wrangler at Cambridge this year is a Russian student, the son of an East End Jewish pedlar who has been driven to London by persecution.

This young man is named Selig Brodetsky, and his success furnishes a remarkable example of the possibilities open to the poorest boy in the English elementary schools. His father landed here practically penniless sixteen years ago. Selig was sent to the Jews' free school in the East End of London of which Lord Rothschild is president. There he won a scholarship which enabled him to go to Trinity College, Cambridge, in October, 1906. He is now in possession of scholarships producing £250 a year. Selig's father was interviewed when the news of his son's success reached London.

This is the second time that a Jew has been "Senior Wrangler" at Cambridge. The first occasion was in 1867, when the honor was won by the late Tuma Hartog, who was a prominent figure in the agitation for the removal of Jewish disabilities.

Fatal Mine Accident.

Fernie, B.C., June 22.—A serious accident occurred in No. 2 mine at Coal Creek, when three men lost their lives. The killed are:

George Neath, aged 45, engineer, married.

George Rudolph, aged 40, married.

Steven Looy, aged 21, Slav.

The fatal bump was felt all over Coal Creek and people came flocking to the mouth of the mine. The bump occurred in section six at the bottom and squeezed up to the top, stopping the air from getting in and the gas quickly accumulated.

General Superintendent Sinser, Local Superintendent Strachan and the pit bosses were soon on the scene with a rescue party, but were unable to get to the men owing to the large accumulation of gas.

Miners Entombed.

Monongahela, Pa., June 22.—Three miners are dead, two others are fatally burned and 15 entombed, many of whom are supposed to be dead, from an explosion at the Ellsworth No. 1 mine of the Pittsburg Coal Co., near here Saturday.

Of the victims taken from the mine, John Beal is the only one identified. The others are foreigners, whose features were too scorched to be recognized. The two burned men were hurried to the hospital here, where it was said they will probably die.

Motor Cyclist Killed.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 22.—While speeding around a track on a motorcycle at sixty-five miles an hour, Theodore Shults was killed by his machine crashing into a fence, and Joseph Rice, another rider, seriously injured.

Two Men Blown to Pieces in Tunnel at Fort William.

ANOTHER BADLY INJURED

Accident Occurred During Night Shift on Waterworks Construction—Tried to Rake Up Dynamite—Tool Struck Explosive Too Heavily — Had Been Broken Off and Concealed in the Rock.

Fort William, June 22.—An explosion of dynamite in the tunnel of the Fort William waterworks construction Saturday night killed two men and seriously injured another. The work of obtaining water for the city supply from Loch Lomond, seven miles distant, is now being prosecuted day and night, and it was during the night shift that the accident happened. James Crowley was machine man and Jeffries was helper. William Jack was mucker. The latter had just come to that end of the work and as he stopped the car he saw a piece of dynamite on the floor of the tunnel. He called the attention of Crowley to it, and the latter remarked that they had better be careful, as there might be more around. He took a rake and began a search for any other pieces, but the tool struck it too heavily, and an explosion followed. Crowley and Jeffries were killed outright.

It is presumed the dynamite was the remains of some of a former shot that had been broken off without being exploded, and was concealed in the rock. William Jack, the injured man, was brought to McKellar Hospital, in this city, and is in a very dangerous condition. Crowley is an American, coming here from Hancock, Michigan. Jeffries is an Englishman, from Reading, England. Not much is known of Jack, nor where his friends reside.

TARIFF REFORM VICTORY.

Pudsey Division West Yorkshire Carried by Unionist.

London, June 22.—(C.A.P.)—The bye-election for the Pudsey division of the west riding of Yorkshire has resulted in a tariff reform victory, the poll standing: J. J. Oddy, Conservative, 5,444; F. Ogden, Liberal, 5,331; J. W. Benson, Labor, 1,291. Mr. Oddy's plurality over his Liberal opponent was thus 113.

The bye-election was caused by the elevation of Sir George Whiteby, the chief Liberal whip, to the peerage. At the general election of 1906, when there was a straight contest between Liberal and Conservative, Sir George's majority was 3,562, the figures standing as 7,045 to 3,541. His majority at the general election of 1900 was 519, the vote closing 5,973 to 5,424.

The result of the bye-elections just held shows the Conservatives to have regained the position held by them in 1900, while there has been a reduction of about 400 in the combined Liberal and Labor vote as compared with the Liberal vote given the late member in 1906.

Firebug Captured.

Victoria, B. C., June 22.—C. B. Bratton, local agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was arrested Saturday afternoon, charged with incendiarism. He was caught coming from the Board of Trade building basement, from which flames were bursting. He is thought to be responsible for fifteen fires which have broken out since Thursday, one of which did $50,000 damage.

Boys' Scrap May Prove Fatal.

Walkerville, June 22.—A typical boy "scrap" Saturday afternoon resulted in injuries to 15-year-old Edward Rowe, that may cause his death. Young Howe, with a number of companions, was crossing the new bridge when they met another crowd of boys. A tussle ensued, during which one of his antagonists pushed Howe over the edge. He fell 28 feet and the bones of his feet were broken, as well as injuries to his neck and back.

Liberal Elected.

Quebec, June 22.—Petit (Liberal) is elected in Chicoutimi by 274 majority.

Editor's Joke Didn't Take.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., June 22.—With his skull fractured twice, one cheek-bone broken and internal injuries, Editor Ora F. Havill of Havill's "Every Morning" may survive the effects of an attack made on him Saturday by Dode Bodell, the liveryman, who took Havill by surprise as he was passing along with his arms full of papers and struck him with a brick, knocking him down, and jumped on him until dragged off. The attack was the result of the publication of a joke in Havill's paper.

Roy Gets Bail.

Montreal, June 22.—Hon. R. H. Roy, president of the Bank St. John, was liberated from jail Saturday evening, personal bail to the amount of $30,000 and three sureties for $10,000 each having been accepted.

Crushed Under Derrick.

Welland, June 22.—The first fatality at the huge plant of the Canadian Portland Cement Co. of Port Colborne, which has just begun operation, took place on Saturday, when Alexander Cross, engineer, lost his life by the overturning of a traveling derrick. He was crushed under the boiler. The body was horribly burned and scalded. The derrick was used in the quarries for lifting limestone, and the cause of its overturning is unknown. Mr. Cross was 47 years of age and leaves a widow and four children.

A Successful Flight.

Freidrichshaven, June 22.—Count Ferdinand Zeppelin, made his first flight in his new airship Saturday evening.

A half hour's manoeuvring in the air fully established the stability and dirigibility of the balloon, which executed circles and short turns at full speed in a most satisfactory manner.

MOST BRUTAL ASSAULT.

Strikers Attack Workmen While Returning From Church.

Weston, June 22.—While T. L. Moffat, Jr., secretary of the Moffat Stove Co., Weston, in company with six moulders in the employ of the firm, was returning home after attending the service in the Weston Methodist church last night, they were pounced upon by a party of the striking moulders and beaten almost into insensibility. Mr. Moffat received a severe cut over the eye, and his head is badly bruised by being hit with stones. While he was lying on the road with blood gushing from the cut above his eye, one of the strikers commenced pounding him with his fists till he was almost insensible. Every one of the six moulders in his company were badly cut about the face and head, and one man is so badly hurt that his recovery is doubtful. The road was spattered with blood for several yards around. Drs. Charleton and Irwin of Weston were communicated with and dressed the wounds of the injured men, some of which the doctors state are very serious.

The first intimation the party of returning church-goers had of trouble was when they were met by a shower of stones from both sides of the road while coming down Main street. When these gave out, the strikers rushed in to close quarters and used their fists. F. W. Moffat, brother of the man who is hurt, stated last night that there were at least 15 men engaged in the attack, and all of them are known.

Petes Take Firmer Hold On First Place In League Race

Defeated Athletics in a Lively Game of Ball at Riverside Park Saturday by 11 Runs to 6—Game Was Always Exciting

SOME BRILLIANT FIELDING

In a lively, scrappy game of ball the Petes took the Athletics into camp in a Midland League fixture at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon by 11 runs to 6, as a result getting a firmer grip on the league banner. A fairly large crowd saw the contest and got their money's worth in interesting features, if not in baseball. Both teams figured largely in the error sheet, but the terrific wind which blew across the field from the west, was partly responsible and the misplays were obliterated by some sensational fielding. It was one of these games that keep the crowd agog with the feeling that anything was liable to happen.

The Petes won because they played a better article of "inside" baseball than did their opponents. Clements and Quinlan were both touched up pretty freely, and the misplays on both sides counted in the run getting, but the Petes made far better use of their opportunities. Their base running was infinitely superior, the blue and white purloining eleven bases, while the Athletics had but three thefts, and the stolen sacks all figured in the run getting. Then, too, the support behind Clements tightened up in close corners, and the team played steady ball when it was needed, cutting off three runs at the home plate.

There was little to choose between the work of the pitchers, Quinlan striking out eleven men to Clements' seven and allowed ten hits to eleven, but the Petes managed to bunch theirs, and aided by daring base running, it won for them. Each pitcher gave two bases on balls and each had an error, so that honours were even all the way.

The Athletic team was the strongest that has worn the khaiki this season the new recruits being Mackrell, of the Royal Oaks, Toronto, at short stop, and "Bud" Saunders, formerly of the Galt team, Canadian League champions. The latter demonstrated that (he has forgotten none of his ability, fielding his position fast and cleverly, while he uncorked two timely hits. Connors annexed two flies to centre in fine fashion.

McDermott, the diminutive second sacker of the Petes, had the feature play of the day in the third, robbing Connors of what looked to be good for at least two baggers. The Athletics' centre fielder cracked the ball out on a line in the direction of right field, but McDermott made a mad leap into the air, speared the ball with his gloved hand, knocking it down and recovering it in time to kill the runner at first. It was a sensational play that made the crowd hold its breath for a moment, and then there was loud applause from the stand. Burns had two great running catches in right field, cutting Pilling off twice on drives that looked good for hits.

The Petes led from the barrier, and were never headed, although the Athletics made an eleventh hour rally in the ninth that gave the game an interesting climax. Peterborough scored two in the first on three errors, three in the third on a base on balls, two singles and a triple, two in the fifth on an error, a complimentary and a timely single, one in the sixth on an error and sacrifice hit, and three in the ninth on an error and four singles. The Athletics did not score until the fourth, when an error and a single gave them one. Two more came in the seventh on three hits and an error, and three in the ninth with a base on balls, an error and three singles.

Jack Rosevear, of Port Hope, umpired and gave satisfaction. He had to make decisions on several plays that do not often arise, and on the whole he handled the task extremely well.

By Innings

First—Three errors gave the Petes two runs in the first after two were down. Burns and Murphy struck out, Maddock lifted one to right and went to second when Pilling missed the drive, O'Brien hit one at O'Shea which went through his legs, Maddock scoring, and O'Brien went all the way round when Callaghan threw to the club house in an attempt to stop Maddock. (McDermott grounded to short. Two runs.

Connors lifted one to Murphy in left, Saunders was walked and Shea beat out a slow grounder to McDermott. Rattray fanned but Mackrell singled to right. Saunders tried to score from second on the play, but was chopped off at the plate on a lightning relay, Burns to Clements to Edmunds. No runs.

Second — Edmunds and Lawson grounded to Quinlan and Saunders took care of Cheetham's grounder to second. No runs.

For the Athletics, Pilling and Callaghan fanned and Clements annexed Heaslip's drive. No runs.

Third — Clements fanned, Burns waited for four wide ones and stole second, Murphy singled to right and Burns scored, colliding with Rattray at the plate, with the result that the throw from the field went to the fence, while Murphy travelled to third. Rattray was hurt and Shea caught the balance of the innings. Maddock smashed a low drive along the right field foul line for three bases, bringing Murphy across and counted himself on O'Brien's smash to left. (McDermott flew out to Heaslip and Edmunds fanned. Three runs.

Quinlan grounded to Clements, McDermott made a sensational one-handed stop of Connors' vicious drive to second and threw the runner out at first. Saunders was safe on Clements' fumble of his grounder, but Shea flew out to McDermott. No runs.

Fourth—Lawson fanned and Cheetham popped one up to Heaslip. Clements hit to left for two sacks but was stranded as Saunders took care of Burns' fly to second. No runs.

Rattray died on a grounder to Clements, Mackrell fanned and Pilling grounded to the pitcher. No runs.

Fifth—Murphy was safe on Mackrell's fumble and immediately stole second, going to third on Maddock's sacrifice fly out to Connors. McDermott was wwalked and stole second. Edmunds showed his ability as a pinch hitter by smashing a line drive over short, scoring both runners. Lawson grounded to Mackrell. Two runs.

Callaghan hit to short and went to second when Maddock threw wide and low to first. He advanced to third on a passed ball and scored on Quinlan's single over Burns' head. After Heaslip had died on a foul fly to Cheetham Connors hit to left field foul line for two bases, Murphy just touching the base after a long run. The chances for more runs looked bright, but Saunders hit to McDermott, who got the batter at first and Quinlan was nipped at the plate on the play. One run.

Sixth—Cheetham was safe on Heaslip's fumble and stole second and third, scoring on Burns' sacrifice after Clements had struck out. Murphy flew out to Connors. One run.

Shea and Rattray fanned, Mackrell hit to Maddock, who threw to first and Lawson dropped the ball by tripping over the bag. Burns made a pretty catch of Pilling's low drive to right, getting the base off his shoe laces. No runs.

Seventh—Maddock fanned but Rattray dropped the third strike. The runner was out, however, trying to make second on the play. O'Brien and McDermott fanned. No runs.

Callaghan beat out a beautiful bunt and stole second. Heaslip fanned, Quinlan hit to McDermott and Callaghan was caught at the plate, the runner reaching second. Connors singled, sending Quinlan to third. The Petes tried the unexpected play of throwing to second to stop a steal with a runner on third, but the throw was thrown and Quinlaan crossed the plate. Connors started to steal third and when Edmunds missed the ball he went all the way home. The Petes catcher claimed it was a foul tip and the Johnstonites protested that the run should not count because the runner had taken two bases on a passed ball. Umpire Rosevear, however, decided that Connors had stolen third before the ball was delivered to the batter and that went. Saunders hit safely but Shea flew out to Maddock. Two runs.

Eighth—Edmunds led off with a single and Lawson sacrificed him to second. Cheetham, however, fanned and Clements' fly dropped into Saunders' salary grabs. No runs.

Rattray popped one up along the first base line and was safe. Mackrell lifted a high one to O'Brien, who handled it nicely. Pilling smashed one to right, but Burns gathered the sphere in on the run and shot it to first for a double play. No runs.

Ninth—Burns beat out a drive to Saunders and stole second and third, scoring on Murphy's clean single, Murphy stole second and scored on Maddock's smash to centre. The short stop hurt his ankle and Burns ran for him, stealing second. O'Brien hit to Quinlan and Burns was nipped between second and third. O'Brien reached second in the meanthme. McDermott's sacrifice advanced him to third and he scored when Quinlan dropped Edmunds' high fly. Lawson singled but Cheetham's beat was a grounder to Quinlan. Three runs.

Callaghan was walked and scored when Heaslip singled to centre and O'Brien let the ball bound past him, the runner reaching third. Quinlan flew out to Lawson and Connors grounded to Clements. The excitement was not all over by any means for Saunders hit safely, bringing in Heaslip. Shea hit to Cheetham, who fumbled and the runner was safe. Rattray followed with a safe smash to right, upon which Saunders scored, Mackrell, however, hit to McDermott and the game was over.

Strathconas Overwhelmed By Fierce Batting Of T.A.S.

First Loss of Bill Metheral's Aggregation—Red and Black Tie Them for First Place

STRONG WIND INTERFERED

The Straths laughed first, but the "hee-haw" was passed on to the T.A.S., and "Laj." Derocher's nine certainly enjoyed it. The leaders bit the dust in one of the worst defeats that has been filed in the varying record of the City League, viz., 21-11. Talk about loose ball—it was looser than Uncle Pike's pants. First "Wagner" Kendry's men were on top beating it with a good lead, when the Red and Black bolstered up and everybody awaited the ball. Fifteen men had a crack at it in the fifth, ten runs were scored and two men were left on bases before the side was retired. The way they went after Belleghem's shoots "wasn't a bit lazy." The Oval sounded like Buffalo Bill's Wild West, the way those hits were cracked out. Belleghem began the trouble himself by hitting McFadden, thus putting him on first. Hayes fooled Kendry with a nice one, and Doherty came along with a lovely single. Derocher followed suit with one that Kendry could not reach, and Doherty scored. Cahill got a walk, and the wind blew C. Giroux's long one to left out of Shaw's reach. Jack Corkery cracked out a daisy to right field. Derocher and Cahill scoring. Wilson got a foul fly from Len Giroux, and Graham was there with the glue on Doris' high one. That was two down, anyway. McFadden was up again and brought in C. Giroux and Corkery with one that Shaw did not get. Hayes banged one to right. Doherty kept the ball rolling and was there for a dandy to left. The runners were playing "I Got Mine" on the home pan. Derocher managed to put one out of Kendry's reach, and Cahill fooled Graham with a sharp drive. Kendry threw C. Giroux out at first, and the terrible ordeal was over.

That was the fifth, and the third was nearly as bad. The T.A.S. hit safely and were helped out by an occasional error. The Straths had their innings in the second when they got five runs, but their head did not last.

By innings—

T. A. S.	1 1 7 0 1 0 2 0 0 x—2!
Strathconas	1 5 2 2 1 1 0 1 1—1;

Two home runs were claimed, but were not allowed by the scorer. Doherty hit a long fly over Shaw's head. He threw to McMillan, who passed it on to Wilson, as Doherty had passed third base. The throw was a poor one, striking the ground before reaching Wilson. It bounded off Wilson's shins and Doherty was safe. A three-base hit was allowed.

Shaw was the other man. He made the longest drive of the season. It went over McFadden's head, but it is claimed that the latter touched it with his finger tips and missed it.

"Doc." Gibson had his hands full, but was strictly impartial in his decisions.

Notes

The Straths are good losers, anyway. They had on a rather weak line-up, but fought their way to the last man. They showed the spirit that will create harmony and good feelings in the league.

Derocher kept his men working all the time.

What will "Big Chief" Metheral think of the killing? It was the Straths' first defeat this year.

The West Ends were there with the glad smile. It was a king of revenge for last Saturday's trouncing.

In their first game on June 3 the score was, Strathconas 13, T.A.S. 3.

Port Hope's Four Days' Walk; Jas. Reynolds in City

Jimmy Reynolds, the veteran Port Hope walking barber, was in the city to-day making arrangements to have Harrison, Spencely and other local pedestrians take part in the big four-day grind which will take place in Port Hope on July 1, 2, 3 and 4. Mr. Reynolds still bears the marks of his recent attempt upon the Port Hope to Toronto record, his face, arms and neck being very badly burned by the sun.

Speaking of his last trip to Toronto to the Examiner, the famous old walker said he would have succeeded had he not been taken ill on the way from Port Hope. At one stop he took an egg in iced claret and became so ill shortly afterwards that he lost an hour and a half. When he gave up the attempt at Newcastle on the way home he was in good condition, but realized the impossibility of successfully accomplishing the feat, and decided that there was no use wearing himself out for nothing.

"I'm not beaten yet," he remarked to-day, "and will try it again on September 10. I'm going to keep at it until I show you a record that will astonish you," and the plucky barber was very emphatic about it, too.

The Port Hope walk promises to be a great success, as it will form one of the chief attractions on the programme for the Port Hope Old Boys' and Girls' Reunion. It will be held in the skating rink on a track 12 laps to the mile, and the walkers will go for 32 hours, the limit being placed at 150 miles. Mr. Reynolds himself will referee, and it is expected that many of the United States and Canadian cracks will compete in this event, including Hoagland, Slater, Blake, Stacey of Toronto, and other well-known walkers. The programme is as follows:

Wednesday, July 1—
9 a.m. to 11.30 a.m.
8 p.m. to 11.30 p.m.

Thursday, July 2—
1.30 p.m. to 11.30 p.m.

Friday, July 3—
9 a.m. to 11.30 a.m.
8 p.m. to 11.30 p.m.

Saturday, July 4—
1.30 p.m. to 11.30 p.m.

THE CIGARETTE HABIT IS GROWING

Consumption Has Quadrupled in Last Few Years

Ottawa, Ont., June 23.—The latest Government returns of the consumption of cigarettes in Canada show a great increase in the past ten years in the number of cigarettes used in Canada from 80,562,817 to 384,809,394.

There is reason to believe that a very large proportion is due to the prevalence of cigarette smoking among youths, and a law is now before Parliament which aims at the prohibition of the sale of cigarettes to youths under sixteen years of age.

A FINE OLD PAINTING, IS IT A REMBRANDT?

Something That Will Interest All Art Connoisseurs

Mr. W. Ashleigh, 29 Queen street, city, has shown the Examiner a picture which seems to be an art treasure. It is a very old and artistically painted portrait representing a man, with his right hand resting upon a globe. Its strong characteristics of drawing and colouring lead to the suggestion that it is a genuine Rembrandt. It is 10 x 11 1-2 inches in size, painted upon oak, the back black with age and the front, of course, covered by the picture. The picture formerly belonged to Lady Byron, of England, and since Mr. Ashleigh brought it to Canada it has not been seen by a connoisseur of sufficient knowledge and opportunity for observation to determine its value or identify the artist. He wishes to dispose of the picture, and anyone wishing to do so has an opportunity to come into possession of an oil, which, if it is not the work of the famous master, is certainly the work of an artist of rank, and is of great age. The fact of its having been thought worthy to be hung in the Byron mansion is itself a testimony of its value as a work of art.

Rembrandt von Rijn or Rembrandt of the Rhine, was born at Leyden, in 1607, and died 1669. If, therefore, Mr. Ashleigh's plaque de chene is the work of the great master of chiaroscuro, or of his period, it is nearly 300 years old. It looks it, anyway.

YOUTH KICKED IN STOMACH BY HORSE HE WAS FEEDING; ALMOST A FATAL ACCIDENT

Young's Point, June 23.—(Special)—An almost fatal accident occurred on Saturday of last week to Roland Darling, the sixteen-year-old son of David Darling, of Douro Township, who lives about two miles from Young's Point. Roland was feeding one of the horses some grain, when the horse began to crowd him in the stall. He struck it with a strap, whereupon it kicked at him, striking him in the stomach with one foot and the other just touched his ribs.

A doctor was upon the scene as quickly as possible and found out that there were no bones broken. He is doing as well as can be expected now.

LIGHTNING LAST NIGHT BURNT LOG BARN AND CREATED HAVOC IN A LAKEFIELD RESIDENCE

Very Severe Storm Passes Over City and District—Stovepipes Knocked Down

A FIRE AT INDIAN RIVER

The severest electric storm of the season visited Peterborough and vicinity last night between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock. The electric fluid was flashing in profusion and startlingly beautiful. Not a great deal of damage has been reported in Peterborough, but near Indian River a barn was burned and at Lakefield a residence was shattered somewhat.

Lucky Escape From the Lavin

The severe thunderstorm that passed over Peterborough last evening did a certain amount of damage also at Lakefield. Mr. Thos. Gordon, the well known canoe builder, president of the Lakefield Canoe Company, has good cause to regret its appearance in that section. During the height of the storm, the lightning struck one of the chimneys of Mr. Gordon's house, almost completely demolishing it, and passed down through the stovepiping on to the kitchen stove, knocking off one of two of the lids. Mrs. Gordon who was sitting within two feet of the stove, received a severe shock to her nerves. The lightning, however, not considering the highly nerve of the human organism, continued on its eccentric career tearing off one or two boards of the kitchen floor and, passing into the cellar, smashed a big hole in the cellar wall.

Luckily, no great pecuniary damage has resulted. Mr. Gordon's chimney, however, looks as if it had been struck by a cannon ball.

Log Barn Burned

About half a mile from Indian River a barn belonging to Mr. Joseph O'Leary, was struck and burned to the ground. Luckily it was a log structure and not a valuable one. Mr. O'Leary's frame barn and frame house escaped after a hard fight by a volunteer brigade. Sparks on various occasions lit on the roof, but they were always put out before a fresh fire was started. So far as can be learned there was no insurance on the building.

MANVERS YOUNG MEN DIDN'T LIKE THE GIRLS' RELIGION

Millbrook, June 23.—(Special.)—The countryside of North Manvers is considerably excreised over some recent occurrences. It appears that two girls from Millbrook had been holding religious meetings, which some of the people of the district did not consider orthodox. It is charged that some young men waylaid them on their way from one of the meetings, threw stones and eggs, none too fresh, at them and those who were accompanying them. Complaints were laid and the result was a fine of five dollars and costs in eleven cases.

SISTERS MEET EACH OTHER AFTER SEPARATION OF 34 YEARS

Mrs. S. Cuthbert of London, Eng., arrived in the city yesterday on a visit to her sister, Mrs. F. W. Miller, Water street. These two sisters have not seen each other for 34 years and it goes without saying that they are happy in their temporary reunion after such a long absence. Mrs. Cuthbert is pleased with the country but especially at seeing her sister and Mr. Miller. She does not intend to remain long in Canada.

A New Secretary Secured For Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A. directors have secured the services of Mr. Frank G. Hassard to succeed Mr. Horace C. Wright as secretary of that institution. Mr. Hassard is at present secretary of the Orillia Y.M.C.A., and is now assisting in the young men's work at the military camp at Niagara.

Before going to Orillia he was with the Provincial Y.M.C.A. Committee, so that he has had a wide experience in the work. Mr. Hassard has accepted the terms of the local directors and will assume his duties here on August 1, at which date the resignation of Mr. Wright takes effect. He is expected in the city for a short stay some time in the early part of July.

NOSE BROKEN IN A BALL GAME

Bill Russell, Centre Fielder of Wellingtons Was Injured

Bill Russell of the Wellington Baseball team met with a rather painful accident at the Oval last night in the game with the Y.M.C.A. in which it is believed his nose was broken. Russell was at bat and Lem Patterson was in the box for the "Y's". He shot a fast one towards the batter and when the shoot broke the ball hit young Russell on the nose.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Montreal Witness calls it "the cigarette evil." Is the mosquito an "evil" or a nuisance?

During the first five months of 1908 over 7,500 tons of ore have been sent from Cobalt mines to the smelters. This is an increase of 3,000 tons over the output for the corresponding months of 1907.

The seasons of shortening days and shortening sermons come in together. Isn't it singular that church worshippers cannot, in hot weather, stand prolonged processes of saving them from hot weather conditions?

The Toronto News is clamouring for civil service reform at Ottawa. The Whitney Government have a reasonably fair majority and should be able to carry any reform through the legislature. Why should there not be civil service reform in Ontario?

Evidently Mr. Wm. Macdonald, Montreal, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, contemplates giving another million dollars to McGill University. He announces that he has raised, or will raise, the price of tobacco ten cents per pound.

The present season seems to promise well for Ontario crops. It is estimated that if the harvest fulfils the crop outlook, there will be $200,000,000 placed in the pockets of Ontario farmers. That should relieve the financial depression.

What will Mr. Whitney do in the matter of civil service reform? A Liberal Government at Ottawa has set the example which he might wisely follow. He has degraded the Ontario civil service into a system of party distribution of the spoils, one of the most vicious elements in corrupting public life?

The Independent Order of Oddfellows has adopted a schedule calling for the payment of about eight dollars additional per year. Nearly all beneficiary societies have been compelled to raise their rates. The old line insurance companies are more far seeing. They begin by "soaking" the public sufficiently in the beginning to provide for all possible contingencies.

The Conservative press are complaining that the Department of the Interior has been selling Indian lands and Indian islands too cheaply. Peterborough people need not go so far as Ottawa to find what the Conservative administration did with regard to Indian islands. They were parcelled out at Stony Lake at our very door and sold for a mere song and only to the faithful.

We are told by the Montreal Gazette this morning that in introducing the Civil Service bill the Government has adopted a plank in the Conservative platform. Its proof is that Mr. Borden, speaking in Halifax on August 20th last, declared in favour of reform of the service. The Herald points out apropos of this claim that in view of the fact that a Commission to study the subject, and bring in recommendations for the guidance of Parliament, was appointed about four months before Mr. Borden spoke, the facts would seem to indicate that the Conservative leader was merely trying to anticipate the report of the Commission.

Toronto despatches state that on Monday six fire alarms were rung within the hour, due to the escape of electricity, and this, in turn, due to the wearing away of the insulating film which covers the wires. This circumstance suggests two lessons, one the necessity of more careful inspection of electric wiring insulation, and the wisdom of running wires underground. Pole-suspended wires are subject to the force of winds and chafing must ensue with results similar to those which are recorded in Toronto. Anyway, it seems that, considering the growing scarcity and growing price of poles it would be much cheaper, all things considered, to bury all wires conducting electricity. It is certain that it would reduce the risk of accident to the public and minimize the obstruction and disfigurement of the streets. The accidental death of a horse yesterday by a live wire falling upon him is a warning. It was only the merest accident that a man, the driver, was not the victim.

Last year there were smoked in Canada 384,809,394 cigarettes—sixty-four for every man, woman and child if the use of them had been equally distributed. In the past ten years the consumption has increased eighty millions a year, and a hundred millions a year the past four years. Will the new law placed on the statute books the present session have any effect in diminishing consumption of cigarettes? It prohibits the sale of cigarettes to boys under sixteen years of age. If the habit can be checked here the use will decrease, for it is pretty certain that among youths the habit chiefly prevails. Boys think to learn how to smoke tobacco by beginning on the chaff cigarette. The habit becomes fixed and they very seldom graduate into tobacco smokers. Cigarette smoking is a peculiarly boy habit—one of the youthful follies. While it is regretful to see mere children in knickerbockers smoking the cigarette it is not unnatural it seems to fit his callow condition, but the incongruity comes in in seeing a six-foot man lipping an insignificant roll of rice paper.

REFORM AND THE GROWING TIME.

(Toronto Star.)

The call for civil service reform, the call for Parliamentary reform, the call for electoral reform, and the renewed movement for Provincial rights are all incidents of Canada's growing time.

As Canada attains the stature of a nation, it must put away childish things. Its Ministers need all their time and energy for the carrying out of large projects of national importance. They cannot afford to waste time in administering patronage, either in regard to appointments or in regard to the purchase of supplies. At the same time they must have assurance that the civil service is maintained solely with a view to efficiency, and that supplies are purchased with honesty and economy. In order that this work may be done properly, and that Ministers may be relieved of anxiety in regard to it, we need civil service reform, and the more thorough and far-reaching, the better. The Government can make no mistake on that side. Its measure might include the outside service, and also to cover the purchase of supplies, as well as the appointment of officials.

The bigger the country grows, the less can the Ministers afford to devote their time to routine. Most of them at present do too much desk work, which might just as well be done by qualified assistants. Civil service reform means not only getting rid of patronage, but also increasing the staff where necessary, and paying liberal salaries to men who are willing to serve the country with zeal and honesty.

For the same reason the National Parliament ought to deal with national questions only, and to deal with them in a large way. It ought to keep out of Provincial and local affairs, not only out of respect for the rights of the Provinces, but out of regard for its own usefulness. The Federal system is intended not only to maintain local liberty, but to accomplish division of labour. The country is not obtaining the full advantage of this division of labour. The national Parliament is overloaded with work, while the Provincial Legislatures seem to have little difficulty in disposing of their business in short sessions. The time for quarrels over jurisdiction is gone. It belonged to the day of small things. The effort of national and Provincial statesmen should be to co-operate so as to bring about an intelligent division of labour.

The national parties have no time to quarrel over elections, and party strife should take the form of a generous rivalry in conceiving and carrying out large national policies. The election machinery should be constructed with a view simply to absolute freeness and fairness. This will benefit both parties, relieve them of expense and sordid anxiety, and enable them to devote their attention to large national policies.

At the Methodist church garden party at Cavanville last evening, eats, a football match took place between the Cavanville and Springville teams. The latter scored but as the goal was disputed on the grounds of a foul, the game finished a draw. Springville won the first game by a score of 1—0.

THE JUDGMENT WAS NOT CHANGED

Magistrate Dumble Re-opened a Dog Tax Case this Morning

A case in which a north end resident was charged with not procuring a tag for a dog, and in which the magistrate inflicted a fine some time ago, was re-opened at the police court this morning to allow of some further evidence to be heard in the matter.

Several witnesses swore that the dog in question had been kept in North Monaghan and brought in the night before it was seen at the defendant's house by a policeman, for purpose of handing it over to another man, who had purchased it.

The magistrate decided that the original conviction would stand. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant and asked that the conviction be dated to-day, so that he would have an opportunity to appeal, but this was refused by the court.

Just write on a postcard, "Send Booklet A," and mail to nearest branch. The rest we'll gladly attend to.

The story is briefly told in a little booklet called "Furnace Facts." It's not an advertisement. No furnace name is mentioned, and you can read the whole story in 5 minutes.

To the party contemplating purchasing a furnace it points out the snags and pitfalls, and shows exactly what to demand of an architect, contractor or dealer, in furnace construction and installation.

A CANADIAN RESTS UNDER DEODAR

Work Just Published on India a Tribute to Brilliancy of Late Dr. Stratton, Says Toronto World

IN TORONTO UNIVERSITY

There is a little high-walled cemetery in Gulmarg, on the crest of a knoll where one deodar stands alone and good English flowers grow freely about, and here lies the body of a scholarly Canadian, Dr. A W Stratton, who was born in Toronto, 1866.

The story of the life and labours of this brilliant philologist and humanist is told in a work of absorbing interest under the title of "Letters From India."

Dr. Stratton was a room-mate with W T White, manager of the National Trust Company in this city. In an interview with The Sunday World Mr. White said:

"I knew Stratton intimately and was his room-mate during the session of 1884-5 at the University of Toronto. He was one of the few real scholars that our university has turned out. Stratton had a natural genius for classical and Indian philology.

"At the University of Toronto, in addition to the courses in philology he heard the lectures in metaphysics given by the late Grove Paxton Young. He was a good student of mathematics too; and in almost any branch of learning he would have excelled; but his bent was towards the ancient classics and the Indo-European languages.

"Personally, Stratton was a most winsome and attractive young man, liked exceedingly by his fellow students. He had a very affectionate disposition and was really fond of his parents.

"The most outstanding feature of his character was his zeal for study, and it is remarkable that a young Canadian should have become interested, as did Stratton, in such a recondite and obscure subject as Sanskrit.

"Every undergraduate and graduate of the University of Toronto owes it both to himself and his alma mater to purchase Stratton's "Letters from India." They will be found not only interesting in themselves, but will be an inspiration in a time when high ideals of scolarship are somewhat obscured by the characteristics of our practical age."

The volume mentioned is a story of great and abiding interest. How a Toronto boy of modest parentage threads his way through the primary schools of his city; how his native University of Toronto begins to shape this inborn instincts as a philologist and humanist; how his career as a classical master in Hamilton, and his personal associations in that place, determine his life's work as an Orientalist and philologist; the subsequent career at Johns Hopkins University, where he is well remembered as the ideal scholar; the beginning of his activity as an independent teacher and scholar in Chicago. And then the great event which revolutionized his life, and brought him positions of opportunity in the combined posts of registrar of the Punjab University, and principal of the Oriental College. —Toronto Sunday World.

MYSTERIOUS REMAINS IN OLD HOUSE

Were Moving It on Antrim Street—It Looked Like Gigantic Lizard

A peculiar skeleton was discovered on the top of a window in the old Rothwell house, Antrim street, the other day, as it was being moved to a different place. It was the perfect remains of some reptile or animal about seven inches in length, with a tail a couple of inches long. The bones were all in their proper places, but what they were the remains of remains a mystery. Some thought them to be those of a large lizard.

AN OLD SAYING

Showing How Cause and Effect Are Never Far Remove-

It is an old saying, "Where there's honey there's bees"—not less true is one which science has coined more recently, "Where there's Dandruff cured, Newbro's Herpicide has been at work."

The reason of Herpicide's isolation as a genuine cure for Dandruff lies in the fact that it attacks and destroys the root of the whole trouble—a parasitic germ which feeds upon the material which nourishes the hair follicle.

Other so-called remedies are not directed at this true cause of the disease.

Accept no substitute; there is none. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

RETURNED FROM THE NORTHWEST

Mr. P. G. Preen Has Completed Business Trip to the Coast—A Bright Outlook

A VAST AREA CULTIVATED

Mr. P. G. Preen, representing the Brinton Carpet Company, has returned from a visit through Western Canada, extending over four weeks. He went as far as Victoria on the coast and stopped off at many cities and towns along the route in the interest of his company.

Mr. Preen returns with the same bright reports of a bountiful harvest which have been received. Everything is looking splendid and the general conversations point to the fact that 1908 will be a banner year, that is providing there are no unforeseen drawbacks. There is a vast area under cultivation and the crops have grown rapidly.

The slight trouble of looking for the name "Salada" on a package of tea is well repaid by the satisfaction you have in drinking it. 48

THE NORMAL SCHOOL JANITORSHIP

It is expected that the Normal School will be ready for occupancy and will be open after the summer vacation. There are many applicants for the position of janitor, but it is understood that no appointment has yet been made. It is said that there is a good deal of dissatisfaction in the "family circle." The person to be recommended by Mr. Bradburn, who has the patronage for the appointment is not meeting with general approval. It is also said that there be many disappointments as the position is looked upon as a fairly good one. In these times of depression a free house, coal, light and no taxes with fairly good salary is not to be dispised and the faithful are knocking at the door. There is plenty of time yet for applicants and it is rumoured that there are new ones every day.

CONDUCTED SERVICE IN THE JOHANNESBURG JAIL AT THE TIME OF THE JAMIESON RAID

Rev. Bennett Anderson Who is Conducting Mission at St. Marks', Otonabee—Has Wide Acquaintance With the World

IN AUSTRALIA FIVE YEARS

To have preached sermons in Johannesburg jail and during the most momentous period of the history of that South African town is what very few ministers of the Gospel can say, and especially are they rare in Canada. Yet such was the experience of the Rev. J. Bennett Anderson, the incumbent at Brookline and Columbus, near Whitby, who last night began a mission of ten days in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Otonabee. The Rev.. Mr. Anderson is a man who has travelled extensively, his itineraries having included Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the British Isles and North America. To the Examiner last evening he told in brief the story of a few of his travels, as well as some of the incidents connected therewith. He is a man who is enthusiastic over the subject of every conversion, keen of intellect and with the personality that should bring success in his work at St. Mark's, Otonabee.

He has always been a friend to unity of forces where good can be established, and over twenty-five years ago he was in Peterborough on mission work along union lines. He remembered the late Rev. Nicholas Willoughby, who at that time was a Methodist minister here. Rev. Mr. Anderson is often called "The Singing Evangelist of Toronto." He has been for three and a half years incumbent of Brooklin and Columbus, but often during that time has gone out holding occasional missions. Only last February he was in Norwood on such a mission for a fortnight.

While down in Australia, Rev. Mr. Anderson was chaplain for nearly five years of the Sydney Bethel Union and was also incumbent of the Mariners Church in that city. His intentions on going to Australia were that he would spend three years, but instead remained there for almost five, which time included a stay in New Zealand. On his way back to England he spent five months in South Africa at Cape Town, Kimberly, Durban, Ladysmith and Johannesburg. At the time of the famous Jamieson Raid he was holding a mission in the Y. M. C. A., in union with nearly all the other churches in Johannesburg. As stated above he preached in the jail there before, during and after the crisis. He was also chaplain of the British and American party of Outlanders.

He returned to London for missions and after visiting in Ireland and Scotland came back to Toronto for the fifth time. He entered Trinity College for a couple more years' work in Divinity classes, and on June 19th, 1059, was appointed to his present incumbency.

"I have worked on union lines for a good many years," he remarked to the Examiner, "and although I still have a fondness for such work, I intend to spend the balance of my life for my own church."

Mr. Anderson will be at St.. Mark's, Otonabee, every night this week, excepting Saturday, and on Sunday morning next he will preach the sermon at St. Luke's Church.

NEW FIRE BRIGADE TO CONSIST OF FOURTEEN MEN, EIGHT TO BE PERMANENTLY AT HALL

Committee Decides Upon That at Meeting Last Night—The Chief's Recommendation of an Entirely Permanent Force Turned Down

ANNUAL COST OF $6,334

Peterborough's new fire brigade will consist of a chief, assistant chief, six permanent men and six call men. Such was the decision arrived at by the joint meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and the Special Fire Committee last night, held to consider the personnel of the new brigade. The chief will be paid $1,250, the assistant chief $700, the permanent men $500 for the first year, $550 for second year, and $575 for subsequent years, and the call men $150 per year. W. A. Howard, the newly-appointed chief, presented a report recommending that the brigade consist of a chief, assistant chief, engineer, and nine permanent men, the cost of which would be $6,775; but the committee considered this too high, in view of the figures that had been presented to the Council when the change in the brigade was agreed upon, and decided to carry out the provisions of the report as made then.

There were present Ald. Johnston in the chair, Mayor Rush, Ald. Neill, Buller, Phelan, Bradburn, Turner and McIntyre.

Ald. Morgan, although not a member of the committee, was also present and took part in the discussion.

The following report from Chief Howard was read:

As requested by your Special Committee, I have gone into the matter of salaries for the reorganized fire department, and submit the following figures for your consideration:

Chief.....	$1,250
Asst. Chief.....	700
Engineer	325
Nine permanent firemen at $500...	4,500
Total—	$6,775

As suggested by some members of the Council, I would recommend that the salaries of the permanent firemen be graded as follows:

First year men.....	$500
Second year men.....	550
Third year men.....	575

It is my intention to employ some of the present brigade, provided they make application to me and fulfil the requirements, and I would respectfully request that you permit me to pay any such firemen second year pay to begin with.

Yours obediently,
W. A. HOWARD.

The chief in commenting upon his report said that he believed that with such a force he could give proper protection to the city, and that he preferred that to having eight permanent men and six call men, as had been recommended. He asked that he might be allowed to make periodical tours of inspection of cellars and back yards in order that he might prevent, as far as possible, the danger of a fire breaking out in such places.

Ald. Bradburn thought it would be better to have the engineer made a permanent fireman, and to have the duties he performs for the Board of Works taken over by someone else. This was considered a good suggestion by the new chief, and the committee, and was later acted upon.

Speaking of Foreman Pakenham, Ald. Turner said that he had asked if Mr. Pakenham had been promised his position for life, and the alderman wanted some information on the subject.

Ald. Johnston emphatically announced that he would not be in favour of doing away with Mr. Pakenham's services, and contended that he should be kept on.

Ald. Neill remarked that the Council had left the matter of the personnell of the brigade to Chief Howard, and that the question of what was to be done about Mr. Pakenham was out of the hands of the committee.

Ald. Johnston wanted to see the matter threshed out there, and Ald Morgan referred to the services performed by the foreman in connection with the alarm system and wiring, saying that Mr. Pakenham was capable of making repairs when anything went wrong with the alarm system.

Chief Howard stated that he did not want to be interfered with in the matter. "Is it to be me or Mr Pakenham?" he asked.

In discussing the question of what the new brigade was to consist of, the committee seemed to be in favour of adopting the chief's report, but the increase in cost over what had been decided upon by the Council was the sticker, and they had to fall back upon the former plan.

Foreman Pakenham and a number of the members of the present brigade were present during the latter part of the evening.

After the matter had been discussed for some time, Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. Turner, that the brigade consist of a chief at $1,250, an assistant chief at $700, six permanent men at $500 for the first year, $550 for the second, and $575 for the third and subsequent years, and six call men at $150 per year; that the permanent men be provided with one uniform each year, and that members of the present brigade who wish to join be paid as second year men.

Ald. McIntyre objected to the motion being carried. He could not see that with fourteen men, only eight of them in the firehall, much improvement upon the old brigade would be made. He said three of the permanent men would be drivers.

Ald. Neill remarked that the drivers would leave their horses and act as firemen, whereupon there was an ironical laugh from some of the brigade present.

The motion was carried by the following vote:

Ayes — Ald. Neill, Turner, Phelan, Bradburn and Buller.

Nays—Ald. Johnston and McIntyre.

Ald. Neill remarked that when supplies were being purchased, they should as far as possible be bought from local firms.

"And yet you go out of the city for a chief," remarked Foreman Pakenham, while one of the firemen was heard to murmur something about consistency being a jewel.

The Council will advertise for applicants for positions on the brigade, and their fitness will be decided upon by Chief Howard.

A QUESTION WITH ONLY ONE ANSWER

The problem which confronts the ladies of Peterborough and suburbs now that the sweet summer days have come is, where can I have my shirt-waists, suits, blouses, evening coats, fancy dresses, etc., made up in the latest and most up-to-date style, and the answer to this question is, go straight to "The New York Ladies' Tailoring," 658 George street. Millions of Them Flutter to Their Death in the Lights

The approaching storm last night drove the June bugs in clouds to the bright lights and like the old time moth they met their fate. On the main streets they fluttered to the lights in just the same way and at several of the doors of the main business houses there were bushel basket lots of them.

Grants To Rural Schools Have Been Apportioned

Amounts That Each Rural School in the County Will Receive—Some Special Grants

TO BE PAID IN AUGUST

The general grants to the rural schools of the county has been apportioned and will be paid about the beginning of August to all those schools that have complied with the conditions of the new regulations. This grant consists of three parts.

1. A fixed grant, which amounts to $30 per school in the townships where the assessment is less than an average of $30,000 per school section. That is in Belmont and Methuen, Burleigh and Anstruther, Chandos, Galway and Cavendish and Harvey.

2. Grant on the salaries of teachers, which in the case of the townships mentioned above is 40 per cent. of the salary in excess of $150, and in the other townships 40 per cent. of the excess over $300. In both cases this is based as far as possible on the amount of salary actually paid and where the teacher acts as caretaker, $20 is deducted from the amount of salary on which the grant is paid.

3. In the case of second class certificates there is a grant of $30 when the teacher has had an experience of five years, and $20 if less than five.

In addition to these there will be a grant on equipment and accommodation, payable before the first of December. This, with the county equivalent, will probably amount to an average of $20 or $25 per school. There will also be a small grant for those schools that have purchased library books since July 1st, 1907. All such schools should notify the inspector at once, if they have not already done so.

Twelfth Of July Celebration Promises To Be Big Event

5,000 Orangemen With Their Friends Expected in Peterborough—Great Preparations Being Made

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Extensive preparations are being made for the Twelfth of July celebration in Peterborough this year. On account of the 12th coming on a Sunday, the celebration will be held on Monday, July 13, when it is expected that five thousand Orangemen and their friends will be in the city. It will be a "Glorious Twelfth" for the Orangemen of this and neighbouring counties.

Invitations have been sent to Orange lodges all over the Province, and several special trains will be run on the 12th.

As Toronto is celebrating on Saturday, the 11th, many will come down here on the Monday.

A special will be run from Havelock on the C.P.R., and it is expected from Lindsay, Belleville, and Port Hope on the G.T.R. Each place will send large numbers, and from all intervening points hundreds of people will come. Some will arrive on the boats, those from down the river and others from the back lakes.

Apsley Lodge is going to run an excursion by steamer to Lakefield, and then by train to Peterborough.

It is four years since the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne has been celebrated here. The city on that occasion was crowded, but this year's celebration will greatly outdo it.

The great parade will take place at 2.30 o'clock from the Central Park through the principal streets.

At a recent meeting of the Orangemen in their hall on Simcoe street the following committees were appointed:

Printing and Programme—Messrs. W H G Armstrong, E G Clarke and R E Juby.

Decoration—Messrs. H T Everett, G E Wiley, F G Allan, and N Hopkins.

Park—Messrs. G E Williamson, H Patterson, C Barrie, A E Wolfe, and Geo. Bartley.

Subscriptions—Col. J W Miller and W A Kincaid.

Reception—Messrs. Jos. Jones, Jas. Batten, J B McWilliams.

The several committees have power to add to their number any members they may desire.

The meeting adjourned until Saturday, June 27.

What Will Be Next Step Regarding Curling Rink?

The latest report about the proposed new curling rink on Charlotte street is that new tenders are likely to be called for. First the rink was assured and tenders were obtained and the contract let. Next a halt was called and the property offered for sale. The place is still unsold and new developments are being awaited. One rumour is that new tenders are to be called for, and that only the rink part will be built, leaving that which was to be divided into stores. It is also learned that a number of the proposed stores had already been spoken for. Apparently the company are as fickle in their actions as "My Lady Laughter." With a large number of good curlers in the city they certainly deserve a rink and should be able to have a good one.

London Office Boy Would Like To Work Here

Mr. Walter Farey of London, Eng., has written to Mr. Geo. Howson, asking if it would be possible to secure a place on a good farm for his son where he would be given a fair opportunity. The boy is 20 years of age and is working at office work for a Ten Corporation. He is a hard worker at whatever he undertakes, and is anxious to come to Canada, partly to start at the invigorating work of farming and partly to be in the new country. Mr. Howson had been recommended to Mr. Farey and it is likely that a suitable place may be secured.

Supposed Dead Omemee Man Still Much Alive

Omemee, June 23.—A sensation was caused here by the disappearance of an Englishman named Robert Fullex, who has been employed in the tannery since he came to the country last year. His wife states that he informed her that he was going to bathe in Pigeon River, and, as he did not return, a search was made, and his clothes were found on the bank of the river. For a whole day and night the river was thoroughly searched by villagers, but without finding the body. Much sympathy was expressed for the bereaved wife and two small children. Mrs. Fullex. However, has gone to Toronto, where it is rumoured Fullex is living now under the name of Robert Russell.

Although a diligent search has been made by Mr. Geo. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, and Mr. Henry, the custodian of the Shelter, no trace has been found of the Longdo sisters, who disappeared on Sunday night. The only news of the two that the officials could find was that they had been seen passing Gibbs' livery barn, Water street, about 2 o'clock Monday morning. But as to their subsequent actions, the earth might have opened up and swallowed them, so completely have they concealed themselves.

Dear Sir,—We beg to acknowledge receipt of cheque for $2,500.00 in settlement of fire loss, Policy 8,645,879, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

We note in connection with this settlement a most unusual feature. They are legally entitled to 1% of stated sum for payment prior to due date. No business man would for one moment question their right to this amount. But they do not take it. Instead they have purposely waived their priveleges and presented us with this additional amount.

We are gratified to note this remarkable action. To adjust and settle a loss within twelve days is noteworthy, but to add to this magnanimity in refusing to take advantage of their discount privileges places this company in a most favorable position.

We congratulate you upon representing a company of such superior standing.

ATHLETICS AND PETERBOROS MEET AGAIN ON SATURDAY

Local fans will see a great game of ball on Saturday afternoon when the Athletics and Peterboroughs will stack up against each other in a Midland League battle, the postponed game of May 30th. The Athletics are confident of beating their opponents, pointing out that they did not find themselves until the last innings Saturday and stating that it they had rallied sooner they would have made things highly interesting for the League leaders. With a week's practise with the team that represented them last Saturday the Athletics figure on a decisive victory over the Johnstonites on Saturday. A win will put Cobourg, Athletics and Port Hope all on even terms with two wins and three losses each, and Manager Lynch's team may be depended upon to put up a hard battle.

The Peterborough will have their usual team on and figure on making their league record read five straight wins. Whatever the outcome, the fans will see a lively struggle as the Athletics are improving every game.

Y.M.C.A. WIN FIRST PART

Beat the Wellingtons in the First Five Innings at the Oval

WAS A GOOD EXHIBITION

The Y.M.C.A. and Wellingtons played the first five innings of their postponed game last night at the Oval and the Christians managed to get away with a 9 to 5 decision. The contest was one of the most interesting that has been played in the League so far. The Y.M.C.A. team played better in the field than their younger opponents, although their errors numbered almost the same. Patterson held the youngsters safe all the way and kept their five hits well scattered. On the other hand the Y. M.C.A. bunched theirs with telling effect, especially in the third, when three singles and a double mixed up with three errors accounted for five counters.

Fallon's one-handed catch of Robertson's high fly in the second was the fielding feature, he coming in from left to short field and capturing the ball after a long run. McDonald and Squires led with the bat, each having 2 hits. Russell was hit in the face while at bat in the first and retired in favour of McCabe.

Following is the score:

Wellington	AB	R	H	PO	A	E

NIGHTS OF PRACTICE FOR FOOTBALL MEN

Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays on Exhibition Grounds

The Y.M.C.A. Quakers held a fine football practise last night on the Exhibition Grounds at which about 15 were present. The next practise will take place to-morrow, (Wednesday) evening at the same place. A practise will also be held on Thursday evening. The Quakers go to Norwood next Saturday to play the return game with the team there.

FOOTBALL MATCH WAS A DRAW

Springville and Cavanville Played Game Last Night

Springville, June 23. — The return match between the Springville and Cavanville football teams was played at Cavanville on Monday evening last. The Springville line-up was the same as played at Springville on the 16th inst. Cavanville played two new men. Cavanville won the toss and Gene Touchbourn kicked off. The game proved somewhat uninteresting during the first half. The second half was a much better exhibition of the manly game, the Cavanville forwards doing fast and aggressive work. But the Springville defence was impregnable. Only twice did the ball get past the back division, once by a shot from Parnell, which, however, was well stopped by the Springville goalkeeper, Bidgood. Bobby Steele made an extremely dangerous shot, which, however, went too high.

These shots roused the Springville forwards, and, securing the ball from a kick by A. Reynolds, they carried the ball past the opposing half-backs, and Geo. Reynolds was successful in kicking a goal. The referee, however, ruled that the ball had been fouled, so the counter was lost to Springville. The team took the ruling gracefully and made the play go fast that the Cavanville players could not follow. The game was decidedly in favour of Springville, but the ball unfortunately burst, causing the match to be declared a draw. Throughout it was a gentlemanly exhibition on the part of both teams. The only objectionable feature during the afternoon was the unseemly behaviour of one of the rooters, who rendered himself obnoxious to players and spectators alike. Following are the two teams:—

CAVANVILLE—
Goal—G T Farner.
Backs—S McLaren, W Tibbetts.
Half-Backs—A Fisher, S White, F White.
Forwards—Gene Touchbourn, F Sisson, Isaac Fisher, Bobby Steele, Louis Parnell.

SPRINGVILLE—
Goal—H Bidgood.
Packs—H Reynolds, T McConnell.
Half-Backs—C Ballantyne, W Moncrief, O. Pew.
Forwards—Geo. Reynolds, Seaton, Al. Trew, J Lillico, M Ballantyne.
Referee—F E Wilson.

THE T. A. S. LACROSSE TEAM

All Members Should Turn Out for Practice To-morrow Evening

The members of the T. A. S. lacrosse club are requested to turn out for practise at the Riverside Park on Wednesday evening as early as possible. The Trent Valley League chedule will soon be in operation, and it is very necessary that the boys get down to hard work at once. Practise will also be held on Saturday evening.

Baseball

The Petes increased their lead in the Midland League race on Saturday by their victory over the Athletics and Port Hope's defeat at the hands of Cobourg, which leaves the standing as follows:

Peterborough	4	0	1000
Port Hope	2	3	.400
Cobourg	2	3	.400
Athletics	1	3	.250

PORT HOPE CLAIMS IT'S ROBBERY

Says Umpire McMahon Gave Saturday's Game to the Cobourg Team

Cobourg defeated Port Hope in a Midland League Game at Cobourg on Saturday and Sandy Lockington's bunch claim that they were robbed by the umpire. The Guide says:

Throughout the game there were many protests at the Umpire's decision but the climax was not reached till the ninth innings. When Port Hope went in for their half of the ninth the score stood 6 to 2 in favour of Cobourg but the locals scored 5 runs thus leading the Cobourgites by one run. Cobourg went in for their last innings and there was only one way to win the game and that was to steal it—this they did and in the most barefaced manner. Floyd was first to bat and went out on a fly to short stop. Turpin came next and hit a grounder to Dunn who threw a little wide to first. Hickey reached for the ball and Turpin took advantage of the chance and collided with him knocking him out and Mr. McMahon said safe — thought it a Rugby match probably. King came next and got a hit, Turpin advancing to third. Burge hit to short and Turpin tried to score but the ball was fielded clearly and he was caught a foot or more from the plate and the umpire again called safe. That little word became so twisted about his tongue in this particular innings that he could say nothing else. But then that was not all. The Cobourgites overcome with joy at the score being tied and upon such brilliant work rushed on the field to give vent to their feelings. Fully seventy-five rooters had congregated about the plate and while the locals were waiting for Mr. McMahon to clear the field King and Burge who were on the bases walked in.

And what did McMahon say — safe! You bet they stole home; fine base runners those boys. This made the score 9 to 7, according to Mr. McMahon's rapid calculator and the game was over.

AMERICAN OPINION OF LONGBOAT

President of A. A. U. Will Stand Against Him Before English Committee

An American paper regarding Longboat has the following to say regarding his standing: Tom Longboat, the Indian runner, has sailed for England with the Canadian contingent to participate in the Olympic games and the long-threatened international athletic war between the United States (and the Dominion comes to an issue. Americans claim that Longboat is a professional and positively will not compete against him; nor against athletes with whom the Indian competes. James E. Sullivan, president of the A. A. U., and secretary of the American Olympic Committee, who sailed for England last week, will stand against Longboat in the championships, and if the English committee turns down Sullivan's case the American team will be withdrawwn, at least from the events in which Longboat competes.

T.A.S. HAD A RATTLING PRACTICE

Ball Team is in Fine Shape and is Still Improving

The T.A.S. City League team had a great work-out last night on the Charlotte street field. All the boys were out and showed lots of ginger. Rev. Father Kelly was along and helped a great deal by coaching on inside ball. The team meets the West Ends at the Oval on Wednesday night. Hayes will likely be in the box and a slight change may be made in the infield. Doherty may exchange positions with Jack Corkery, going to centre field.

SOFT LEATHER

"One of the 14"

A horrible thing is coarse, brittle, hard leather, and most of it answers to that description. It rubs the tender feet of the gentler sex into blisters, corns, etc. It will almost blister a horse's hoof.

The Dolly Varden Shoe is made from a soft silken leather. Arduous and costly experiments resulted in "Velvette" Kid, a leather as soft as velvet but as tough and unwear-outable as cowhide. It is not frail and papery, but firm and silky.

The counters and uppers of all Dolly Varden Shoes are made exclusively of this cloth-like leather, which can be found in no other feminine shoe in the world, as we control all rights, while the soles are of oak-tanned cowhide, the pliant and wearing qualities of which are widely known.

The Dolly Varden store will gladly show you this soft shoe, which is as comfortable at the first fitting as at the last wearing. Purchasers or investigators equally welcome. $4.00 to $5.00 in Canada and the States. Every pair Goodyear welted.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," fears that his knee was permanently injured in his wrestling match with Frank Gotch for the world's championship in Chicago several months ago. The exact nature of his injury has not been determined, but so far it has failed to respond to the doctors' efforts. They say the knee will be permanently crippled and that Hack will never again be able to go on the mat.

The English Sporting Life, speaking of the Marathon race, says the English nation must be pre-eminent in this branch of sport, despite the confidence of the Americans and Canadians. It says that at least eight of the twelve representatives selected showed what they could do in the Polytechnic Harriers' Marathon trial by running then prominetnly. Some surprise may be caused by the inclusion of Fred Appleby, after his collapse in the Poly trial, but it is difficult to see how the little 15-miles world's record older could have been overlooked. At all events, it will please Londoners that he has been chosen for the race. The Sporting Life says nothing about the American opposition to Longboat's entry, and it is thought that the case has been decided in favour of the Indian.

NEWS FROM IMMIGRANT OFFICE

Quiet on Saturday— Men Should Not Delay in Obtaining Farm Work

Things were rather quiet on Saturday at the local immigrant office. Only two farmers came in on Saturday, each getting a man who went away to the farm to work. There are at times quite a number of men who apply at the office for work and on inquiry it is found that they have been in Canada several years and have varied experiences. These develop a "tramp" habit and their minds do not become set on farming and in fact they prefer to roam. It is pointed out to them that in their walks from one town to another they pass farmers' houses where help is wanted. They are not looked upon as the best class to send to the farmers of this county.

Those who wish to secure farm work and who are capable of doing it should not delay longer as the busiest season will soon be over and then only the men who have proved themselves really useful will be retained. Next winter should not find the people unprepared for a siege as last year should have been an example.

SOV. W. C. FITZGERALD, London, Grand Secretary, here for the executive meeting of the Woodmen of the World.

THE TEN DAYS' MISSION OPENED

Many Present at St. Marks', Otonabee, Last Evening

The ten-days' mission began on Monday evening and a large number of people were present. The singing was hearty and inspiring. Miss Maud Dixon presided at the organ.

Rev. Dr Langfeldt was in charge and opened the meeting with devotional exercises. In introducing Rev. J. Bennett Anderson, he spoke of his great zeal in the cause of God, and the great results he had achieved in his missionary efforts for the conversion of souls. Mr. Anderson has spent thirty years in evangelistic work under the auspices of the Church of England, and also in union work and is excellently adapted to the holding of Missions. His text was Romans 3; 20—"Therefore, by the deeds of the law there shall all flesh be justified in His sight; for by the law is the knowledge of sin." He dealt very forcibly with the subject of sin. During the preaching he exemplified his remarks by a solo, "My Ain Country." Mr. Anderson in former years was a singing evangelist.

Services are held every evening at 8 o'clock until June 30. Next Sunday Mr. Anderson will preach and sing at the service to be held at 7.30 p.m. There will be no service in the afternoon.

THE MERRY WIDOW HAT SUSPENDED

A New Creation "Soul Kiss Gem" Takes Place of Umbrageous Lid

Detroit, June 24.—The Free Press of this city makes the following announcement, which will give joy to a large proportion of mankind:

The "Merry Widow," not a flesh and blood reality, but as a piece of headgear, has been forgotten, and the newest device by which capricious and reckless Fashion seeks to lure the souls of mankind is the "Soul Kiss" hat.

It isn't so flamboyant, so flabbergasting, so lumbfounding, disturbing, daring, flaring or dazzling in its effect.

MOTHER-IN-LAW WAS SHOT BY YOUNG WOMAN DURING QUARREL

Rochester, June 24.—(Special)—Pursued by her daughter-in-law, Angelina Place fled from her home at 104 Virginia street yesterday afternoon only to drop with two bullets in her back. The shots were fired by the younger woman, Mrs. Amelia Place. The latter immediately after the shooting seated herself calmly in the kitchen and awaited the arrival of the police.

The elder Mrs. Place was taken to the Columbus Hospital where she was reported to be in a critical condition this morning. Detectives put Mrs. Amelia Place under arrest and she is now being held at police headquarters. Pending the result of her mother-in-law's injuries, no charge has been placed against the young woman.

The shooting is said to have been the outcome of numerous quarrels. The younger Mrs. Place lives at 265 Seneca street. On Saturday evening she told her husband, it is said, that his mother had been circulating scandalous stories about her and she intended to take some action. She left home early yesterday morning.

When she arrived at the Place home on Virginia street a quarrel ensued between the two women, and the younger Mrs. Place produced a revolver. Her mother-in-law fled, and Amelia fired four shots at her, two taking effect. The revolver was of .38 calibre, and it is said that one of the heavy balls pierced Mrs. Place's right lung. The other inflicted only a flesh wound. Her daughter-in-law has refused to make any statement to the police.

ANOTHER FIERCE ELECTRIC STORM BRINGS DESTRUCTION; LONG LIST OF DAMAGE DONE

A House Destroyed on Westcott Street—Barn Burned in Douro —Trees Attract the Lightning —Horses Reported Killed

FREAKS OF ELECTRIC FLUID

Aeolus, the god of the winds, must have been offended by the beings on earth considering the way he is expending his wrath during the past few days on the world below. Last Friday night one of the worst wind storms of the season, accompanied by sharp lightning, passed over the city and worked havoc among nature. On Monday night again there came another, and apparently with more vengeance than the first. But of the three the climax was certainly reached in last night's storm, when the electric fluid flashed wildly among things on earth, destroying trees, barns, wagons, horses and houses and carrying ruin before it.

Not during the life time of that oft-mentioned individual "the oldest resident," has such an electric storm been here. The lightning and thunder were almost simultaneous at times and most severe. Following the fiery flashes the night was dark as pitch and drivers along the country roads state their horses were brought atone still with fright. News of depredations by the lightning and wind came from all directions and below will be found a number of them.

House on Westcott Street

A peculiarly destructive fire occurred during the afternoon's electrical storm at a house belonging to Mr. Harry Evans, on Westcott street. It is occupied by Mr. Pearce, foreman of one of the departments at the Brinton Carpet Company's works. The house is believed to have been struck by lightning about 3.15 o'clock, and from the nature of the fire the furniture seems to have suffered throughout the house, while the latter was not so badly burned.

The lightning is believed to have struck some parts of the shed and spread to the interior of the house. The brigade was called and arrived quickly on the scene, and did good work. The fire seemed to have burst out through the house like an explosion, igniting everything inflammable. That was the way it appeared. The house was gutted, the family, it is said, having saved practically nothing more than their clothes.

The nature of the fire was very peculiar, particularly in the manner in which it went through the house, and with the rapidity with which it spread.

Barn Burned

The storm in passing over Douro did not leave all the farmers untouched. The barn on Mr. James McCliggott's property was struck by lightning and, according to the report, was totally destroyed. All his machinery, excepting a binder, was lost in the fire, besides the other contents as hay, straw and grain. There were some three hundred bushels of oats lost and one hundred hens, the loss in all being about $1,000. The barn was a frame one and burned rapidly.

Cottage at Chemong

Prof. Bull and family had a narrow escape at their cottage yesterday afternoon, during the electric storm. They were sitting on their verandah when lightning struck a tree close to the cottage and jumped to the eave trough, and through this good conductor encircled the house, tearing off several boards before it finally shot down into the ground. Fortunately no one was injured, but they received a bad scare for the moment. It was considered a miraculous escape.

Another House Struck

Mr. Daniel Sheehan's house, near Jermyn P. O., Douro, was struck by lightning and a small fire resulted. The chimney was struck and the lightning carried down through the stoverpipes to the kitchen where the floor caught fire. It was put out before serious damage was effected, but the pipes were badly riddled.

Policeman's House Struck

The electric current played pranks in P. C. McIlarry's house at the corner of Reid street and Victoria avenue. The current entered the house along the telephone wires and made a big hole in the plaster near the telephone, while some pictures were damaged. The inmates of the house were not injured.

Transformer Burned

A transformer at the corner of Dublin and Division streets was burned out, and as a result it was a case of "the light that failed," in several houses in the vicinity in which electric lights are used. There was no power available to run the machinery in the bakeshop of Mrs. T. Lush, Dublin street.

Given a Bad Scare

One of two young men who were caught in the storm had a bad scare. They were doing a Longboat stunt on Stewart street to escape the rain, when the one in advance suddenly noticed that his friend was not with him, and looking back saw him stretched out on the pavement. The only thought that entered his mind was that his chum had been struck by lightning, and rushing back he managed to get him on to his feet, when it was discovered that he had slipped and fallen, striking his head so heavily on the pavement that he was rendered unconscious for a moment.

A Hat Episode

A Derby hat, seen hanging, this morning, on the palings on Hunter street nearly opposite the Conservatory of Music, sand-stained and saturated, gives evidence of the effects of last night's rain-burdened gales. It is a No. 6¾-2 hard, black hat, "Beaver Brand; nulli secundus" sold by "T Eaton & Co., Winnipeg and Toronto," and apparently new. It must have been blown from the wearer's head in last night's gale, and the intense darkness and the slanting sheets of wind-driven rain prevented its recovery. The owner should look for it. The hat seems little worse for its experience.

Trees Splintered

On the St. John's Church grounds a large pine tree was splintered and shattered by lightning in a most peculiar manner. The fluid struck the top, tore the bark from the trunk, peeled off every leaf from a clinging vine and disappeared into the ground at the root, where it ploughed up the sod. The gum in the tree was melted and large balls of it could be seen this morning hanging from the remains of the Virginia creeper vine.

A pine tree was also struck in front of the Barnardo Home, and several others met similar accidents throughout the city and country. At Nassau a large tree was blown over the road and trouble was experienced by midnight travellers on the highway.

Horses Killed

Near Millbrook the storm was also severe. A report from there states that Mr. Gibson lost three horses, Mr. Wm. Clydesdale, of South Dummer, lost one and had another injured by the lightning.

A Lightning Freak

Nothing can possibly be more freakish than lightning and in last night's storm it again lived up to its reputation. At the farm of Mr. Thos. Northey, in Burleigh, it struck the reach of a wagon and running along it jumped over the axle and splintered the tongue into kindling wood. The reach was also smashed, but otherwise the wagon was spared.

Nicholls Hospital was also struck but not much damage was done there.

THE WEATHER

Several thunderstorms have occurred during the past few days, but the climax was last night about midnight. The lightning was startingly bright and incessant, the thunderclaps deafening, while the rain came down literally in torrents. During the short time that the storm lasted there was a fall of .97 of an inch on the level. Yesterday afternoon the fall was .47 of an inch, and the previous night .34 of an inch.

LOCAL BOY CAPTURED PRIZES IN SHOOTING

Mr. Sidney A. Lang, an old Peterborough Collegiate Institute boy, who has been teaching in Alberta for the past four years, has been successful in carrying off the highest honours in the military shooting matches held at Calgary last week. A card received to-day by his father, Mr. J. J. Lang, 544 Aylmer street, reads as follows:

"You will be pleased to learn that I made the highest score in the Alberta Ranges, at target shooting. I captured the $5.00 prize given by Major Campbell. I will also get the regimental prize — a badge (crossed rifles in gold, etc.) The major called me up before the men and gave me the prize. The boys gave me three cheers and a tiger. I also earned $2.40 extra by good shooting. Will send you a Calgary paper when I get it."

This is Sidney's first attempt at target shooting and it is likely he will be heard from in the future.

ENGLISHMAN IS TO BE DEPORTED

Dominion Immigration Officer Devlin was in the city to-day for the purpose of securing John Blake, the Englishman who has been confined in the local jail for the past six months and whom the Immigration Department are going to deport. Blake is the Englishman who, it will be remembered, created considerable excitement by hurling a brick through the large plate glass window of the Singer Sewing Machine Company six months ago. When arrested he admitted having done the damage deliberately, hoping to be sent to jail for a term as he had been unable to find work and had no money. He was sentenced by the Magistrate to six months in the Central Prison, but room could not be made for him there and he has remained in the local jail until to-day, when he was taken away by Mr. Devlin.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

It all depends upon whose ox is gored. The Toronto News, assumedly independent, has gone the whole party length and can now pliantly differentiate the two parties. It puts Premier Whitney in the same rank as the King—"he can do no wrong." The News finds no wrong or fault with Mr. Whitney for neglecting law reform, for years a material plank of his platform. It has no words of reproof for Mr. Whitney's degradation of the civil service of the province to a mere machine for the sole and almost declared purposes of promoting party interest. But it finds no difficulty in denouncing the Civil Service Reform Bill of the Laurier Government, because it does not apply to the outside service. In its party zeal, it cannot bring itself to recognise the immense significance of the Civil Service Reform Bill, in its truly revolutionary character. While the principle underlying the bill is sound the means proposed for its adoption may not be perfect—must necessarily be tentative in character. If the new legislation works effectively it will be extended to the outside civil service; in fact, the bill now before Parliament provides for its extension by order-in-council. In taking so radical a departure from old-time civil service methods, the Government it seems, has done wisely to hasten gently. No doubt, in practice defects will develop and in remedying these the results of experience can be applied to both the existing and extended scope of the bill. If the new act should work well, as it is expected to do, it will be extended to include both departments of the civil service. The News might be generous enough to be just; appreciative enough to recognize the great forward nature of the step that has been taken with a view of placing our civil service upon a sound and satisfactory basis.

AMERICAN IMMIGRATION.

(Toronto Star.)

There is, in the opinion of the Philadelphia Post, no danger of the United States becoming a nation of foreigners.

The facts stated by the Post in support of its belief seem sufficient to demonstrate the truth of the assertion made. At the time the last census was taken the number of people of foreign birth living in that country was only ten million, about one-tenth of the total population. Moreover, of this eight of the total more than one-third were of English speech, and consequently could not be properly styled as aliens at all. Another third was made up of Germans, a people who take readily to popular forms of government and have the same regard for law and order as those of British origin. Even in the matter of language the German does not long remain an alien, striking evidence of his readiness to fall into line with his surroundings being found in the recent closing of a German theatre in Minneapolis, in the centre of a population largely of Germanic descent, because the tongue of the fatherland is no longer generally spoken or understood in that city.

Of recent years there has been some fear, owing to the increase in immigration from Southern Europe and decrease in the number coming from Northern European countries, that less desirable elements might secure undue prominence. During the present year, however, little has been heard of this fear, because up to the end of May the outward movement of population was greater than the inward flow. The most serious part of the situation is found in the great cities. There the proportion of foreign-born is unduly large. In San Francisco, Chicago and New York the proportion of such varies from a little over thirty-four to thirty-seven per cent. The situation is further aggravated in these great centres by the fact that foreigners are to so large an extent herded together in colonies, thus making the work of assimilation more difficult than it otherwise would be.

Herein is a lesson from which Canada should learn something. In the course of the next ten or twenty years there will be an enormous inflow of immigration from Continental Europe into this country. Every effort should be made to distribute the new comers among our own people, so that the work of assimilation may go on as rapidly as possible. This is all the more imperative from the fact that the assimilative power of a nation of seven millions is so much less than one of eighty millions.

The eighth annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities will be held in Montreal on July 15th, 16th and 17th. The object of the convention will be the discussion of means conducive to the general subject, "the improvement and facilitation of every branch of municipal administration, and the protection of municipal interests."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Something has come over the Mail Empire analogous to the miracle of the leopard changing his spots. Its editorial page of June 23rd does not contain a single political reference—not one mention of "graft," "scandal," "corrupt Grit gang," or other complimentary appellation of its political opponents.

The Toronto News hammers at the Laurier government because it is not, at the first, applying its measure of civil service reform to the outside as well as to the inside service. It would have been more gracious, says the Brantford Expositor, had the News given the Government full credit for the splendid advance which it is taking, rather than find fault with it for not going thw whole way. If the scheme works well there is little doubt of its extension later to all parts of the service. Meantime, what about Mr. Whitney? Is he prepared to go even as far as Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposes to go?

Some Conservative journals are asserting in a tone of blame that the Dominion Government, without constitutional or parliamentary authority, made a loan of five million dollars to Canadian bonds, to be used in helping move the western crop. There was a national crisis. Money could not be otherwise obtained. The Government acted promptly and saved the situation. As nice customs courtesy to great kings, so do constitutional limitations bow to national emergencies. If one notices a starting blaze in a neighbour's house, if there is no other way, he does not hesitate to commit the technical crime of housebreaking to get at and extinguish the blaze.

The Canadian Courier which is Conservative in its sympathies is independent enough to see straight. It thus scores the Conservative Opposition in respect of its practice of Parliamentary obstruction:— "The House presented a most unedifying spectacle, quite unworthy of itself and unworthy of the country which it represents. The ultimate gain in all this to the Conservatives is doubtful. The Government in the end must get credit for the Manitoba extensions, while the Opposition will be charged with having delayed public works and prevented public servants from getting their wages. The latter is a serious offence in this country; when the housekeeper's weekly allowance runs short, the business of the country is sadly interrupted."

RAILWAY AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT.

No one doubts the variety and infinite extent of the resources of Canada, as infinite as the expanse of her territory. No one doubts either that the development of these resources and the accompanying growth of the country in greatness and in population depend upon the nature and extent of our transportation facilities. Consequently the advance in railway building is the best measure of Canada's development. Canada's population to-day is about the same as the United States in 1805. Its railway mileage is about that of that country in 1858, according to the New York Sun. The pace of railway construction in the Dominion may be shown by total mileage for different periods, thus:

1877	5,574
1887	11,691
1897	16,437
1907	27,611

What impresses these figures with greater importance is the fact that railway business has increased during the last ten years much more rapidly than has construction. Within that time there has been a gain of 70 per cent. in mileage. There has been an increase of 131 per cent. in freight traffic, measured in number of passengers carried and tons of freight handled. Capitalisation applies as $56,995, and total capitalisation in round figures is $1,550,000. Passenger earnings for 1907 were $15,730,652, and freight earnings were $95,738,079, a total of $141,468,731. Operating expenses were $103,718,672. Within the next five years enough new rails will be laid to give Canada a system of more than 30,000 miles in total length. We have, besides, or will have, with the completion of the Trent Canal, 202 miles, a total length of 1,700 miles of internal waterway reaching from Montreal to the heart of the Dominion.

FINANCIAL REPORT WAS READ

Woodmen of World Executive Transacted Routine Business Yesterday

The chief business to be taken up at the meeting of the executive of the Woodmen of the World held in this city yesterday afternoon was the receiving of the financial report for the past six months which was presented by the Grand Secretary, Mr. W. C. Fitzgerald of London. The report was very satisfactory, showing a substantial balance and an increase over the six months preceding.

To-day the visiting Woodmen, with their wives, are taking in the Sherwood Forest Camp excursion to Idyl Wild on the steamer "Otonabee."

TWO BICYCLES STOLEN IN ONE NIGHT

Disappeared From Hunter and George Streets About Same Time

Bicycle thieves appear to be just as prevalent in the city at the present time as the dog poisoners last year. On Monday night the record was "two wheels stolen." One was a "Planet," No. 3,650, high frame, coaster brake, black enamel, belonging to Mr. W. C. P. Heathcote. It was left in front of the Peterborough Club. It disappeared about ten o'clock, and about the same time on the same night Mr. Clarence Snider lost a "Rambler" from the front of the Albany Club rooms, George street. It had also a coaster brake and was enamelled black. The police have been notified of the thefts and there may be trouble for the guilty parties.

THE REASON

Why McDermid & Jury Continue to Recommend Vinol

First: Because it is not a patent medicine and it contains besides tonic iron all of the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of oil to nauseate and upset the stomach and retard its work; therefore, wherever old-fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions will do good, Vinol will do far more good.

Second: Because Vinol acts first upon the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, strengthens and tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, and, in a natural manner, restores health and strength.

Third: Because Vinol contains no injurious drugs to react upon the system; every ingredient being named on the label, a patient knows exactly what he is taking.

Fourth: Because we never sold anything in our store that gave such universal satisfaction for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and to build up the system after a severe sickness, and for relieving hacking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Try Vinol on our guarantee. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ontario; also the Market Drug Store.

MORE MEMBERS HAVE JOINED

Court Stanley A.O.F. Held a Quarterly Meeting Last Night

There was a very large attendance of members at the quarterly meeting of Court Stanley, A.O.F., held in the S.O.E. Hall last night. Chief Ranger Bro. T. Hendry was in the chair. Three candidates were duly initiated into the court and four applications were received for membership. The prosperity of the court is still keeping up as is shown by the large number of new members joining at each meeting. The members were pleased to have Bro. Robt. Northcott of Court Sherwood Forest, Reading, England, present. He was delighted with the reception given him, and gave a short address. Bro. Record also stated that he was pleased to see so many new members coming into the court, and said there was never a time when it looked brighter for the order than at the present, as their rates were on a sound basis.

A SERIOUS ILLNESS RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

MRS. WILLIAM HENDERSON, Craik, N. W. T., Can., writes:

"I was troubled with very serious internal weakness, which exhausted me so that I feared I would lose my mind.

"I suffered agony with my back, the pain extending down my left leg. The pain was so severe that I would have welcomed death as a relief.

"Peruna cured me of this trouble,—no wonder I recommend it so highly.

"It will soon be two years since I found relief from the pain and not a sign of it has returned.

"I am glad that there is a way in which I can speak of this, as many a sufferer may read my testimonial, and not only read, but believe."

Had Given Up All Hope.

Mlle. Albina Chauvin, No. 50 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Canada, writes:

"I consider Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured me when nothing else could.

"I suffered for years and years with heart trouble, headaches and weakness. I never expected to find anything to cure me.

"I tried Peruna and am entirely cured."

SHORTAGE IN DAIRY PRODUCTS

Cheese and Butter Higher in England—Canadian Exports on the Decrease

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

Notwithstanding the splendid pastures which we have had so far this season, dairy output, as measured by receipts and exports at Montreal, is considerably behind the record of last year. The exports of cheese from Montreal from the opening of the season until the end of last week amounted to 200,000 boxes, or 72,000 less than for the corresponding period a year ago. Receipts of cheese in Montreal last week were 76,183, nearly 23,000 less than for a year ago. Butter receipts, on the other hand, were 2,000 packages in excess of 1907, but this was not sufficient to offset the decrease in cheese. With continuance of good pastures now promised we should, however, soon catch up.

The shortage in dairy output is not local. Weddel's Colonial Dairy Produce furnishes an explanation of why it is that the exports of frozen beef to Great Britain from the South American country were nearly 100,000 long cwt. in excess of the exports of dressed beef from the United States to Great Britain during the four months ending with April. In sheep Argentine is actually far ahead, having over 77,000,000 head as compared with 45,000,000 in the northern Republic. In cereal production Argentine is keeping space with her advancement along other lines, the wheat crop there being about one-quarter the normal crop of the United States, and here again the proportion available for export is much larger from the country with the small population than in the case of the one in which population is so much greater.

Canadian farmers should keep watch on the development which is being made by the most progressive of the South American States, because that development is such an important factor in determining the competition we have to meet in certain lines in the British market.

MR. FITZGERALD PASSES AWAY

Was Collector of Customs in Parry Sound —Has Many Friends Here

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, collector of Customs, and formerly Mayor of Parry Sound, died suddenly on Saturday evening as he was chatting with some friends. He is survived by a widow, six sons and two daughters. The deceased was married to the eldest daughter of the late Dallon Elliott and a sister of Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Mrs. Geo. Rubidge and Mrs. G. G. Gladman. For many years Mr. Fitzgerald resided at Penelon Falls, removing to Parry Sound a number of years ago, where he first engaged in the lumbering business. In politics Mr. Fitzgerald was a pronounced Liberal.

Miss Irene Fitzgerald, daughter of the deceased, was visiting friends in the city when she heard of her father's death.

See for yourself the style, price and finish to their garments. Don't forget, it's your custom we want, not the price. Open evenings until eight o'clock. 'Phone 624. Campbellford, June 24.—(Special).—Jubilee services were held in the Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, on Sunday and Monday, June 14th and 15th. Rev. Mr. Hay, a former pastor, preached the services and Miss Jean Rolson, of Norwood, formerly of Knox Church, Peterborough, also Mrs. Hamilton, of Ottawa, were the soloists for the Sunday; also for the entertainment on Monday evening. Miss Robson was very much appreciated in her solo numbers, showing her sweet and powerful voice to good advantage. Mrs. Hamilton was also much appreciated. The entertainment was a decided success in every way.

Statues Of Canadian Butter, The White City Sensation

Remarkable Exhibits in Canadian Pavilion at Franco-British Exposition

WHEAT IS THE FEATURE

London, June 24.—(Special).—Canada opened at the White City last week, the finest exhibit of its natural resources ever shown outside of the Dominion. The pavilion stands on the left of the avenue leading to the golden-domed building of the Daily Mail building, and has long been looked at with interested eyes by visitors who have heard some rumour of the things to be seen within. The Canadian Pavilion has cost £18,000 and the total sum spent by the Canadian Government is £33,000.

Wheat is the keynote of the display and is used to decorate 16,000 square feet of surface within the building; wheat has been employed to make tall trees with spreading branches, and wheat covers the four cornucopiae which together are built up into the form of a "red grain hopper," fifty feet high under the silver dome.

Second to the wheat display in interest is the butter display. In a cold storage room an artist has been busy for weeks modelling life-like and life-size figures in the butter made by Canadian farmers. With sculptor's tools he has worked the plastic yellow material, building up the figures as a sculptor builds up his wax.

A group of statuary which excited much admiration depicted the King and President Fallieres shaking hands —an entente cordiale in butter. The buttons on the coats and the smile of the French president testify to the faithful observation of the sculptor.

There is yet another group — Jacques Cartier, the discoverer of Upper Canada, standing in a butter boat, which one butter boatman has propelled and another is fastening to the shore. On the shore stands a tall Indian, with arms folded. He, too, is modelled with great cleverness.

Tragedy upon tragedy has befallen the beavers in the great tank. Reduced by trouble on voyage to eight, they separated into families of four, but recently three of them were killed by a big black one, who is now kept at a distance from the other four.

Every variety of natural produce is to be found in the Canadian building. A wealth of apples on one side; a sea of fish on another; heads and full-sized mounted specimens of buffalo, moose, elk caribou and deer; timbers; bottled fruits; trophies of ore and coal.

The collection of fish is wonderful. The exhibits are of giant size. Huge Canadian salmon as big as Thames canoes, Canadian lobsters of appalling nightmare proportions, great trout, whose speckles are as big as our puny brook trout, codfish big enough to swallow our codfish alive.

THE SUMMER RUSH TO STONY LAKE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Examiner Special

Stony Lake, June 24.—The annual rush to this section of the Kawartha Lakes has commenced and the cottages are beginning to fill up, and as a result the lake is already taking on its nominal summer appearance. The next two weeks will see the season under way with a rush.

Mr. A. L. Davis left for Toronto yesterday and will return to the lake on Saturday to his new cottage, where Mrs. Davis is spending the summer.

Ald. Bradburn is spending a few days at "Belle Chase."

Mr. Chas. H. Winch of Montreal, who has been visiting his cottage, "Wee Winnett," has returned to the eastern city.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Payne, who have been at their cottage, have returned to Lakefield for a few days.

Mr. Jas. T. Stinson is spending a few days at Glenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Winch are at "Yarrow Brae."

Mr. Jas. Graham, who has been engaged in erecting a new summer home for Mr. Richard Hall, has completed his work, and returned to Peterborough yesterday.

TRIED TO STEAL RIDE ON TRAIN; TORONTO MEN WERE FINED $20

Gordon Judge and Wm. Stevens, the two young men arrested by P. C. McGinty at the C.P.R. station a week ago, and who informed the police that they hailed from Toronto, appeared before Magistrate Dumble in Police Court this morning for sentence. When arraigned last Wednesday they pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, and this morning a charge of attempting to steal a ride on the C.P.R. train was also answered by "Guilty." Stevens remarked that they were drunk at the time.

The magistrate inflicted a fine of $20 to be paid forthwith, or thirty days in jail on both charges. In regard to the charge of stealing a ride on a train, Mr. Dumble remarked that it was not a light offence, and that it was looked upon by the law as being the same kind of theft as stealing money.

This shows the Fused Joint idea in

"Hecla" Furnaces

No dust can escape through "Hecla" Fused Joints. They are absolutely tight and will remain so. That is what makes the "Hecla" the safest and most sanitary furnace to buy. It supplies only pure and fresh warm air, without a trace of gas or dust.

The "Hecla" is economical in the consumption of fuel. The Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots, which have twice as much radiating surface as any other style of fire pot, draw a great deal of heat from the fire that in other furnaces would be sent out of the chimney.

Our catalogue tells more about these and other exclusive features of "Hecla" construction. 59

THEY ARE BLAMING THE MILKMAN

Eleven Pupils of One School Down With Diphtheria

Toronto, June 24.—Eleven children attending Brock avenue school are suffering from diphtheria, and one room in the school has been closed as a result. Sore throats were the first indication, and inspectors from the Medical Health Department were called to investigate. The cases are spread over Dublin street, St. Clarens avenue and Emerson street.

It was reported that a milkman in whose house there was a case of diphtheria, had spread the disease in the milk, but Dr. Sheard says that is not a fact.

A sidewalk has been laid on Wolfe street, from George street to the wharf. Many eyes were opened wide when they beheld it, but it was really a fact. It is a board walk but it serves the purpose and is being used by the people instead of keeping the high road. Almost anything may be expected after that.

The Rush Of Tourists To Europe Is Very Great Now

Steamship agents and railway ticket agents report that the European tourist rush is now at its height, and all the Canadian steamship lines are just now reaping a harvest.

"Every vessel leaving port now carries a 'capacity' list in the first and second class," says an agent "and many of the berths are spoken for a long way ahead."

The railway agents report that they are selling large numbers of tickets for Montreal and New York, for people who are going to Europe. The opening of the season was very quiet and steamship men feared a dull season, but now they are all smiles.

The Allan liners Victorian, Grampian and Corinthian, which left Montreal on Saturday were booked to the limit.

The demand seems to be largest in first and second class berths, while steerage traffic is only normal out of Montreal. Of New York, however, there is a tremendous rush for berths of all sorts, and many thousands of steerage passengers have been compelled to wait for later boats.

The travellers, according to the agents, are largely of the business and tourist class, excepting those who are immigrants and are going home.

DOMINION DAY EXCURSIONS

On account of Dominion Day, the Grand Trunk Railway System will issue return tickets at single fare between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Black Rock and Suspension Bridge, N. Regiment Will Be Inspected By Col. Gordon D.O.C. To-morrow

The annual inspection of the 57th Regiment will take place to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock, with Col. W. D. Gordon, D.O.C., acting as inspecting officer. There was a large turnout at the weekly drill last night despite the rain, and over an hour was profitably spent in performing the march-past and ceremonial drill at Riverside Park. The regiment paraded, headed by both bands, by way of Water and Hunter streets to the park.

On the return to the drill shed the following orders were read:

Headquarters, Peterborough,
June 23, 1908.

Orders by the Officer Commanding the 57th Regiment,
Peterborough Rangers:

No. 1—Detail of duty for the week ending June 30—Captain for the week, Capt. McWilliams; next for duty, Capt. McLean. Subaltern for the week, Lt. J. D. Clarke; next for duty, Lt. Rackham.

No. 2—Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted to Major Bennett and Lt. Hodgson.

No. 3—The regiment, with both bands, stretcher bearers and signal corps will parade in drill order at 7 o'clock p.m. sharp on Thursday evening, June 25, for inspection by Col. W. J. Gordon, D.O.C., and muster roll call by Capt. Conger, district pay-master.

No. 4—All non-commissioned officers and men are requested to appear on parade with clothing and accoutrement clean and neat, and all buttons, etc., polished.

By Order,
G. W. BENNETT,
Major,
Acting Adjutant.

"BABES" IN AN INDIAN RIVER WOOD; LONGDO SISTERS' ATTEMPT TO ELUDE PURSUERS FAILED

By telling that their mother had sent them, the Longdo sisters were harboured in an Indian River house on Monday and Monday night, after having walked the track from Peterborough. They escaped from the Shelter late on Sunday night when everyone else was fast asleep and walked to the south end of the city, where they spent the night with their grandmother.

Rising early in the morning they left without breakfast and went eastward down the C.P.R. track to Indian River, a distance of ten miles. There they called, tired and hungry, at the residence of Mr. Jas. Hall, and stating that their mother had sent them, were fed and kept over night by him.

On Tuesday it was learned that they had run away from the Shelter, and an effort was made to put them on the evening train for Peterborough. But the girls did not care to come back. They ran away from the station, and although several of the Indian River residents followed, they eluded their pursuers and concealed themselves in the woods.

Constable A. Whibbs was then put on their tracks and located them in the forest. He took them to his home and kept them over night, bringing them to Peterborough and to the Shelter this morning.

A Strawberry Social is to be held at Salem, at the home of Mr. Wm Sargent, on the evening of July 3rd, Tea served from 6 to 8. A good program is being prepared. f-d-w

BURIED WITH MASONIC HONOURS

Funeral of Late Harry A. Collins, Supreme Treasurer of I.O.F.

With Masonic honours, the remains of the late Harry Ardagh Collins, Supreme Treasurer of the I.O.F., were laid to rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery at 2.30 this afternoon.

That the I.O.F. took no official part in the obsequies was due to the position taken by the bereaved family. It was felt in the home that the unfortunate differences which recently occurred in that Order had done much to injure his health. The family indicated their desire by a brief message to the Foresters, stating that the funeral would be private. Officers of the Order accordingly attended as private citizens, and the service was under the auspices of the Masons.—Toronto News.

FORMER RESIDENT VISITS THE CITY

Mr. George A. Morrison of Washington Territory Here

Mr. George A. Morrison, a well known resident of Peterborough twenty years ago, is in the city for a few weeks' visit, and his numerous friends are giving him a hearty welcome. He left Peterborough for Tacoma, Washington Territory, nineteen years ago—went west to grow up with the country, and he has grown up with it. He conducts a thriving real estate, insurance and investment business in Tacoma, Washington State, and dabbles in farming as a recreationary side line. He lives in a great fruit country similar to that of British Columbia, the other side of the international line. He will remain in Peterborough a few weeks.

STILL ANOTHER CHANGE IN THE PERSONNEL OF NEW FIRE BRIGADE; NO CALL MEN WILL BE EMPLOYED

Council Amended the Report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee Last Night—Eight Permanent Men, a Chief, Assistant Chief and Engineer is the Complement

THE COST IS NOT HIGHER

A chief, assistant chief, engineer and eight permanent men will constitute the new fire brigade. This was decided upon at a special meeting of the City Council held last night and is practically the adoption of the report presented by Chief Howard on Monday night, which the Fire, Water and Light Committee did not accept. The brigade as now constituted was decided upon on an amendment by Ald. Morrow, and the cost per annum it is expected will be $6,950.

There were present Mayor Rush, Ald. Morrow, Neill, Turner, Gillespie, McIntyre, Morgan, Tovey, Johnston and Buller.

Several applications for appointment on the new fire brigade staff were received.

Ald. Johnston submitted the report of the proceedings of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, transacted Monday night, and as published yesterday. This dealt with the matter of firemen's salaries.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Neill—That the report be amended to provide for the brigade being composed of a chief, assistant chief, an engineer (this man to act also as a fireman) at $600 a year, eight permanent firemen and no call men. The report adopted Monday night by the committee, provided for six permanent firemen, including the engineer and six call men. But both the committee and Chief Howard have since concluded the amendment moved by Ald. Morrow to be in the best interests of the city.

Aldermen Johnston and Morgan both urged that as Mr. Pakenham could qualify as an engineer, he be appointed assistant chief.

Ald. Buller would like to see Pakenham have this appointment, but he would not advise the council to interfere with the chief in the appointment of his subordinates.

Ald. Morrow acquiesced in these views.

Ald. Morrow's amendment here carried and the report was then adopted as amended.

In accordance with the above amended report the brigade will consist of eleven permanent men and no call men. Their salaries will be as follows:

Chief	$1250
Assistant chief	700
Engineer	600
Eight permanent men at $550 each	4400
	$6950

The above will be the maximum cost of the brigade in salaries. Should each of the firemen be graded as second year men which is not likely to be the case, any of the present firemen engaged are to receive second grade pay, $550, therefore the above estimate is based on the highest figure. First year men are to receive $500 a year, second year men $550 and third year men $575, as recommended by the committee on Monday night.

Ald. Morrow in moving his amendment to the report, was actuated by a desire to give Chief Howard a fair chance with a good workable brigade of permanent men alone, and to establish the measure on a firm and definite footing at once. Then it should be borne in mind that increasing the number of permanent men, from six to eight, with no call men, will only mean an increase of $200 above the recommendation of Monday night's committee, even should all the eight permanent men receive second grade pay, which is not likely. In fact, it is pretty safe to say that at least two of these eight will be graded as first year men at $500 a year, which would mean that Ald. Morrow's carried amendment entails but an increase of $100, and any further reduction in the number of second year men to first year grade, which is possible, would effect an additional saving of $50 a year each man so graded.

A by-law legalizing the above proceedings was was passed and the new brigade will come into force July 1st next.

The men will be paid twice a month.

Ald. Morgan gave notice of motion that he will move at next meeting that a by-law be prepared to provide that all coal delivered in a wagon or other vehicle of a ton weight or over, be weighed on the public scales, free of charge to the consumers.

Ald. Buller.—"If this is carried the cost of weighing coal will be charged up to the consumers, which will prove a hardship to the poor."

Ald. Morgan—"Even if they do pay a few cents more the people will know that they get proper weight. Coal is the only commodity over the weight of which the people have no control whatever."

The London street bridge will be closed to rigs, but pedestrians may use it at their own risk.

NOW I AM WELL

THANKS TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Eli, Manitoba.

I wish to state, for the sake of others who may be sufferers like I was, that I suffered from severe indigestion and constipation for years and that there was also womb trouble with unpleasant pains in my back which made me miserable, constantly. I tried physicians and took many remedies but I got no relief. I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say this was the first medicine that ever did me any good. "Fruit-a-tives" quickly relieved the constipation and indigestion and completely cured me of all symptoms of womb trouble. I cannot express too strongly my great gratitude to this medicine as I am as well now in every way as ever I was, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives". I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives", it is easy to take and the effect is always mild like fruit.

Wads Of Money Reported To Have Been Found In Prisoners' Clothes

A story is being circulated from unofficial quarters to the effect that the four men who were arrested a week ago charged with picking pockets were well supplied with the "goods." Three Cattle Killed By C.P.R. Local Near The Indian River

Three cattle belonging to a young farmer in Otonabee named Anderson, a son of the late Mr. Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., were killed by the C. P. R. local yesterday morning a few miles west of Indian River. They were on the track and as the train drew near, blasts, loud and long, from the whistle failed to move them from the track. All three cows were killed and were valued at over $100.

RETURNED TO TORONTO AFTER HOLIDAY VISIT

Mr. A. R. J. Hall of Toronto Police Force Has Returned Home

Mr. A. R. J. Hall, of the Toronto police force, who has been visiting friends in the city, returned to-day after a brief holiday to resume his work. Shortly before leaving on his holidays he was on duty at the vicinity of Sunnyside when young Bates was drowned. The body was under the water ten minutes, but all efforts at resuscitation proved fruitless. The doctor said that death had resulted before the body was taken from the water.

The Quakers to-day had an invitation to play Bethany to-night at Ida for a silver cup. They had considerable trouble in getting a team together.

King Pardoned Criminal.

Madrid, June 24.—The accouchement of Queen Victoria passed off most favorably, and the Queen is reported by the physicians to be in excellent condition.

King Alfonso was radiant with joy when he announced the birth of another son to the few persons waiting in the adjoining room. Several members of the royal family arrived half an hour after the birth, and they hastened to congratulate the King on the advent of a prince, who doubly secures the succession of the throne.

King Alfonso on learning that a condemned criminal was to be executed in the morning, immediately signed a pardon in commemoration of the birth of the prince and telegraphed to the warden of the prison ordering him to stop the execution.

Bank Suspends Payment.

Montreal, June 24.—A despatch from St. Hyacinthe says that the Bank of St. Hyacinthe has suspended payment. Decision was reached at a meeting of the directors, which ended early yesterday morning.

Senator Dessoulles is the president, J. R. Brillon vice-president, L. P. Morin, E. Ostigny, Jos. Morin, M. Archambault and V. B. Sicotte. Authorized capital is $1,000,000; subscribed $504,600 and paid up $331,235.

Railway financing is understood to have put the bank in difficulties.

Fire at Blenheim Hotel.

Blenheim, June 24.—The Buzzard House was badly damaged by fire yesterday, which started in the kitchen. The guests were awakened from their slumbers by the clanging of fire bells.

A bucket brigade was formed and kept the fire partly under control until the department arrived, which was rather late. The building has been erected for fifty years, and this is the first time that it has been on fire.

Lightning Struck Oil.

Washington, Pa., June 24.—During an electrical storm, which passed over this vicinity yesterday, three large tanks of the West Penn Oil Co., at Meadowlands, near here, filled with oil, were struck by lightning, throwing the burning oil high into the air, and causing a torrent of fire to spread over the surrounding territory. The amount of oil destroyed is valued at $100,000.

London, June 24.—A Canadian lady, Alicia Simpson, who heard Summerbell, M.P., make an impassioned speech at the Pan-Anglican Conference on the submerged poor, has offered him 400 acres of land in New Brunswick for the purpose of helping them. Mr. Summerbell is considering the proposal.

AWFUL FIRE AT THREE RIVERS

Six Lives Were Lost in the Terrible Conflagration.

SHOCK KILLED INVALIDS

Little Girl Playing With Matches Was the Cause—Several Children Missing —Property Loss Estimated at $2,000,000— Insurance Only About One-Third — Federal Government May Make Grant.

Three Rivers, Que., June 24.—As a result of Monday's fire the entire business section and a large part of the residential district of Three Rivers lies in ruins. 600 persons are homeless and six lives have been lost. It is estimated that the property loss will total $1,690,000. The fire was caused by the little daughter of a carter named Duval, playing with a package of matches in the loft of her father's stable.

Three little children are reported as having lost their lives in the flames, but hope is still entertained that they may have been taken in by some of the farmers round about, and will be found when the confusion subsides. Six deaths have been reported to headquarters and inquiries are being made for missing members of various families.

A carter named Metivier employed by the C.P.R. was killed yesterday while walking among the ruins. He was crushed under a falling chimney. The other deaths were among aged persons and invalids who had to be moved too quickly. An old lady, Madame Page, was alone at the time of the fire, and when the flames approached to within a block of her home, ran into the street and collapsed. She died on the way to the hospital.

Another, an old man, bedridden for years, died of too violent treatment while being moved.

Very few places of business are left in the city from St. Roch street on the east to St. Charles street on the west, and from the river back to Royale street only one building still stands. This district is about half a square mile in area.

Of the important buildings only the cathedral, the bishop's palace, the court house, the Jesuit Brothers' school, the sanitarium, the police station, the city hall, the large sawmill, and the upper part of the residential district were saved.

Already the citizens are arousing from the stupefaction into which the disaster has thrown them. They are turning to the plans for rebuilding and promise that from the ashes a new Three Rivers will arise strictly modern and up-to-date.

The Federal Government will be approached for aid as soon as the extent of the loss is accurately known. It was rumored yesterday that assistance to the amount of $500,000 will be voted, but Hon. Mr. Bruneau, who was in the city, refused to confirm or deny the report.

The town is not in distress from want of bread, vegetables, milk and farm produce, but there is a shortage of meat. Supplies will, however, be brought from Montreal. The church buildings and religious schools will be placed at the disposal of the homeless.

The greater part of the loss will fall upon the citizens. Only one-third of the damage was covered by insurance. Of the total estimated loss of two millions, about one million and a quarter will have to be borne by the merchants and householders.

Indians Claim Government Grant.

Albany, June 24.—A delegation of Cayuga Indians, who for many years have been living in the Province of Ontario, Canada, called at the executive chamber yesterday for the purpose of establishing their claim to $2,300 annually appropriated by the New York State Legislature for the descendants of Chief Fish Carrier.

It appears that in 1788 the head of the tribe deeded to the state, lands in Northern New York, the consideration being $2,300 to be paid annually to the chief or his descendants. The state for years has been paying this money to descendants of Chief Fish Carrier, residing in New York State.

Mr. Crothers a Governor.

Toronto, June 24.—T. W. Crothers, K.C., St. Thomas, who was chairman of the School Book Commission, and made an honorable record by declining a $2,000 honorarium offered in recognition of his services, has been appointed to the board of governors of Toronto University. He takes the place of J. L. Englehart, who finds that his several occupations prevent him performing the duties of a governor.

the Wooden Walk.

When you afflict your feet with an ill-fitting pair of shoes you will soon be the owner of a wooden walk—and a heavy, toilsome tread which tires the body.

Nature intended that you should walk easily and freely without growing weary—that you should be light on your feet, and easy and free in your stride.

The Napoleon Shoes have the 20 improvements which Nature says you must have in shoes. They give toe-freedom. They have a hurtless instep, an artistic-shaped steel arch, and a plumb-line heel and sole.

There is ease and comfort in every pair of them.

Bowmanville Wins District; Oshawa Defeated By 6-1

Former Wins District After Two Tie Games Had Been Played—A Big Football Score

PLAY GOOD COMBINATION

Bowmanville, June 24.—(Special).—Bowmanville Football team broke the tie with Oshawa with a vengeance Saturday on the High School grounds. This was the third time these teams had met and as neither side had scored in the two former games a fast game was expected. The local team won the toss and kicked down. Oshawa took the kick off but the ball soon went to their goal by a fast piece of combination. Sisson passed to Bradley who drove it through for the first count in less than two minutes. Sisson scored the next in about the same time. Before Oshawa got their bearings the forwards made another rush, Bradley shot but Terrell relieved, Westlake got the ball and scored by a nice drop kick. Mason and Trimble scored the next two in short order. Just as the whistle blew for time Sisson scored but the goal was not allowed.

In the second half the game was much evener. Oshawa tried her best to even the score, but the boys with the green had a big lead. The visitors scored their only goal about ten minutes before time from a scrimmage near goal, their centre forward doing the trick, Adams was responsible for Bowmanville's last goal. He shot a hot one on goal which hit an Oshawa player and went through. The game ended 6 to 1 in Bowmanville's favour.

Oshawa team is composed entirely of men from the Old Country. They are a gentlemanly lot of fellows and play a clean game. The combination and team work put up by the local boys was the best seen here for many a season. The boys in green have played eight games so far and have only had two goals scored against them, not losing a game. Brown and Higginbotham can't be beat for fast and reliable backs. Moore, Horn and Westlake are a great half back line. They are good checks and look after their forwards in good style. Sisson and Adams are always too fast for their checks and send in many fast shots. Trimble is doing excellent work at centre. Bradley is a wonder, always keeping the goalkeeper busy looking after his shot. Mason is improving with every game.

Rev. Hugh Munroe made a good and efficient referee. His duties were light as both teams played the game as it should be played.

The line-up.

Bowmanville — Goal, J.G. James, (Capt.); backs, C. Higginbotham, A. Brown; half backs, W. Moore, E. Horn, P. Westlake; forwards, E. Sisson, C. Adams, R. Trimble, M. Bradley, C. Mason.

Oshawa—Goal, B. Terrell; backs, A. Mason, F. Brock; half backs, F. Smith, W. McKenzie, W. McIntosh, (Capt.); forwards, R. Bowley, W. Puckett, E. Flaxman, R. Keill, W. Duffey.

This game puts Bowmanville in the finals for the Stratton Cup in the Midland League. Watch for date of final game which is sure to be fast.

ATHLETICS EXPECT TO BEAT PETES IN SATURDAY'S GAME

The Athletics are confidently predicting that they will defeat the Peterboroughs in the Midland League game which will be played at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon. Manager Lynch's team will be strengthened for the occasion and expect a victory, thereby putting themselves on even terms with Port Hope and Cobourg. A win means a lot for the Athletics, and they may be depended upon to put up a hard argument for the larger end of the score. They are playing fine ball and have apparently struck a gait that will require a lot of stopping before the league season is over.

Those who saw last Saturday's contest between these two teams know that the game this week will be a snappy, hard fought battle with both teams on their toes and fighting hard all through the chapter. There was more excitement last Saturday than in any other game this year, and looking at it from this distance Saturday's game is an even money proposition with nothing much to choose between the two nines.

The Peterboroughs will have the same line-up that has not yet met defeat this season and will make a big effort to stave off the Athletics and keep the record of straight wins unbroken. It will be a great game between two great teams.

WARKWORTH'S CRACK CRICKET TEAM HERE FOR TO-MORROW

Warkworth Cricket team will be in the city to-morrow morning at 8.10 for a game with the Peterborough Club at the Nicholls Oval, starting at 10.30 sharp. Humphries, the crack Varsity bowler will be on the firing line for Warkworth and with an equally balanced team will give the boys a good game.

Hill and Black, the two International men, will be on the Peterborough team along with the following who are requested to be out at 10.30 sharp: Holmes, E H Lovekin, Black, S Pousette, W Edwards, Marshall, S Elliott, E Reston, H O Hill, Colemen and H Clarke.

A new schedule for the northern district which will include Millbrook, Lindsay, the T.A.S. and the Y.M.C.A. of Peterborough will have to be drawn up.

Baseball

The Y.M.C.A. baseball team are reminded of their game to-morrow evening with the Wellingtons, when the remainder of the game will be played off.

Championship Meet

Many entries are coming in for the great boys' championship meet on July 2. The committee in charge wishes it known that the meet is open to all the boys of Peterborough, whether members of the Y.M.C.A. or not. A beautiful silver cup has been donated by Mr. V. Eastwood, and the winner of the six cup events will hold this trophy for one year. In addition to this a number of special events will be run off and valuable prizes and medals will be given to the winners. This should prove a big event for the boys of Peterborough. All who come within the requirements should see the physical director of the Y.M.C.A. at once and get their names on the entry list.

HOW YOU GET CONSUMPTION.

Most "lungers" allowed their power of resistance to fall very low. Favorable conditions were provided for the development of the baccilli. Consumption was the result.

But in a healthy body Consumption can't take root. The most potent health-maker is Ferrozone. Take it regularly and you needn't fear tuberculosis.

FERROZONE

Supplies exactly what the man verging on Consumption needs. It forms rich, nutritious blood, strengthens the nerves, puts vim and endurance into every organ of the body.

For the tired, weak—anyone in poor health—Ferrozone is worth its weight in gold. Avoid substitutes!

COACHING IN THE CITY LEAGUE

Leading Teams are the Best Coachers and "Rooters"

One of the points on which the City League teams differ to a great extend is in coaching. Several of the teams are at it all the time, while others play the game in a quiet manner as if it were "Old Maid." Coaching makes the game interesting as long as it is carried out on proper and sportsmanlike lines. It puts ginger into the men and enlivens the play. The T. A. S. and Strathconas are strong in their coaching work. Everybody knows how to take a hand in it and while the proper number are at it the rest keep up a line of "gab" that makes things interesting. These two teams are at the head of the league and it is mainly due to the vim with which they enter into the game. The Wellingtons and Y. M. C. A. are fair in the coaching art, but the other teams only get going when they are in the lead. They seem to wilt when they are behind, instead of keeping at it with hammer and tongs in an endeavour to catch up. Looking over the games it may be pointed out that coaching and "snappiness" in the field and while at bat has helped a lot to land most of the victories.

TUG-OF-WAR WILL BE A FEATURE

Married Men Versus Single Men at the T.A.S. Picnic

One of the features of the sporting events at the T.A.S. picnic will be a tug-of-war between the married men and the single. It is going to be a good drawing card and the teams are now getting ready for it. A fine prize has been donated for it to interest and it will probably be a case of the rope breaking.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Fred Whitecroft is making a baseball reputation for himself in the Western city. The Edmonton Bulletin says:

In what was mainly a pitcher's battle, the Strathcona ball team went down last night at Diamond Park to defeat before the Young Liberals by a score of 2 to 0. The game was a good exhibition, no score being made till the last of the seventh, when Whitecroft managed to make a through trip on errors. In the eighth Deacon White notched up another for the boys in blue. Vining's work in the box for the Young Liberals was of the stellar variety. He pitched probably the best game of his life. Deeton's work at third and with the stick was also a feature. Joe McLaughlin's work on the start for Strathcona was almost perfect. He pulled Strathcona out of several dangerous situations, the bases at one time being full and no men out. He had poor support, however, with one or two exceptions.

A letter just received by Fred Whitecroft from Jas. F. Fitzgerald, the Edmonton Young Liberal Club runner, now en route to the Olympic games, states that he sailed from Montreal on the Tunisian June 11 and was feeling very fit. With him were two of Mr. Whitecroft's old eastern chums, Messrs. Fred Simpson and Dick Baker, both of whom come from Peterborough. The Canadian team was given a great send-off by the Montreal A.A. before sailing for the Old Country. — Edmonton Bulletin.

WEDDING BELLS.

FITZGERALD-DUDLEY

St. Catharines, June 24.—(Special).—A brilliant wedding was solemnized in Welland Avenue Methodist Church at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of over one hundred invited guests. The spacious auditorium was thronged with friends of the bride, who was one of St. Catharines most gifted and popular young ladies. The occasion was the nuptials of Miss Edith Leta Dudley, only daughter of Mr. Thomas E. Dudley, and Dr. Robert Roland Braden Fitzgerald, a rising young physician of Lockport, N. Y., a former Peterborough young man. Just at three o'clock the organist of the church, Mr. Emil Roetpel, began to play softly Lohengrin's Wedding March, and presently the bride entered and passed down the aisle with her father, who gave her away. She was preceded by her four bridesmaids, Miss Grace Woods, of Toronto, her cousin; Miss Laura Newman, Miss Helen Lloyd and Miss Mollie Jackson, of St. Catharines; and the flower girl, little Alice Dudley, of Erie, Pa. her niece. They were awaited at the altar by the officiating clergyman, Rev. David A. Moir, B.D., pastor of the church, the groom and his cousin, Dr. Robert Mann, of Toronto, his best man.

The church had been tastefully decorated for the occasion by twenty girl friends of the bride.

The ushers were Mr. Marvey D. Dudley, of Winnipeg, brother of the bride; and Dr. George Seldon, of Ingersoll and Dr. W. S. Chapman, of St. Catharines.

During the signing of the register Miss Anna B. Lloyd sang sweetly, "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy."

The bride was charming in a gown of ivory satin, trimmed with duchesse lace. She wore a bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a pendant of pearls and amethysts, the gift of the groom. Two of the bridesmaids, Miss Woods and Miss Newman, wore blue silk mulle and carried pink roses. Miss Lloyd and Miss Jackson wore pink silk mulle and carried white roses. All wore floral wreaths, and the bride's gifts, pearl crescents.

The groom's favours to the ushers and the best man were pearl stickpins, to the flower girl a rope of pearls, and to the soloist, a ruby and pearl pin.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 18 York Street, after which the happy couple left for a trip to Atlantic City and other American resorts.

HUGHES—WILLIAMSON

A very pretty June wedding was celebrated this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock when Miss Edna Maud Williamson, daughter of Mr. T. H. Williamson, 187 Aylmer street, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. F. J. Hughes, C.P.R. telegrapher at Morley, Alta. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. M. Manning at the Charlotte Street Methodist church in the presence of about thirty relatives and friends. The bride looked charming in her dress of point d'esprit trimmed with satin and lace over white silk. She carried a handsome bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Bessie Robinson of Lindsay was prettily attired in pink chiffon over pink silk and carried pink roses.

The drawing-room where the ceremony was performed was decorated with palms, carnations and daisies. The groomsman was Mr. L. G. Williamson, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, and the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends. They left on the 4.38 C.P.R. express on their honeymoon trip to Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo and Niagara Falls. The bride wore a travelling suit of champagne silk with hat to match. They will return to Peterborough for a few days, leaving on Friday, July 4, for Morley, Alta., where they will reside.

Many beautiful presents were received by the happy couple, a testimony to the high esteem in which they are held by their friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a Gerhard-Heintzman piano.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. John McKee and Mr. W. E. Williamson of Alpina, Mich.; Mr and Miss Hughes of Toronto, and Mr and Mrs. L. McGregor of Lindsay.

CATARRH NOW CURABLE.

But Never by Medicine Swallowed, Snufff, Sprays or Douches.

Catarrh is not a blood disease and that is why it cannot be cured by any medicine taken into the stomach. Catarrh is a germ trouble contracted from the germ-laden air you breathe inward. These germs fasten themselves in the tissue and air cells of the breathing organs, multiply by millions, cause sneezing, coughing, raising of mucous, discharge from the nose, difficulty in breathing, hoarseness, dryness and stoppage of the nose, tickling in the throat and other symptoms that an only be reached by the dry air principal of Hyomei

It medicates the air you breathe with the curative properties of the Australian Eucalyptus Forests where catarrh is unknown.

The reason you get relief in a minute or two from Hyomei is because it destroys every catarrhal germ in the air you breathe, and its dry penetrating aroma will reach the innermost recesses of the air passages, killing millions of germs a minute. Their destruction means freedom for oppressed respiratory organs. Wm. Madill sells Hyomei under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Price $1.00.

SOME ADDRESSES GIVEN

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, June 24.—The closing exercises of Lakefield Preparatory School were held last night and were attended by a large number of friends of the school. Rev. A W MacKenzie, M.A., the headmaster of the school, was in the chair. In welcoming the friends of the school he gave a short resume of its progress. Referring to the Old Boys' Association, he mentioned their annual dinner in Toronto and their reunion at "The Grove" every Labour Day. He also urged the boys to be sure and join the Association after they left the School. One of the Old Boys, John Barron, son of Judge Barron, of Stratford, had entered the Canadian Navy. He was the first Naval Cadet and was stationed on H. M. S. "Canada" at Halifax. Mr. MacKenzie intends to make preparation for the Naval Academy and Royal Military College a special feature of the school. In reviewing the work of the boys he was pleased to say that they had all shown remarkable progress and that their examinations were very satisfactory. The prizes were distributed by Mrs. Hilliard and were donated to the following boys:

General Proficiency Prizes

Form II—Letroy.
Form III—Cooke.

Mr. MacKenzie called upon Rev. Dr. Langfeldt to present his medal for General Proficiency. The winner of this distinction was Gerald Hyde Wilkes, of Brantford. The winner must be the best boy "all around" and is chosen by the headmaster and masters. Dr. Langfeldt complimented the school on its fine showing and expressed his high regard for Mr. MacKenzie. He said it was a privilege to any boy to be under the influence of Mr. MacKenzie, whose sterling qualities of heart and mind had won him a great reputation, and parents were only too anxious to have their boys under his training.

Mr. J H Burnham was also present and in a neat speech expressed his great admiration of the headmaster and his school. Mr. R M Hamilton, of Fenelon Falls, who has a son at the school, expressed his great interest in athletics by donating an annual prize to the best athlete. Mr. A Montizambert of Peterborough, was not to be outdone by the others, therefore in a very pleasant speech he donated an annual prize for the best student in literature. Mrs. R Hamilton also donated an annual prize to the boy foremost in politeness and good manners. Mr. E R Tate became reminiscent and related some of his experiences of former years. He was a student at the Grove 28 years ago. Col. H C Rogers and Mr. Dela Fosse gave short addresses. After the meeting refreshments were served and the visitors were pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie. Among the visitors from a distance were: Mrs. Fricker, of Havenburg, N. Four Alleged Pickpockets Before Magistrate To-day

P. C. Newhall's Evidence Occupied Greater Part of the Morning—He Testified to Seeing E. M. Taggart's Pocket Picked at G. T.R. Station

ADJOURNED TILL SATURDAY

The preliminary examination of Geo. Williams, Henry Hamilton, Jas. Graney and Jos. Adams, the four alleged pickpockets, who were arrested by P. C. Newhall and Mebarry at the Exhibition grounds last Wednesday, was commenced before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning, and after a session of two hours, the greater part of which was taken up in hearing P. C. Newhall's testimony, was adjourned until Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. There are two charges against the quartette, one of stealing $2 from Jas. Gross, of Bethany, and the other of the theft of $20 from Ebenezer McTaggart, of Brockville.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution, while Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the prisoners. There were several lively tilts between counsel, the first arising when Mr. Gordon asked that the witnesses be excluded from the court room. The crown attorney asked that P. C. Newhall be allowed to remain to instruct him in the case, but Mr. Gordon strenuously objected. Finally, when the magistrate decided that the officer should leave the court, the crown attorney decided to put P. C. Newhall in the box first and the case went on.

P. C. Newhall testified as follows: "I was on duty on June 17th. The first I saw of the prisoners was at 11 o'clock in the morning, when I saw the prisoner Williams near the C. P. R. station. I watched him for a few minutes, and then I met the 11.26 C. P. R. train, and after conversing with the chief at the police station, went to the G. T. R. train to meet the 11.45 train. I saw Williams again there at the end of the platform. When the train came in a big crowd was on the platform and I saw the other three prisoners, Hamilton, Graney and Adams on the platform of the second and third coaches. Williams approached the train and met Adams, who was first off the car. Mr. McTaggart was getting on board the train at the rear end of the second coach. Adams got slightly behind him on his left hand side. Hamilton was in front of him on the steps, and Graney was on his right hand side on the station platform. Adams' right hand went into McTaggart's left hand trousers pocket and pulled out what appeared to be a pocket book. Hamilton and Graney both pushed against McTaggart, almost knocking him down.

Got out of Crowd

The three got quickly out of the crowd and went in different direc-

DELEGATION OF UNEMPLOYED ASK MAYOR RUSH TO HELP THEM

Say They Are Refused Work Because They Are Englishmen—Four of Them to Walk to Frankford Where They Have Secured Work

ONE MAN SOLD HIS STOVE

A delegation of about twelve of the unemployed waited on Mayor Rush yesterday morning asking him to use his influence in obtaining work for them. To-day an Examiner representative dropped into a street corner meeting of some of the men regarding their petitions. The party that visited Mayor Rush had two spokesmen, Messrs. Jos. Pope, Albert street, and Chas. Coleman, Reid street. Henry Coyt, Albert street, was another member of the deputation. They informed the Mayor that they were all willing to work, but it was impossible to get any. They had families to provide for, the same as other men, they said, but the summer was passing away and the prospects were very discouraging. A grievance that they emphasized was the fact that men of another nationality were readily given work on the sewers, etc., but they were refused. One of the men said to the reporter: "I was told that if I were an Italian I would be taken on," and he was very angry that an Englishman should not be given a chance.

Sold the Stove

The men told of one of their companions who lives on George street, who had been idle for months. "He sold his stove last week in order to get money with which to buy food for his family, and he only got $3 for it. He paid $9 for it when he bought it."

When asked what Mayor Rush promised to do, Henry Coyt said, "He treated us like a gentleman and said he would do whatever he could for us, and nobody can do more than that."

Four Men Have Work

Mr. Coyt and three other men have obtained work near Frankford, in Hastings county, and intend to start to-morrow morning for that place. According to their statements, they have to walk to Frankford, which they say is nearly seventy miles distant.

Government Enclosed Scow Is Now Almost Completed

Is Being Built Water Proof—The Dredge "Emmerson" Busy—New Coal Shed to be Erected

MOVEMENTS OF THE BOATS

The Government steamers as well as the others plying on the Trent Waterway are busy. The dredge "Emmerson" is engaged below Dam No. 5, above Nassau, in dredging out the entrance there which is somewhat narrow. The steamer "Empire" is attending it. After concluding its work there the dredge will go to Lakefield and clear out the reaches from there down to the city. Its next work will be between Fenelon Falls and Cameron Lake.

The "Bob Hall" is at Rosedale now bringing down to Peterborough a scow load of machinery, including boring apparatus for locating places for locks, which have been used by the engineers there. The machinery will be stored in the canal stores houses here.

The steamer "Bessie Butler" was at Gamebridge this morning and is expected down to Peterborough to-night. She will probably take charge of the new scow which is almost completed. This scow is the only one of its kind on the Trent Canal. It is completely covered with a water proof roof and sides. Its first commission will be the carrying from Lakefield to Buckhorn of 2,800 bags of cement. That is equal to two car loads and weighs 200 tons.

To-day the building of a new coal shed on the C.P.R. spur line above the C.P.R. bridge was began. It will be used for coaling the boats with.

The steam tug "Dawn" came down the canal to-day with another load of stone for the Roman Catholic Church.

Celebration Of The Passing Of Volunteer Fire Brigade

To commemorate the passing of the old volunteer fire brigade of thirty years standing in Peterborough, the firemen will run an excursion on Monday July 6th to Idyl Wyld per steamer Otonabee. The brigade have also secured the services of a band for the day as well as a full band of the 57th Regiment is expected.

The old volunteer brigade no doubt have, during their term of office served the town and city faithfully and are deserving of a large attendance at their picnic.

THE ADMINISTRATOR FOR THE CAMPBELL EST

What the Proceedings Were Which Se[cured] The Question

Buffalo, June 25.—(Special.)—The exact proceedings in the litigation over the appointment of an administrator for the estate of the late Campbell are as follows: When late Dr. Robert E. Campbell died Buffalo on the 27th of May, Dr. Edward N. Pfoff, upon application to the Surrogate Court, was appointed administrator of the estate. Shortly after, the Rev. Jas. Campbell, of San Francisco, Cal., brother of the deceased, arrived Buffalo and he also applied for administration, but the court refused to appoint him, and confirmed Pfoff in the office, whereupon Campbell carried the case to Appellate Court in Rochester, and received the appointment.

Dr. Pfoff, however, sought to reverse this decision by appealing to the Supreme Court of New York at Albany. In this court the appeal was recently dismissed with costs, and Mr. Campbell is now engaged in winding up the estate in Buffalo. He expects in a very short time to have matters settled.

CAUGHT AGAIN.

A politician, like another class of humanity, needs to have a good memory. Frequently, during this session, Hon. Mr. Foster has "raised kicks" against the actions of the present Government only to bring out the fact that the Conservative Government was chargeable with the same practises which, right in their time and under their auspices, are wrong when practised by a Liberal Government. The tables were again turned on Mr. Foster on Tuesday night. Mr. Foster, while leading the obstruction to the Public Works estimates, criticized the policy of placing all the Government's legal business for Nova Scotia in the hands of Mr. Meagreith, of Halifax, who "farmed it out" to local lawyers. Mr. E. M. Macdonald reminded Mr. Foster that when the Conservative Government was in power all its legal business in Nova Scotia was handled by Mr. R. L. Borden, the present leader of the Conservative Opposition, who, instead of giving local work to local lawyers, sent out his junior partners from Halifax and charged up their expenses. Mr. Macdonald, as a member of the bar of Nova Scotia, was inclined to agree that the policy was not a good one, although an old one, but he thought it rather surprising that Mr. Foster should not have shown many years ago his present solicitude for the country lawyer. Before Mr. Macdonald had finished speaking, Mr. Foster, the report says, suddenly remembered there was a man out in the corridor waiting to see him.

SPEAKING FROM KNOWLEDGE.

In a sermon delivered by him in Toronto on Sunday last, Rev. Dr. Shearer, secretary of the Board of Moral and Social Reform of the Presbyterian Church, said that, after extensive and close-range dealing with the large majority of the politicians of both parties, not only in the Dominion Parliament, but also in all the Provincial Legislatures, his deliberate judgment was that the typical Canadian politician was above the average of our citizenship, alike in mental calibre and in character. There are exceptions, he said, even in both political parties, who, in all respects, are a disgrace to themselves, a burden to their party, and a dishonour to their country. But they are the exception, not the rule. "This opinion," said Mr. Shearer, "is based on extensive personal knowledge, and is the very opposite of what I held prior to personal acquaintance with the rank and file of our public men." Rev. Dr. Chown, who holds a position, and has had opportunities, somewhat analogous to those of the Rev. Dr. Shearer, has expressed similar views. Party prejudice and party bitterness are, to a large degree, responsible for the bad name popularly ascribed to politicians. Of this, the course of the Conservative Opposition in the present session of Parliament is an example. The time of Parliament has been wasted in imputing scandals which, on investigation, have turned out standers. In the course of prolix and time-killing discussion, "graft" has been charged, and wholesale imputation of non-existent crookedness committed. Thus a false idea of political moral conditions is created. The evil extends beyond Parliament. In the party press and among the people, a politician is assailed—and the more able and prominent, the more fiercely—and he is condemned to dishonesty and crookedness upon mere hearsay evidence, or possibly mere imagination — upon evidence that even Judge Jetfries would not have held sufficient to hang a yellow dog. If everybody raises the cry of hard times, the "hard times" come; if everybody cries "graft," "corruption" "crooked," in connection with the most trivial and harmless action of a politician, imputing base motives and imagining base actions, a politician of honest character and patriotic motives may gain, without deserving it, a bad reputation, which is extended with thoughtless inclusiveness, to the class as a whole. Of course, there are, as Dr. Shearer says, exceptions, but, among the mass of men in public life, the majority it is safe to say, are undeserving of the bad name so flippantly imputed. A man may be a good citizen, fulfilling in the home and in society and in the business world the duties of his station honourably and honestly, but the moment he comes into the political lime-light as a politician, and meets with some success, in the eyes of his political opponents, these good qualities drop from him like a discarded garment, and he becomes a political pariah. As many men in private life enjoy factitious reputations for good qualities, so in public life, the evil reputations attached to politicians are, in a position a majority of cases, factitious also.

SEASONABLE "DON'TS."

At this season of the year, when the camping, fishing and woodland ramble season is on, the following "Don'ts for Campers," issued by the Canadian Forestry Association, are timely. Forest fires, by the destruction of wide areas of valuable timber, have, it is safe to say, accounted for the disappearance of nearly as much, if not more, forest wealth than the axe of the lumberman, with the added disadvantage that the removal of forest growth by fire means practically absolute destruction and total loss; whereas, by the operation of the lumberman, the injury to climatic conditions and otherwise, due to forest removal, is offset, in part, by the commercial value realized. The don'ts referred to, whose observance will minimize the danger of forest fires, are as follows:

1. Don't, when in the woods throw down a lighted match, cigar-stub or other flaming object; make sure that the flame has been thoroughly extinguished before throwing it away.
2. Don't build your camp fire larger than is necessary.
3. Don't, under any circumstances, leave your fire unguarded, even for a comparatively short time; see that it is dead out before you go away.
4. Don't build your fire in leaves, rotten wood, or other inflammable material.
5. Don't build your fire against a large or hollow log, where it is hard to be sure when it has been entirely put out.

To these "don'ts" it may be added that in windy weather, or in a dangerous place, it is well to confine the fire in a hole dug clean down to the mineral soil. A fire may smoulder in the humus, or "duff," for days, only waiting for a strong breeze to fan it into a flame that may burn over miles of timber.

Summer tourists and campers, unfortunately, have a bad reputation among the owners of timber limits as being a frequent cause of fires. Such fires could be prevented, almost without exception, by a little extra care on the part of the campers, who have been the unintentional cause of much forest destruction, and who have just as real an interest in the preservation of the forests as the owners of the timber themselves. The rules given above are the result of long experience and observation on the part of many woodsmen and lumbermen as to the origin of fires from this cause, and are earnestly commended to the attention of campers, sportsmen and others. The need for observing them is emphasized by the occurrence a few days ago of serious fires in the Lake St. John district in Quebec, one village being wiped out; the fires are thought to have originated from fires left by fishermen.

SCALP DISEASE
CURED BY ZAM-BUK

Mrs. Albert Goodike, of 485 Amherst street, Montreal, says:—"My three-year-old girl Anna suffered intensely since birth from scalp disease, and we could not get rid of this irritating disease. On March 10th, 1908, someone recommended my husband, (who is an elevator man at the Carsley Co.) to try Zam-Buk Balm and Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap. From commencing to use these remedies we saw an improvement and after nine days' treatment the child was cured completely."

No home should be without Zam-Buk. It is nature's skin remedy and without equal as a healing balm. All druggists and stores, 50 cents a box.

Editor of the Post Card Column of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—After every rain storm we have an artificial lake on Wescott street, which remains there for two weeks at a time and renders our cellars unfit for use, and in the spring of the year no one can pass on the south side of the street without getting a foot bath. Some of the officials have been spoken to on the condition of this street. We have sent in a petition for a pavement as at some points the road is higher than the sidewalk, but that was the last heard of it. For over eight years nothing has been done on this street except a pavement on the north side, though it is the most populated street in the south end.

Now, Mr. Editor, don't you think we should receive a little attention?

FROM A RESIDENT OF THE ARTIFICIAL LAKE.

THE PERFECT WOMAN IS NOT A FAT ONE

Artists say that the ideal proportion of weight in a woman is 26 pounds for every foot of her height. This would make a woman of 5 feet 4 inches weigh 136 pounds 8 ounces.

If you weigh more than this in proportion you are on the danger line and are likely to get too fat in a few years. Check it by taking a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of this receipt: 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex. Get the Marmola sealed and mix it with the other ingredients at home. This mixture is harmless, will not cause wrinkles, and has been known to take off seven pounds of fat a week without any help from exercise or dieting. It is inexpensive.

CASE NOW IN LINDSAY COURTS

That of Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company vs. J. M. Burton

Lindsay, June 25.—(Special.) — The non-jury sittings of the High Court opened to-day before His Honour Mr. Justice Teetzel of Toronto. There are two cases to be tried, one of which is an alimony case.

The remaining case is that of the Port Hope Brewing Company and Robert Wallace Smart, secretary of that company against Joseph Hudson Burton of Bracebridge. The plaintiffs claim the sum of $232.45, together with interest and the costs of the litigation. This case was brought up at Peterborough and transferred to Lindsay by Mr. Justice Anglin, with the consent of the parties concerned.

It seems that in 1904 the defendant had bought several shares of stock from this company and had paid part of the money for these shares. He claims it was represented to him when he bought the shares that 20 per cent. interest would be paid annually and the company would not combine with any other companies in the same business. These conditions, he alleges, were not fulfilled, and thus, he reasons, he is not legally bound to pay the balance due the company. The sum of $232.45 is the balance claimed by the company.

The case is a very interesting one. O'Connell & Gordon of Peterborough are for the plaintiffs; T. E. Gordon of Bracebridge for defendant.

ON THE POLLUTION OF THE WATER

Mr. D. W. Dumble Sends Answer to the Water Commissioners

Mr. D. W. Dumble received the following communication a few days ago from the secretary of the Water Commissioners, and sent an answer, which follows the communication:

Sir,—The Water Commissioners having in view the desirability of obtaining a pure water supply for the city, have caused to be removed whatever was likely to pollute the river, as far as and including Lakefield, and they confidently believe their action has had very beneficial results.

Last year they sent the Inspector of the Board of Health to inquire into the conditions existing in Stony Lake. His report showed that at most of the cottages the privies went over the water, and that in the case of hotels and boarding-houses the sewerage from the privies was emptied into it. This is contrary to and prohibited by law. It is a menace to health, and therefore must cease.

The report shows that you have not observed the requirements of the law, and you are respectfully required to take steps at once to remove the cause of complaint.

S. R. Armstrong,
Sec.-Treas., Water Commissioners, City.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your circular letter of the 19th inst., respecting pollution of Stony Lake waters. I heartily concur in the action of the Commissioners, and have always endeavoured to secure the end you aim at, and when president of the Cottagers' Association, brought the matter to the attention of the cottagers.

In the concluding part of your letter you intimate that I have not myself observed the requirements. Permit me to say that I have scrupulously complied with my own good judgment. I have earth closets at my Stony Lake cottages, and I clean them every year, digging the contents into flower beds, and I never permit any pollution of the waters around my islands.

Permit me to draw the attention of the Board of Health to the fact that the city authorities have an opening from the main George street sewer into the Little Lake, from whence we get our ice. I have seen foecal matter, au pur, floating at the mouth of this outlet. This is wholesale pollution and should receive the immediate attention of the Board. When I see ice on the butter plate the picture of the sewer outlet does not add zest to my appetite. I am, sir,

Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

MITCHELL'S NEW WINE, VAULTS AND LIQUOR STORE

Removed to George Street after a Business Record of 28 Years on Hunter Street

Mr. F. J. R. Mitchell, Peterborough's oldest established wine and liquor merchant, of Hunter street, announces in this issue his removal to new premises at No. 418 George street, next to Dutton's. What makes this business change of more than usual interest is the fact that Mr. Mitchell has continuously occupied the store premises which he has just moved out of since the year 1880, a period of over twenty-eight years. This is a record which no other merchant in the city can boast of. Mr. Mitchell's business was established by his father, the late Geo. D. Mitchell away back in the eighteen-fifties—nearly sixty years ago. The site then occupied was an unpretentious-looking wooden structure on the corner of George and Hunter streets, where Mudill's handsome drug store now stands, and there are doubtless still a few of our citizens living who remember what was then known as "Mitchell's Saloon."

Mr. Mitchell's newly-remodelled premises on George street have been especially fitted up for a first-class liquor store and wine vaults. The front store is conveniently walled for bottled goods, the middle tap-room is for draft goods, in the rear is the warehouse, and the cellar is fitted up for case goods, etc. The walls and ceilings have been appropriately decorated and painted, and suitable office and other conveniences supplied.

CLOSE SEASON FOR FISH.

Senate Discusses Question of Inland Fisheries.

Ottawa, June 25.—In the Upper Chamber, Senator Casgrain suggested a Parliamentary committee to obtain information regarding the inland fisheries. Hon. R. W. Scott stated that the international committee was preparing a report for the conservation of fish in international waters. The Minister of Marine was considering the appointment of a commission to report upon inland fisheries. Senator G. W. Ross thought the difficulty with the inland fisheries was the fact that for a long time the jurisdiction was a divided one.

When Ontario made a closed season fishermen on the other side of the river were allowed to catch fish in spawning season.

Ontario had to negotiate with individual states and had not been able to get New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, to agree upon a close season. The British ambassador at Washington seemed to have had more success, for the terms of a fishery treaty he understood would make a closed season for both American and Canadian sides. The division of authority between the provincial and Dominion Governments was another cause of trouble. When the waters were navigable the provinces owned the fish, but the Dominion fixed the closed season. He was of the opinion that the complete jurisdiction should be given to the provinces of the Dominion. More attention should be given to the restocking of lakes which were fished out.

Public Ownership In Senate.

Ottawa, June 25.—On the second reading in the Senate of a bill to aid the construction of drydocks Sir Mackenzie Bowell expressed the view that the Government construction of drydocks would be better policy than a bonus system.

Senator McMullen was, as usual, opposed to Government ownership.

DR. MILLMAN TREASURER.

Useless Injunction Issued Against I.O.F. In Regard to Rates.

Toronto, June 25.—Dr. Thos. Millman, supreme physician of the I.O.F., was temporarily appointed supreme treasurer yesterday. A full meeting of the executive council is necessary to ratify or other wise deal with this action, and the council will meet for this purpose next month.

A notice of motion to combine the office of secretary and treasurer will come before the next meeting of the supreme court, and in view of the possible adoption of this plan the executive may confirm the present temporary appointment.

A despatch from Rochester, N.Y., states that a temporary injunction was granted there yesterday by Justice G. A. Benton restraining the supreme court, I.O.F., from increasing its present insurance rates pending the action brought on that point by Henry J. Simmelink.

The orders of United States courts, it may surprise Justice Benton to hear, do not run in Canada, and the injunction is quite ultra vires.

Passenger Shoots Himself.

Kenora, June 25.—Passengers on C.P.R. train No. 96 when approaching Ostersund were startled by a man suddenly leaping up excitedly and proceeding to the lavatory. Soon afterwards firearms reports were heard and bursting the door open they found that he had shot himself in the head and was breathing his last. His name is John McConnell, and he was the first class passenger to Hampshire.

Struck by Lightning.

Islington, June 25.—During the storm on Tuesday the barns of Joseph Paterson, on the 5th line two miles north of here, were struck by a bolt and destroyed by fire. A large quantity of hay, oats and farm implements were destroyed.

The hired man and an implement agent were in the barn setting up a new mower and had a narrow escape.

Crops Are Benefited.

Chatham, June 25.—The heavy rains which have been experienced in this locality during the past few weeks have proven a great benefit to the crops. Haying has commenced and it is a fine crop. The strawberry crop has been very light on account of the early dry weather. The oat and barley crops are at present much in need of rain.

THREE RIVERS' LOSSES.

Heavier Insurance Was Carried Than Was at First Supposed.

Three Rivers, Que., June 25.—The insurance companies stand to lose far more by the Three Rivers' fire than was at first estimated. Indeed some of the smaller concerns may have some difficulty in meeting their obligations. The actual insured loss amounts to $1,066,750.

The mayor declares that, aside from a Government loan of one and a half millions, now being arranged for, they want no outside aid, and that within two years' time they will have built for themselves a new city, with broader streets, and far more handsome in every respect than the old one.

Heavy showers made yesterday very much complicated the difficulties of the sufferers, and those under canvas were severely inconvenienced by the wet weather.

Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Grey visited Three Rivers yesterday afternoon, and were met by huge crowds at the waterfront. Premier Gouin is also in town, and says the province will help as much as it can. The R. & O. Navigation Co.'s steamer Three Rivers is moored at the wharf, and is feeding the people at $3 per day.

FOUND MANGLED BODY.

Engineer on Express Sees Ghastly Sight on the Track.

Cobalt, June 25.—Engineer Morgan on the Cobalt express was startled yesterday morning while looking out of his cab window at a point on the line midway between Temagami and Latchford, by observing the glassy eyes of a dead face looking up at him from the side of the tracks.

On backing down, the terribly mangled body of a young man about 30 years of age, of splendid physique, was found lying in the ditch. The head had been carried about 50 yards from the body, having been cut off as with an axe, showing hardly a bruise, and with its shock of curly black hair presenting a peculiarly gruesome appearance.

No one on the train could identify the face, and it is surmised that the man had been attached to Cole's circus, which had crossed the special about half an hour previous. Coroner Field of Haileybury was notified by wire, as were the circus authorities at North Bay.

DEBATE IN FRENCH SENATE.

Clemenceau May Resign If Government Ownership Bill Fails.

Paris, June 25.—The final debate in the Senate on the bill to take over and nationalize the Western Railroad has begun and already has brought out considerable bitterness. The bill had previously passed the chamber. M. Rouvier opposed it in the Senate in a powerful speech.

The Clemenceau Government apparently is staking its existence upon the passage of the measure. If it is beaten it probably will resign. The Western Railroad System covers about thirty-one hundred miles. The Orleans Railroad has submitted a proposal to the Government involving the surrender of 621 miles of its road, with its extensive Paris terminals.

This proposal, which has not yet been accepted, involves the renunciation of the company's reserve dividend, amounting to $1,000,000.

Panic on a Steamer.

Paris, June 25.—A special despatch received here from Corunna, Spain, says that the Spanish steamer Larache went on the rocks in a fog near Muros, where the cruiser Cardinal Cisneros was wrecked in 1905. The Larache sunk rapidly, and a panic followed. There were 97 passengers and 54 of a crew, including stewards, waiters, etc., aboard. These took to the boats, but up to the filing of the last despatch only 47 had landed. Defective communications made it impossible to obtain complete details, but latest reports state that 17 women were drowned. It is known that 17 survivors were landed at Muros, but that two of them have since died. Fifteen others were landed at Lon.

Shack Burned, Man Dead.

Lipton, Sasks., June 25.—K. Ince, a bachelor farmer, about 50 years old, and living nine miles north, burned his shack in some manner, and then apparently committed suicide by taking poison. The remains were found about one mile from his home. Dr. Hall of Fort Qu'Appelle, coroner, is holding an inquest, and the police are investigating. There was a wound on the forehead and one ear was injured. The clothing on the deceased was good, and $8 was found in his pockets. Neighbors say he had told them of his intention of taking poison.

An Indian Defined.

Ottawa, June 25.—The magistrate, in a Police Court case against a local hotel man for selling liquor to an Indian, ruled that an Indian, in the eyes of the law, was any one of Indian blood, either partially or wholly, or who had accepted the Government treaty or reserve regulations. He fined the defendant $52.

'Phones For Despatchers.

Montreal, June 25.—That the telephone will supersede the telegraph for the work of despatches on railroads is the prediction of the superintendents in convention here. In six months 6,000 miles of wires have been installed in America and officials are enthusiastic over the results.

Premier Whitney's Suggestion.

London, Eng., June 25.—Premier Whitney has written an English correspondent suggesting that the time has come when the general interests of the Empire demand a full and free discussion of the preferential problem in the Imperial Conference.

Thistle Kills Him.

Chatham, June 25—Blood poisoning, caused by the picking of a thistle in the finger of his left hand a few weeks ago, resulted Tuesday night in the death of Donald Johnson, one of the most respected residents of Harwich Township. A few weeks ago he was weeding in his garden when he accidentally ran a thistle in his finger. A day or so later he was pulling mustard and it is thought that the poison from the latter weed got into the thistle wound.

SUNSHINE FURNACE

And Coal Economy

COMBUSTION taking place in the dome or top chamber of furnace fire-pot is the result of air and heat mingling with fumes. This combustion produces heat-energy, which the radiating surfaces above and around fire-pot absorb or draw in and then deflect or throw off. Incoming cold air receives this heat-energy, the result being heated air. Now, if the combustion takes place at a faster rate than the radiating surfaces can absorb and deflect, the surplus heat-power will pass up the chimney or into collar—a waste of coal.

There is no waste of coal in "Sunshine" Furnace. Circuit of radiator is so complete, and air-circulating space so large, that every bit of heat-energy is quickly absorbed and quickly deflected on the circulating cold air, which is thus quickly heated and ascends through the hot-air pipes to rooms above.

The check-draft of a furnace is situated on the smoke-pipe. When this draft is closed—especially on an "ordinary" furnace—heat particles can escape up chimney. When check-draft is opened the incoming cold air from the cellar drives all heat particles back into furnace proper. If the grates and fire-pot of furnace are not constructed properly, there's a clogging and gathering of ashes, and fire does not burn up readily. If no provision is made for gas escape, the check-draft must be left closed indefinitely—a waste of coal.

There is no waste of coal in "Sunshine" Furnace. No clogging can take place in the 4-piece grate, no ashes can gather on the straight fire-pot walls, and the Automatic Gas Damper makes every provision for the escape of gas; consequently, check-draft can be opened shortly after coaling and all heat-energy saved for radiation.

Dear Sir,---We beg to acknowledge receipt of cheque for $2,500.00 in settlement of fire loss, Policy 8,645,879, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

We note in connection with this settlement a most unusual feature. They are legally entitled to 1% of stated sum for payment prior to due date. No business man would for one moment question their right to this amount. But they do not take it. Instead they have purposely waived their priveleges and presented us with this additional amount.

We are gratified to note this remarkable action. To adjust and settle a loss within twelve days is noteworthy, but to add to this magnanimity in refusing to take advantage of their discount privileges places this company in a most favorable position.

We congratulate you upon representing a company of such superior standing.

Yours very truly,

Three New Principals

An important report was presented by Mr. W H Hill, chairman of the Committee on Appointments, regarding the appointing of principals for three of the public schools. The report has also other important items as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on Appointments beg leave to report as reference to the various matters referred to them, and recommend as follows:

1 That Mr. J M Roszel, of New Hamburg, be appointed Principal of the Park Street School at an initial salary of $800 per annum.

2 That Mr. W C L Richardson, of Stayner, be appointed Principal of the King Edward School at a salary of $1,000 per annum.

3 That Mr. R F Downey, of Port Perry, be appointed Principal of the Central School at a salary of $1,000 per annum.

4 Your Committee have selected these gentlemen from a large number of applicants, and have found in each case that they are highly recommended and well qualified to fill the positions. Duties in each case to start on the 1st September, next.

5 That Mr. John Hart, janitor of the present Collegiate Institute be transferred to the new Collegiate Institute as janitor. His salary to be according to schedule, and that such appointment date from the 1st July, next.

6 That Mr. Simpson, janitor of the Central School be instructed to take charge of the old Collegiate Institute building from the 1st July. Salary to be according to schedule for both schools.

7 That Mr. R Baker janitor of the Queen Alexandra School be given the usual one month's notice that his services will not be required after the 31st. July next.

8 That Mr. W H Wilson be appointed Janitor of the Queen Alexandra School. Salary to be according to the salary schedule. Duties to start August 1st, 1908.

9 In reference to the communication of Mr. Srigley we recommend that no action be taken at present.

10 Your Committee at the request of the Deputy Minister of Education appointed a small sub-committee composed of Messrs. Morrison, Crane, Dumble, Hill and the Inspector to go to Toronto to interview the Minister in reference to matters in connection with the Normal School.

11 Your Committee received a communication asking for one of the rooms in the King Edward School for the purpose of holding Church services, and were instructed the secretary to state, that as it was a standing rule of the Board that the school buildings should not be used for any other than school purposes, the request could not be granted.

12 That, on the retirement of Miss Nichols, Miss Perry and Miss Hall, considering the fact that they have each faithfully taught under this Board for over thirty years and leave its service carrying the gratitude and respect of many hundreds of parents whose children have passed through their rooms, and taking into account the recent Act of the Legislature, Chapter 33, Page 365, Section 94, which provides that in case of teachers whose time is entirely devoted to the work of the Board, retiring after serving for twenty years or longer a grant or allowance may be made to such teachers at the time of retirement, your Committee after carefully considering the circumstances recommend that each of these teachers be granted as a gratuity $400, one-half to be paid July 1st, 1908, and one half July 1st, 1909.

13 That Miss A Gillespie be paid the sum of $40.00, salary for the month of May during the absence of Miss Warner.

14 That Mr. L J Pettit, B.A., of St. Thomas, be appointed a member of the Collegiate Institute staff, as Specialist in English History at a salary of $1,200.00 per year. Duties to start 1st September.

15 That Mr. A W Baird, M.A., of Brockville, Ont., be appointed a member of the Collegiate Institute staff as Junior English Master at a salary of $1,000.00 per year—duties to begin September 1st, 1908.

Respectfully submitted,
W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

Board Room, June 24, 1908.

On motion of Mr. Hill and Dr. Burnham the report was received and adopted.

Mr. John Hart, who has been appointed to the position of janitor of the new Collegiate Institute, has always been a favourite of the pupils and likewise has been held high in their esteem.

East City School

Mr. Dumble read a report dealing with the conditions at the West Ward and East City Schools which it is felt should receive proper attention for the sake of the children who are attending them. The report was that of the Property Committee, but in the absence of Mr. Ackerman, Mr. Dumble presented it. He laid bare the facts regarding the East City school and suggested improvements whichwi ll be further considered. It is likely that the whole Board will visit the East City school before anything further is done.

Normal School Matter

Mr. Hill presented a report regarding the recent trip of the special committee composed of Messrs. Hill, Crane, Mowat and Dr. Morrison. The visit had to do with an arrangement regarding teachers for the Normal School.

The members of the Board of Education, Peterborough, Ont.

Gentlemen,—Your committee appointed to meet the Minister and Superintendent of Education to confer with them upon matters pertaining to the Normal School, waited upon them as requested.

The Superintendent outlined a plan whereby this Board is asked to cooperate with the Educational Department in the engaging and employment of certain teachers. These teachers are:

1. A teacher of Manual Training.
2. A teacher of Domestic Science.
3. A teacher of Art.
4. A teacher of Music.

The Superintendent explained that the services of these teachers would be required in the Normal School for spaces amounting altogether to about two days a week, and their service would be available to this Board for the remaining space that is for spaces, aggregating three days a week. He intimated that the Department would be prepared to pay $400 of the salary of the teacher of Domestic Science, and $600 of the salaries of each of the other three teachers, and this Board would be expected to contribute the balance.

The Superintendent was unable to inform your committee the amount of grant which the Educational Department would give towards equipment of the Manual Training and Domestic Science rooms, nor could he tell the amount of the annual grants given to these departments. He suggested that the matter be held over until he could send the Inspector of Manual Training and Domestic Science to Peterborough, when he would be able to explain to this Board the exact amount of financial assistance which the Education Department will be willing to give.

Your committee urged upon them the necessity of having the annual grant of $1,500 given to our training school increased to $2,500, the amount received by the London Board of Education.

The above matters were discussed but no definite action was proposed or considered advisable until fuller information should be received from the department.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. HILL.

Revision of Fees

Mr. Hill called the attention of the Board to the promise that had been made the city that the fees would be cheaper in the lower forms, to give the children of the city a better chance of studying in those forms. On graduating from the public schools the pupils had to buy many new books, and their fees should be low to make it easier for the parents to send them. Mr. Hill also mentioned the question of admitting country pupils at the Collegiate, and suggested that it be given some consideration. Finally, on his motion, seconded by Dr. Burnham, it was decided that the questions of the revision of the fees and the admitting of the county pupils into the Collegiate Institute be referred to the Supervision Committee to consider and to report on at a later meeting.

More Fire Protection

Mr. Dumble introduced a feature of fire protection. While in Cobourg he had visited the school there and saw a standpipe extending to the top of the building through its centre with hose attached to it on each floor. Many institutions in Peterborough have this arrangement, and Mr. Dumble had learned from Mr. Duranceau that to install one would cost only about $135, hose being about fifty feet in length. The purpose of this arrangement is to fight a fire in its incipient stage in order to prevent its assuming large proportions. It was decided to get Mr. Duranceau's tender on the work and then the matter may be more completely considered.

On motion of Dr. Burnham and Mr. Hayes, the King Edward Building Committee was authorized to purchase twelve loads of earth for levelling work on the grounds of the new Collegiate Institute.

After a motion was made by Mr. Robinson and Dr. Burnham regarding the water supply at the Collegiate, the meeting was adjourned.

WHAT IS ITCH DIRT?

It is the old Anglo-Saxon name for Dandruff and it's a good one. If you have dandruff you have itch dirt and the little microbes that are part and parcel of dandruff are working persistently night and day and sooner or later will reach the very life of your hair and destroy its vitality.

Then you'll be bald—Bald to stay—for not even the wonderful rejuvenating properties in Parisian Sage can grow hair after the hair bulb or root is dead. Parisian Sage cures Dandruff, Wm. THE JULY NUMBER OF BUSYMAN'S

Article on "The German in Canada"—A Number Worth While Reading

Thrifty, industrious and progressive are members of the German nationality. They make excellent settlers and have won a foremost place in many enterprises, particularly in the manufacturing line. An exceedingly instructive contribution will be found in the July number of The Busy Man's Magazine. It is from the pen of Mr. H. H. Miller, M.P., South Grey, and is generously illustrated. There are several original articles as well as the cream of those appearing in the world's periodical press, in the July issue. Among the most interesting and edifying are, "Training Boys for Colonial Life," "The Biggest News Scoop in Canada," "The Girl that is Down," "Courtesy as an Element in Business," "Some Settlers Canada Can do Without," "The Advantages of Branch Banks," "As the Working Girl See It," "Irrigation in the World's Pantry," "Why Some Men Become Bosses," "The Message of the Flour Barrel," and "What Profit Sharing Has Done." A liberal collection of bright, racy stories also appear in the July Busy Man's.

All the Otonabee Navigation Company's boats are carrying passengers for it, the "Monarch" and "Water Lily" plying on Rice Lake.

VERY PLEASANT GARDEN PARTY HELD AT IDA

Number of Young Peterborough People In Attendance

A very successful and delightful garden party, at which a bus load of Peterborough persons were present, was held at the village of Ida last evening, arranged by one of the auxiliaries of the Anglican Church there. A large number were in attendance from the various parts of that community, and the function was enjoyed by all. During the early portion of the evening a football match was played between the Quakers of Peterborough and the Bethany team for a silver trophy.

Afterwards a delightful supper was served at the residence of Mr. Jas. Touchbourne, and the event was concluded by a splendid programme on the lawn in front of the home, which was artistically decorated for the occasion with flags, bunting and Chinese lanterns. The Bethany band was in attendance and provided the music. Scotch songs were sung by Mr Burns, who was attired in Scotch regalia, and a play in three acts entitled "Dr. Curell" was presented. Mr. Novel's "Harrigan," and a sailor's song were also much appreciated, as well as a Japanese drill. The programme ended about 11 o'clock.

A WARNING TO THE PUBLIC RE PRINCE RUPERT

A notice with the above heading has appeared in the "Vancouver World," signed by the Prince Rupert Townsite Company, 43 Fairfield Building, Vancouver. A statement is therein made that their property is the original and only legal Prince Rupert, and the Railway Company own 4,000 to 5,000 acres of arable land immediately surrounding the same.

The above statement is misleading and incorrect as the only townsites registered are: South Prince Rupert, owned, it is understood by the company who signed the above warning, and the Townsite of Prince Rupert at the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, situated at the northwest portion of Kalen Island. The distance between these two townsites is over eleven miles, and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company is not in any way interested in South Prince Rupert, nor is it the intention to have a station at that place.

East Prince Rupert, so called in various reports which have appeared in the press, is not registered; the sub-division referred to is situated over 16 miles from the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and is not on the line of that railway.

The Prince Rupert at the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is now being surveyed, and it is expected the lots will be placed in the market in September or October next, due notice of which will appear in the public press.

Any further information the public may require can be obtained by addressing the Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Winnipeg.

FOUR ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS BEFORE MAGISTRATE TO-DAY

tions until they reached Charlotte street at the end of the G. T. R. freight sheds. Williams had remained on the east side of the station platform. Graney remained on the sidewalk, while Hamilton and Adams went close to the freight shed and Adams passed several bank bills to Hamilton. The latter put them in his trouser pocket, and the two wheeled around and joined Williams and Graney. The latter two said something to the others and the quartette had appeared to watch me from that time. I had called the attention of Alex. and Jas. Reid to the prisoners, and when I saw that the prisoners had noticed me I returned to Alex. Reid. Adams and Graney were close behind me. I asked Reid where the train went to and Reid replied, "Port Hope." As a blind I asked the expressman to take a trunk and valise up to Smith street and paid him a quarter. The prisoners appeared satisfied that I was all right and all four returned to the platform.

Pushing and Jostling

They were pushing and jostling among the crowd on the platform. Finally the four left the platform quickly a few yards apart, went to Charlotte street and walked east along that street to the Snowden House, Hamilton, Graney and Adams entered, coming out a few minutes after and going up to the Greek restaurant at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, travelling about ten yards apart. The three only remained there a moment. There was a crowd at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, and Hamilton got behind a man there and appeared to be fumbling at his hip pockets. Graney and Adams were jostling against the same man. From there they crossed over to the south west corner to another crowd and tried the same business over there. Next the two went to the White House and remained there. As I was coming away from the side of the White House I noticed Williams opposite the hotel on the other side of the street.

I then came to the police station as quickly as I could and found the chief at dinner at the Crown Hotel. I told him what had happened and asked for the assistance of another man.

On the Street Car

A short time afterwards I started for home to change my clothes. I caught a street car at the corner of Hunter and George streets, and at the corner of Charlotte street, Hamilton, Graney and Adams got on the car at the west side. The car was crowded and the prisoners were quiet until the car was south of the C.P.R. station. After passing that point the prisoners commenced jostling and pushing amongst the people in the rear vestibule. Hamilton appeared to be trying one man's hip pocket, and Graney and Adams were jostling. The conductor came along and the prisoners took outside positions in the vestibule, two on the west and one on the east side on the step. When the car reached the exhibition grounds Williams was standing on Lansdowne street. The other three jumped off almost before the car stopped, and all four went along Lansdowne street into the circus grounds. I went home and changed my clothes, putting on an old suit. In a few minutes I returned and met P. C. Meharry, as arranged, at the corner of Lansdowne and Lock streets.

We watched the cars for a little while and then went into the exhibition grounds. There opposite the big tent were some booths with a small crowd around each one. Graney was walking up and down, Williams was near the big tent, and Adams was in the crowd opposite one of the booths. I didn't see Hamilton at all. I watched them for some time, and Detective Robinson of the C.P.R. was close to Graney and said something to another man about watching Graney, showing him his badge. From that moment Graney Adams and Williams cleared away, and I lost sight of them. Robinson came up and spoke to Meharry. The latter went one way around the tent and I the other. I saw Williams Adams and Graney come from under the big tent and lay down on the grass.

The Arrest

I kept watch on them for a few minutes until P. C. Meharry came up, and we arrested the three. I told them we were arresting them for picking pockets, when Adams and Williams tried to get away. Finally we got them handcuffed, took them over to a car, and brought them up to the station. On the way up I said to Adams, "When did you come to town," and he replied, "I came in this morning on the C.P.R. train." I asked, "What time did the train get in?" and he replied, "About noon." I asked Graney which way he had come, and he also replied on the C. P.R., while Williams said, "I beat my way in on the circus train." At the police station they denied all knowledge of each other, and said they had never seen each other until a few minutes before their arrest, when they met casually at the circus.

Had Money Concealed

When we searched Adams, I found found on him $83.86, made up of six ten-dollar bills on the United Empire Bank, and two tens on the Bank of Montreal. In a small right-hand coat pocket there was one two-dollar bill and a one-dollar bill, 86 cents in silver, several Montreal street railway tickets, and a light tweed cap rolled up in his hip pocket. I asked him if he had any more money on him, and he replied, "Not a cent, you have got it all." Shortly after midnight I brought him out and searched him again. In the seam of his right-hand pocket I found two $100 bills, United States money. He said, "I guess you have got my plant." I asked "Is that all?" and he replied "Yes," but in the same seam on the pocket on the other side I found another $100 bill. He said, "Now you have got the lot."

Williams Hadn't Much

Williams had one dollar and twelve cents in silver, several Montreal street railway tickets, and a Grand Trunk Railway ticket from Toronto to Montreal.

On Graney was found $6.45 — one five-dollar bill on the Traders Bank, a one-dollar bill and 45 cents in silver, a G.T.R. ticket from Toronto to Montreal, and a memo book, showing on the second page the name of one of the pickpockets who was here last year, H. Goldfarb, C.P.T. I asked him if that was all the money he had, and he replied "Yes." Later on we searched him, and underneath the lining of his trousers was a $100 bill in a sack arrangement. In another place we found a diamond stud.

On Hamilton we found $20.20—one ten-dollar bill on the Dominion Bank, one five on the Bank of Commerce, one two-dollar bill and three ones, with twenty cents in silver, five new silk handkerchiefs. When searched at midnight, he said, "You needn't bother to bring me out. In a seam we found a $50 bill in United States money.

Hamilton's Arrest

After the arrest of Williams, Adams and Graney, I returned to the circus grounds and after being there a few minutes I noticed Hamilton standing in a small crowd. He had his hand under the coat tails of a man. I waited for P. C. Meharry and as he came up Hamilton wheeled around and came towards us. I said, "We are going to arrest you for picking pockets." He said, "You have made a terrible mistake, I am a telegraph operator on the Erie Railway; I am troubled with consumption and came from Rochester to this town last night for my health, by way of Port Hope." I asked him how long he had got leave and he replied "30 days." Hamilton got into a terrible passion when the car was reached. He said "This is terrible to arrest a man for picking pockets. I never picked a pocket in my life." As we were coming in through the station door I asked him where he had slept last night. He said "At Burketon Junction at a private boarding house."

"Just as old Bill Told us"

I overheard a conversation among the prisoners. I heard Adams call to some one in the middle cell, "Are you there Arthur," and a voice replied, "Yes." Someone said, "It came out just as old Bill told us," "we had best have kept away." After being searched at midnight Adams called out to someone in the middle cell, "He's found my plant." "Somebody's put us away."

The Crown asked that the testimony of Ebenezer McTaggart be taken before the cross-examination of P. C. Newhall in order that the witness might get home and this was granted.

McTaggart swore that he was in Peterborough on June 17th and had left for Port Hope on the 11.45 G. T.R. train. He had purchased his ticket at the station office and could not remember whether he got on at the rear or front of the second car. He had a purse in his left hand trousers' pocket containing $20 made up of ten dollar bills on the Bank of Montreal. In getting on the train he was jostled by several men, but could not identify the prisoners as the persons.

Hamilton was asked to stand up and put on his hat and witness said that he thought he had seen a man who looked like the prisoner there. Witness had not missed the money until he had gone to pay his bill in a hotel at Port Hope.

Cross-examined by the defence witness stated that he had telephoned the station agent there that he had lost his purse and that it might be in the lavatory. He had discovered his loss about 25 minutes after reaching Port Hope. He had been travelling around quite a bit and might have seen Hamilton somewhere besides Peterborough.

City Clerk Armstrong heard the last part of his testimony, the magistrate having to leave.

Crown Attorney Wood asked that the case be enlarged for a week, but Mr. Gordon protested against keeping the prisoners in gaol so long and there was a lengthy argument. The counsel for the defence asked that the case be resumed to-night, but the Crown would not agree, nor would they agree to Saturday morning. Finally a compromise of Saturday afternoon was agreed upon.

A QUESTION WITH ONLY ONE ANSWER

The problem which confronts the ladies of Peterborough and suburbs now that the sweet summer days have come is, where can I have my shirt-waists, suits, blouses, evening coats, fancy dresses, etc., made up in the latest and most up-to-date style, and the answer to this question is, go straight to "The New York Ladies' Tailoring," 658 George street. See for yourself the style, price and finish to their garments. Don't forget, it's your custom we want, not the price. Open evenings until eight o'clock. 'Phone 624. New Machinery Arrives For Improvements To The Plant

The Peterborough Light & Power Company have received three carloads of water wheel machinery which will be used in improving their electric service. A generator at the new power-house will be removed to the old one and this new water wheel will be installed. The one in use at present is not large enough to do the work which the generator is capable of, and by the change it is expected that one thousand extra volts will be secured.

The machinery is of an improved style and was purchased from a large American firm. The unloading of the cars was begun to-day and it will not be long before the generator is changed. It is not known what the company intends to do with the extra space at the new power-house.

An Advance In The Price Of Macdonald Tobacco

The wholesale price of the Macdonald tobacco, brier and Prince of Wales, has advanced in price so that the weed has now become more expensive to the consumer. The wholesale price of the brier has gone up ten cents per pound and the chewing 9 cents per pound. The retailer charges the same per plug as before, but instead of there being eight plugs to the pound there are now seven.

MORE ITEMS PASSED IN COMMONS

Hon. Mr. Pugsley Announces Liberal Policy to N. B.

ST. JOHN RIVER WHARVES

Promise Does Not Satisfy Mr. Fowler —Lively Exchange Between the Two —Says He Will Revive Question Again — Bank Inspection Act— The New Lead Bounties— Bills on Harbors and Rivers.

Ottawa, June 25.—The House passed a considerable number of items yesterday afternoon for harbors and rivers work in Nova Soctia and Prince Edward Island. During a discussion on the former Hon. Mr. Pugsley intimated that he was prepared to go farther than his predecessor in building wharves on the St. John river and its tributaries. This led to a somewhat lively interchange between the Minister and Mr. Fowler. This is the last Wednesday night of the session that the members will enjoy a recess. From now on three sittings will be held on Wednesday as on other Parliamentary days.

In the House at yesterday morning's session the Hon. Mr. Fielding, replying to Mr. Bickerdike, said the question of the Government inspection of banks was an important one, but financial men were by no means agreed that it would accomplish what advocates of such a measure desired to bring about. It was a question deserving study and inquiry in connection with the general revision of the bank act, and the Government did not feel that the matter was in such a position that it would be possible to introduce a measure this session.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth's bill to restrain the use of tobacco by young persons was passed without discussion.

Hon. Mr. Fielding introduced a bill respecting the payment of bounties on lead. He explained that five years ago, when bounties on lead were instituted, it was stipulated that the amount to be paid for five years should not exceed $2,500,000, and the standard price of lead which covered the payment of bounties was fixed at £12 10d. a ton. It had been found that people interested in the lead industry had not reaped the advantage of bounties as fully as had been expected. Instead of $2,500,000 having been paid out in bounties in the five years, the total amount disbursed had been only $750,000. In the bill it was proposed to extend the bounties for another five years, provided that the gross amount paid during the ten years would not exceed the sum originally fixed, namely, $2,500,000. In other words, the bounties for ten years would not exceed the amount it was intended should be paid for five years. The standard price of lead would also be raised to £14 10d.

Mr. Wilson, of Lennox and Addington thought that the woollen industry should receive consideration on the matter of bounties.

The Hon. Mr. Fielding said that a few years ago, when the tariff was readjusted, one of the leading woollen manufacturers in Canada stated that the tariff as then arranged was all that the woollen industry could reasonably ask for. There was a difference of opinion even among the trade itself with regard to the necessity for any greater Government aid. Some branches of the woollen industry were doing very well.

In committee the bill was amended so that the bounties should not exceed $500,000 for each year.

Mr. Lalor thought the Government should come out boldly for protection instead of granting bounties.

The bill was reported and stands for third reading. The House then went into supply.

TROUBLE REPORTED IN PERSIA

Fighting Still Going on in the Streets of Teheran.

CASUALTIES ARE HEAVY

Shah Requested by Britain and Russia to Restore Order — State of Siege Declared—Bazaars Closed Down Homes Pillaged by Cossacks— Bomb Provoked a Conflict— Seventy Men Killed In Fight.

Berlin, June 25.—The Tageblatt publishes a despatch from Teheran, under yesterday's date, saying that the firing of small arms and artillery was still going on.

The buildings of Parliament were quite demolished by the bombardment of Tuesday, which lasted from six in the morning until two in the afternoon. Corpses of men and bodies of horses cover the main square of Teheran in large numbers. It is still impossible to give the exact number of casualties, but the Cossacks alone lost 70 men killed.

The palace of Prince Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the Shah, and the buildings adjacent to it, have been pillaged by the soldiers.

According to the news from the provinces Zill-Es-Sultan, who is friendly to Great Britain, has taken up the leadership of the movement in the south.

The night passed quietly, but the outbreak of firing yesterday morning leads to the belief that there may be further collisions. The Government has declared a state of siege. The bazaars throughout the country have been closed.

Sayyid Abdullah, the President of Parliament, Sayyid Muhammed and many popular leaders and members of the Anjumans, as well as several newspaper editors, were arrested, and thirty of them placed in chains Tuesday night. Takizadeh, leader of the Opposition and editor of Habdul Matin, together with nine other editors, took refuge in the British Legation.

The British and Russian representatives at Teheran have requested the Shah to take immediate steps to restore order, stating that their Governments would hold him responsible for any unfortunate incident that might occur. The Shah has given full assurances that everything possible will be done to prevent further disturbances.

Paris, June 25.—Special despatches received here from Teheran say that the fighting began about 8 a.m. and was provoked by a bomb thrown from the roof of one of the buildings among the Cossacks. The fighting continued until late in the afternoon, many being killed on both sides.

When all was over, it was found that the casualties on both sides were very large. Apparently blank shells were fired at the beginning, as the damage to the buildings was very slight for a considerable time. A man who fought on the roof of the Parliament buildings says that he and the others fired steadily into the troops until the ammunition failed and the rifles were too hot to hold.

Eventually a shell crashed through the door of the Parliament buildings, and the Cossacks charged the occupants of the building, fleeing to the ground behind the House. The soldiers had no sooner entered the place than they began to loot it, next turning their attention to the neighboring shops and the palace of Prince Zill-Es-Sultan. Hundreds of people it was stated, who a few days ago assembled before the Parliament and demonstrated against the Shah now proceeded to the work of demolishing the building with cries of "Long live the Shah," "We don't want a constitution."

$5,000,000 as Thank-Offering.

London, June 25—The Pan-Anglican Congress closed with a mass meeting for women in Albert Hall, which was presided over by the Bishop of London. The day was spent in several large devotional meetings.

A thanggiving service at St. Paul's Cathedral was held at noon yesterday, at which 250 bishops from all parts of the world walked in solemn procession and laid the offerings of their dioceses on the high altar.

It is reported that the fund thus provided amounts to $5,000,000.

Depositors Take It Cooly.

Montreal, June 25.—St. Hyacinthe bank depositors are taking the closing of the institution easier than their excitement on Tuesday night indicated.

There was a small crowd around the bank doors yesterday morning and the matter was, of course, the talk of the town, but the depositors appear to have implicit faith in the officials of the bank and the consensus of opinion seems to be that their money is safe.

Mrs. Proulx Fatally Burned.

Ottawa, June 25.—Mrs. Proulx, a woman of 90 years, died yesterday in the City Hospital as a result of burns received while lighting a fire with coal oil Tuesday night. Her clothing caught fire, and before passers-by on the street who heard her screams could smother the flames she received fatal burns.

GROVER CLEVELAND IS DEAD

Former President of United States Passed Away Suddenly.

HAD BEEN ILL SOME TIME

Figure Unique In American History —Sketch of His Career — Famous Olney Message Over Venezuelan Question Nearly Precipitated War With Britain During His Second Term of Office.

Princeton, N.J., June 25.—Grover Cleveland, former President of the United States, died suddenly at his home at Westland here at 8.40 o'clock yesterday.

The death was not immediately announced, but was delayed until an official statement had been prepared by the physicians who had been attending him in the various periods of his illness.

While Mr. Cleveland had been seriously ill from time to time, the announcement of his death came like a thunderbolt to those who had been watching his illness.

Tuesday night there was a slight flurry among the friends of the Clevelands that something was seriously wrong, occasioned by a visit of Dr. Bryant of New York, Mr. Cleveland's physician for many years. Mrs. Cleveland later in the evening, discussing Dr. Bryant's visit, said that there was no occasion for alarm, and that Mr. Cleveland was getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland celebrated their 22nd anniversary of their wedding on June 2.

The funeral, on Friday, will be private.

Cleveland started life as a clerk preparing a herd book, during which he studied law. He worked hard and successfully and in 1870 was elected sheriff of Erie County. In 1871 Buffalo elected him mayor on the Democratic ticket after a crusade against corruption. He did so well that he was returned in 1882 as governor for New York State. Two years later he was nominated for the Presidency, and a campaign of disgraceful personalities on both sides resulted in the defeat of his rival, J. G. Blaine. In 1888 he was defeated for re-election, but four years later he was again returned.

His famous message to Britain on the Venezuelan question was considered very bumptious and nearly provoked war, but arbitration followed. For some years after his retirement he delivered lectures at Princeton, and in 1904 he was suggested as Democratic candidate for the Presidency, but emphatically declined.

Mr. Cleveland was 71 years old on March 18 last. During the past winter Mr. Cleveland kept close to his home in Princeton until the approach of his birthday, when he went to Lakewood, with his family. He was a trustee of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of this city and up to the time of his going to Lakewood had attended to correspondence in connection with his duties for that society.

Killed by Live Wires.

Hamilton, June 25.—Albert E. Scotney, 115, Florence street, and George Bambrick, 167 Canada street, carpenters, were electrocuted at the works of the B. Greening Wire Co. on Queen street yesterday.

The circumstances surrounding the accident are horrible. The bodies of both men were terribly burned. The men were employed by the firm to build a shed in rear of the Queen street mill. A guy wire was in their way and they cut it down. While both had hold of the wire it came in contact with the wire that carried the current of electricity that operates the plant and the full current of two thousand volts shot through their bodies. They were hurled into a pool of water, but were not released from the wire, and flames in long streamers played around the bodies until both were horribly burned. By means of a plank the guy was separated from the live wire, but both were long past help.

Walkem Gets New Trial.

Victoria, B.C., June 25.—The Court of Appeal yesterday awarded a new trial in the case of Walkem, the man convicted on a charge of counselling a criminal operation on Blanche Bond. The point involved was the jurisdiction of the court, as the operation occurred in Seattle. Justice Morrison dissented. Blanche Bond is now in San Bernardino, Cal., whence she recently sent a confession that certain of her essential statements against Walkem were false.

Tired of the Struggle.

Niagara Falls, June 25.—Officer Greenwood Tuesday prevented a young man named B. Monteith from throwing himself over the Horseshoe Falls. Divesting himself of coat and vest, Monteith was about to plunge over the precipice, when the officer, who had been observing his actions, prevented him. Monteith said he had been out of work for a long time, was depressed and could stand the strain no longer. Work was found for him yesterday.

Former Premier Dead.

St. John's, Nfld., June 25.—Sir William Whiteway, former Premier of Newfoundland, died here yesterday. He was 81 years of age.

Sir William Whiteway was born April 1, 1828 in Devon, was called to Newfoundland bar in 1852, Speaker of House of Assembly 1865-69; Premier in 1878-85 and 1889 to 1897.

West Ends Trimmed T.A.S. In A Snappy League Game

Won by a Score of 6-4 Last Night and as a Result the Abstainers Go Down to Third Place Without Ever Stopping at Second

GOOD EXHIBITION OF BALL

In by long odds the closest and best played City League game of the season at Nicholls Oval last night the West Ends put the Indian sign on the T.A.S. to the tune of 6-4, thereby putting a different aspect upon the league standing. As a result of the game the T.A.S. drops from being tied for the leadership with the Stratheonas to a tie for third with the Lakeviews, while the Stratheonas go out in front once more and the West Ends climb into second place.

On the go in last night it looked like easy picking for Jimmy McNern's gray-suited warriors from the vicinity of Jackson Park. In the first three innings they landed on Hayes for three hits which, with a couple of errors, netted a trio of counters, while only one T.A.S. man had reached first base. Then in the fourth three more gray shirts scampered over the counting station, and with a clear lead of six runs it looked like a sugar-coated cinch. Things happened, however, in the T.A.S. half of the same chapter, for the Abstainers counted twice and had the bases loaded to the water incready for more, when McFadden hit into a double play, and Manager "Laj." Derocher's smile melted like ice cream at a church festival. In the sixth two more were added by the T.A.S., and when Umpire Edmunds called an end to hostilities in the seventh the West Ends were found with a hammerlock on a lead of two.

Butcher, the heart-side flinger of the winners, was invincible in all but the fourth and sixth innings, when the T.A.S. managed to bunch their hits. Outside of that, safeties were as scarce as Rockefeller's hair. The support behind him was there all the time, too, the winners for the most part fielding fast and clean, and the two double plays they pulled off helped some in the downfall of the red and black combination. Richardson in centre field was there as usual, while Long and Halpin in the infield looked after their positions cleverly.

Hayes, who was on the firing line for the Abstainers, pitched fine ball, but the team from the Occidental Ward hit in bunches, and unfortunately the T.A.S. were making errors that fitted in well with the hits that the West End swatsmen were handing out. Manager Derocher, and Cahill at short were always working while Giroux in left had the prettiest catch of the night, capturing a short drive from McNern after a long run.

C. Giroux for the T.A.S. and Butcher and Vannetto for the winners were the batting stars. Butcher boosted his own game by his splendid club-swinging, getting a three-bagger and three clean singles, while Giroux and Vannetto got a double and single apiece.

The West Ends scored in the opening set. Halpin was safe when Corkery fumbled his grounder, stole second and third, and scored on Butcher's drive to right.

Two more came in the third. Moore was given a life on Doris' error, and Vannetto followed with a pretty two-bagger, bringing the base runners home. Butcher helped things along with a slashing three-bagger along the right field foul line, scoring Vannetto. Dunnett was hit by a batted ball and was out.

Eano, Richardson and Long scored in the fourth on two errors, a fielder's choice and Long's single.

There was nothing doing for the T.A.S. until the fourth. In the third Butcher retired the side with three pitched balls. In the fourth, however, there was excitement. Derocher was walked, stole second, and scored on C. Giroux's long drive to right, which counted for three bases. Giroux tallied on Corkery's single, and Doris followed with another safety. Cahill flew out to Halpin, but Lee Giroux was passed, and the bases were full but with one out. McFadden hit to Dunnett, however, and Corkery was doubled at third.

The last scores came in the sixth. Corkery was safe on Butcher's error and Cahill was walked. Both scored on Len Giroux's two-bagger over third.

Jerry Edmunds, catcher for the Petes, gave general satisfaction as umpire. "Silk" O'Loughlin had better look to his laurels when Jerry decides to give up playing and take a job on the big league umps' staff.

Quakers Have Another Cup For Their Cupboard

Defeated in a Gentle Game The Bethanyites at Ida Garden Party by Score of 2-0—Spent Pleasant Time

REV. BEN OLIEL REFEREE

Rev. Ben Oliel officiated at exceedingly interesting event last evening at the pretty village of Ida, when the Quaker Association football team met the Bethany eleven in which the latter kindly condescended to the desires of their opponents and allowed them to carry off a silver mug. The reverend gentleman, who performed his work well indeed, announced at the conclusion of the meeting that the representatives from Peterborough had been kindly treated by the goodness of fortune who had pleased to permit them to place the ball between the stakes twice while the gentle Bethany boys had been unable to see their way clear to perform a similar action once.

The occasion was a Garden Party held by an auxiliary of the English Church at Ida and Omemee was to have met the Bethany team but were unable to do so.

The contest last night only extended over the period of 40 minutes adn was a very gentle affair. In the first half Mr. Brodie of the Quakers was responsible for the first score. He tapped the ball from the left field and Mr. Morton who presumably wanted to send it back again kindly scored for the Quakers. At this a general baking of hands ensued in which Mr. Morton was congratulated in an enthusiastic manner. The next and concluding goal was taken by Mr. Ray P Best, who, outside of the football arena, is known as the first winner of the Examiner trophy for the 10 mile championship of Peterborough county. Mr. Best, of course, was also congratulated by his many friends on his courage in getting so close to the Bethany goal.

During this half the Quakers had to contend against a strong gale which was not conducive to good ball. The field might have been run over with a mower to advantage as the long grass had an internal tendency to get wound around the toes. However, the match was a very peaceful affair due to the efforts of Rev. Ben Oliel, the referee. The Quakers won the contest as previously stated and incidentally have added another piece of silverware to their cupboard, making now four handsome bowls. The Quakerade sire to express their thanks to Mr. Vance for his kindnesses shown and also to the lady who so generously gave them a dressing room for the evening. The teams were pleased to line up as follows:

Bethany—
Goal—Mr. H Price.
Backs—Mr. Morton, Mr. W Price, (Captain.)
Half Backs—Mr. J Staples, Mr. C Brereton, Dr Hamilton.
Forwards—Mr. Carl Sisson, Mr. F Bent, Mr. J Touohbourne, Mr. J Coulter, Mr. W Price.

Quakers.
Goal—Mr. McFadden.
Backs—Mr. Deforge, Mr. Doris.
Half Backs—Mr. Hitchins, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. McCarrol.
Forwards—Mr. Best, Mr. Brodie, Mr. Huston, Mr. Millburn, Mr. Cranniff.
Referee—Rev. Ben. Oliel.

Most Local People Think That Athletics Will Win On Saturday

Judging by the talk among the fans the Athletics are doped to win Saturday's ball game with the Peterboroughs at Riverside Park. Manager Lynch's team have been saying all week that they will win handily and their confident talk has impressed the sporting fraternity, who have come to the opinion that the Athletics are just about due for a victory. Someone has got to stop the Petes before long and the Athletics who will have their strongest team of the season on, figure out that they are good enough to turn the trick and register the first defeat of the year against Corney Burns and company.

The latter realize that they have a big task in front of them and have been working out industriously during the week, ready for a hard battle Saturday. The biggest crowd of the year will be on hand, and as both sides have many supporters, there will be plenty of excitement. Ladies will be admitted free, so there should be a big skirt day crowd in attendance.

A WALKING MATCH ON JULY 12TH

The distance will be twenty-five miles and Hoagland will be at scratch, giving Slater and Stacey a mile handicap and the others more in proportion to their ability. Jimmy Gaham, the Buffalo walker, will be here and wants a four-hour go as you please race.

A large contingent of Montreal District Harrier League runners will take part in the Brockville Road Race, being run by the Brockville Harrier Club on Dominion Day.

As stated in the Herald a couple of days ago, the Brockville Harrier Club applied to the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada for sanction to run the race. The sanction was granted and confirmed last night by a meeting of the Federation.

The race will be open to all amateur runners whether C. A. A. U. or Federation, providing they are not on the black list of the latter.

Those blacklisted are the runners who took part in an unsanctioned race held in Montreal last November known as the King's Birthday road race.

Competitors who took part in that race and who are desirous of running in the Brockville race, should apply to Mr. C. A. Sprigings, the secretary of the A. A. F. C., to have their names removed from the suspended list.—Montreal Herald.

RAIN CAUSED OVERFLOW ON STREETS

Charlotte Street was Impassable on Tuesday Night, on North Side of the Street.

While the gods were performing heroic deeds of importance to the mystic world on Tuesday night, the poor, frail inhabitants of this wee sphere were, in this vicinity, at least, fully cognizant of it. Apart from the artillery peals and flashes, there was a copious downpour of rain. It fell in torrents, and the city's provision for running this water off the streets failed utterly at more points than one. On Charlotte street in particular the surface water relief system was soon clogged. In front of Gemmell's store there was a miniature geyser, caused by the vain effort of the water to choke its way into the pipe. At the Queens' Hotel corner things were nearly as bad, and at Burnham's store the condition reminded one of an overflow of the Mississippi in a little town of southern Alabama. To cross the street one had to pick a way along the street railway track, the water was so deep at the northwest corner. It was gurgling its way into the store through some channel.

The deserted street was as smooth as the beach at Rockway or Manhattan, and the pavement was washed perfectly clean. If the intake pipes are to serve their purposes the sluices or openings should be large enough not to become choked by a heavy storm.

BAND WILL PLAY "THE MERRY WIDOW"

Famous Waltz Will be Heard at Victoria Park

Band Master Gliddon has announced that the 57th musicians will likely have the waltz from Lehar's world-famous "Merry Widow" for Friday, July 3. We have heard it whistled, sung, "pianoed," "violined," "phonographied" and "steam-organed," but it should be a pleasure to hear Mr. Gliddon's artists handle it.

The concert for to-morrow night is announced as follows:
Gilmour's Triumphal—March.
Nabucodonosor—Overture.
Columbia Polka—Cornet Solo — By Sergt. Hughes.
In the Deep Cellar—Transcription.
Kings of Rags—Cakewalk.
Reminiscences of Ireland.
Sextette, from Lucia di Lammermoor.
Hymn—Selected.
Voyage in a Troopship—Grand nautical fantasy.
God Save the King.

FACTORY FOR MANUFACTURE OF ART CARD BOARD IS BEING ERECTED ON SHERBROOKE STREET

Excavations are being made on the north side of Sherbrooke street, near George street, for a factory which is being erected by Mr. M. A. Turner for the manufacture of art card board of all kinds. The building will be 85 feet x 38 feet, and, including the basement, will be three stories hight. It is being erected on the Peter Hamilton Company's lot on Sherbrooke street, and a gang of men have already begun the work. The plans have been prepared by Mr. Wm. Blackwell, and calls for a concrete foundation and the walls will be of white brick. The foundation will be built up rather high.

The former building on Dublin street, which was erected for the manufacture of card board, proved too small and this new one is expected to meet all demands. Mr. Malcolm McIntyre has the contract of the work, the completion of which is called for October 1st.

To clear the space for the factory a house had to be moved, and it is learned that it was one of the first dwellings erected in the city. It was a long, low white plastered sort of bungalow and was removed in two parts to the corner of Wolfe and Stewart streets.

PETERBORO RANGERS INSPECTED BY COL. GORDON AT RIVERSIDE; MADE A CREDITABLE SHOWING

Riverside Park, usually associated with the tumult of infuriated fans calling for the umpire's blood, was last evening the scene of a spectacle of a widely different, if not more war-like nature, when the annual inspection of the 57th Regiment was held on the pretty ball grounds across the river in the annex ward. No more suitable or picturesque spot could have been desired for the manoeuvres the red tunics of the gallant Rangers sharply contrasting with the green sward, while the willows to the east furnished an effective back ground. The scene was a brilliant one and a large crowd watched the movements of the civilian soldiers, while the band discoursed stirring music. Not only in a spectacular sense was the ceremony a success, but it also demonstrated that the regiment is a well drilled, smart organization, which is a credit to the city.

The regiment left the Armouries shortly after seven o'clock and headed by the brass band playing the regimental march, "Lass o' Gowrie," and the bugle band, proceeded to Riverside Park by way of George and Hunter streets. On reaching the grounds the red coats were drawn up in line to await the coming of the inspecting officer, Col. W. D. Young, District Officer Commanding Eastern Ontario, who was accompanied on his tour of inspection by the District Paymaster Capt. Conger, of Kingston. As Col. Young entered the ground the regiment presented arms and the officer passed along the lines, after having been received by Col. Stevenson.

The march past was executed in splendid fashion, the companies marching steadily and well, and their work was the subject of much favourable comment from the spectators. Several other battalion movements were gone through smartly, after which the rangers marched back to the Armouries, where, after answering muster call by the District Paymaster, Capt. Conger, they were dismissed.

Col. Young was very favourably impressed by the work of the regiment and by their alert, soldierly appearance. All the companies had good turn outs and the regiment as a whole made a most creditable showing, upon which both officers and men are to be congratulated.

FIRST TRIP DOWN THE OTONABEE SINCE SAILING UP IT IN 1832

The Farmers' Excursion to Lyl Wyld yesterday was of particular interest to Mr. Christopher Quinn, of Lakefield from the fact that it is more than three-quarters of a century since he sailed on the waters of Rice Lake and the Otonabee River. A gentleman who was speaking with him yesterday states that it is just 76 years since Mr. Quinn sailed across the lake and up the river. At that time he was coming up to the unbroken wilds of the primeval forest where to be cleared were the present sites of Peterborough and Lakefield. Mr. Quinn, he said, is now 83 years of age and it was when a mere boy that he settled in this vicinity. During those long years he has not retraced the voyage down the river, and yesterday's trip was of great interest to him. He enjoyed the sail and the reminiscence of that journey almost a life time ago was brought vividly back to him in spite of the lapse of so many years. Mr. Quinn is still hale and vigorous and the outing yesterday was to him one of special pleasure.

Caretaker's Lodge Is Being Planned For Jackson Park

It is learned that the trustees of the Nicholls estate have under consideration the erection of a caretaker's cottage at Jackson Park. It will likely be built on the left hand side of the roadway from the main entrance. It is on a high level of land overlooking the front of the park. It wiol be a brick cottage with stone foundation. The plans plans have been prepared by Mr. Blackwelk The dimensions of the cottage as proposed are 36 feet x 28 feet.

A CHANCE TO HELP RESTORE A HOME

Pearce Family Had Furniture of Home Destroyed by Lightning

The case of the Pearce family whose residence on Wescott street, struck by lightning on Tuesday afternoon, showed the freakish work of the lightning, gives an opportunity for the exercise of kindness by the citizens. It will be remembered that the lightning while only slightly injuring the building at which the Pearces were tenants, completely destroyed the contents, furniture and all, leaving the occupants almost entirely destitute. The husband is a steady, hard-working man whose wages, however, are not large—only enough to maintain the family from day to day. So that there is no reserve available to meet the, to him, large demand implied in refurnishing a house.

The family will gratefully accept contributions, which will be received and acknowledged by the Examiner. There are many who may not be in a position to contribute money who may have articles of household furnishing, which they have no present use for. If such persons will give the Examiner their address, the articles can be sent for. Contributions in money will be received and acknowledged at the Examiner office, and on intimation being received of the address of persons having articles of furniture or furnishings to contribute, these articles will be sent for. The following sums have been contributed:

THE FUNERAL OF MR. FLAVELLE IN LINDSAY

Large Gathering to Pay Last Respects to The Dead

Lindsay, June 25.—(Special.)—The remains of the late Mrs. John Flavelle, whose death occurred at the residence of her son-in-law, Prof. W. S. Milner, at Toronto on Tuesday night, were laid to rest in Riverside cemetery here this afternoon. The funeral took place from the residence of Mr. John D. Flavelle, Bond street, a son of the deceased, and was of a most impressive character, many persons from distant and nearby towns being present to pay a last tribute of respect to one whom in life they held in high esteem. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Bishop of Lindsay, Rev. W. O. Henderson of Port Hope and Rev. S. J. Shorey of Cobourg. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Joseph W., John D. and William Flavelle, sons of the deceased; Prof. W. S. Milner, son-in-law; Aird and Elsworth Flavelle, grandsons.

THE FIRE BRIGADE

The following letter has been sent to the editor of our evening contemporary:—

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Your editorial of last evening under the caption, "The Fire Brigade," seems to me to be very unfair and misleading. You say "Peterborough is now, or shortly will be, in a position to fight fire as it should be fought," as though in the past fires had been allowed to sweep through the streets of our city unchecked. Do you not think you are rather premature in your congratulations to the incoming order of things and exceedingly unfair to the old brigade? How many fires have been checked in the very heart of the business streets of the city that might have swept whole blocks but for the skill displayed by the old brigade? Many times we have read cards of appreciation in your columns from grateful property owners whose premises were saved in the face of almost insurmountable difficulty; while at the same time Toronto and Montreal have had fires sweeping whole streets, notwithstanding their costly fire brigades. Many old residents of the city have been watching the farce being played by the amateurs in the Council and on the Board of Trade. What do the new-comers, whose loud-swelling words of wisdom we have been listening to during the past weeks, know of the past records of the old brigade? I would like to ask you, Mr. Editor, if, as you say, "Peterborough will shortly be in a position to fight fire," how in the world did it ever attain to Class "B" in fire insurance along with the paid brigade cities of Toronto, Brantford, etc., etc.? It would seem that the underwriters must be very ignorant or that some skill has been displayed in the past. In the face of these facts, your effusion of last evening seems to be rather ridiculous, but it is only in accord with the spirit of the times—kick out the old and 'tried without a "thank you"; their work, however well performed, does not count—ring in the new and untried with the beating of drums and clashing of cymbals.

AN OLD RESIDENT.

THE HODGINS CHARGES.

Montreal Herald.

The withdrawal by Major Hodgins of the charges he made against the Trans-continental Commissioners, disposes of what looked at first like an unpleasant situation. Major Hodgins has not improved his professional reputation by what he has done, but that is a relatively small affair. He startled the country by declaring that the contractors were being over paid, and gave as a specific instance the case of a cutting at La Tuque, which he said had been classified by the Commission's engineers as being eighty-six per cent solid rock, whereas in his opinion it ought not to have been classified at more than forty-two per cent solid rock. This accusation, more than all the rest of what he said, made Major Hodgins' appearance on the scene look serious. The inquiry brought out the fact about this cutting and showed that in the month of May, the month prior to his visit, there was not allowed eighty-six per cent, or even forty-two per cent, solid rock, but twenty-nine per cent. solid rock, ten per cent. loose rock, and sixty-one per cent. common excavation. For the month of June, when he visited the place, the allowance was thirty-two per cent. for solid rock, or ten per cent. less than his own estimate. And yet he was hare-brained enough to talk about eighty-six per cent., and to spread over the whole country what looked like an authoritative expert declaration of the venality of the Commission. No more is likely to be heard of Major Hodgins, for whom the best that can be said is that when his errors were demonstrated to him he took back all he had said and stepped down without show of vindictiveness.

Incidently, moreover, the inquiry into his charges revealed that the engineers of the Grand Trunk Pacific are keeping a close watch on the work as it proceeds. They have in several instances complained that too much is allowed the contractor. It would appear from the letters filed before the committee that these complaints have been promptly dealt with and the resulting conferences between Grand Trunk and Government engineers usually resulted in whittling down the difference between them to a very small fraction. In one case, for example, Mr. Woods, the Grand Trunk engineer complained to Chief Engineer Lumsden that excessive allowances for solid rock had been made on a certain cutting. Prompt investigation followed. The Grand Trunk man first claimed that there had been an over-allowance of fourteen per cent., and on this all the fuss was made. But when they came to check over the figures he found he had miscalculated, and in the end there was a difference in calculations, representing a difference in professional judgment, of $3,457 in a work which cost $176,493. Thus was another incipient scandal shown to be without foundation.

The longer the work goes on the more clearly appears the wisdom of the arrangement under which the cost of the work done under the authority of the Commission is to be checked up by the Grand Trunk. In the great bulk of the work there is agreement. The statement is made, for example, that in about five millions worth of work in one section there will not be more than from $50,000 to $100,000 to submit to arbitration. This seems to be a small enough allowance to make for difference in professional judgment as between interested parties, without leaving any room for suspicion of extravagance or worse. All this is in conformity with the agreement between Parliament and the Company, which reads as follows:

"Monthly estimates for contractors shall be submitted promptly from time to time by the chief engineer of the commissioners to the company's assistant chief engineer at Montreal for approval. If he has any objection to such estimate he shall promptly file the same with the chief engineer of the commissioners, and any objection from time to time filed shall thereupon be considered, and, if possible, determined by the said engineers, and in case of their failure to agree, may then or at any time before or at the time of final payment, at the option of either party, be considered and determined by arbitration, as provided in the agreement of the 29th July, 1903, but in no case shall the payment of monthly estimates be delayed except with the consent of the commissioners.

"In case the chief engineer of the commissioners and the assistant chief engineer of the company disagree as to the final payment, the same shall be withheld until the matter is determined by arbitration, as provided in the said agreement of 29th July, 1903."

Certain of the contractors have protested vigorously, and have backed their protests with legal opinions of great weight, against any revision at the instance of the Grand Trunk of the estimates made by the Commission's engineers. That, however, has not prevented the Commission's engineers from promptly attending to every complaint from the Grand Trunk, and readjusting the estimates where investigation shows that a mistake was made.

MUST HOLD THE PACE.

The Ottawa Free Press has solved the problem of extracting sunbeams from cucumbers. It deplores the loss to transportation resulting from the break in the Cornwall canal, but deduces from the calamity an argument for the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal—"we should have two strings to our bow." And there is reason in this. While the St. Lawrence canals partially serve transportation requirements in the matter of grain movement, yet with increasing acreage in the west, this route will soon be insufficient. When development of Western grain growing advances even fifty per cent., all existing avenues of transportation including the proposed Hudson Bay Railway and short ocean route, will be inadequate. We shall then need the Georgian Bay Canal, which, it seems, eventually must come. We have already achieved a position of comparative supremacy in the possession of the route that serves to move the grain of the greater part of the interior of the northern part of the continent and what we have we must hold. Canada has spent liberally in providing transportation facilities, but every dollar has been well spent. We must keep up the pace.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Another argument in favour of placing electric wires underground is furnished by the incident of the late storm in Toronto, where a broken wire heavily charged with electricity fell upon a lad ten years of age, killing him instantly.

"SHOW ME" PROOF

That is What Hyomei Will do in all Forms of Catarrh and Troubles of the Breathing Organs.

It's not a question of Hyomei having cured someone else, but will it reach your own particular case. If it's Cold in the head, Catarrh Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Croup or any affection of the breathing organs, Wm. Medill says yes, and will refund the money if it fails. No other preparation for the same purpose can successfully do this, because the Hyomei system of treatment is different from anything else.

You simply breathe and inhale its medication in dry air form which destroys the germ life that causes oppressed breathing, Nasal Catarrh Throat Irritation and Lung Troubles. It brings to these suffering organs the balsam-laden air they would get in the Pine and Eucalyptus forests. The air that stamps out Bronchial troubles.

The prince of entertainers, Marshal P. Wilder, says: Hyomei is easy to use, and swift to cure. It insures against coughs and colds. It gives you pure air and kills the germs of disease. It helps the voice.

CHOIR OF ST. JOHN'S GO TO STONY LAKE

A Pleasant Outing to Picturesque Kawartha Yesterday

St. John's choristers with their friends, numbering about eighty, spent a joyous day, under ideal weather conditions, on the steamer Water Lily, chartered for their use by the churchwardens, Messrs. Jos. Mills and C. H. J. Mitchell. Starting at 8.30 a. m., the party proceeded to Burleigh and Stony Lake via the Lift Lock, where they dined at the hotel. After races and other amusements the steamer sailed among the islands, tea being served on board by Coleman Bros., whose catering was very satisfactory.

Mr. H. Long brought along a donation of ice cream and apples, for the whole crowd, and presents for the races were kindly given by Messrs. W. E. Conway, Macfarlane Wilson, H. W. Morphet, R. J. Devey, J. R. Bell, A. H. Stratton, F. Linton, H. Pousette and A. A. Hollingshead.

Mr. H. W. Morphet and R. J. Devey made all the arrangements for the outing, which proved a most happy event, all present having a most enjoyable time.

A QUESTION WITH ONLY ONE ANSWER

The problem which confronts the ladies of Peterborough and suburbs now that the sweet summer days have come is, where can I have my shirt-waists, suits, blouses, evening coats, fancy dresses, etc., made up in the latest and most up-to-date style, and the answer to this question is, go straight to "The New York Ladies' Tailoring," 658 George street. See for yourself the style, price and finish to their garments. Don't forget, it's your custom we want, not the price. Open evenings until eight o'clock. 'Phone 624. This morning when Mr. Alfred Kingscote was emptying the post office parcel receptacle at the corner of Mark and Hunter streets, East City, he found a cat in it. Some mischievous boys are said to be responsible for committing the offence and an effort will be made to find out who they are. There is a great danger of the feline animal biting a hand and causing considerable trouble should the mail man open the box after dark.

The Association has a membership around the half century mark and is in a very flourishing condition.

Dead Man Found Beside Track; Jury Hears Employes Of Cole's Circus Are Brutally Treated

Similar to Incident Which Occured Near Peterborough Last Year—Whisky May be Obtained—Not Much Food Going

WAS UNKOWN MURDERED?

A case somewhat similar to the one which existed west of Peterborough last year, where the body of Prof. Schultz, the dog trainer with the Hargreave circus, was found horribly mangled beside the C.P.R. track, has been brought to light near Haileybury. Cole Bros. circus, which showed in Peterborough last week, is the one implicated. One of its employees was found dead beside the track on Wednesday, and the inquest has brought out some startling evidence.

A Haileybury despatch says: The inquest on the body of the unnamed man found yesterday morning at mileage 87 1-2 was held by Coroner Codd at Latchford yesterday.

Tom Kelly, an ex-employee of Cole Bros.' circus, the first witness, testified that he had shummed with deceased, and both decided to quit at Haileybury. The deceased had joined at Toronto, but he did not know his name other than that he was called "Fatty." When he asked for his pay he was told to "wait till we get to North Bay."

Kelly told him not to go to North Bay with the circus, or else they would "ditch" him as they had done another fellow on Sunday near North Bay.

Clubbed by Boss

W. J. Lawler, another circus employee who had quit at Haileybury, told of seeing deceased about 6 o'clock Monday evening and advising him not to go back near the circus once he quit. He also told of seeing a fellow being thrown off the train at Woodlands, a flag station on the T. & N. O. Railway, on Sunday morning. This fellow was clubbed by one of the "bosses," as well as being thrown off. Witness interfered and was told he would be the next one, hence his reason for quitting the circus.

Another piece of information that was brought out in his evidence was that a commissary van was kept by Cole Bros., whereby any employee or railwayman could get whisky and other liquors on any day or at any time providing he had the price.

Witness also stated that no meals had been given the canvas men or stock men from Saturday afternoon until Monday morning.

The Inquest

The jury were out for about an hour and brought in the following verdict:

"That the said man, unknown, was found dead on the track of the T. & N. O. Railway at mileage 87 1-2 on Tuesday morning, June 23, 1908.

"That the said man, unknown, met his death by falling or being thrown off Cole Bros.' circus train. We strongly recommend that investigation be made by Provincial authorities, as evidence given by two employees of the circus gives ground for suspicion that deceased was thrown off the train.

That evidence goes to show that an employee was ill-treated at Woodland station on the T. & N. O. Railway by men in authority.

"That employees who asked for wages at Haileybury were refused and were afraid to go further fearing that they also would be ill-used.

"That the aforesaid circus carries a commissary van at which employees may at any time buy whisky and other liquors. The evidence points that witnesses purchased liquor at said van on Sunday last near North Bay and at Haileybury.

"That the employees who left the circus at Haileybury had had no food from the time they left Smith's Falls Saturday afternoon until their arrival at Haileybury Monday morning.

"The above evidence warrants them recommending that Cole Bros.' circus be detained until further investigation into the causes of the aforesaid unknown man's death be made by proper authorities."

A photograph was taken of the dead man's head, after which he was buried at Latchford. There is no clue to his identity, and until Cole Bros. are notified his name will be a mystery. From the witnesses it was learned that he never touched whisky, but occasionally took a glass of beer.

Head Cleanly Severed

The dead man's body was first seen by Engineer Morgan on the Cobalt express, while looking out of his cab window on Tuesday morning at a point on the line midway between Temagami and Latchford. It was the terribly mangled body of a young man about 30 years of age, of splendid physique, lying in the ditch. The head had been carried about 50 yards from the body, having been cut off as with an axe, showing hardly a bruise, and with its shock of curly black hair presenting a peculiarly gruesome appearance.

The circus was at North Bay on Tuesday.

A Hamilton Incident

Hamilton, June 25.—Before leaving here the Cole circus almost lost its baby elephant. John Huie, chef of the cookery camp, sent a bailiff down to seize it for $32 wages. The money was then paid.

Men purporting to sell tickets for the circus worked a fraud game here, but people got their money back by calling in the police. The circus said the men were not its employees.

Haven't Held up Circus

Officials at the Attorney-General's Department said this morning that they had received no news as to the request to hold up Cole Bros.' circus, and thought a whole circus was rather a big proposition to handle in any event. The Crown Attorney telephoned the department when the matter was brought to his attention, and the constable at Cobalt was at once instructed to proceed to the scene of the trouble. Constable Calback was told that he would be sent a detective from the department, if he found that the circumstances warranted it.

Editor Of The "Western Clarion" In Peterborough

Probably the Most Prominent Socialist in Canada—Visited Followers of Party Here

TALKS TO THE EXAMINER

Mr. E. T. Kingsley, editor of the Western Clarion, Vancouver, and a man well known throughout the Socialistic world by his writings, was in the city last night, a guest at the National. He arrived from Lindsay at 9 o'clock and was met by a small band of followers of the socialist political party. He was also seen by the Examiner as he stepped off the train.

Mr. Kingsley is a typical western man. He is tall and rather stout, and fluent and earnest in his speech. He has great hopes for the future regarding the propagation of Socialism, which he claims is growing at a rapid rate. Born in the State of of New York, he devoted a great many years to the Socialistic cause, and six years ago went to British Columbia, and became editor of the Western Clarion—the only outspoken paper in the English language in Canada. This is his first trip to Ontario, and in fact his first trip past the Rocky Mountains, so far as Canada is concerned. Coming west he noticed a great number of men unprovided with labour, and especially was this the case in Winnipeg just at present.

Spreading the Propaganda

Mr. Kingsley was sent east by the Dominion Executive Committee of the Socialist party in Canada for the purpose of spreading the propaganda of the principles of Socialism and assisting its followers. The growth of this political party, says Mr. Kingsley, is great. In four Provinces—British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba and Ontario—Provincials have been organized, and in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces there are several locals.

The movement is particularly strong in British Columbia, where there are three Socialists in the Provincial House, and two of these have been elected for second terms. Candidates to the number of fourteen ran in the recent elections in Ontario, and although none were elected, the number of Socialist electors are on the increase.

Speaking of the unemployed which he had come in contact with, and the prospects, Mr. Kingsley said, "There is no indication to my mind that better times in any pronounced degree will prevail."

Never Ending Campaign

"The campaign the Socialists are waging is a never-ending one," the western editor stated to the Examiner. "Unlike the other political parties, every Socialist organization, as well as isolated individuals, are continually spreading the propaganda, and there is every indication that within the not distant future their work will crystallize into action towards Socialism, and when it does come it will come swiftly."

Fundamental Principles

When asked to give briefly the foundation of the party, Mr. Kingsley replied with the following three prominent principles: The transformation, as rapidly as possible, of capitalist property as the means of wealth production (natural resources, factories, mills, railways, etc.) into the collective property of the working class; the democratic organization and management of industry by the workers, and thirdly, the establishment, as speedily as possible, of production for use instead of production for profit.

Carl Marx, the famous Jewish Socialist, who brought the principles of the party on a scientific basis, said "Workers of the world, unite; you have nothing to lose but your chains; you have a world to gain," and this has been made one of the mottoes of the party.

No Meeting Here

There is no local organization in Peterborough, and for this reason Mr. Kingsley was not able to address an audience here. He spoke in Guelph on Wednesday night, and will go to Lindsay this evening to give an address there.

FIRST OF JUNE CHEESE SHIPPED

Reported to be of First Class Quality

The first half of the June shipment of cheese was completed yesterday, and it was generally considered that in quality it was some of the best cheese that has ever been turned out of the Peterborough district. That is a strong statement but those who are conversant with the facts are highly pleased with the manufacture and the manner in which the cheese has been treated. Mr. Geo. A Gillespie, one of the buyers on the local board considers that the quality is excellent and as Peterborough cheese has always been looked upon as being of the best, the patrons and makers must be giving special care to the work.

YALE WERE THE WINNERS OF FOUR OARED RACE

Examiner Special

New London, Conn., June 25.—Late in the morning threatening clouds, which promised a damp day for the boat races, passed away but the breeze increased in strength and made the course so lumpy that a postponement was threatened. At 10.30 a. m. the observation trains pulled out for the starting point, two miles up stream. A few moments later the rival shells of the four oared Varsity teams in tow of their launches arrived at the starting line. A stiff wind is blowing straight down the course and promises record time. At 10.56 they were off, Yale leading by half a length.

Flash—Yale won the four oared race.

Many Addresses The Feature Of The Farmers' Excursion

An Enjoyable Outing to Idyl Wyld—Many Farmers Took in the Trip and Had Pleasant Time—Good Accommodation

WEATHER WAS EXCELLENT

About 500 farmers and their friends with their wives and families went on the Farmers' Excursion yesterday to Idyl Wyld. The Otonabee took a large number from Peterborough and some of the points along the river and the Monarch and Water Lily called at the Rice Lake points. The day was an ideal one and the favourite summer resort proved a splendid place for the outing. IdylWyld has undergone some improvements and Mr. "Tommy" Parker is making a success in his work as manager of the hotel. The accommodation was all that could be desired and everyone spoke well of the cuisine and the general conditions at the grounds.

A feature of the day was a number of addresses which were delivered during the afternoon. Mr. Dawson Kennedy acted as chairman and the following gentlemen were among those who were heard in appropriate speeches: Messrs. Lockie Wilson, superintendent of Agricultural Fairs; J H Burnham, Geo. A Gillespie, J A Sexsmith, Ed. Elliott, Reeve Scott, of Smith and Joshua Smithson, Mr. Nixon, of the Canadian Dairyman was another speaker. Mr. Burnham gave an interesting sketch of the pioneers of the county and the work which they accomplished. Mr. Wilson and the other speakers dealt with agricultural subjects and were listened to with interest by the large assembly of farmers.

One of the main sources of pleasure was the dancing which was kept up continuously during the day. The music was supplied by Mr. Elliott's orchestra and on the "Otonabee" and at the pavilion on the grounds everyone enjoyed themselves to the limit. The return trip was made in good time, the steamer arriving home at 9.45 p.m.

Mr. Henderson was in charge of the "Otonabee" and Mr. Harry Phelan the general manager of the company was present and saw to it that nothing was left undone to make the outing one of pleasure.

KEPT THE HANGMAN ON THE MOVE

Three Thousand Agitators Executed by Shah's Orders.

COSSACK MADE GOVERNOR

Houses of Rebels Bombarded In Teheran—Looting and Disorder In the City—Atrocities Still Continue—New Elections Have Been Ordered — Fighting In Tabriz—Many Killed and Wounded.

Teheran, June 26.—Looting and disorder are not yet at an end in Teheran, and while the city was more quiet yesterday, further street encounters are expected before nightfall.

The Shah has appointed the Russian colonel of Cossacks to the position of Governor of Teheran.

The Shah has issued orders that one house belonging to persons opposed to him be bombarded each day.

The members of the European colony are indignant over the atrocities occurring before their eyes, although they themselves remain unharmed.

The Shah has given orders that the Chancellor of Parliament again be bombarded in demolishing the remains of the Parliamentary building proper. Many of the deputies took refuge at the British Legation.

It is now declared that 3,000 instead of 2,000 of the best known agitators have been hanged at the Shah's orders.

The bazaars are being kept open under compulsion, the authorities having issued strict orders to this end.

The Shah has ordered that new Parliamentary elections be held.

High born Persians are in constant fear that their houses may be destroyed and pillaged at any moment.

Tabriz, Persia, June 26.—The fighting between revolutionists and the adherents of the reactionary party, which commenced in this city Wednesday morning, lasted until daybreak yesterday. The revolutionists were defeated and driven from their principal positions. The losses on both sides reached 100 men in killed and wounded. Peace negotiations are now being carried on. The governor-general has left the city for Tiflis.

Reinshagen in court yesterday, was remanded for examination as to his sanity.

SHIP PROVES TO BE A DEATH TRAP

Steamer Larache Struck on Rocks Off Spanish Coast.

85 PASSENGERS ARE MISSING

Vessel Was an Old Tub—Went to Pieces as Soon as She Struck—Captain and Officers Drowned—Fishermen Rescued Sixty-Five Persons—Heavy Fog Hindered the Work of Life-Saving.

Corunna, Spain, June 26.—There are 85 missing as the result of the sinking of the steamship Larache. The rescued number 65. The captain sank with the ship.

Most of the passengers on the Larache were residents of the Argentine Republic. The Larache was little more than an old tub, and she proved a veritable death trap when she struck on the rocks near Muros. She sank in a few minutes, leaving the passengers and crew struggling and screaming in the water. The small boats on the Larache were either smashed or capsized. There was a fleet of fishing boats in the neighborhood, and these rushed to the rescue, but the heavy fog prevailing seriously interferred with their work.

The fishermen succeeded in rescuing 61 persons. In addition to the captain, the ship's doctor and the first officer were drowned. The disaster occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning, and most of those who were saved are without clothing. It has been ascertained that the number of passengers and crew of the Larache totaled 150.

Sixty-five persons are known to have been saved, but the fate of the other 85 is not known, and is feared that most of them perished.

Alleged Murderer Freed.

New York, June 26.—Frank Monaco, a laborer, who was arrested in Indiana, charged with the murder of Julius T. Rosenheimer, a merchant, who was killed while waiting in the garden at Pelham on June 18, was yesterday discharged from custody. Both Were Drowned.

New York, June 26.—Overcome by the heat as he was sitting on the edge of the New York Central Railroad barge Edgewater in the East river last night, the captain of the barge Otto Aubert toppled over into the water. His screams brought his wife, Hannah, to the deck. She plunged into the river in a brave attempt to rescue him, but both were drowned. The bodies were not recovered.

HON. FISHER EXPLAINS THE BILL

Second Reading of the Civil Service Bill in House.

MEASURE WELL RECEIVED

Minister of Agriculture Urges the Reforms—Mr. Borden Has But Slight Criticism to Offer—Would Have the Commission Independent—Amendments Will Meet Objections Raised—Foster Charged.

Ottawa, June 26.—That the civil service bill is to have a smooth and speedy passage into law was evident from the tone of the discussion which took place yesterday on the second reading of Hon. Sydney Fisher's measure. The Minister of Agriculture, in moving the second reading, gave a comprehensive and interesting sketch of civil service reform, both in Great Britain and the United States, and expressed his gratification at having his name associated with legislation of such far-reaching importance. Mr. Borden, on behalf of the Opposition, again offered a welcome to the measure that was only slightly qualified by a note of criticism. Several members on both sides of the House expressed the hope that the increase of salaries recommended by the recent commission would receive consideration, and other suggestions, affecting the working of the act rather than its principles, were offered. Hon. Mr. Fisher assured the House that reasonable amendments would not be opposed in committee by the Government, and when the committee stage was reached the bill made good progress. It was announced by the Minister that one of the two commissioners to be appointed would be a French-Canadian.

R. L. Borden spoke less than ten minutes in reply, expressing approval of any measure that would deal with the defects of the civil service. He had gone on record in favor of a system of competitive examinations, but there was nothing in the act to show what the nature of these examinations was to be.

Speaking of the independent commission to be appointed, Mr. Borden did not think that it was to be independent of Government control, inasmuch as it was proposed that the commissioners were to hold office during the pleasure of the Government. They were on the same footing as the deputy heads of Departments, who were expected to carry out the policy laid down by the Government. It would not be said that the Auditor-General occupied an independent position if he were subject to dismissal by the Government of the day.

Mr. Borden regretted that the recommendations of the commission respecting the inspection of Departments were not to be carried out, and he suggested that an amendment be introduced to that effect.

One thing more Mr. Borden proposed was the question of the participation of civil servants in election matters. A few years ago this Parliament had adopted unanimously a resolution presented by Mr. Lake on this subject, and Government should have made an effort to deal with it in this bill.

Mr. Fisher said the Government would have no objection to making the commission more independent if it were possible to do so. It was thought that the independence of a deputy minister was sufficient to safeguard the interests of the public. The commissioners would have the status of a deputy, and he had always found the deputies thoroughly independent.

Mr. Telford of North Grey objected to a reference by Richard Blain to alleged improper conduct by the registrar in the North Grey bye-election. Then John G. Turiff, former land commissioner, and now member for East Assiniboia, characterized as "absolutely untrue," statements contained in a Foster speech and sent out to the country as campaign bait. These statements had to do with Turiff's conduct in the selling of timber.

R. L. Borden wanted to know what the Government was going to do to expedite the Marine enquiry.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that he understood the judge would do nothing during the long vacation. As to the appointment of a deputy for the exchequer work, that would be done in the near future.

The Paterson bill for a 25 per cent. duty on repairs made to coasting vessels outside of Canada was put through committee.

The House adjourned at 11.55, the 28th clause of the bill being reached. There are 48 clauses altogether, but Mr. Fisher said the Opposition had given him excellent assistance and he did not propose to go on. To-day the lands bill will again be taken up.

At the suggestion of Mr. Borden the Minister of Agriculture agreed to an amendment to put the commissioners on the same footing as the judges and the Auditor-General, holding office on good conduct and removeable only by a joint address of the Senate and House of Commons.

Next week Sir Wilfrid Laurier will ask the House to sit on Saturdays until the close of the session. On Tuesday next Parliament will adjourn over Dominion Day.

Seized Dutch Mails.

Baptists Favor Union.

Ottawa, June 26.—The Baptists of Ottawa yesterday passed a resolution favoring church union. The opinion of the meeting was strongly worded and passed by a good majority.

Three Years For Killing.

Montreal, June 26.—In King's Bench yesterday eight sentences totaled 40 years.

One Calderone got three years for killing an Italian, while another, Charlebois, got seven years for wounding a Chinaman.

WHICH?

GOT AWFUL SHOCK.

Welland Man Survives Charge of 12,000 Volts.

Welland, June 26.—After having 12,000 volts pass through his body John H Valley, formerly of Fonthill, lives to tell the story. His entire back and left arm are skinned and his long moustache has been completely burned off. There are large burns on his feet where the current passed in, and his clothes are ripped to shreds. The doctors, however, hold out every hope for his recovery.

Valley has been acting as craneman on the big hoist at the Ontario Steel and Iron Works. A fuse blew out Wednesday in the transforming room, and while helping the engineer Valley stepped on the wire. In an instant he was a sheet of flame and was thrown violently to the ground. Only the dampness of his clothes saved him from instant death.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick Honored.

London, June 26.—In the birthday honors announced yesterday Sir Charles Fitzpatrick is made a privy councillor.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick is still comparatively a young man, born in 1853, and a native of Quebec City, and possessing a long record of legal and political achievement. As an Irish-Canadian, speaking both French and English fluently, he is especially representative of the Province of Quebec, the Legislature of which he entered as member for Quebec County in 1890. He speedily attracted notice as a rising Liberal, and in 1896 he was elected to the House of Commons. In February, 1902, he succeeded Hon. David Mills as Minister of Justice, and subsequently became chief justice. Sir Charles has had a wide legal experience, and was prominently known before 1885 when he defended Louis Riel.

He was married in May, 1879, to Corinne, daughter of the late Hon. R. E. Caron, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec.

Chief Justice Falconbridge of Toronto and Justice Taschereau of Montreal are made knights bachelor and W. F. King of Ottawa, Dominion astronomer, becomes a C.M.G.

Boy Kills Little Sister.

Wingham, June 26.—A sad accident occurred at St. Augustine in the Township of West Wawanosh when the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moss shot and killed his little sister, aged 4 years. The two had been playing out near the barn and got hold of an old gun.

The first intimation the parents received was when the boy appeared at the house with the lifeless body of his little sister in his arms. He told them that she had fallen on a manure fork and the parents of course accepted his word. A doctor was summoned, who found grains of shot in the body, which proves that the boy's story was untrue. It is not known whether the affair was accidental or intentional.

The mother of the child is so prostrated with grief that she has not been made aware of the facts.

Canada Not a Dump.

London, June 26.—(C.A.P.)—At the Intercolonial Missionary Conference discussing a pessimistic paper on the state of religion in New Zealand, Villiers of Ontario said that in his town of 20,000 people only 145, according to the religious census, did not belong to a religious denomination.

Rev. F. J. Day, superintendent of the Immigration Department, strongly resented the Dominion being made a repository for all the rasculity of the Mother Country, and hinted at the possibility of Canada adopting stronger restrictive measures.

Winnipeg Fights Vice.

Winnipeg, June 26.—The most important step that will be taken in the near future towards the stamping out of the social evil will be the summoning to court of all property owners who have rented their premises to disorderly women.

The climax of the campaign against the evil was reached yesterday when many representatives of the demimonde appeared in the Police Court and pleaded guilty. They were all given a short time to leave the city.

Boys Unearth Skeleton.

Chatham, June 26.—The skull and a number of the bones of a human being were found by boys in the sand on the bank of the Thames at a point near the waterworks. The skeleton is thought to be that of a man named Vogler, drowned a few years ago.

Clown's Terrible Suicide.

Columbus, Ohio, June 26.—Charles Rench, aged 48, for years a well-known circus clown, committed suicide Wednesday by burning. He piled papers on the floor of his room and applied a match.

Big Warehouse Burned.

BOTH TEAMS COCKSURE OF WIN IN TO-MORROW'S BALL GAME; LADIES TO BE ADMITTED FREE

The big Midland League game between the Athletics and Peterboroughs at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon will be called at 3 o'clock sharp with J M Rosevear of Port Hope as umpire. It should be by long odds the closest and fastest game of the year, as both teams are cock sure of victory and will go at each other all the way. The Athletics will strengthen their infield with Chris. Graham at first, and are confident that they will effect the first break in the 'Johnstonites' string of victories, and do it so decisively that there will be no chance for a dispute over the matter. Quinlan is in fine fettle, and if he is supported in the manner the Athletics have been performing in practice it looks very much as if Manager Lynch's aggregation will score a victory to-morrow. Whichever way the luck breaks, the fans will see a great game, and from all indications the crowd will be the largest of the season.

The teams will line up as follows:

ATHLETICS—
Quinlan, p.
Rattray, c.
Graham, 1b.
Saunders, 2b.
Mackrell, ss.
Shea, 3b.
Callaghan, lf.
Connors, cf.
Headlip, or Pilling, rf.

PETERBOROUGHS—
Clements, p.
Edmunds, c.
Lawson, 1b.
McDermott, 2b.
Maddock, ss.
Cheetham, 3b.
Murphy, lf.
O'Brien, cf.
Burns, rf.

There is a chance that Maddock, the fast fielding shortstop of the Petes may be out of the game to-morrow. He badly twisted his ankle last Saturday and may not be able to play. If not his place will be filled by a new infielder whom the Petes have a line on.

Jim Stacey In The City On His Way To Lindsay Race

Jim Stacey another walking find who showed up so well at St. Catherines was in the city last night and left this morning for Lindsay where he will enter in the four days' walk commencing on July 1st. His home is in Toronto and he weighs 176 lbs. and according to his own statement is 6 feet 3 inches in his stocking feet. He says he is right down in the best of condition, not having changed his weight in four years. Stacey's legs give promise of a long stride and his walking in the match at St. Kitts. stamps him as a good one. He will practise a few days in Lindsay in preparation for the race.

Mr. Geo. Stevens, who is interested in the go is assured of a good list of entries. About seven will go up from Peterborough, including his son, Charlie, and the Spenceley boys. Jim Harrison will not be found there as he is interested elsewhere.

Stacey who seems to be quite a young man, appears loosely built, but has all the marks of a walker. His powers of endurance are good and as his stride is long and easy he should be up with the leaders.

WARKWORTH DEFEATED LOCALS BY NINE WICKETS YESTERDAY

The Peterborough Cricket Club played its first match of the season an all day fixture, with the Warkworth Club, at the Nicholls Oval, yesterday, losing by nine wickets after an interesting match.

Peterborough went to the wicket first and were all out before luncheon for 64, which did not look any too promising. The outlook was brighter, however, when the visitors were dismissed in their first innings after luncheon for 45 runs. There was a terrible slump in the locals' work with the bat in the second innings, the wickets falling with monotonous regularity before the deadly bowling of Humphries and Ingles, and the side was all out for 13, bringing the total up to 78. Jackson and Ingles went out to the wicket for Warkworth, and although Jackson was smartly bowled by Marshall for one run, Ingles and Marsland, who followed Jackson, made a stand and rolled up thirty-two runs without the loss of another wicket. The Warkworth innings was then declared closed and the visitors had won by nine wickets.

In the first innings Holmes and Gerrish were sent in by Peterborough to face the bowling of Curtis and Humphries. Holmes made a stand, compiling a useful ten but the other wickets went down fast, until nine were lost for 31 runs. Fortunately, however, Marshall wand Hill came to the rescue, putting on 36 before Marshall was finally bowled by Humphries, his partner carrying his bat for a brilliant nineteen.

Marshall and Holmes did nice work with the ball in Warkworth's first innings, and the side was all out for 45, R. Humphries' 11 being top score. Peterborough went to bat confidently in their second innings, but could do nothing with the bowling of Humphries and Ingles. (Six wickets went down for the loss of but one run, and although Hill promised to make a stand, and seemed to be nicely set, he was bowled by Humphries at 8, Gerrish made one run and Pousette 3, which, with a leg byeb rought the total up to 13. Ingles and Marsland treated the Peterborough bowlers with scant respect in their second innings and the thirty-three runs necessary to defeat Peterborough were quickly made, Marsland getting 22, not out, his score including two sixes.

A number of spectators were present during the afternoon and the match was enjoyed.

The score was as follows:

WALTER JAYES' WORK AT WILMINGTON

Responsible For Winning Ball Game Against Goldsboro

The Morning Star of Wilmington, North Carolina, where Walter Jayes, nephew of Mr. Jack Jayes, Peterborough, is playing, contains interesting accounts of games at Goldboro, N.C. The first was won by Wilmington 2—1. In part the report says:—"There was no more scoring until the eighth when Webster struck out; Jayes singled to right and stole second, Hoey hit one too hot for pitcher and was safe on first; Jayes going to third on the hit. Then Hoey was thrown out trying to steal second, but blocked the throw at home plate scoring Jayes." The second game was taken by Goldsboro by 4—3.

EARLY PRODUCING SPY APPLE TREES

Apples Grew in South Monaghan on Trees Three Years Old

Mr. A. B. Downer of the township of South Monaghan, who is in the employ of Mr. Wm. Overend of that township, told the Examiner to-day a story that is perhaps one of the most extraordinary accounts of fruit production that has ever seen its way into print.

Mr. Downer says that Mr. Overend bought from Chase Bros. this spring fifty Northern Spy apple trees. The trees were three years old and were planted by Mr. Overend about the middle of last May. One tree, notwithstanding its recent planting, has developed five apples, two of which are still on the tree. What makes it more remarkable is that the Spy is one of the latest to develop amongst apple trees, usually starting to produce about the seventh or eighth year, not producing a fully-developed apple till about the twelfth year.
